9-13-1934

Campus Comment, September 13, 1934

Bridgewater State Teachers College

Follow this and additional works at: https://vc.bridgew.edu/comment

Part of the Education Commons, and the Social History Commons

Volume 8
Number 1

Recommended Citation
Bridgewater State Teachers College. (1934). Campus Comment, September 13, 1934. 8(1).
Retrieved from: https://vc.bridgew.edu/comment/60

This item is available as part of Virtual Commons, the open-access institutional repository of Bridgewater State University, Bridgewater, Massachusetts.
Graduates of the Class of 1934 Receive First Teaching Positions

Quincy, Wemouth Welcome Several.

"The old order changeth, yielding place to the new." After we have greeted the new freshmen, and the rush and bustle of getting settled is over, we upperclassmen begin to feel lonesome. We wonder what those people who so efficiently played the part of seniors last year are doing now. These people are a part of Bridgewater, although their classes have ended. A good percentage of them are following their chosen profession in various towns and cities in Massachusetts.

Betty Stromdahl and Ruth Ferris are roommates no longer. Ruth will teach in Brevertown, down on Cape Cod, and Betty will teach in Lexington. Hazel Dumas also has a position in Lexington.

Attleboro has employed three teachers from the class of 1934. Grace Curley's literary talent, Natalie Thibeault's art, and Velma Davis' charm have been sought to have effect on the youngsters in Attleboro.

Let's take our report off to Wemouth! This town has hired seven Bridgewater girls this year. These fortunate people are Eva Bernier, Betty Stromdahl, Ruth Ferris, Velma Davis, Natalie Thibeault, and Curley. As formerly, there will be one sophomore and one junior division out during the last nine weeks of school.

Beginning this year, all freshmen will have a course in Introduction to Civilization, the purpose of which is to furnish a background for understanding development to our present day.

Without a doubt there will be other changes throughout this year as well as the following years, all for the better, as were seen at the college last year.

SEVERAL OPENINGS

Any who are interested in newspaper work, or who believe they might be interested, should apply for the position of reporter, in room 34, Miss Lovett's room, next Tuesday at 3:30 P.M.

Any person who has been making a "B" in English should have no difficulty in passing the examination which will be given at that time.

At least one reporter from each section will be chosen, and probably several others in addition. This is one of the earliest opportunities for freshmen to become affiliated with an extra-curricular activity, and such activities are of great importance in the college life. Furthermore, those who become reporters now will be first in line for higher positions later in the year.

Typists Needed

Typists have a special opportunity to enter this field of examination. Simply interview the editor in room 24 next Tuesday at 3:30. You may begin your journalistic career at once.

Typists will later have opportunities to be transferred to the field of reporters.

Upperclassmen who wish to join the paper should also report to room 24 next Tuesday at 3:30.

Social Activities

Committee Plan Acquaintance Social

As a further method of welcoming the freshmen and of providing for their introduction to members of the faculty as well as the students, the Social Activities Committee is planning the annual acquaintance social, to take place in the Albert Boyden Gymnasium on Saturday evening, September fourteenth.

Freshmen, see added to date now in anticipation of a good time under the escort of your big sisters. Plan to come.

In Auto Accident

Mies Hill, Miss Carter, and Elizabeth Maynard were in an auto accident on the way to school, when they turned out and hit a tree to avoid hitting a child.

We understand that they are well on the way to recovery now.

New Shelves Built For the Library

We wandered up to the library the other day and found that renovations had been made. There is a new set of shelves along the wall by the library, and one of the old cases has been moved over to partially enclose this area. The new arrangements will no doubt be a great improvement.

The library is anxious for this school to cooperate in the campaign for better use of the libraries, which is being carried on throughout the state. Miss E. Louise Jones of the division of public libraries, state department of education, spoke on this work at the conference last week.

Another change in library arrangement is that the books formerly kept in the gymnasium will now be on shelves in Boyden Hall.

Miss Harriett Hulstrom is the new student chairman of the library committee, taking the place of Miss Ber- nice Trulson, who graduated last June.

Dr. Bullfish Speaks. Group Discussion

Dr. Bullfish addressed the conference twice, his first address being on The Philosophy of Education in a Changing Social Order, while his second was Concerning a Proposed Educational Holiday.

