Hotel Vendome in Boston Will Spotlight Senior Prom

In the dormitories, in the commuters' room, and in the gym there is one big topic of conversation—the Senior Prom! This year it is to be held at the Hotel Vendome in Boston. There will be dancing from nine to one to the music of Ken Reeves and his orchestra.

Novelty Favors Announced

Favors will be rather different this year. The girls will receive round mother-of-pearl lockets with the college seal on them and the men will have pen knives of mother-of-pearl with the college emblem on them.

Patrons will be Pres. and Mrs. Kelly, Miss Pope, Miss Bradford, Miss Nye, Miss Smith, and Miss Triggs.

Committees Work Overtime

The seniors are all busy working on the various committees. The hospitality committee includes: Ruth Small, chairman; S. Thompson, M. Connolly, E. Walsh and A. King. Nicky Megaw is chairman of the music committee with Tom Sparkes, Arnold Oliver, Carey Brush, Nancy Hatch, and Estelle Mackey serving under him.

The hall committee includes Ellie McLaughlin, chairman; Peggy Childerhouse, Franklin Fahnley, Bill Edgar, Leona Gregory and Marguerite Hallisey. Faye Postle is the chairman of the favors and programs committee, and Phyllis Pray, Mal Clouter, Arleen Weston, Barbara Govoni, and James Donahue are working with her.

The ushers will be Elizabeth Lawrence, Fred Martin, Eleanor Gannon, Charles Haley, Alice Bubriski, Tony Perry, Gloria Marshall, Joseph Horsley, Ruth Carlisle, Joseph Comerford, Mary Kjellander, Robert Clemence, Esther Boyden, and the president of Men's Club.

Boston To Be Seat Of N. E. A. Convention

Members of Bridgewater faculty will be in attendance at the forthcoming convention of the National Education Association, which will be held in Boston from June 29 to July 3.

Many of the local instructors are prominent in the association whose convention is expected to attract more than 10,000 educators from all sections of the country.

DuShane Completes Plans

President Donald DuShane, superintendent of schools in Columbus, Ind., and his committee have completed plans for the convention with the principal meeting to be held in Mechanics Building with sectional meetings at various Boston hotels.

Commissioner of education Walter F. Downey is chairman of the convention committee, while Arthur L. Gould, superintendent of the Boston Public Schools, is vice-chairman, and Hugh Nixon, secretary of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation, fills the post of committee secretary.

R. I. Commissioner To Be Graduation's Main Speaker

Dr. James F. Rockett, Commissioner of Education of Rhode Island, main speaker at the graduation exercises to be held next Friday at the Horace Mann Auditorium, will take as his theme, "Teaching As A Profession". Dr. Rockett is a well-known educational leader, not only locally but throughout all of New England and will address the 1941 graduates at one of the most crucial periods of United States History.

Miss Katherine Doyle, representing the Advisory Board of the Department of Education, will award the diplomas to the class of 1941 as well as the masters' degrees to the graduate students.

Southworth To Speak

The main speaker of the Baccalaureate exercises will be Stacey Southworth who is the present headmaster of Thayer Academy in Braintree, Massachusetts. Baccalaureate is scheduled for Sunday.

Graduation will be followed by the

Charming Faye Postle Made Queen of the Dixie Belles Caught Uncrowned

Fay Postle—Dixie Belle who reveals heart interest in interview.

Selected twice the most beautiful girl on campus—once as Snow Queen of 1939 and now as Queen of the Dixie Belles—Faye Postle's popularity was again affirmed last Friday evening at her Campus Carnival coronation.

Hailing originally from Santa Anna, California, she does more than just look beautiful it was revealed in an interview. Although she is in Glee Club, mixed choir, orchestra, and plays both piano and trombone, her greatest interest is in art. In the senior class she fills the post of secretary and is also head of the committee in charge of prom favors.

