Banquet Held For College Publication

Campus Comment held its annual banquet at Snow Lodge, Monday evening, May 19. Miss Bernice Mazer, editor of the paper for the year 1946, was the guest speaker.

The old and new members of the staff were present, as were President and Mrs. John J. Kelly, Miss Pope, dean of women, and Miss Olive Lovett, faculty adviser.

Past Editor Speaks

After the banquet the members adjourned to the reception room of Snow Lodge where Miss Mazer spoke informally to the group concerning her work on the Greek magazine, "Life in Greece." She explained the policy of the publication, its make-up, and its problems in relation to freedom of the press, advertising, and financial status.

Miss Mazer, '46, was an active member of Campus Comment while here at Bridgewater. She was Assistant Editor her junior year, and Editor her senior year.

Superintendent Speaks At K-P Banquet

K-P Club held its annual spring banquet on May 7, at 6:30 p.m. in Tillinghast Dining Room. The tables were decorated with candy-filled blocks and pastel paper-doll place settings. Miss Pope was the invited guest.

A meeting was held in the Reception Room following the dinner. Jean Douglas, president of the club, thanked the officers and Miss Marks, faculty advisor, for their work during the year.

Entertainment: Marilyn Fitzgerald, trumpet solo; Gertrude Merritt, piano solo, "Claire Du Lune"; Jean Lapierre, soprano solo, "If I Had My Life To Live Over Again" and "Brahm's Lullaby."

The above girls are all members of the freshman class.

The guest speaker was Mr. Charles Varney, eighteen years Superintendent of Stoneham Schools. "Education Is More Than The Learning of Facts" was the title of his discussion. He left the members with the thought that children remember teachers best by the habits, ideals, and attitudes they instill in them and not by the subject matter taught them.

President Attends N. H. Regional Conference

Dr. John J. Kelly went to Keene, N. H. to attend a regional conference on applied economics sponsored by the Keene Teachers College, the American Association of Teachers Colleges, and the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. Presidents and deans of colleges were in attendance at the conference. It was an experimental meeting, being the first of its kind ever held.

The theme of the conference was the enrichment of living through the school curriculum and reporting on the work of the meeting, Dr. Kelly said the educators aimed at fostering a nation-wide understanding and appreciation of civic responsibility with emphasis on having each section of the country acquainted with understanding the achievements and limitations of the other sections.

Honor Society Holds Annual Banquet

The annual formal Kappa Delta Pi Banquet was held Monday evening at 6 o'clock in the Tillinghast dining room. At 5 o'clock the installation of the new officers took place in the Plymouth County room in the administration building. The new officers are Cynthia Jones, president; Hortense Archambault, vice-president; Mary Cronin, secretary; Hester Barnes, treasurer; and Anna Gloster, historian-recorder. Miss Janice Burchard presided, and Mr. Paul Huffington, advisor, officiated at the ceremony.

A. A. Representative

After the banquet the group adjourned to the Plymouth County room, where demitasse was served. The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Ashmun of American Airlines, who spoke on the topic "Airways in the Future."

Members of the faculty present were Miss S. Elizabeth Pope, Mr. T. L. Kelly and Mr. Paul Huffington. Alumni members of the chapter present included Miss Edith Rowell and Lt. John LaSpada, U.S.M.C.

Committee Members

General chairman of the banquet was Barbara Scoble. The committees were as follows: Hospitality, Lenore Kelly, and decorations, Gertrude Gerstein. Members of the freshman class who were guests of the society were Caroline Sinclair, Marion Higgins, Walter Morrison, and Theodore Crocker.

Alumni Fare Well In Biological Field

Bridgewater may well be proud of many of its graduates. Ruth Dixon Bond, '36, is now Research Assistant in the Department of Mollusca, Department of Comparative Zoology at the Clapp Laboratories, Duxbury, Massachusetts. Miss Bond has written an article for the Johnsonia in the April 1946 issue entitled "Mollusks of the Western Atlantic."

She worked with the Navy Department during the war conducting experiments pertaining to the economic losses entailed by marine borers. Miss Bond received her masters degree in Ornithology from Cornell University, was curator at the New England Museum of Natural History, and taught at Vassar College.

Organ Recital Given On Alumni Weekend

At the request of the alumni, the seventh annual Prince memorial organ recital was given this year on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Horace Mann auditorium.

The organist was talented Mary Crowley, who was heard Sundays during February and March over CBS broadcasting from the Germanic Museum, Harvard University, as a substitute for E. Powers Biggs while he was away on tour. Miss Crowley was graduated with honors from Radcliffe College. She has studied extensively, and was presented by the Massachusetts chapter of the Guild of Organists in a December recital in Boston.