After the general session on Wednesday, the group was invited on Friday morning to hear Dr. Bullfish give his first address, departmental conferences on Curriculum Construction were held in the various classrooms. These included, generally: education; English; history; science; mathematics; art and handicrafts; music; physical education; librarians; and deans and matrons.

On Wednesday afternoon a half hour music concert, consisting of baritone solos and piano selections, was followed by Dr. Bullfish's second address.

Tennis Courts Used

The people of the town were privileged to use the tennis courts during the summer months.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Steve Lovell, Stanley Hunt, Allan Schaffler, and Mary Campbell.

Little Larry had been to church, where he had listened to a sermon most devoted to the rights of Eve. At dinner he indulged all too freely in ice cream and cake. A little later his mother found him with his hands pressed tightly to his ribs and in great pain.

"My goodness, Larry!" she exclaimed. "What on earth is the matter?"

"O-o-o-h!" Larry groaned. "I'm afraid I'm going to have a wife."

—Am. Legion Monthly.
EDITORIAL COMMENT

BEGINNING

"Well, here we are at the beginning of another year", said one underclassman to another as they passed down the corridor.

Just so. For all of us it is the beginning of a new series of problems, opportunities, experiences, and—hope—achievements.

For some it is the beginning of college life. For others it is the beginning of our last year in this school. For the members of ’34 it is the beginning of a life’s work.

At such a season as this we are filled with our hopes and dreams for busy and pleasant days just ahead of us. Somehow, our plans are in our minds as something already come true; we feel the joy of it. So we go on for a while, then comes a time when what we intend must be fused into what we do. And, although we realize it is a bit trite to say so, that is the time which we must watch. We are so prone to forget.

Let us not drift off the course we have set for ourselves today. Let this be a year when we do the things we have always intended.

Let our lives be more full some months from now, because of the vision we have this hour.

This is the season of our aspirations. In June they may have become our achievements. They may.

NEW IDEAS PROMOTED IN TRAINING SCHOOL

The old order changeth not only in B. T. C. itself, but also in the Training School. Beginning this year, as an experiment at first, of course, departmental work is being initiated in the two sixth grades.

That is, instead of the two divisions being separated into two sixth grades, each having the same subjects under different teacher, one teacher is to have certain subjects only.

Miss Evelyn Lindquist, who is replacing Miss Alice Taylor, will teach the social sciences and mathematics, while Miss Neva Lockwood, the other sixth grade teacher, will have the two classes in all branches of English.

This does not mean that the classes will be divided all day, as for about an hour daily each teacher will have her own class to conduct in opening exercises, playground work and general class work.

This method will be of advantage to the trainers, since they will be teaching more on the line of junior high school work.

Of course anything of this sort is merely on trial at first, and in some places is successful while in others it is not. Therefore it is impossible to predict how this method of carrying on the work will result, but it is always worthwhile to try something new, as everything should be given a chance to prove itself. It will be interesting to watch the classes in this first year of the new order.

THE FIRST DAY

Yesterday morning we listened to a splendid opening address by our President. Congratulations, Dr. Scott.

We believe that this will be a year of great progress not only for Bridgewater as a college but also for us as individuals member of the institution, under the leadership of a leader who has vision, ability and purpose.

The idea of a day set aside for conferences has indeed proved sound. We all appreciated it greatly.

One of the items mentioned by Dr. Scott which most deserves our attention is the school store. Let us cooperate with the students who are running it, to the best of our ability.

How would the “Coop” be, for a “short” name for the store?

A SENIOR LOOKS BACK

Mr. Editor asked me to tell what I got out of B. S. T. C. during the three years that I have had the privilege to attend it. An impossible task, Mr. Editor! I cannot tell of all that I have received from Bridgewater, but I will tell a few of the things I have enjoyed.

In the first place, no course has made a very great impression on me. From these, however, I have gained certain facts and attitudes that will no doubt assist me in later life. Let me first mention associations and friendships with instructors, with students. These, I consider, are the best of what Bridgewater has given me. I have always enjoyed discussions. They may be in the form of parleys, debates, “bull sessions”, or midnight matinees. The chief value here lies in the somewhat startling fact that the other fellow is quite often right.

Chapel programs and lectures appealed to me as a worthy attempt to lift us out of our little sphere and show us what lies beyond.

