President Kelly Urges Broad Philosophy Of Education For All

"Greetings!

In the process of training youth for life in cooperative society we must build a philosophy of education that will enable us, teacher and student, to see more clearly the relationship of the individual to the whole of society. Nor should this stop with the nation. All mankind must be included. No definition of citizenship that is bounded by our own country is an adequate definition either of citizenship or of education. We must accept as an aim for education what is a worthy aim for life. We must bend our efforts to teach that the best of the good life should be made available to all and that the application of this principle should be extended to all the world.

Freedom of speech and religion, freedom from want and from fear, these belong to all the earth and to all men everywhere. Those are the goals of peace and the hope of the whole world.

Our own country with its ideas of equality is an experiment which has been conducted against odds and with much patience and, best of all, with some success for most people. It has prospered and brought fresh hope to millions and new good to humanity. Even in the thick of war the experiment goes ahead with old valves and new forms. Life is change. The earth shrinks in upon itself and we adjust to a world in motion, holding fast to the truth as we know it, confident that as long as the love of freedom remains in the hearts of men it will show in their deeds.

May I extend to the faculty and students of Bridgewater every good wish for success in your work in the days ahead".

Many Occupations Covered By Students During Summer

Conversation, the first few days of the fall semester this year went something like this, "And what did You do this summer?" The answer, "Ahem, I stayed at home and er-ah worked-yes, that's what I did." And now you mentally cringe as people expect you to explain lucidly the process whereby transformers are wired for submarine service, how you make chocolate ice cream cabinets, the pro's and con's of various defense plants, an easier way to pick peas, and how to look officious when you have never been in a prison much less work in one!

PRESIDENT KELLY
Welcomes Students and Faculty

Chapel Programs Planned By Student Committee

Miss Ann O'Brien, Chairman of Chapel Programs, has held meetings of late, discussing tentative plans for this year's Chapel Programs. The Committee for Chapel consists of members from both the faculty and student body. Faculty members are Miss Lutz, President Kelly, Dr. Maxwell, and Miss Rand. Student participants are Randall Powers and Helen Winslow, seniors; Phyllis Jenness and Phyllis Powell, juniors; Russell Fears and Hannah Leavitt, sophomores; and from this year's entering class, Vivian Chaffin and William Wild.

So far the committee has decided to omit the defense activities for the first semester. However, Lecture Fund plans to fill the program so that there will always be a full Chapel Hour.

Friday, October 2, S. C. A. endeavored to give us an appreciation of the Administration Building, especially of the Horace Mann Auditorium. Talks were given on the meaning of the murals, organ, and mottoes of the college, such as they mean to us as Bridgewaterites.

Tuesday, October 6, Arthur T. Lyman, Commissioner of Correction, spoke on "The Department of Correction in the War".

October 20, Dr. Howard Carroll, Superintendent of Schools in Taunton, will appear.

BRIDGEWATER'S NEW DEAN STRIKES KEYNOTE OF GRIM DETERMINATION

Stresses Need Of Continuing Studies

Many of us fellows remaining at college in some form of reserve have entertained an unfounded feeling of "unpatriotism" aroused by the departure of our friends to active duty or by the swaggering patriot. Perhaps envious of our position in world affairs and embittered by his own, this so-called patriot is even prone to call us "yellow" for enlisting on reserve. Well, maybe.

It seems, however, that winning a war entails more than just being brave. It means being smart, too! Men on reserves will be far more vital to the war effort, far more useful to the armed forces if they develop their innate skills and leadership, so necessary to winning any war. Yet in spite of this realization, the men still feel like getting right in there to fight.

In a recent interview Balfour Tyndall, our new dean, already actively engaged in uprooting basic campus problems and promoting harmony, alleviates this disconcerting feeling. "The Army and Navy would not put forth the Reserve Program if they didn't think it was worth it," he stressed. "Besides, men on reserve are in the Army or Navy, anyway." I think I can say in all safety that our new dean must feel that rigorous courses in mathematics and physics are as preparatory to fighting as is the army drill.

I will unfold Mr. Tyndall's message which has been purposely withheld: Mixed Emotions

"Last December 7 the quiet composure of the Bridgewater campus was rent by the terrifying word "WAR". Instantly a variety of emotions rose in all members of the faculty and the student body. Reactions to those emotions caused all college activities for the remainder of the year to be carried on amidst most unsettled conditions.