Committees And Chat About S-Capades

The Class of 1949 presented "S-Capades," an original musical comedy, on Friday night, May 16, in the Horace Mann Auditorium. The show had been presented for the patients of the Cushing General Hospital in Framingham on May 13. It was written by Walter Gibson, assisted by Natalie Weinstein,

Outing At Falmouth Commences Activities

After a week of final examinations, the Senior Class began its activities on Wednesday, May 28, with an all day outing. At 9:00 a.m. the class set out by bus and private cars for Falmouth, where arrangements had been made for the use of a private beach. Rita Custeau and Bob Clemence arranged a program of activities for the day. Ann McNamara and Eldon Lawson were general chairmen in charge of all arrangements.

A Senior Class banquet and prom will be held on Thursday night, May 29, in the Georgian Room of the Hotel Statler. There will be dancing to the music of Baron Hugo's Orchestra until 1:00 o'clock. Members of the faculty will be invited guests. They include: Miss S. Elizabeth Pope, Dr. & Mrs. John J. Kelly, Mr. & Mrs. Frederick Meier, and Dr. & Mrs. Charles McMullen. Priscilla Randall is chairman of a committee in charge of the affair. Assisting her are Richard Dorey, Jean Bowler, Jeanne Webster, and Margaret Lopes.

The faculty will hold a reception for the members of the senior class on Saturday night, May 31, in the Albert Gardner Boyden Gymnasium. Following the reception the "Senior Sing" will be held on the steps of the Administration Building.

The Senior Class will attend a Mass, in a body, at St. Thomas Aquinas Church at 8:30 on Sunday morning, June 1. At 11:00 a.m. they will attend a Baccalaureate in the Albert Gardner Boyden Gymnasium. Following this they will have a luncheon in the Tillinghast dining room to which friends and relatives have been invited.

Graduation exercises will begin at 2:00 p.m. in the Horace Mann Auditorium. Then, as a final tribute to the graduating class, the traditional Ivy March will be held on the quadrangle. The ivy will be planted and the trowel presented by Roberta Burnham, president of the Senior Class, to Mildred Duggan, president of the junior class.

The Male Element

For a number of years now because of the war and the absence of men from the campus a woman has been editor of Campus Comment. This year with college life assuming a state of normalcy Clifton Robinson has been named editor-in-chief for the year 1947-8. More men have been added to the staff and it is hoped that next year will see even more men as reporters and contributors. The Campus Comment office in the Ad building will be utilized as it has never been before because of the mixed group on the staff. The new staff has met twice in the office to make plans for this issue and for next year.

It will take the new members time to organize and learn the newspaper proceedings but once they are acquainted with the fundamentals it is not idealizing to say they will turn out a worthwhile paper.

The editor and staff members of 1947 hope that next year will see Campus Comment a better paper and a successful one.

The Constancy Of Change

The only thing constant in this world is change. At first these words appear ambiguous but if they are weighed long enough the ponderer must of necessity agree with them. Sometimes it seems heartless to say that no man is indispensable to his work but when through some outside means another person assumes the same position many people are astonished to learn that chaos does not necessarily ensue.

For four years now the class of 1947 has been an integral part of Bridgewater. Especially talented members were chosen when freshmen to lead their group in various lines of endeavor and some have maintained these positions or similar ones throughout the four years. Others required a longer testing period before the class was aware of their potential contributions to the group and could choose them as leaders. This year's seniors were represented by members of their class in all the organizations on the campus and now it's time for a change. It will fall to the lot of the class of 1948 to assume the duties that the class of 1947 is relinquishing. Never fear, seniors, you have made an excellent record at B. T. C.; even the faculty have told you this. You may rest assured that no one can possibly do the very same work you did. In that respect you are unique but the seniors of next year can attain the same ends you did although they will employ different means. It may be that they

-- And Then There Were None --

"See that girl! Doesn't she look like Rita Hayworth?" whispered the curious group of girls who, seated in Tilly Reception Room four years ago, comprised the Freshman Class.

"Oh, she's not Rita Hayworth," mumbled an in-the-know Frosh," she's Bunny Novick."

Initiation Doings

Initiation took away the dignity Bunny or any of us had. After all, how could you expect Pat Shortall, doing the hula, Louise Bignelli, "vacing" the floor of Ilsa Chapin's room, Maureen Carey, losing the top of her costume, to retain the sobriety of a Senior?