Last, let me state that I appreciate the fact that I have just scratched the surface of knowledge and education; something far richer lies beneath. I know that a four years’ course here and a bachelor’s degree by no means makes me an educated person.

WHO’S WHO AT B. T. C.

In the general confusion of the first days at college, so many new faces are seen and so many people presented that it is difficult to remember who’s who. For the benefit of the freshmen, therefore, we offer a list of some of the prominent people you will soon learn to recognize.

Student Cooperative Association
President, Irene Kidd; Vice-President, Audrey Tripp; Secretary, Helen McGinn; Treasurer, Caroline Feindel.

Dormitory Council
President, Ruth Mannion.

Day Student Council
President, Alma Foley.

Senior Class
President, Kenneth Murphy.

Junior Class
President, Stephen Lovett.

Sophomore Class
President, James Peebles.

Woodward Hall
President, Veronica Bingle.

Tillinghast Hall
President, Dorothy Gleason.

Come to the Acquaintance Social

FRIDAY NIGHT, SEPTEMBER 14, 1934

Free Admittance
directory Offered to Any Newcomers Who May Be Lost

Freshmen, Special Attention!

Many freshmen each year find it difficult to find their way to and fro in the long corridors and remote corners of the main building, Boyden Hall.

For their benefit we publish this brief directory:

NORTH CORRIDOR

Starting at the rotunda, where we find the offices of President Zeno E. Scott on the left (as we enter the door) and Miss S. Elizabeth Pope on the right, with the business office opposite us, we proceed along the corridor to the right.

On our right hand we have the room of Miss Alice B. Ball, supervisor of training, then the History of Education class room, and on the left that of Miss Iva V. Lutz, instructor in methods. Beyond this is a stair hall, from which we enter the office of Mr. John J. Kelly, Dean of Men.

SOUTH CORRIDOR

Proceeding again from the rotunda, along the corridor to the left, we have on our right the classroom of Mr. Benzelou Hunt, instructor in psychology. On the left we find the rooms of Mr. George H. Durgin, Miss Mary V. Smith, and Mr. Joseph J. Mahoney. Mr. Durgin teaches mathematics, the other subjects.

Opposite Mr. Arnold’s room the corridor turns right. On the left is the classroom of Miss L. Adelaide Moffitt, whose subject is reading.

Second Floor

On the second floor we find the library. Over the throne is a large notice, with the library classroom adjoining, while the lecture room is over the business office. In the case of the corridor, toward the steps, we find Miss Edith H. Bradford’s room, the subject in the French. Further on, up the steps, are the rooms of the history, art, and music instructors, Miss Louis C. Stearns, Miss E. Irene Graves, Mr. Gordon L. Reynolds, Miss Priscilla M. Nye, and Miss Freida Rand.

In the south end of the corridor are the rooms of Mr. Harlan P. Shaw, whose subject is philosophy, and Mr. Paul Huffman, who teaches geography, with the blackboard drawing room next to Mr. Shaw’s room, and the chemistry laboratory opposite.

Around the corner of the right wing are the English rooms of Miss M. Katharine Hill, Miss Olive H. Lovett, and Miss Ruth E. Davis.

August’s Barber Shop

29 Broad Street

Cole Pharmacy

Inc.

Large Stock of School Supplies at Reasonable Prices
15 Central Square

Bridgewater, Mass.

Wilson’s Restaurant

Odd Fellows Block

Where Quality is the First Concern

Special Dinners Daily

Booth Service

All Bread and Pastry Cooked in Our Own Ovens.

Six See Sunrise

At Mt. Wachusett

In the general rush of the last week of school, back in June, one little escape capsule escaped attention.

Of course we all know that the pre-ent senior men are a stalid and dignified lot; but you should have seen them last night.

All of the men in the junior class had a little "get together" dinner at a restaurant in town. Then a trip to the theater in Brockton, after which all adjourned to the home of one of the fellows. It was a merry night.

But when the wee small hours came around nobody wanted to go home and a great many of these fellows were "in residence." There are, indeed, some wise ones who shake their heads and say that if all had gone well it would have been just too bad for residents of the dormitories who would have disliked to come running forth into the chilly night clad in pajamas.

A "MYSTERY CRUISE"

However, one of the party who had just been announced he was about to depart on a "mystery cruise." The destination was unknown, but all the grated sleep were warned off. Two carloads, one following the other, departed at half past one for the lake of the open road.

