M. A. A. To Play

With the return of men to the college there has been much planning for a few formal games during the present basketball season. Hard at work in the gym during the past months the men have been able to form a team that should prove successful.

Student Manager Ryalls has announced one definite game scheduled for February 9 with New Bedford Textile at New Bedford. As yet there are no scheduled home games but bids have been sent out to Durfee Textile of Fall River and Burdett College of Boston and these dates will be published later.

The team will be comprised of: Bill Campbell, Leo Beaumont, Joe Dzenowagis, Bill Langwey, Joe Roberts, Allan Bates, John Berry and Joe Horsley.

Kappa Delta Banquet

Under the chairmanship of Dorothy Merrill, Kappa Delta Pi is planning to go to Boston, Saturday, February 2, for dinner and a play. They have made arrangements to eat in the Blue Room of Steuben's Restaurant and afterwards plan to see "Polonaise", a musical playing at the Opera House.

Claire Bolles to Wed January 26

Miss Claire Bolles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement B. Bolles of Ipswich, will be married to Mr. John Vander Tuin of Grand Rapids, Michigan, on Saturday, January 26, at eight o'clock in the evening.

Miss Bolles will wear a yellow afternoon dress with brown accessories and brown orchids. Her sister, Miss Barbara Bolles, a Freshman at Massachusetts State College, will be the Maid of Honor. She will wear a green afternoon dress with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The Best Man will be Mr. George Shaefer of New York.

Social and Cultural Program Planned for Second College Term

Junior Class Holds Gay Winter Prom

The junior class sponsored a Winter Prom in the Albert Gardner Boyden Gymnasium on January 11. The Gym was decorated with an assortment of colored balloons and streamers. Punch was served throughout the evening and ice cream and cookies were had at intermission.

The patrons and patronesses for the Prom were: Dr. and Mrs. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Balfour Tyndall, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Meier, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foth, and Miss S. Elizabeth Pope.

The committee heads for the dance were: co-chairmen, Marion Moore and Ruth Anderson; publicity, Pat Bigelow; invitations, Dorothy Mackin; hospitality, Grace Theberge; entertainment, Margaret Monahan, and Betty Roper; decorations, Edna Lahteine; tickets, Katherine Kvale; equipment, Jean Peck; and clean-up, Jean Schlosstein.

New Centers For R. V. E. P. Opened

The Regional Veterans' Educational Program, formerly called the Regional Veterans' High School Program, has opened new centers at Fall River, Brockton, Martha's Vineyard, Attleboro, and Taunton. To enable the students to receive individual attention, the classes have been restricted to ten students.

will be held at the parish house in Ipswich.

Mr. Vander Tuin attended Calvin College, Michigan, and University of Michigan, where he is a member of Phi Alpha Kappa. He is employed as an engineer at the Sylvania Company in Ipswich.

The B.T.C. students who will attend the reception are as follows: Margaret Murphy, Ruth Anderson, Barbara Scoble, Janice Burchard, Edwina Montague, Lucille Paquette, Gloria Olson, Roberta Burnham, Muriel Lee Rowell, Patricia Shortall, Phyllis Werlin, Bernice Novick, and Alice O'Malley.

After a wedding trip to Michigan, the couple will live in Ipswich.

Calendar features Soph dance, Mardi Gras, Centennial

The sophomore dance will be held on February 8 in the Albert Gardner Boyden Gymnasium. The committees for the dance are: Barbara Talbot, general chairman; Maureen Coonan, orchestra; Lorraine Doliver, hospitality; Marie McGowan, refreshments; Ellen Galligan, decorations; Dorothy Adams, publicity; Ruth Moriarty, tickets; Eunice Manchester, equipment; Carol Roche and Martha Walsh, clean-up.

The Mardi Gras, a biennial festival sponsored by the French Club, is to be held on Friday, March 1, in the Albert Gardner Boyden Gymnasium at eight o'clock. The theme this year is "Au Clair de la Lune on the Riviera."

Come to the Mardi Gras for an evening of merriment spent on the French Riviera, dancing to soft music, eating at a sidewalk cafe while the orchestra renders the lovely music of "Clair de Lune," joining the costume parade, the battle of confetti and attending to the highlight of the evening, the crowning of the King and Queen at their Riviera chateau.

Come in costume and join the fun. Prizes will be awarded for the gayest, the funniest, the most picturesque, the best Hollywood student group and one for the faculty.

All clubs are invited to take part in walking floats, depicting the theme of their respective clubs and also in electing queens who will take part in the gala coronation.