But, come Sophomore year, the tables were turned, and it was O'Malley who cracked the whip over the Freshman, Pudge Werlin who made one wear gum on her nose, and Marion Moore who gave them all the old one-two on lower campus at six-thirty a.m. The only question is—Why weren't we allowed to carry on in true initiation style and length? Were we too hard on you, Seniors-to-be?

The Schloss-burn

That year also brought another shot in the arm—the Hyannis gals, a bunch of sport fiends, a group of live wires, and a vitality never before equalled on the B.T.C. quadrangle. Of course, every social order is made up of individuals like Jean Schlosstein, who has a remedy for sunburned noses. Her method consists of burning the nose until ready for serving and then the application of the biggest and whitest band-aid available. Ask the Camp Howes Crew—they'll prove it (with pictures).

How could we forget T. S. with its paste pans and boards to be washed, paper towels to be cut, and those helpful, spirit-breaking after school conferences?

Junior Activities

'46 was the year of the animals—Joe Charley, the dog Wood Dorm thought belonged to Mr. Foth, and just plain Joe, the cat who, because of circumstances beyond control, had to be renamed Josephine. By this time the raving scientists (really Merrill, Smarshy, and Montague) had learned the formula for a new perfume, "Seventh Hour," known to the proletariat as hydrogen sulphide, and Helen Davidson had been to the Harvard Co-op for that Superman notebook.

classes, Miss Pope jitterbugging' with Mr. Durgin at the Christmas banquet, and the final fling,—the One World Party in Dr. Arnold's Soc. class.

And then

will exceed our goals but if such be the case then we are to say that we can be proud for they too trained at Bridgewater and they too were working for the good of our college.

"Ouch, don't touch me! Oh, my sunburn! Colly, look how red my face is, and I'm not blushing either." Such are the remarks being heard around campus lately after our bathing beauties come down from sunning themselves on "Tilly" roof. The finest hotel solarium can't compare with ours.

Soph Show

The sophomores have done it again. Their show was "superelagoracious." Congratulations to you! Now we understand why the veterans at Cushing appreciated it so much. We didn't expect to see quite so many chickens at the show though!

Summer Planning

We are all looking forward to our summer vacation, but Elinor Whalen and Joan Bull are a little more eager than the rest of us. You really can't blame them. You see, they have "positions" as playground directors at the Beach Club in Centerville. The playground happens to be located right on the beach. Sounds more like fun than a job!

Harry, the Host

Helene O'Hara and Barbara Condon spent an interesting Spring vacation. They went down to visit President Truman in Washington and report our President is a very genial host! How about it, girls?

Can't leave without a word to the graduates. Needless to say, the place is going to seem empty without them. We wish all of you success and happiness. Don't forget to come back Alumni Weekend.

A Golden Rippled Path

A golden rippled path across the sea
Reached up to meet the sun and join its glow,

But as I raised my eyes I suddenly
Was blinded by the over-brilliant show;
Then looking down I saw the stretching sands,

A smooth and glistening highway on the shore.

Yet when I bent to hold some in my hands,

Its soddy dampness made my sorrow
more.

And so I seek perfection everywhere,
But then must turn to flight because
I find

That what I meant to seek was never there,

For beauty lives alone within the mind;
I tremble touching diamonds for frost,
For beauty held too close is beauty lost.

Joseph A. Cushman has made able contributions in the field of Foraminifera. These organisms are valuable in the location of Petroleum. He wrote several Smithsonian publications on Foraminifera.

Edmond P. Sinnott, head of the School of Science at Yale University, has been working on the important problem of combating ship worms which destroy thousands of dollars worth of shipping material every year.

Men's Sports News

By Izzy Greenberg

Let's take a trip down to the ball park and see just what a typical practice is like. Regular drill doesn't begin until 4:15, but the men usually arrive early for warm-up sessions.

Legion Field Practice

As we approach Legion Field, we see Coach Fred Meier surveying the techniques and skills of pitcher Bob Teahan and catcher Charlie Mann. Look, there goes manager Bobby Driscoll chasing another foul-tipped fly into the woods. Dick Grimley is on first, Bob Lemos and Happy Mazukina are waiting on second and third, eagerly watching for the ball to come there way. Joe Kudera is alert at shortstop. Frank Hennessy and Ricky Sargent are posted at right and left field hopefully wishing that the ball would enter their zone so they could make a put-out. Dexterous and capable (never misses 'em, rarely ever anyway) Johnny Hughes keeps center field safely protected from invading balls. George Pappas, big brother Jim Hughes, Warren Kiernan, and Bob Firing are keeping the batting box occupied.