Tells Plans For Future

Faye plans to teach for several years along with taking art courses. Then she would like to devote herself exclusively to some profitable type of art work.

Replying to a query, Faye insists that her heart interest at present is her little puppy, Freckles, who takes up all her spare time.

Boyden House To Be College Library, Plans Alumni

Name Best-Dressed Girl And Boy of Class of '41

Voted by Undergrads

Twohig and Sawicki

Gertrude Twohig and Edward Sawicki are the best-dressed senior girl and boy, according to results of a recent secret sampling ballot of undergraduates conducted by CAMPUS COMMENT. Poll reporters emphasized that the main qualification was good taste as well as suitability in clothes.

This signal honor comes to Brocktonite Gertrude as she concludes four years filled with prominence in school activities. She was class vice-president as a freshman and sophomore, a four-year member of Social Activities Committee, and an active member of Dramatic Club. Gert is also secretary of S. C. A. and ends three years in the feature editorship of the paper.

Gertrude dislikes "gaudy colors and mixed-up designs." Although admitting a weakness for dainty fragile things, she likes rather simple lines in her clothes.

Sawicki Is Conservative

Ed Sawicki of Middleboro advocates conservative one-color or pencil-striped suits and has never been seen in contrasting coat and trousers.

His name ranks high on Scholastic Honor List, and he has been class treasurer for the past two years. Eddie

Topics-of-the-Day Club Set New Precedent

Gift of a set of books related to the field of history is announced for next year by Topics of the Day Club through its president, Morris Saxe, and chairman of Gift Committee, David Barnum, who was recently elected incoming president of the club.

Made possible by this year's high tonic sales volume, the total cost of the books will be about $25. Presentation probably will be made in Chapel early in the Fall, according to present plans of the committee.

Mrs. Pigeon Reelected To Second Term

Boyden House, recent addition to the campus, will be used as the college library, voted the alumni in their business meeting last Saturday, Alumni Day. While plans are still indefinite, it is expected that funds for remodeling the landmark to accommodate approximately 20,000 books are to be raised in the near future.

Books, once owned by the Boydens, and now in Boyden House, have been given by Alumni Association to the college library. Some fine old volumes, many of which will be valuable for research purposes, are contained in the collection, according to Librarian Julia C. Carter.

To Serve Again

Mrs. Elizabeth West Pigeon, '98, was reelected to the presidency to serve her second two-year term. In an address, Mrs. Pigeon made reference to an essay she wrote in high school entitled "Education Ends with Life". This idea has been consciously carried by the alumni president who has been prominent in education and in the association throughout her post-college days.

Points To Job Preparation

The guest speaker was Dean Henry W. Holmes of the School of Education of Harvard. In his talk Dr. Holmes stressed the fact that education should fit the individual to meet present day needs; it should prepare the youth of today for jobs. He made reference to Dean Spaulding's "High School in Life" which states that the philosophy of life is the importance of work.

Mr. Charles A. Jenny, Brockton, is the chairman of the board of trustees for Boyden House. The alumni voted to buy the home of the Boydens, father and son, at their meeting last May. The association secured title to the property in their own name a few months ago.

New Alpha Dedicated To Former Librarian

The 1941 edition of Alpha, published this week, is dedicated to Miss Cora Vining, former assistant librarian and graduate of Bridgewater, whose scholarly influence and unceasing generosity were felt by all Bridgewater students. The Alpha board has dedicated this year's issue to Miss Vining as a symbol of the appreciation of the graduating class as a whole.

Alpha has many new features in its composition this year that add both novelty and artistic form to the publication. Besides the pictures of the numerous clubs and officers, are the sports teams' photographs and snapshots of the seniors taken during informal escapades. Included among photographs of graduating students will be found the pictures of the faculty.

"... AS SCHOLARS BESIDES"

The senior class president leaves behind him this thought: "Do more than is asked of you—be a real scholar." Do not think of the bespectacled, long-bearded gentleman of eccentric demeanor who delves ceaselessly in search of obscure and weighty facts, but think rather of the life-loving young teacher who is starting out this June.