Colorful Farmer's Frolic Aids Bridgewater Canteen

The Farmer's Frolic, sponsored by the Day and Dormitory Student Councils, was held in the Boyden gymnasium on Friday evening, October 2. Dancing to recorded music was enjoyed from 8 to 11:30.

In charge of the Frolic were Grace Messier, acting Dormitory President, and Elena Caracciolo, acting Day Student President. The following served as committee chairmen: Doris Hedlund, Hospitality; Audrey Ash, Decorations; Rita Kearns and Winnifred Sweeny, Tickets; Marion Bothwell, Food; and Phyllis Jenness, Publicity. Robert Clemence officiated as caller of the dances. Ushers were Audrey Ash, Betty Byrne, Lea Hearn, Magda Larson, Mary Sardi, and Ruth Sinclair.

Decorations were of a predominant rustic theme. Refreshments consisted of cider and doughnuts, and all proceeds were forwarded to the Bridgewater Canteen Fund.

BALFOUR S. TYNDALL
New Dean of Men

Our Stand Today

"This year things should be different. We know a great deal better where we stand in the war effort. Most of our men have already enrolled in some form of combat service, and all of our young men know that eventually they will be called to action—the only question on that score being the actual time. "Take It And Fight Back"

"During the coming year, a spirit of grim determination should develop among the faculty and students of Bridgewater—a grim determination that has a smile as its banner, but which acts to settle everyday problems only in the light of world affairs. A determination should develop which gives an ability to "take it" and fight back—some of the stuff that made the English civilian and the Russian soldier heroic in their actions and attitudes.

Appeals To Younger Generation

"Men and women of Bridgewater, the older generations again call to youth to help solve the great problems of the world. Can you take your full part in the answer to that call?

"I believe you can and will."

Chapter Of Kappa Delta Pi Organized Here

Members of Kappa Delta Pi are enthusiastic about the possibilities of an active year at Bridgewater. The Epsilon Iota Chapter of this National Honor Society in Education was installed here on May 14, 1942, through the efforts of its faculty counselor, Paul Huffington, of the Geography Department.

The national organization of Kappa Delta Pi was founded at the University of Illinois in 1911. Since its organization 131 chapters have been installed, making it one of the largest national honor societies in America. Epsilon Iota Chapter was greatly honored to have Dr. William C. Bagley, Laureate Counselor of the national organization, as its installing officer. Dr. Bagley, one of the foremost leaders in education today, was influential in the establishment of the original chapter at the University of Illinois.

WHEN GAS GOES, WHAT THEN?

With the strict rationing of gas in New England and the promise of the long-threatened, nation-wide rationing, the problem of commuting has assumed a serious aspect. Those students who have been commuting by car have found that their problem depends largely upon their local gas rationing boards. Many of the boards have, in the last rationing, considered the growing shortage of teachers, and, with this in mind, have allotted a sufficiency of gas to cover the necessary mileage from home to college. Exactly what will happen after the fifteenth of November, however, remains a question in the minds of the commuters the country over.

Speaking before a group of commuters at this college, W. H. Luddy of the Luddy Bus Company told of the severe limitations to be imposed both upon private cars and public transportation facilities. Mr. Luddy said, "Defense work must come first. We must, after all, have the ships and the guns. It is imperative that these workers arrive at work, and on time. Moreover, the government is desirous of having these defense workers transported in busses, in order to limit the number of passenger cars allowed to approach our defense plants. Perhaps, passenger cars will be entirely prohibited."

The bus companies and other means of public transportation are strictly limited both as to the amount of employable labor and the amount of obtainable equipment. Now that their business is expanding, they are finding it impossible to purchase new buses, tires, and repair parts. This is necessary as all such equipment must go into more direct combat service.

A local problem is that of the South Weymouth Lighter-Than-Air Base which, when fully completed, will require some twenty-two thousand men for its operation, and, already, is finding the problem of transportation a serious handicap.

Such difficulties may be due, in part, to the necessity of transporting school children back and forth each day. Many small bus companies are unable to coordinate their schedules to cover both the local school problem and the near-by defense plant.

Said one reader in the Boston Daily Globe's People's Forum, where the public has the opportunity to express its opinion, "Our grandfathers, fathers and we ourselves walked to school." This, then, makes us wonder if we and our younger brothers and sisters are too "soft", especially in an age which calls for strength.