Mardi Gras is stressing the gaiety and merriment of peacetime as expressed in the "Battle of the Flowers," the colorful costumes, and confetti.

French Club members under the guidance of Mrs. Frost, are putting forth a great deal of time and effort to make this a most successful thirteenth Mardi Gras.

Committee Chairmen are: Program, Lucille Paquette, Marion Guilbault; Decorations, Irene Smialek; Refreshments, Ruth Galton; Hospitality, Margaret Burke; Invitations, Harriet Parsons; Costumes, Jeanne Wickles; Publicity & Photography, Gloria Olson;

EDITORIALS

Co-operation

The other day in a junior classroom the subject of discussion deviated slightly and for no apparent reason other than interest the question of cooperation was introduced. As is often the case when the word is mentioned one instinctively associates cooperation with a lecture along the preaching line or some sort of a pep talk given with the intention of regenerating spirit and instilling a sense of duty into a group. Few people relish this sort of a reminder that pertains to them but since none of us is perfect these weak spots in our make up are quite natural and shouldn't be over looked. A gentle hint now and then may prove just the expedient to bring us closer to that status of near perfection.

In this particular classroom the instructor spoke of the definition of cooperation that most of us associate with the word—"If you help me, I'll help you". That may be all well and good in some instances but suppose some one doesn't help you first!

The instructor went on to say that he had heard of a much better definition of cooperation that he thought was unique and at the same time more applicable. It was, "Conduct yourself so that others can cooperate with you." In defining it this way it puts you first. Since we live in a world where everyone is striving for first place or for first things it naturally follows they should be consistent and strive to be first according to the new definition of cooperation.

Living together as we do at Bridgewater we have seen commendable examples of students working together to be successful in their undertakings. Understanding one another, compromising, and cooperation were utilized for a successful result. We think we have a formula to share with you for being more successful and for worrying less. It's Cooperation—a substance of which you can never have too much.

Freshman Reciprocity

The freshmen of Bridgewater constitute the largest class of the college and we hope and feel theirs is a group with a great deal of talent. Though it may not have been exposed to the light as yet we are striving to give it every opportunity in which to present itself.

The first year of college is undoubtedly the most trying of the four years but no matter how difficult it is we all look back on it with many laughs and chuckles. We say to this year's freshmen, "It really isn't half as perplexing as you seem to think" and remind them that they'll be better people for having had these new experiences.

Questionnaires have been sent around to discover the Literary tendencies in the group—and there is a great deal. We hope many of these people who enjoy writing and have an inclination for such will become members of the Campus Comment staff. We shall welcome all newcomers and hope that between these freshmen and Campus Comment there will be a reciprocal spirit of helpfulness.

United Nations Organization

At the first meeting of the General Assembly of the United Nations Organization the exact site of the headquarters will be decided. Although we do not know where the specific center will be we do know it is to be in the United States. This in itself is a great honor. With the eyes of the world turned to this country for news of making the United Nations a living reality we who live here should cooperate in every possible way to set an example of unity for the rest of the world.

FRESHMEN INDICATE LITERARY TALENT

The Freshman Class has much unknown talent, as this roving reporter discovered when she sought some news. There are many frosh who were editors of their high school yearbooks and magazines, and others helped in all sorts of departments.

Barbara McNamara and her "special features" got her the job of Feature Editor of The Shacady, the school paper of Sacred Heart's Academy in Fall River. She's a versatile gal and worked as Assistant Business Manager as well. Has C. C. any advertising problems? See, Barb.

Arise! We have a literary celebrity in our midst (well, almost). What other school has a girl who has written an editorial for a real newspaper?

In her English class at Nottingham High, Marcia Duffie had the assignment to write a typical editorial. Only this girl really went to town, passed in her work, and later found it in the Syracuse Standard Times.

Not to be outdone by her roommate, Dot Murray got her literary strivings printed, too. Every week, through rain and snow, Dot trudged to the parochial schools of New Bedford and collected interesting news to be published in the New Bedford Standard Times. Keep your eyes open and your pen working, Dot; any paper can use an inquiring reporter.

With the dust flying and cobwebs floating by, Ruth Perkins delved into the past records of her alma mater and came up with the history of her class. As well as making history here, how's for helping Campus Comment record some of it, Ruth?

There's another Da Vinci hiding in the Freshman Class in the person of Anne Doherty. Her drawings for The Comet, Dominican Academy's monthly contribution to the literary world, made for a flashy and vivid paper. Some interested person might ask her to draw her impression of entering  $\text{BrH}_2\text{O}$  as she did when she entered D. A.