Teachers, in general, are altogether too often regarded as teachers alone, and never as scholars besides. But one who is to teach must first be a scholar, and one of the most important means of becoming a scholar is by doing more than is required of you. For then interest is sure to take reins of the individual, and then true learning results.

There is nothing so pitiful as an unscholarly teacher. It has been commonly said that it is not the college, it is not the faculty, it is not the text book, it is not the brilliant roommate that gives an education—it is, chiefly, how much the student does over and above his regular assignments.

It may never even be noticed by your associates; it may be that you never go to the teacher with some picture or book or what have you. After all, worthy learning is not pretentious; rather it is a silent partner to the individual. It is not how much you are said to know, but how much you know you know. All that matters is that each subject you study has, by means of a little extra correlative reading on your part, opened the pathways to real scholarship.

Let's think about it!

TOPICS CLUB AND SERVICE

"Why aren't we the ones who thought of that?" should be the question uppermost in minds of campus club men and women as they read of Topics of the Day Club's fine gesture in planning to expend a large amount of the surplus earned through noontime tonic sales on new books for the library in Boyden. Library Club which turns over to the college library its lending library books after a period of circulation must also be commended highly in this respect.

But we feel that Topics is even more to be praised as their connection with the library is not as close as is that of Library Club. Although not generally known, the truth is that Topics of the Day could easily have voted that this surplus be used to pay all expenses of their recent banquet. Their decision stands higher with this revelation.

While most other clubs do not have the same earning capacity as does Topics, they could all easily afford to give at least one or two books to the library whose needs in many fields are well known. It is to be hoped that the ideal of perfect service, the highest ideal for teachers, will be constructively considered by these other clubs during the next academic year.

Outgoing S. C. A. Leader Bids School Farewell

"Our greatest achievement this year has been that of the new method of petition whereby student grievances and wants may be voiced at last," states Retiring President Pauline Murdock of Student Cooperative Association in summarizing her year as head of the college's largest and most important student organization.

"It has been a real pleasure to work with this year's council, continued Polly. "Council members have been loyal, hard-working, and co-operative."

Stresses Co-operative Value

Stressing the fact, that only through co-operation between all college elements, have the achievements of the year been accomplished, the president emphasized the fact that Bridgewater needs more co-operation than anything else.

Miss Murdock closed the interview by expressing her appreciation of this year's council's work and wishing great success and good luck to her successor Lysbeth Lawrence, and all members of the college.

Senior Sage Imparts Advice to Underclassmen

"Do more than is asked of you; be a real scholar," is the best axiom to live up to at BTC, according to Pete Felch, senior class president in his last CAMPUS COMMENT interview before commencement.

Attending Bridgewater was Pete's own choice and he has always given his best to the institution. He considers every senior class member as a personal friend, and his message of advice carries much thought.

"Not only should we do more than is asked of us, but there should be a carry-over to the time when our matriculation here is at an end." Pete continued, "Commencement does not mean the end of anything—in contrast, it means the beginning. It means the beginning of the time when we are going to use the experience gained here in new situations."

These clear rules, as a message, according to Mr. Felch are not technicalities of thought but clear, logical advice for those who want to make much of their four years at this college.

New Campus Comment Board Announced

Editors and managers of next year's CAMPUS COMMENT Board were tentatively elected at a recent meeting of senior members of the present board. Subject to removal in the paper's best interests according to traditional policy, the new board members were chosen from a large field of candidates.

Selection of an assistant editor presented sufficient difficulty to warrant leaving the decision up to the incoming senior members of the board which will be headed by Bernard Kinsella.

Elected editors are: Esther Kauppila, technical; Katherine Tiernan, feature; Wallace Goldstein, news; Norma Hurley, make-up; Richard Roche, headlines; Eva Kaye, women's sports; and David Dix, men's sports.