Where the case calls for necessary transportation, the individual must, at least, coordinate his activities with that which is offered to the public. In any event, there falls upon the American who plans to do any traveling which is not by foot, the duty of accepting that which is offered, and aiding in this way to make a smoother, more efficient America.

Things We Like At B. T. C.:

The "razed" hair-line of the Frosh fellows. . . The flowers on Miss Rand's desk. . . The new stillness in the library (wonder how long it will last?). . . The wonderful sportsmanship of the freshmen. . . Doctor Maxwell's humor. . . The little corner flower arrangement on the quadrangle. . . The promise of a lounge, truly an innovation. . . The dignity of black-garbed Seniors. . . Miss Hill reading aloud. . . Mr. Davoren's friendliness. . . Mike Antone's daily recitation of the dining-room menu and his discourses on the effects of pneumonitis. . . Mr. Tyndall's suave charm. . . Eileen Sheehan's humorous wit. . . The humble attitude of freshmen girls. . . and, last, but not least, freedom of the press.

Things We Don't Like At B. T. C.:

The overwhelming amount of work assigned to the freshmen for the year. . . The ever-present odor of fresh paint in the town library. . . The subdued buzzing in chapel. . . The neck-breaking slippery floors in Wood—a la Johnson's Glo-Coat. . . Lack of water fit for human consumption in Boyden Hall. . . The way coke and candy machines are always empty after one's spending hours looking for a nickel. . . Seven hours a day, most confusing. . . The change in mailbox combinations each year. . . The unfinished Boyden House; (Oh, well, perhaps some day!)

Rumors We Hear Of:

Ellen Roberts' engagement to Frank MacDougall, class of '42. . . Joe Kilory travelling via Eastern Mass. bus from Brockton through Holbrook, Brookville, Quincy, Weymouth Landing. Ultimate destination? East Weymouth, of course! . . We always thought a straight line was the shortest path between two points. . . Dot Hedlund and Ruth Sinclair were robbed by the U. S. Coast Guard. . . Miss Rand and Mary Sardi arguing over Tchaikowsky. . . Mary Joyce's summer of indecision. . . Marie Mack, freshman, and Winnie Sweeney, senior, as room-mates. Incidentally, did they gain weight? . . Mel-lie Jenkins totes a mean tray, and, also, a new friendship ring. . . Kay Tootill owning a Kappa Delta Phi fraternity pin. . . Ruth Trenear, a Tau Kappa Epsilon. . . Parsons, the little girl who isn't here much. . . Barbara Moore's wedding to Richard Newhall of Bridgewater and Illinois with Martha Cummings as a charming maid of honor. . . "Buck's" sister in the freshman class. . . Lack of publicity for the Navy V-1 course as offered at B. T. C. . . Campus Comment bewailing the loss of Arthur Olson, writer of Great Oak reports.

SUMMER OCCUPATIONS

Our students did their bit in many ways. Besides trying (or being made) to save gas and r—"Oh for Pete's sake, let's not go into that again", they worked in defense plants, civilian defense work, on farms, playgrounds, in offices, libraries, schools, restaurants, service stations, prisons, hospitals, department stores, hotels, and nurseries—(Did we leave anything out?)

Let's see if we can remember some of those conversational tid-bits, John La Spada, Edward Wojnar, and William Buckley spent a "quiet" summer working as guards at the State Farm. They can, after a little prodding, tell you some lump-raising tales. Not to be outdone, William Blount worked as an attendant at Westboro Hospital.

Among the tray-toters were Ruth Sinclair, Doris Hedlund, Lea Hearn, Magda Larson, Marguerite Harding, Eleanor Burnely, Patricia Dahill, Georgia MacNamee, Meredith White, Millicent Jenkins, and Ralph Herlihy.

The war effort was helped along by Ellen Mercer, Jerome Nathanson and Mary Sardi. Have her tell you how to assemble headers for transformers.

Mary Begley tested condensers in a radio parts factory in New Bedford which may be used to provide communications for an American soldier in some outpost of the war front. Helen Lucas did clerical work in the office of Robbins Co. in Attleboro where they made emblems and chevrons for the army and navy. Olivio Lopes aided in providing clothing as he worked as filling carrier in a cotton mill. Joe Dzenowagis aided on the food front as a trucker for the Eastern Grain Company.

