STARRING:
The Class of 1975
This book is a recollection of our years at BSC. We look upon the time spent here as a rehearsal for what lies ahead. We hope the book holds as many memories for you as it does for us.

In the hearts of the Class of 1975 Rick Veno has earned a very special place.

It is with a sense of profound gratitude and affection that we dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Richard A. Veno.

The BSC campus is not quite as apathetic as you may think. There are numerous clubs and organizations. The reasons for becoming involved are extremely diverse but we are thankful that someone takes the responsibility of running the affairs we all take for granted.

You wouldn’t dream of going home weekends. There was just too much to do at school . . . parties, people, drinking. It didn’t matter that you’d RATHER be with your younger sister than this chick. Home was someplace to go to when school closed for the holidays.

- K.B.S.

From September to May the dormitory is the college man's castle. It can be the best ten months of your life or the worst. Sometimes it's a bit of both. Within the walls of what is usually a tasteless, uninspired edifice exists an ancient and honorable way of life. Parties begin and end with absurd abruptness. What was at one point a pulsating collection of people, lights and sound, falls hush at the stroke of ten — time to hit "the Club."

— K.B.S.
The 1974-75 season proved to be that of the "dream team". It was a well balanced squad with speed, height, outstanding shooters, as well as a tough defense. Our number one seed in the NAIA's was BSC's first tournament bid ever, something of which the team can be proud.
"Just knowing you could beat any team you played made this season my most enjoyable."

B.S.C. is . . .

. . . where you buy a book for $12.00, never open it for the class, sell it back for $4.00, ending up poorer than you began.

. . . where in Tilly, you can eat yesterday's hamburger, and the day before yesterday's mashed potatoes in the campus' favorite, "Shepard's Pie."

. . . where you meet a guy at "the Club" on a Thursday night and Friday morning he doesn't even remember your name.

. . . where you can be every thing your parents never wanted you to be.

. . . where the girls outnumber the guys three to one, but still think they can be choosy.

. . . where experience teaches you to know better the next time.

. . . where doubts overcome any faith that you had.

. . . where you share your most secret moments with six other people.

. . . where you can write that ten page paper the night before and still get a B.

. . . where weekends begin on Thursday afternoons and classes are unofficially cancelled as soon as the warm weather arrives.

. . . where you stood in line for four years (registration, Rathskellar, meals, bookstore)

. . . where you hate every minute you're here and miss every moment when you're gone.

The Children’s Physical Developmental Clinic
These last few days of the year always seem the best. There is a feeling, a vibrancy in the air that is more than the death of winter and the birth of spring. The campus hums with urgency for there is too little time to do all that we must do before another school year ends. But this year is different, for it is the end of our college days.

In the midst of all the hurrying there is a peace that grows from the love of friends. The quiet spring mornings and halcyon afternoons nurture this love. If I could have just one wish it would be for a lifetime of Bridgewater springs.
