Final Tributes Are Paid To The Graduating Class

The seniors paid their final tributes to the graduating class of 1949 on Tuesday, May twenty-fourth, in chapel. The seniors, wearing traditional caps and gowns marched in to Wagner's "Tannhauser."

Jackie Killen Spoke

Dr. John J. Kelly introduced Jacqueline Killen, president of the Student Council, who gave a speech of farewell. Miss Killen expressed her appreciation for all the help given to her and the other officers of the council throughout the year. Miss Killen also gave a preview of what should be done by the student body to build up a better school spirit for the following year.

The program, directed by Miss Lois Decker and created by the Training School teachers and pupils, was presented for the students of the college on Thursday afternoon, May twelfth, for the parents of the pupils on Friday (continued on page 6)

Unusual Programs Held In Chapel Hours

Several weeks ago Chapel Committee proudly presented Stanley Cobleigh and Joan Beckwith in "Great Scenes from Shakespeare." They enacted scenes from "Julius Caesar," "Hamlet," "Macbeth," and "The Taming of the Shrew.

Edward Payne

Edward Payne, creator of "Bilby the Boy Artist" comic strip which has appeared exclusively in the Boston Sunday Globe for the past 50 years, lectured on and sketched characters from Dickens. Mr. Payne also sketched one "prominent people" at Bridge water. The pictures were given to the lucky "victims." The other sketches were distributed by drawing lots of those who applied to Chapel Committee. Mr. Payne has lectured here before. His subject last year was "Neighbors."

"Musical Portraits"

"Musical Portraits," an unusual program of opera scenes in English, folk songs, and musical comedy duets was presented by Sandy Anselmo, baritone, Emmalina De Vita, lyric-coloratura, and Dana Frazer Lordly, pianist on Tuesday, May seventeenth during chapel hour.

The program consisted of scenes from "The Marriage of Figaro" and "Don Giovanni" by Mozart; two Spanish folk songs — "Cleavelot" and "Dancing Dolls"— which were sung by Miss De Vita; an original arrangement of Russian folk tunes; and Italian love songs. As an encore, the duo sang the beautiful, "My Romance."

Students Plan Varied Activities For Summer

In the spring a student's thoughts turn towards and beyond exams to summer and the jobs they hope to have. As usual the largest number of girls will be waitresses. Camp counselors take second place with Redel Sokol in Upper New York State; "Ginger" Smith in New Hampshire; Betty Manning, as a camp unit assistant; Ann Beth Adam at a Girl Scout Camp, "Dottie" Davis as a waterfront director; and "Pat" Cornell and "Margie" Carr at the Barnstable County Health Camp.

Many Playground Directors

Playground directors are also numerous. Jeanne Lapierre, Marjorie MacKenzie, Ruth Alice Henderson, Marion Haley, Louise Mariani, Helen Boucher, Elaine Girerd, and Anne Marie Burke are among those who will be entertaining it out in the parks this summer.

The fairs will find plenty of competition this summer in Hyannis. "Jo" Ferguson is going to deliver milk for her father's dairy.

Camping Popular

You'll find girls from B.T.C. in many a store. For a sample, you may run into Beth Rudder in some 5 and 10c store and Joan Stanghmani will be at your service in Cherry's of New Bedford.

French Club Receives Present From France

The French Department of the Bridgewater State Teachers College was the recipient of a gift from the Mayor of Saint Die, France, which was presented by Mrs. Robert Clark in behalf of Mayor Mansey.

The gift is a large facsimile and translation of the Deed of Donation in which the late Soldier assisted the Statue of Liberty to the United States of America.

French Club Had Started Friendships

It will be recalled that the French club of the college initiated the contacts between the French people and the college when they adopted a French child and sent food and clothing to him.

Miss Frost wrote to ask for a little momentos and this gift was forthcoming when responsible persons heard of her letter.

Finals Over, Many Plans To Give Srs. A Memorable Week

Finals over with, and graduation only a week away, and seniors are breathing a sigh of relief as Commencement Week's activities begin. The class picnic is to be held on Wednesday, June first; the senior promenade is scheduled for Thursday, June second; the faculty reception followed by the senior serenade on Saturday, June fourth; and Graduation exercises will take place on Sunday, June fifth.

The commencement will be held by Alexander Brin, Vice-President of the State Board of Education. Baccalaureate services are to be conducted by Rev. Charles H. McKenna O. P., Providence College.