Many also worked on recreation jobs during the summer, including Randall Powers, Mary Joyce, Winnifred Sweeney, Ruth Trenear, and Marie Mack, who worked as councilors at Camp Norfolk. Catherine Sites worked as a lifeguard, while Everett Britton was head lifeguard at the Swimming Pool in Brockton. Others employed as lifeguards were Jane Cass, Phyllis Lucey, Mary O'Lenick, Francis O'Byrne, Eleanor O'Byrne. Ed Cheromcha also kept one of the Brockton pools well supervised. Jimmy Nolan, Ann O'Neil, Joe O'Donnell, Betty Hallisy, and Betty Byrne all were playground instructors during their summer vacations, in their respective cities.

An old standby of many of the students was the job of clerking. Among these were Elena Carracciolo, who sold Women's Beach Wear in Sheridan's; William Sides, who was a clerk for one of the larger grocery stores in Hanover; Bernard LaCouture, who was bar manager for Producer's Dairy Co. in Brockton; and Molly Diamond who clerked in a Brockton drug store. This type of work seemed more popular than any other and the underclassmen were well represented. Helen Kolenda worked in Grant's, Madeline Hogan worked in Edgar's, Catherine Ianoni worked in the office at Newbury's, and Roy Tangly was a fruit clerk in Scituate.

Again with the Faculty, "We stayed put". But several of them did not. Miss Rand crossed the country to California and also took music courses. The Ohio River Valley was Doctor Arnold's visiting place. Miss Dorothy Nutter spent the summer in New Hampshire where she painted (in oil), cooked, farmed, and attended forum lectures at Colby.

MIDSHIPMEN GIVEN ORDNANCE INSTRUCTION ABOARD U.S. NAVY TRAINING SHIP

The Navy's V-1 Accredited College program serves as a feeder for deck or engineering officers (V-7) and for aviation officers (V-5). Freshmen and Sophomores who enlist in the Navy's Class V-1 and qualify for deck or engineering officers training will be sent to a training school as midshipmen and will receive an intensive course in seamanship, ordnance and navigation.

Midshipmen, who can be identified by the dark band on their hats, are pictured here as they receive ordnance instruction aboard the U.S.S. Prairie State.

NAVY'S MESSAGE TO FRESHMEN

The United States Navy joins with the Bridgewater State Teachers College in welcoming you to her campus. You men who are beginning your college career have chosen a fine institution; an institution with a heritage of culture and scholastic achievement that has placed the name of Bridgewater high in the records of America's institutions of higher learning. The name "Bridgewater man" is a title not to be borne lightly. Do credit to yourself and the college of your choice.

These days, it is difficult for young men to know which way to turn. The natural inclination of young men today is to drop everything immediately and rush to their nearest recruiting office and sign aboard their fleet. This highly commendable show of spirit and patriotism is, however, helpful neither to you nor your Navy. The Navy realizes that many young men are placed in an uncomfortable position by wearing civilian clothes and continuing with their education while their fellow citizens join the armed forces. But you men at Bridgewater, by virtue of the fact that competent officials have selected you for admission, show that you are potential officer material to lead the ships of your Navy into battle.

Naval officers are the finished product of good upbringing, the best education and physical conditioning that America has to offer. You men, selected by your college to comprise this year's freshman class are serving your country just as surely, just as loyally, as the sea-fighters in the Pacific, or the battlers in Europe.

The Navy wants you to do two things:

1. Stay in college. Work hard—harder than you ever worked before. This is no time for comedy. Not in America, this Autumn of 1942.

2. Join the Naval Class that prepares you for a commission as an Ensign, USNR. This class is designated as V-1. Information on this class is available from your V-1 Faculty Advisor, or by writing direct to the V-1 Selection Board, First Naval District Headquarters, 150 Causeway Street, Boston, Mass.

In the near future, representatives of your Navy will visit your campus. Campus Comment will tell you when. At that time, you will be able—provided you are qualified—to sign aboard your country's fleet as a potential officer.

Until then, prepare yourselves for the job at hand—the job of winning this war—by applying yourself diligently to your studies and your athletics as prescribed by your college officials.

In this way you prepare yourself to be a good Naval Officer—and at the same time you will be a good Bridgewater man. That is a combination hard to beat.

Gentlemen, of the Freshman Class of Bridgewater, the Navy wishes you good luck, smooth sailing, and God speed.