Incoming managers are: Carmella Locantore, business; Robert Bruni, assistant business; Everett Britton, advertising; Charlotte James, circulation; Marie Gargan, typists.

FROM 3:30 ON

The question from the employment blank stared up at me,
 "What have you done for extra-curricular activities?"
 A hundred thousand pictures came my mind before,
 In faded ribbons tied; memories of the four
 Years choked with days and nights of fun and play
 Of whispered midnight feasts on bureau top buffet,
 Advantages of having roommate my own size;
 In buying clothes just think how two can harmonize!
 The cokes and smokes each night at Rexall's around five.
 I've learned to catch each last brief wink of sleep; then dive
 For bath, toothbrush, and comb, and still make class at nine!
 In competition fierce I have enriched my line,
 Learned how to act bored and just what to say,
 Invaluable to use in social career some day.
 I can burn toast perfectly in my room each night
 And do my best studying by the dorm's early light
 But am I dramatic? Athletic? Do I sing?
 In spite of my talents, I must write, "Nothing!"

SENIOR SNAPSHOTS

Adios, Amigos!! It's the gypsy in me, letting you know this is our final issue so a tribute to the seniors. Ben Bernie would say, "The time has come to lend thine ears to au revoir—a bit of tweet tweet—a cheerio—and pleasant dreams." Adding our wish for bright days ahead, we'll now dwell on campus capers of your capricious collegians.

Candid Campus Capers:

Tilly fire caused much concern over Doris Kenney's prom gown . . . We'd like to know whose toeless pumps Bill Kearns appropriated for the play . . . House parties and then more house parties for Winnie Taylor . . . Larry Berch is off to Texas after commencement . . . The horses will miss Peggy and Rita . . . Van Annan enjoyed his duties as judge in cake-baking contest . . . Applebaum's poetry in Alpha is really clever . . . Congratulations to Lucille, Ruth, Eileen, and Florence. They're full-fledged school marms now . . . Sparkes has his own fish bowl for social gatherings . . . Phil, Rita, Mal, Mae, Charlotte, and Kay will be off to Hampden Beach, a vacation after their hard work? . . . Harriet Welch and Ina Mosher practised their drama final with Ned Denton as an audience in the Social Room . . . Mary Gampferoli has cute bows—Martha Washington style . . . Lucille and Joe are pretty faithful—to gym noon hour dancing, anyway . . . Do you know what past class president Mary Larkin is promenading with? . . . Eileen Crean has a ring to seal her friendship . . . Arleen Weston is dating June 2 with one of our nice grad students.

Smoothies of the day:

Nancy Hatch in her purple dress for superintendents . . . Anne King in her darling red jumper . . . Gert Twohig in her smart gingham . . . Phil Pray in her brown and white outfit . . . Amelia Acebo first in a broomstick skirt.

Runner-ups Listed

Senior girls who received honorable mention were Phyllis Pray, Winnie Taylor, Nancy Hatch, Ruth Nutter, and Carolyn Turner. Among senior men receiving heavy votes were Irving Scarenco, Loring Felch, Wilbor Parkinson, and Mal Clouter.

Faculty Remains Silent On Senior Reception

On Thursday evening, June 5, the faculty and seniors will have their final get-together before graduation in the form of the faculty reception. The seniors have received their invitations, but other than that the faculty refuses to disclose any details. Rumor has it that it is to be on the summer formal type with supper and dancing. Mr. Tyndall is in charge. The reception will be followed by the traditional Senior Serenade.

Grange Lecturer Outlines Society's Educational Aims

Educational advantages offered by the Grange were emphasized by Mrs. Mary J. Schindler, state lecturer of the Grange, in an interview following her recent Chapel lecture. No less enthusiastic about Grange work in her interview than in her lecture, she spoke highly of her organization's adult education program.