Old Silver Beach

Starting in the wee hours of the morning of June 1, the class will go to Old Silver Beach for the annual outing. It is to be an all-day affair with each bringing his own lunch, a plan which eliminates the usual food worries. For the first time, the picnic is to be an "open" affair — each student having the privilege of inviting a guest. In charge of the Cape trip is Claire Danis assisted by Claire Murphy and Barbara Crocker on the hospitality committee, Irene Boyle on entertainment, and Belmina Tenten and Barbara Harper on transportation.

Parker House Roof

The senior promenade will be held Thursday evening on the Parker House Roof, Tremont Street, Boston. Facility to be present at the banquet and dance are President and Mrs. John J. Kelly, (continued on page 5)

Senior Positions

B. T. C. has been the scene of much activity lately — people running back and forth waving papers and brandishing pens. What's up? Why the seniors are signing their contracts! The following students have accepted teaching berths: Marjorie E. Berry, Newton; Gloria Brogi, Lexington; Sumner M. Brown, Marion; Joan Bell, East Harford; Clara C. Gundelbach, Walpole; Barbara Chisholm, Wrentham; Joan F. Cunningham, Weymouth; Beatrice Fuller, Quincy; Dorothy J. Fisher, Edgartown; Mary L. Fitchpatrick, Quincy; Joan P. Gillette, Quincy; Lorraine Goins, Dartmouth; Barbara Harper, Bourne; Doris E. Hartwell, Concord. (continued on page 5)
Dear, dear, what can the matter be; dear, dear, what can the matter be—back and forth—off and on—hot and cold—this can't go on. We must take a stand. But that stand should not be one of standing on the sidelines and getting malicious pleasure out of the discomfort and confusion of the incoming freshmen. Did someone start to squirm?

The infantilism of the usual initiation is just a little bit unnecessary and completely out of keeping with the purpose of initiation. There is an old saying and a very true one that reads, "and when I became a man, I put away childish things—" That could be very easily interpreted to read, "and when I graduated into college, I grew up!"

Initiations that interfere with classes have gone out of existence in many places and Bridgewater should be the next to eliminate them. If you must have an initiation let it be confined to the dormitories and after-class hours. It is supposed to make them feel like a part of the college and not like a sore thumb on a healthy hand.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE DEAD

When summer calls, all scatter to the four corners of New England. Counseling at camps, going to school, and waitressing are but a few examples of what goes on. However, each will have one thing in common no matter where he or she is—the water. It can be his dearest friend and deadliest enemy all in the space of a summer day. Each year unnecessary deaths are caused by drowning. Admittedly, most students can swim, but how many know where and when? They've heard something about staying out of the water directly after eating, remaining seated in a rowboat or canoe, and practicing what they've heard take effect.

It's like tearing something out of my heart to say goodbye to the dandelion-chosen field of endeavor. Since this is the final issue in which I shall be able to speak with them via the Clearing House, I would like to say—

Ave, Alma Mater
Since the early days of man,
Since all history began,
The earth has been afflicted
With some strange unnatural blights.
The most flourishing and blooming
one,
Unholy, all-consuming one,
Attacks those bidding Alma Mater
Lingering goodnight.

Ave, it really gills,
To have her “died and hallowed halls, “
And they are being cast into
The yawning maw of life.
Alma dies, it must doth prove me
That so soon I have to leave Boc.
Yet I’m girded and I’m ready,
And I’ll step into the strife.

For three years have I come hither
And although I know not whither
I am drifting, I am happy,
And would have it only so.
When my time comes (please believe me)
I’ll say, “Mater dear, I leave thee.”
But, don’t worry, I’ll not grieve me
For I’m too darned glad to go.

Geology Class Visits Conn. River Valley

Visiting the Triassic Lowland of New England, more commonly known as the Connecticut River Valley, was the purpose of the students of geology on Friday the thirteenth.

M. Tom First Stop

Their first stop was Mt. Tom, a basaltic mountain and tilted sheet of lava whose age is about two hundred million years old. There they examined the mountain and from the observation tower got a general view of the geological structure of the valley below.

Ambler College Museum

From this two-hundred-million-year-old mountain the group went to the Ambler College Geological Museum where they made, under the direction of Mr. Huffington, a study of the reptiles and other animals of this prehistoric period. Can’t you see peacocks racing while Mr. Huffington is talking about dinosaurs, Tyrannosaurus Rex, woolly Mammoths, etc., and the eyes popping while they view the 90-foot skeleton?