BRIDGEWATER'S SERVICE HONOR ROLL

Graduates and undergraduates who are at present in the armed services of their country or who have enlisted in any of the reserves on a deferred status should be found in the following classified lists. Every effort has been made during recent weeks to get the most complete returns possible. Mr. Hunt, Faculty Representative of the Armed Forces, has spent much time in assembling the data from which these lists are made. These data will of course change from day to day, particularly in the matter of ranks, addresses, etc. There are probably a few errors due to inadequate returns and some omissions due to inability to contact individual graduates. All undergraduates are urged to report promptly to Mr. Hunt any corrections, changes, and additions. It is one of your war time responsibilities to see that every alumnus who is enlisted in any of the armed forces is accurately recorded on the Honor Roll of his Alma Mater.

Graduates are indicated by the year in which they graduated. Undergraduates will have no year printed after their names. To economize space, men in similar types of service will be grouped under a few different heads. Latest addresses can be learned by consulting Mr. Hunt's records.

Army Aviation including Flight Officers of different ranks:

L. Berch, '41, Cadet; T. Earhardt, '37, 1st Lieut. in the Bomber Ferrying Squadron; J. S. Noonan, '42 in foreign service; Edward V. Soccer Picture Hopeful

At the beginning of the present school year, we had despaired of ever fielding a soccer team. As was the case with most colleges, the supply of men here had been tapped by all the branches of the armed services. Most of us had resigned ourselves to the fact that Bridgewater would pass through a sports-less year. Without warning the nucleus of a soccer team began working out daily. Cheromcha, Antone, Campbell, Blount, Dzenowagis, all of them and more, began to consider the possibilities of a soccer team. During the next few soccer sessions several freshmen joined in. Soon the makings of a classy soccer squad were in evidence. So without further waiting, regular soccer practices were called. As matters now stand the possibilities of a happy season are as great as they have ever been heretofore.

Captain Bill Campbell will lead the team this year from his right halfback post. Most of us who are familiar with his bone crushing style of play, know that we have a great player in him. Light-footed Everett Britton will play to Campbell's left at halfback also. Ed Cheromcha, sure-footed fullback, will probably be joined by "Big Ed" Wojnar at that spot.

TOPICS OF THE DAY CLUB

Topics of the Day Club held its first bi-weekly meeting on Tuesday afternoon, September the twenty-second in Miss Smith's room. The officers for this year are Audrey Ash, President; Concetta Passero, Vice President; Elena Caracciolo, Secretary; Jerome Nathanson, Treasurer. Class Representatives, Mary McNeil, Junior, and Betty C. Byrne, Senior, were elected.

At present the Club is featuring a lending library of current books such as Franz Werfel's "Song of Bernadette". These books may be obtained at a nominal fee of two cents a day.

Membership is still open. Those wishing to join may contact any of the members who will be glad to invite them to attend the timely meetings.

PRESS CLUB

Meeting for the first time this year on Wednesday, October seventh in Miss Lovett's room, Press Club had a record attendance. The members of this group are primarily interested in journalism and newspaper writing as a preparation for joining the Campus Comment Staff.

This year's officers are Rita Kearns, President; Betty Byrne, Vice President; Grace Messier, Secretary; Richard Dorey, Treasurer.

Plans were made for a very full program. These include field trips, lectures, general discussions, and story writing.

HONOR ROLL

Reported Drafted: Vernon West.

Undergraduates Already Enlisted in Some one of the Reserves on the College Deferment Plan:

SENIORS: R. V. Brooks (Navy), Wm. E. Campbell (AERC), Edw. S. Cheromcha (V-7), J. F. Comerford (ERC), Thos. J. Hurley (V-7), Jos. E. Killory (V-7), James M. Lynch (ERC), James A. Nolan (AERC), Joseph H. O'Donnell (ERC), J. P. Nathanson (ERC).

JUNIORS: M. J. Antone (AERC); Wm. G. Blount (AERC), E. O. Britton (AERC), R. B. Clemence (ERC), B. P. LaCouture (AERC), R. L. Herlihy (ERC); O. Lopes (ERC).

SOPHOMORES: Edw. J. Wojnar (ERC), R. E. Dorey, (AERC).

It can thus be seen that defensive power will definitely not be lacking.

The front line will pack plenty of scoring punch—this is a happy note indeed for, in the past, the chief fault with our soccer teams has been the absence of scoring drive. As far as is known, Mike Antone, John La Spada, Joe Dzenowagis will constitute the main force of the forward wall. Chances are that Blount, Hurley, Dorey and others will break into the lineup before long.

