I. Overall appearance.

A. Use the preceding template for all recitals. You may choose a different picture for the front of the program.

B. If you do not simply “fill in the blanks” of the template, make sure that your program uses the same format. It should include the following specifications:

1. Page set-up.
   a. Use “landscape” orientation.
   b. Left and right margins should be between 0.3” and 0.5”, depending upon space needed.
   c. Each page should have two columns, with between 0.6” and 0.8” spacing between them.
   d. For the inside page (listing pieces and composers), set a right tab in each column to ensure that composer names are right-justified.

2. Font.
   a. For cover “headlines” (e.g., “Bridgewater State University,” “Student Recital,” etc.), use Times New Roman font, 16-point.
   b. For other words on the cover (accompanist, date, etc.), use Times New Roman font, 14-point.
   c. For the words “Program” and “Intermission” inside the program, use Times New Roman font, either 12- or 14-point, depending upon space available.
   d. For titles and composers, use Times New Roman font, 11- or 12-point, depending upon space available.

II. Titles of pieces (examples at the end of this section).

A. Wherever applicable, include opus numbers (K. numbers for Mozart, BWV numbers for Bach, D. numbers for Schubert, etc.).

B. Wherever applicable, include the title of the complete work (e.g., an opera or a song cycle) from which an individual piece or movement comes. If two or more selections (or movements) from a complete work are performed, list these under the title of the complete work, indented 0.5” (Always be sure to indicate clearly whether you are performing a single movement/selection or an entire work.)
II. Titles of pieces, cont’d.

C. Italicize the titles of complete works. (Note: Although in many contexts, foreign words should be italicized, they should not be italicized in recital programs, except in the titles of complete works. Similarly, a title that would be enclosed in quotation marks in an essay and other contexts should not be so punctuated here.)

D. Generic titles (such as Sonata or Nocturne) should not be italicized.

E. Double-check all spelling and punctuation!

Examples: Un bel di, vedremo, from Madama Butterfly

A Monk and His Cat from Hermit Songs, Op. 29

Hermit Songs, Op. 29
A Monk and His Cat
The Desire for Hermitage

Sonata in B-flat, K. 570
Allegro
Adagio
Allegretto

Sonata in B-flat, K. 570
Allegro
III. Composers’ names (examples at the end of this section).

A. For the composer’s first appearance on the program, include the composer’s first and last names, as well his or her birth and death dates; for subsequent appearances, use the first initial and last name.

B. In the case of composers whose names appear in a variety of spellings in different sources, use the spelling that appears in Grove Music Online (accessible through the Maxwell Library home page under “Research Tools”). Be sure to include accents, umlauts, etc.

C. Birth and death dates should either follow immediately after the composer’s name (if space permits) or appear underneath the composer’s name. Choose one of these methods for the entire program.

D. Double-check all spelling, punctuation, and dates!

Examples:

First time on program: Johannes Brahms (1833-1897)
Subsequent appearances: J. Brahms

For a living composer: Libby Larsen (b. 1950)

For a name with variant spellings, use the Grove spelling: Pyotr Il’yich Tchaikovsky (1840-1893)

Include all accents and other diacritical markings: Antonín Dvořák (1841-1904)
IV. Additional information.

A. If the featured performer is assisted by an additional performer (beyond the assistance of an accompanist acknowledged on the cover of the program), the name of the additional performer should appear immediately beneath the title of the piece in which he or she performs, centered on the page.

Example: In a soprano’s program (which acknowledges on the cover her piano accompanist) featuring the assistance of clarinetist for one piece:

Der Hirt auf dem Felsen, Op. 129, D. 965
Benny Goodman, clarinet
Franz Schubert (1797-1828)

B. In most cases, the performer will program groups of pieces, with the expectation of applause at the end of such groups, rather than after individual pieces. To make this expectation clear to the audience, do not leave spaces between items in a group. If a group consists entirely of songs by a single composer, that composer’s name should appear just once.

Example:

Dark Is the Night, Op. 11, No. 1
Acquainted with the Night
Sure on This Shining Night, Op. 13, No. 3
Amy Beach (1867-1944)
John Duke (1899-1984)
Samuel Barber (1910-1981)
Franz Schubert (1797-1828)