Somewhere on the Worchester Post road the following car gave up and started back, suffering a flat tire.

At a little after dawn the six brave (1) souls in the other car allightened alone. At the close summit of Mt. Washusett to watch the sun rise. That Indian blanket surely did come in handy.

The party was back for breakfast with no mishap reported except that one passenger wasasciiing up the mountain.

On the afternoon two twenty-faced persons were seen marching back and forth across the campus. It’s the only way to keep awake, they said.

Number Two

(Continued from page 1)

B3 First Trainers

Under New System

B3 is the first group to try their training for nine weeks only. The group includes the following:

Abington—Helen McGovern
Athelboro—Alice E. Larson, Katherine H. Reynolds
Braintree—Beverly G. M. Searl, Frances Sato
Brockton—Barbara Cushing, Charlotte Golding

Dedham—Barbara Schmas, Fall River—Muriel Eyer
Haverhill—Eunice Perkins
Medford—Bette Flaherty
Middleboro—Virginia D. Pentikainen

Onset—Marjorie Hollebeck, Ida Lebo

Quincy—Marie Collins, Dorothy M. Smith, Frances Sato
Rockland—Norma Delory, Alice Muriel, Catherine Reilly, Esther Reilly
Taunton—Florence Quigley, Wakefield—Elka Jennings

Weymouth—Josephine Stuartwatt, Whiting—Marguerite Chiros.

Vivian Pickett, class of 1928, who was a feature at a restaurant in town and then Mattapoisett on the Cape. She had a little “get together”, with diners who enjoyed a vacation at the Van Deusen Hotel last summer.

We are told that one member of the faculty grew a Van Deusen Hotel last summer. It was red and curvy, but then he got it off before we had a chance to see it—

The Rotunda

Well, all I know is what I hear in the rotunda.

Mr. Joseph A. Arnold of the history department is now Doctor Arnold, having received his Ph.D. from Harvard University last summer.

He spent the month of August visiting in Kentucky.

Mr. Durgin enjoyed a vacation at Mattatuck on the Cape.

We are told that one member of the faculty grew a Van Deusen Hotel last summer.

The Rotunda

We are looking forward to next week, and that annual sack rush. I understand the poor freshmen are shelving in their boots already.

There will be eleven students from town (I mean Bridgewater) in the freshman class.

Another high spot of next week will be the opportunity the lower classes will have of standing in the corridor and admiring the grace and dignity of them as they pass by clad in cap and gown.

Miss Pope, Miss Decker, and Miss Caulfield have taken an apartment together.

Miss Beale will live in Wood, and Mr. Johnson will live in another.

Edgerton was the guest of Miss Beale’s vacation travels.

Miss Graves visited her sister in Buffalo.

Miss Taylor is now married, and her place in the training school is taken by Miss Evelyn Line at left of the class of 1931.

The work of grading the new athletic field is now completed, and the students are able to attend the games as Dr. Scott predicted it would be.

Mr. Denton is a special friend to the seniors. He hopes it will be hot next week.

Yes, sir, all I know is what I hear in the rotunda.

dress by F. Lauriston Bullard, chief editorial writer of the Boston Herald, entitled Keeping Pace with Current Affairs, and the end of the conference.
Bright Outlook for Sports

During the Coming Year

Training to Start Soon

The coming year should be one to arouse the interest and enthusiasm of the sports followers at B. T. C. as there are prospects of having fine teams in the three major sports: namely, soccer, basketball, and baseball.

... * * *

Genial George Morris of Fall River is captain of this year's soccer eleven and is expecting to do things in a big way.

An excellent schedule is being arranged which should surpass last year's rather inadequate schedule of one game. This season we will play Harvard Junior Varsity, Fitchburg, Teachers College, Tabor Academy, Nichols Junior College, New Bedford, and others.

Among the candidates for this team will be John Nolan, last year's captain and coach, Paul Hill, Bill Bradbury, Dan Kelly, Bill Nugent, Gene High, Ken Coombs, and Charlie Whitcomb. These veterans should form the nucleus of a strong team.

Last year the lower campus was the scene of many an amusing and hectic football game between the various classes. Undoubtedly the gridiron heroes will repeat their hostilities at an early date this year.

It is suggested that the incoming freshmen men start training at once, as the prospects look favorable for a Southern trip as they did last year.