Laura Startz and Clara Candella teamed up to form the Feature Department of Wrentham's yearbook. Their jobs proved them to be first-class prophets, statisticians, advertisement-seekers, and general busy-bees. Let's transfer some of the effort to our own publication.

As early as her junior year, Edith Haslam took responsibilities on her shoulders and set about to be the best editor the Canal Current ever had. Perhaps she'd like to answer the question she asked in her editorial in an article for Campus Comment.

Being a girl who tends to details, Elinor Whalen did a complete job of setting down all the activities of her class; Carol Ames scraped the barnacles off her book of quotations and found a suitable saying for each member of the Barnstable graduating class; and Dottie Fitzpatrick followed her athletic aspirations at Sacred Heart in Newton Center, but along literary lines. Being the "sport" of her class, she recorded the sports in which each member participated.

The chief burner on the Torch, Action's yearbook and monthly magazine, was Doris Hartwell. Some of her five editorials might prove interesting reading for Bridgewater students.

Well, Freshmen, what's say? Here's your chance to show what you can really do. The school's rooting for you, and hopes to see some of the ability we know you have in the literary circles of B. T. C.

Enlightening, the many discoveries one finds at the base of the shoot.

What happened—

To the M. M. A. boys, Elaine Girard? and we wonder who gave Betty Bocchus that "Mystic Black Magic Perfume"? Tell us all about the beaten path, Marie Henry; the one you know so well. Janet Perkins wouldn't mind missing money, but when it comes to some things—no.

Congratulations to—

Pat Shorthall, to Carol Hill who is engaged and best wishes to Claire Bolles also: these lucky females. Bunny Novick isn't quite as content, however. What a slip of the tongue can do

We never know—

What evil lurks in people's depths. One of our own faculty members swallowed two innocent goldfish. Jane Hanson is taking measurements of her friends for her date bureau. Big Worcester old home week to be held Friday night, the eleventh.

Something new—

"Lulu" has found the most practical usage for old sox. This wouldn't interest everyone, however. Bernie is seeking advice on the subject of anxious children. Why does Marge Phillips plague her roommates as to "when is breakfast?" And what time did Phyllis Zeldin's man leave New Year's morning—fond of brunch? Why does Anita Chilardi so enjoy the "Wood" girls?

With the wind—

We advise Jane Russell (Sport) to blow, comes March. Vivian Chaffin is going to see the cherry blossoms in Michigan, plus the in-laws. Florence Joseph, how could you? Your friend too. Louise Bignelli has succumbed to the Mattapoisett air. Pat Wilber just succumbed.

Tell us about—

Your Psychology report, Peggy Theising? Your short Christmas eve conversation, O'Malley. It seems Holy Cross men can talk as well as play football. "Kazzie" finds confusion with her J's, and Phyllis Clayman still waits. While we're on the subject of tragedy, we're sorry about the flat tire, Ilsa. Little Mac keeps nodding, "I don't know, I don't know", so until we're more informed, join the whisper campaign with Jeannette Murchie.

Profile

The girl with the happy face, the fast darting eyes, and the shining brown hair—that's "Kazzie"! Or to put it more formally, that's Helen Kazanovicz, president of the junior class and phys. ed. major.

"Kazzie" is one of the most active and popular students of the college, having been active in numerous clubs, activities and committees throughout her years here. One of the foremost reasons for her popularity is her warm personality. She appears completely natural at all times, and she is a deep thinker. At present, her thoughtful mind is struggling to determine whether the men of Holy Cross or the men of Worcester Tech have most savoir faire!

Being a happy creature at heart, "Kazzie" likes practically everyone and everything, but because she is also a phys. ed. major it is only natural that she should favor sports. "Kazzie" likes dancing, eating, sport clothes, and good music. Though her dislikes are few, we have heard her mention that she does dislike figgity, nervous people and people who sing in the morning.

When we will look back and remember "Kazzie" dashing across campus with her coat thrown over her gym suit; or sitting with her hair dripping in the "rec" room while listening to her favorite record; or running down the hockey field with stick in hand, we'll remember a wonderful girl—an all American girl!

On Saturday, May 25, Bridgewater Teachers College will celebrate the centennial of the first Normal School building in the country constructed at public expense. At this time the Alumni will hold their biennial meeting. Servicemen who attended this college will also be invited. Appropriate exercises will be held in which the student body will participate.

Major Joseph Murphy, Director of Education in the European Theatre, has been invited to be the guest speaker.