The soccer picture from the freshman point of view is most assuredly bright. With such strapping lads as Sweeney, Leganowicz, Zion, Belcher, and Gricius coming into the picture we certainly have reason to be hopeful.

Basketball Coming Soon

"With Martin, Costigan, Haley, Dix, Regini gone from school, how can Bridgewater floor a basketball team?" I was asked this question recently.

"Silly question", I returned, "by playing Buckley, Jim Nolan, Cheromcha, J. Dzenowagis, Campbell, Killory, Dorey and Blount".

Yes, it was indeed a silly question because all these men are classy ball players. We have a right to expect great things from them.

Moreso with basketball than with soccer do we look to the freshmen hopefully for in that class we have young Ray Remillard, Zion, Gricius, Maynard Wilbur, all former high school stars.

KAPPA DELTA PI

The purpose of the society is to recognize academic leadership and ability, to encourage high intellectual and scholastic standards, to foster educational advancement, and to promote social good-fellowship. "Knowledge, Duty, Power" is its motto.

Candidacy for membership in the organization depends on personal qualities, educational ideals, and scholarship. New members are to be selected from the Junior and Senior classes the first of October of each year, and qualifications for membership consist of the following: To be eligible a person must be in the upper quartile of his class and must have completed at least six semester hours of education if elected during the junior year, and twelve semester hours if elected during the senior year. He must have participated in the social activities of the college, and demonstrated qualities of leadership.

New members will be initiated soon.

"Jerry" Connor Succeeds In Naval Aviation

While the characterizations and prophecies accompanying the photos of graduates in each year's Alpha are usually optimistic and sometimes a bit "flamboyant", the one which declared that "Jerry" had the qualities which would spell success seems to be well on the way to realization. This week Mr. Hunt received from the Public Relations Office of the U. S. Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Florida, the following communication:

DORCHESTER MAN WINS NAVY "WINGS" AND COMMISSION

U. S. Naval Air Station, Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 30.

Gerald Connor, 25, of 218 Callender St., Dorchester, Mass. was commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve and awarded the "wings" of the Navy's air forces at brief graduation ceremonies. It was announced this week.

His designation as a Naval aviator qualifies him for active duty with Uncle Sam's fleet air arm or at one of the many naval stations throughout the country.

Ensign Connor went through elimination flight training at the Naval Reserve Aviation Base in Squantum, Mass. before reporting to the Jacksonville flying center as an Aviation Cadet last March.

Classroom courses in communications, celestial navigation and aviation mechanics were only a part of Connor's prescribed aviation study at Jacksonville. He took intensive ground school training in all phases of aeronautics in addition to many air hours piloting powerful planes through all kinds of weather conditions.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerland J. Connor of Dorchester, he attended Bridgewater Teachers College where he received his B. S. E. degree. He is a member of Kappa Delta Phi Fraternity.

W. A. A. In Full Swing With New And Varied Program

Plans are now underway for a full year of activity. Help put your class into Bridgewater's Hall of Fame. Enlist the aid of your classmates and join the new Inter-Scholastic Athletic Competition.

Every Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior girl should keep physically fit to cooperate in this war-time emergency. New Athletic Competition offers fine opportunity for everyone to do his part. Hockey, Tennis, Archery, Basketball, and Softball are only a few of the teams to be organized. A plaque will be awarded to the winning class.

Build school spirit and join I. S. C. A. Watch bulletin board for notice.

W. A. A. Joins War Effort

First Aid Classes will start soon. Both advanced and standard classes will be taught. Classes to meet Fridays 3:30-5:30. Sign up now.

Courses in stretcher technique, firefighting, and motor mechanics may be offered later in the year.

Book-making for ex-Bridgewater men, hospitals, and out of country posts has been suggested.

Be on the lookout for newly-arranged W. A. A. room.

Join W. A. A. Guaranteed to be fun and good for you.

Don't miss W. A. A. Supper Hike, Thursday, October 22. Tickets will soon be on sale for this annual outing. Plans are being made under direction of Mary Begley, chairman. A brisk hike starts off the afternoon and leads to campfires, songs, games, lots of food and fun. Hikes are divided into groups which perform and add to merriment of the evening. Everyone is invited to come. Wear warmest and oldest clothes. Sale of tickets will be posted.