Current Games

So far the Bridgewater Teachers College team has had four setbacks, one with New Bedford at New Bedford, 25-4, on April 30; another against Salem Teachers College at Salem, 10-4, on May 13; one with Bradford Durfee-Tech at Legion Field, 6-3, on May 14; and still another the same week against Becker Junior College.

As May 17 rolled around, a small crowd of faithful college enthusiasts anxiously waited for the match to commence against the Becker nine at the Legion ball park.

Becker-Play-by-Play

The umpire signaled, and all was ready for the game to start. Teahan wound up at the mound and tossed one right across the plate for a strike; the first man was canceled in short order. Teahan also managed to have two more men put out in rapid succession.

The first inning saw Hughes come home from third on Mazukina's single. Powerful Mann hit a double that brought Mazukina in from second after he stole from first. The tally at the end of that inning showed 2-0 in our favor.

The Becker opponents scored twice in the second round. For our team, Teahan scored from first after a hit by Hughes that resulted in an error in right field, thus letting him make it to third base.

In the third round the opponents managed to boast their runs up to 3-0. From then on to the sixth inning, they kept adding runs regardless of our fruitless efforts to curb their score. They were held scoreless in the seventh, thus the game concluded at a mark of 12-3 in Becker's honor. Teahan pitched a good game; Hughes made some nice catches in center field; Sargent and Firing netted a couple in right and left fields respectively; Grimley succeeded in guarding first base.

This game showed improvement over the first downpour made by the New Bedford team. Other games were played on May 21 against Salem, at Legion Park; against Becker at Becker, on May 24; and on May 24 against New Bedford at home.

Tennis Members

Besides the baseball squad, the men also have formed a tennis team. The players are Berry, Cooke, Dorey, Kelly, Lawson, Mann, Robinson, Sargent, Sundelin, and Wojnar. As yet they have won one game out of four plays.

Campus Comment wishes the teams at Bridgewater much luck in succeeding years. The men deserve credit for their efforts in instituting once again organized soccer, basketball, tennis, and baseball after four years of nonentity.

M. A. A. Elections

The men of the college gathered in the Demonstration Room Tuesday, May 20, at 12:20 to cast a final vote to determine who would become the M. A. A. officers for 1947-48. The men discussed the candidates among themselves, then they quickly cast their votes and left quietly. Later that same day it was announced that the electees were to be Richard Grimley, president; George Pauley, vice president; William Gault, Jr., secretary; Joseph Kudera, treasurer. Elections of officers for the Men's Club were made the following day at Wednesday noon.

The men have shown whom they want, now let's support them fully for a strong and efficient organization.

W. A. A. News

W. A. A. climaxed a successful year with the annual banquet held May 14. Dot Mackin, president, introduced Dr. Joseph Arnold who extended the greetings of the college. We were fortunate to have Mr. George Makechnic, dean of Sargent School as our speaker. His talk was inspiring to teachers and teachers-to-be as he emphasized the need of teachers to understand and sympathize with the students and yet command their respect. This feeling is uppermost in the minds of all good teachers.

Installation Held

Miss Mary Caldwell installed the new officers as follows: president, Dorothy Lewis; first vice president, Genevieve Powers; second vice president, Jean Littlefield; corresponding secretary, Claire Danis; recording secretary, Helene O'Hara; treasurer, Barbara MacDonald; assistant treasurer, Jean Grant.

The plaque, awarded to the class winning the most inter-class competitions, was won by the Senior class. Miss Sally Merrow distributed letters, stars and bars to a large number of girls. Miss Mary Moriarty presented W. A. A. pins to ten seniors for outstanding achievement in W. A. A.

4-S Awards

The highlight of the evening occurred when Miss Lois Decker presented 4-S pins to three seniors who have shown outstanding qualities in service, scholarship, stability, and sportsmanship. The committee did a good job in choosing Janice Burchard, Virginia Perkins, and Betty Roper as the recipients of the award.

W. A. A. thanks Dot Mackin and her board for their wonderful work this year. Also thanks to Janice Burchard for planning such a good banquet.

The new board pledges to do its best to continue to make W. A. A. successful.

Spring Sports Slow

Our spring sports have been retarded, due to conditions beyond our control. Yet many of us have taken advantage of the good weather by playing tennis under the direction of Milly Lappen.

The freshman have led the softball teams in winning the most games.

These beautiful spring afternoons have proved an incentive for hiking as well as biking.

Here's hoping that W. A. A. will continue to expand and include more of the student body. Facilities are at hand, and all we need is your cooperation.