Intellectual Canine

Have you heard of the dog who went through B.T.C. in one week? (Freshmen are likely to say, "If he can do it, so can I.")

Anyway, he did. Starting with a spare (during which he acquired such names as Snafu, Tarfu, Joe Malleolus, Stinky, Charley), he meandered through the halls getting acquainted. During the next hour he ascended the stage and attempted to speak on "My Experience in the K-9 Corps", but since the chapel program was somewhat mixed up, his plans were thwarted.

The next spot on his program was Applied Psychology. Finding it difficult to sit still, (the class was discussing "Human Personalities" and he finds humans boring and silly) the scholarly canine instead wandered about the room studying the students.

Just as he was finding this monotonous, he saw a little cat down at the front of the room who was trying to catch his eye. The attraction here was so great it overcame his interest in psychology, and such a disturbance ensued that he was promptly put out of class.

He found, throughout the week, that he was constantly being discriminated against in all classes, and every little excuse was used to remove him from the rooms.

He has asked me to quote him: "I thoroughly believe that B.T.C. is unfair to dogs, and since I am intellectually capable of an education, I see no reason to deprive me of learning."

CLUB NEWS

K-P CLUB

The first meeting of K. P. Club in 1946 was held January 2. A movie, "Inherent Traits of a Child," was shown by Mr. Huffington.

Another movie was shown on January 17, entitled "The Negro Soldier."

A board meeting was held on January 7. The remaining program for 1946 was discussed and tentative plans for the banquet were made.

LIBRARY CLUB

A board meeting of Library Club was held on January 7. It is hoped that a professional reader will be obtained for the February meeting.

On January 9 a business meeting was held after which "The White Cliffs of Dover" was played by Miss Hill.

STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

The members of Student Fellowship attended a musical on January 6 held at the home of Mr. Jenkins.

A Candelight Communion Service was held the following Sunday.

After mid-years another musical will be held at Mr. Jenkin's home.

KAPPA DELTA PI

A card party and business meeting was the program for Kappa Delta Pi on January 9 at the home of Mr. Huffington. Madeline Guzzi and Ilsa Chapin had charge of refreshments.

FRENCH CLUB

Francis Horsley entertained the French Club on December 13 with a talk on his experiences in North Africa and in France. He also displayed souvenirs of these countries and spoke of odd customs in dress and language.

The New Year started off with a Christmas program which was postponed because of the banquet. Ernestine Mills read an article on New Year's Day in France.

Choral speaking was rendered by Lucille Paquette, Irene Smialek, Marion Guilbault and Harriet Parsons. A New Year's gift was then presented to Mrs. Frost.

W. A. A. NEWS

It has been suggested and is under consideration by the W.A.A. Board to edit a W.A.A. yearbook. This would contain pictures and articles of every activity that W.A.A. offers.

The past few Thursday evenings has seen the gymnasium humming with the musical activity of eighteen girls, who are rehearsing for participation in a dance symposium to be held at Wheaton College on Saturday afternoon, February 16, at 2 P. M.

As guests of the Wheaton College Dance Group, the Bridgewater Dance Group, along with Pembroke, Wellsley and Radcliffe will offer several selections from its repertoire of dance knowledge; a selection of theme and variation, a study of basic dancing techniques and an interpretive dance.

Following similar contributions from the other groups and a period of performance by the groups combined, the girls will gather at an informal tea for small talk and getting acquainted.

Miss Lois Decker, Miss Mary Moriarty, and Miss Isabelle Caldwell will accompany the girls on the visit.

During the past eight weeks, basketball enthusiasts have been competing in intramural games. There have been thirteen teams divided into two leagues. The leagues consist of the following teams the names of which, bearing any similarity to any of its team members, are purely incidental.

League I: Hubba Hubbas, Eagles, Mighty Mights, Zombies, Atoms, and B. B.'s. League II: Ponkers, Spinsters, Crusaders, O'Hara's Horrors, Hobo's Thompson's Six, Briggs's Team.

At present the mighty Hubba Hubba team under the able leadership of Captain Katherine Rogers has fought its way to first place in League I with the Mighty Mights and Zombies in hot pursuit. The acid test of their true ability comes in the final battle with the Crusaders of League II, when they meet in the basketball arena to determine class supremacy in the hoop sport.

A few remaining games are yet to be played but the junior Hubba Hubbas will still retain their lead. Watch the gymnasium bulletin board for final results to be posted by Dorothy Mackin, director of basketball.
