Congressman Hastings Keith Biographical Sketch

Hastings Keith was born in Brockton, Massachusetts on November 22, 1915. Hastings' father, Roger Keith, was the mayor of Brockton in the early 1920s. Keith would follow in his father's footsteps by having a long and successful political career, beginning in 1952 when he was elected to the Massachusetts State Senate. Prior to this he had served on General Dwight D. Eisenhower's staff during World War II. In 1958 he was elected to the United States Congress out of Massachusetts as a Republican representing Southeastern Massachusetts, which included all or parts of Plymouth, Bristol, Dukes, Nantucket, and Barnstable (Cape Cod) Counties. He would go on to serve seven terms in Congress, retiring after his term expired in 1972 to care for his wife Louise who had a serious illness.

Keith accomplished many goals while a member of the House of Representatives. He was referred to as the "Cranberry Congressman" after he helped the Plymouth County cranberry industry recover from a national rumor in 1959 that pesticides used in the industry were causing cancer; he was the first Congressman to serve cranberry juice from his office water cooler in Washington, DC. In 1959 Keith, with the aid of Senators John F. Kennedy and Leverett Saltonstall, introduced the Saltonstall-Kennedy-Keith bill to create the Cape Cod National Seashore. In 1961 this bill was adopted and the Cape Cod National Seashore was established, protecting and preserving the land for future generations.

A life-long sailor, Keith was actively involved with many issues that still resonate in today's political world. He was a strong advocate for energy self-reliance for the United States, and tried to get the country to create a national energy policy. He devoted much time to merchant marine and fisheries issues and was the ranking member of that committee in the House of Representatives. The Federal Building in New Bedford is named in honor of his work. He was also a strong advocate for public pension reform while in office, and dedicated the remainder of his life after his retirement in 1972 to the topic. After decades of research and pushing this issue he published his book Make it Fair: An Angry Call for Federal Pension Reform in 2003.

Hastings Keith passed away at 89 years of age on July 19, 2005. He was predeceased by his first two wives, Louise Whitehurst Harriman and Frances Bland Jackson, who both succumbed to cancer. During his marriage to Louise Harriman they had two daughters, Helen Harriman Keith and Carolyn Louise Keith Silvia. Upon the time of his own death he was married to Barbara Clapp Keith of Monument Beach, Massachusetts.

Congressman Hastings Keith Scope and Content Note

The Congressman Hastings Keith Collection primarily focuses on Keith's involvement in politics, both during his time in office and his efforts at political reform after his retirement from public service. Some material relating to his life outside of politics can be found, including material on his time in the service. The collection consists of 9 series, with each series relating to a broad topic or type of physical material.

Hastings Keith was involved with many significant projects in politics, which are all represented in the collection. Background information, published and non-published, on these projects such as oceanography, national parks, the Vietnam War, and public pension reform include material on the local and national level and is a strength of the collection.

Related collections include the Edward Kirby Collection.

Congressman Hastings Keith Series Descriptions

Series 1: Scrapbooks, 1911 – 2006

11 Boxes, arranged by scrapbook number

This series is made up of 31 scrapbooks with all but two relating directly to Hastings Keith's political career. The majority of the scrapbooks consist of news clippings. However, photographs and letters of very prominent politicians are intermixed within many of the scrapbooks, including letters from American presidents and photographs of Keith with numerous different presidents and other well-known political figures from the 1950s to 1980s.

Series 2: Personal Material, 1937-1970

1 Box, arranged chronologically by subject

Series 2 includes obituaries and personal information, such as notes and photographs of important moments in Keith's life. Material on Keith's military career and events that occurred while he was serving included. Newspaper articles, photographs, and correspondence.

Series 3: Congressional Records and Campaigns, 1958-1992

6 Boxes, arranged by subject

Series 3 includes information on Keith's political campaigns, election correspondence, ballots, and voting records. Material is present on broadcasting legislation, housing measures, NATO, SEATO, and civil rights background information. Box 1 contains news releases and a newsletter run of The Washington Report. Other examples of material in the series include House of Representatives and Senate bills and acts, and information regarding Keith's reform propositions for Social Security and Medicare.

Series 4: National Park Legislation, 1958-1972, 2011

3 Boxes, arranged by subject

Park Bill (with related correspondence and statements); and information on Plymouth's National Park and Rock memorial.

Series 5: Oceanography Legislation, 1959-1973, undated

4 Boxes, arranged by subject

Series 5 includes background information and research on legislation and problems regarding pollution, marine life, and international trade. Law of the Sea's Subcommittee I was designated for "preparing draft treaty articles embodying international regime, on the basis of GA Resolution 2750A (XXV) and GA Resolution 2750B (XXV)." Subcommittee II was to prepare a list of subjects on the Law of the Sea, and then prepare draft treaty articles. Subcommittee III was to deal with the preservation of the marine environment and scientific research with a draft treaty prepared afterwards. Other information included is on Keith's concern over FDA approval of fish protein provided by Massachusetts, and the protection of other marine wildlife important to local fisheries. Folders also include information on Keith's work to fix hazards to maritime safety and marine resources.

Series 6: Energy Legislation, 1962-1973, undated

3 Boxes, arranged by subject

Series 6 includes newspaper clippings, magazines, trade journals, personal notes, and in-house reports on energy sources such as coal, electricity, natural gas, nuclear energy, and oil. Information can be found on energy use in the Soviet Union, Algeria, and Canada. More information is included on gasoline, geothermal, liquid natural gas, oil imports and spills, and other energy sources. Some papers relate to Keith's Energy Policy.

Series 7: Vietnam Legislation, 1965-1971, undated

3 Boxes, arranged chronologically

Series 7 includes statements by Mayor Harrington and Edward Brooke, along with correspondence by the public in 1971 regarding Vietnam. Information is included on Keith's trips to Vietnam, including photographs and reports on what he saw.

Series 8: PEPS, bulk 1974-2002

17 Boxes, arranged alphabetically

Series 8 includes the research that Keith did for the book he wrote on pension reform and PEPS (Public Employee Pension System). Throughout the boxes there is information on Senators from the 1970s until the 1990s; papers on the history of PEPS and findings of committees under PEPS; important material on Keith's book, such as his preface drafts, and his book files; Keith's speeches on pension and articles he wrote; A spreadsheet on all the pensions Keith receive; conference proposals, letters, sponsor information, notes, memorandums, and minutes from meetings and conferences by the National Committee on PEPS. Military Pension information includes facts and data on military payment and health care. Commission and other Rates for the Post Office and other Civil Servants can be found near the end of the series. Box 17 has a copy of Keith's first draft as well as a final bound copy of his book "Make it Fair!: An Angry Call for Federal Pension Reform."

Series 9: Audio/Video, 1961-1996

2 Boxes, 6 individual reels, arranged by media format

Reel-to-reel audio and video of political events and interviews involving Keith and his career during the 1960s are in this series. VHS tapes of recordings from when Keith was on television during the 1990s, as well as VHS tapes of political issues he was interested, such as pension reform, make up the rest of this series. All reels with a VMC number have been digitized.