Of particular interest is the Educational Aid Fund. Amounting to $130,000 and supported by local Grange units, this fund makes a large number of loans to members desiring college educations. "We never refuse any one," affirmed Mrs. Schindler. Connected with the fund are three scholarships awarded yearly to young members.

Mrs. Schindler, who is now serving her eighth term as state lecturer, is also chairman of the School Committee of Halifax, Massachusetts.

SCA Committees Appointed for Next Year

Chairmen of standing committees for 1941-42 have recently been appointed by Lysbeth Lawrence, president-elect of Student Cooperative Association. The chairmen and Miss Lawrence will choose members of the committees at a later date.

Fitzgerald Holds Post

The important work of these six committees will be under the direction of the following students:

Chapel Committee: John Henry Fitzgerald who will retain the post he has filled during the past year.

Civic Committee: George Pothier, general chairman; Edward Cheromka, parking; Freeman Smith, grounds; Alma Spearwater, bulletin boards.

Elections Committee: Mary Sardi.

Handbook Committee: Katherine Tierenan.

Scholarship Committee: Barbara Daly. Lecture Fund Committee: June Whittier.

Seniors Plan Gay Affair To Be Held at Fieldston

While the envious underclassmen plug for exams the seniors will be off on their picnic at Fieldston on Wednesday, June 4. There will be bowling, swimming, dancing, and all kinds of games.

Thomas Sparkes and Mary Brigida are in charge of the day's activities. Busses will leave Bridgewater probably between nine and ten in the morning.

SPORTS TRIBUTE OF 1941

BY DAPPER

Each year it is this column's pleasure to pay deserved tribute to athletes about to leave the glory paths of alma mater. This year the teams have been inspired and led by several athletes who will be hard to replace. Honors due them are only vaguely approachable by means of the black and white medium. Permit us, however, to summarize their activities.

Soccer:

Booters who will be remembered as outstanding are Tom Sparkes, Jim Savage, Bob Van Annan, Carey Brush, Arnold Oliver, and Bill Edgar. We saw these lads struggle valiantly against superior foes and saw them combine efforts to amazingly defeat many supposedly more talented squads. While no one player should be given precedence over teammates, we class Bill Edgar as the crew's satellite. Edgar was the bulldog type, never allowing fatigue or pressure to halt his efforts. Ranking very close behind him was Doc Savage who consistently turned in creditable performances and was the spearhead of every attack.

Basketball:

Red and White basketballers far exceeded hopes and wishes of even most rabid rooters this past season. Credit for our state teachers college championship team was in great part due to the leadership and scoring punch of the seniors involved. A mediocre team became a whirlwind of efficiency when spirited seniors became inspired with that old college try. Individual honors go to scintillating Tom Sparkes. Tom's scoring power, floor leadership, and perpetual motion upset intentions of many opponents. A varsity player for four seasons, Tom improved upon his natural abilities each year. Diminutive Nick Megas was the lad who thrilled more spectators than did any other player on the floor. We will never forget those long and deadly shots that seemed to come from nowhere, but in reality were heaved by Megas. Many games that were tied up and very tense were suddenly blasted wide open when Nick started tossing. Pete Felch played his most brilliant game against Becker and in that fray stole the limelight because of his beautiful performance against men supposedly his superiors. Pete deserves the whole-hearted acclamation because he came up from a lowly jay-vee position the hard and long way to become the sensation of the team.

Baseball:

Several perspiring seniors were old reliables on the diamond teams for three seasons past. Bill Broderick earned the right to be elected captain this year by consistently reliable performances in past seasons. By no means a powerhouse at the bat, he, nevertheless, was dependable when the game was close and those runners on second and third had to be driven home. A knee injury bothered Bill's fielding speed this season, but he showed admirable spirit by not allowing this to keep him out of the game he loved. Jim Savage has been the most reliable catcher of the team for two seasons. Fans never stopped to consider that for every game Jim caught he had also caught three or four practice sessions. Hats off to Jim Savage; he was the hardest worker on the nine. Catching cannot be mentioned without consideration of Art Applebaum. Apples proved his right to be called a catcher in the A. I. C. debacle. Art tossed that ball from his dusty position with deadly effect. It was rare coincidence that the Redlegs had two equally good backstop artists, Art and Jim, so they both saw valuable service. Either boy would have been good enough to be a steady occupant of number one starting spot. Once again we come to Tom Sparkes who was by far the best shortstop our club could put out there. His fielding was always superb. Tom showed his power with the big stick when he belted the A. I. C. pitching for two solid hits.