If you are interested in surgery please see Mr. John J. Kelly, instructor in printing and mechanical drawing, and Miss Prill G. Beckwith, whose subject is handicrafts. The commuters' room and domestic science rooms are also located there.

The offices and classrooms of the physical education department are in the gymnasium.

And we suppose that those who live here do not need to be told about the dormitories; who does not know that the dining room is in Tillinghast Hall?

Good luck!

C. C. Members Meet 3:30 Today

The entire board and staff of Campus Comment will be present at a general meeting at 3:30 today, Thursday, in Miss Lovett's room. This includes editors, assistants, managers, and secretaries. Excuses should be submitted by those who find it impossible to come. Several pertinent subjects will be discussed and full attendance is necessary.

Number One (Continued from page 1)

Quincy is another city that has shown itself loyal to Bridgewater. Ruth Koss, Esther Lindberg, Alice Magnant, Virginia Fair, and Jessie Macfee may be found teaching in the Quincy schools next year.

Polly Drezninsky is going to teach the youngsters in Stoughton how to sing. She attests to be successful. She jumped up the commuters to the extent of winning the inter-dormitory singing contest.

Eleanor Packard, Doris Grade, and Madeline Caswell have all accepted positions in Mattapoisett. Two girls, Helen Robinson and Barbara Stockbridge will teach in Boxboro this year.

Many of the other girls may be found teaching in various nooks and corners of Massachusetts. Ethel Beede will teach in Norton, Eloise Godfrey in Falmouth, Olives Smith in Amherst, Olga Anderson in New Salem, Ruth Henry in Walblass, Grace Knox in Plainville, Miriam Fisher in East Bridgewater, Ella Lewis in Somerset, Charlotte Murray in Winchendon, Dorothy Shaw in Cummington, Ruth Rider in Wellesley, Louise West in Ashburnham, and Patricia Holmes in Townsend.

One girl has accepted an out-of-state position. Emily Shaffner plans to teach in New Hampshire. She will be principal of the school at South Hampton and teacher of grades 5-8.

Several girls are planning to continue their scholastic work in education sends cards of sincerity to Vassar to classmates. "Having a fine time. Wish you were here!" he said.

Number Three (Continued from page 1)

MISCELLANEOUS

The auditorium is in the north end of the building, and may be approached from either the basement or the main floor.

In the basement are the classrooms of Mr. John J. Kelly, instructor in printing and mechanical drawing, and Miss Prill G. Beckwith, whose subject is handicrafts. The commuters' room and domestic science rooms are also located there.

The offices and classrooms of the physical education department are in the gymnasium.

And we suppose that those who live here do not need to be told about the dormitories; who does not know that the dining room is in Tillinghast Hall?

Good luck!

C. C. Members Meet 3:30 Today

The entire board and staff of Campus Comment will be present at a general meeting at 3:30 today, Thursday, in Miss Lovett's room. This includes editors, assistants, managers, and secretaries. Excuses should be submitted by those who find it impossible to come. Several pertinent subjects will be discussed and full attendance is necessary.

BLUEBIRD SHOP

Greeting Cards, Music and Gifts

CIRCULATING LIBRARY of Latest Books

Jessie A. Pratt 37 Central Square

EDDIE, The Tailor

Cleansing, Pressing and Dyeing

Garments Altered, Relined, and Repaired

Tel. 370 Central Square

FLYNN'S

SPECIALTY SHOP

35 Central Square

Finery for Young Ladies

DUDLEY'S

Have You Visited Kemp's Golden Glow Shop?

SPECIAL LUNCHES SERVED DAILY at Our Fountain........ 30c

Our Specialty This Week—Banana Split, 15c

SAVE WITH SAFETY

CENTRAL SQUARE PHARMACY

THE COLLEGE FAVORITE

Ice Cream, Confectionery and Stationery

Toasted Sandwiches Light Lunches

Sole Agents for N. E. Bus Tickets

AL'S LUNCH

A Clean Place to Eat

TASTY SANDWICHES AND LUNCHES

Lunches Put Up To Take Out.

THE COLLEGE RENDEZVOUS

Next to Postoffice

FRIENDLY STORE

SNEAKERS FOR GYM, $1.85

White and Smoked Elk Sport Shoes $2.25

All kinds of Shoe Repairing

SNOW'S