Tennis:

Bounding Bob Van Annan profited from historic encounters with Coach Meier and thus became a good tennis racket wielder. That's what Bob claims. We say Bob was a natural athlete who didn't know how to be poor at any game he tackled. The best pitcher the ball team had for two years past, he managed to work tennis and track into his diet and even found time to be an energetic soccer player. Hank Barber, besides being a peppy manager, could step onto the clay courts and keep up with first class tennis competition. Henry earned every letter bestowed upon him.

SIGNPOSTS from W. A. A.

"We reap that which we have sown".

The annual W. A. A. banquet held on Wednesday, May 21 served as a laudatory sanction for those who have participated in the replete sports program for the past year. Let us overestimate our achievements, a day of reckoning is essential.

The banquet, guided smoothly along by the president of W. A. A., Mary Brigida, opened with songs and progressed with a greeting by President Kelly. The guest speaker, Mrs. Raymond Hollis, gave a realistic talk on "Bicycling through Germany" — one filled with local color. It was received with great enthusiasm.

Then the following new officers were installed by Miss Caldwell and Miss Decker: president, Kay McGloin; 1st vice-president, Margaret Burns; 2nd vice-president, Lois Pearson; corresponding secretary, Lea Hearn; financial secretary, Lillian Russell; recording secretary, Eileen Nolan; treasurer, Natalie Taylor; assistant treasurer, Mary Campbell.

Summa Cum Laude:

For enthusiastic and honor participation in the association for four years, Kay Nolan was awarded the W. A. A. pin.

Ina May Mosher was honored with a gift by Modern Dance Group for her sincere loyalty in playing for their dancing.

The 4S award is given to the seniors who have complied with the rigid requirements of scholarship, stability service, and sportsmanship. It is not fortuitous that the following girls received this honor, but it is the result of genuine co-operation and work: Doris Burrill, Winifred Taylor and Eileen Walsh.

Memorial Organ Recital
To Be Annual Event

Dr. Francis W. Snow, organist and choirmaster of Trinity Church, Boston, presented on May 25 the first annual organ recital in memory of Miss Clara C. Prince, a graduate of the then Bridgewater Normal School. He was assisted by Roland Coates, Jr., soprano soloist at Trinity Church.

Last year Miss Bessie N. Page of Boston, a Bridgewater graduate and executrix of Miss Prince's will, presented this college an Aeolian-Skinner pipe organ as a centennial gift in the name of Miss Prince. It was decided that a memorial recital will be given every year in May on a Sunday near the birthday of Miss Prince.

Highlights of Salem Sports Day:

Lea Hearn trying to teach "Snuffy" Smith how to play ping-pong . . . Natalie Taylor and Ruth Nutter current whizzes at badminton . . . Fast game of badminton on the part of Barbara Berg . . . "Song Bird" Jenness strutting her stuff at volley ball . . . Mike Austin the potential Robin Hood . . . New and powerful combination, Soupy Campbell and Grace Messier.

Southern Hospitality:

The classes mixed at the Dixie Jamboree . . . The pickaninnies heckled their mummies, who tendered their belles, who waited upon their queen, who was crowned by the colonel, who was advised by the congenial gang, who all had a snappy good time on the manor house on the hill. Magnolias to the chairmammies: Kay Tiernan, Ruth Carlisle, Priscilla Pinel, and Kay McGloin.