Eat And On To Mt. Toby

After lunch on Mt. Tom the group went to Sugar Loaf Mountain, a hill made up of coarse sandstone, on the east side of the valley where a sharp fault is easily noticeable—similar to the valley rocks in the Triassic Lowland. Then on to Mt. Toby—Here’s something that all should know. East of the fault line of the valley was a large mountain system called the New England Alps. Mt. Toby is composed of large blocks of rock that came from that mountain system as it weathered and disintegrated.

Side’s Tracks

From Mt. Toby the group went to Greenfield and Turner’s Falls, where they made a study of the upturned strata of sandstone and slate. And it was here that Bill Sides, master geologist, found animal tracks, belonging to the period of two hundred million years ago. Bravo, Bill! That’s a “track” on your cap. Also found were fossilized fish and dinosaur bones.

Young Howard Was Usual Big Hit

Bridgewater Teachers College played host to those two hillbilly lovers—Young Howard (Zane Ponder) and Clementine (Vin Sullivan) in the “Young Howard of 1949” an original Fox and Nickerson production. May sixth and seventh, beginning at eight o’clock we followed the hapless pair and their companions. Whipping Willie (Walter Creedon) and Lulu (Fred Bodwicz) from Turtle Creek, Tennessee, to the “walls” of New York City, Slick Sam McGee (Wayne Tuohy) persuades Young Howard and Whispering Willie to let their two “gals” see the world before settling down and, yes, he let (what the man to do it. At the Hotel New York, Marcelle and his “chubby darlings” were show stoppers as were Petite and Lison, the Kiernan—Dennis duo, and the Stock Club Ballet. At Radio City, the “gals” and their “wolf in sheep’s clothing” guides were thrilled by the Street Singer’s and their renditions of the “Boo! Song”

World Cruise Begins

Slick Sam soon realized he was making no headway with Clementine so he decided to put a few scenes between Young Howard and her. Accordingly we see them next on the steamer “U.S.S. Paradise” where they are aided by some other “creatures of the sea” in their efforts to get Young Howard. In exactly the same way that early map makers did land, Surg! Then came the Can-Can gals struttin’ their stuff—did that get Clementine and Jean Sublime (David Kaplan) on their toes? It did get Jean Sublime in His Voice.

The Villain is Pursued

In the meantime Willie and Howard have “smelled a sickleman” and set out to bring back the rat and their gals. The gals too are beginning to get suspicious at the opus “Lucie” in Milan and when the Mountain singer (Jim Typhum) sings his “I Miss My Swis,” they’re determined to go back and settle down. But Slicks has other plans and after a quick glance at “Dar Keizer” and his mechanical woman (Mike Sullivan and Howard Oh) he plans to make Clementine marry him in Hawaii. But back to this on the horizon—it can’t be—but it is—Young Howard and Whispering Willie to the rescue! And back we go again to Turtle Creek where the woods resound with the revelry from the double weddings of Willie and Lulu, and Young Howard and Clementine to the

Elementary Science Class Visits Airport & Museum

Mr. Tyndall's Elementary Science class visited the Logan International Airport in East Boston and the Children’s Museum in Jamaica Plata on Tuesday, May seventeenth. Upon arrival the class divided. The first group was taken to the Administration building where they were shown the various parts of the airport and the field as well as the weather instruments used in predicting the actual charting of weather maps, and the ongoing and incoming reports. Meanwhile, the second group went to the observation tower on the far end of the field where the planes coming in and taking off were given their flying instructions. It is interesting to note that every bit of information given the pilots is recorded. This is used for protection in case of accident because of improper instruction. The two sections then interchanged. The state police escorted the group to the Northeast Airlines hangar. Here a D.C.-4 plane was examined and explained by one of the members of the National Guard. Furthermore it has its own weather reporting station and instruction classes.

Children’s Museum

After lunch at the airport, they departed to the Children’s Museum. Here they were shown a miniature plant which contained all the various kinds of plants ranging from live snakes to Chinese costumes. Exhibits may be borrowed from this museum to help with unit work in the classroom.

Forty-three students arrived back at the college filled with information which will help them in their years of teaching.

Junior English Class Visits Boston Library

Bright and early on the morning of April twenty-eighth, the junior English class, accompanied by their instructor, Olive Lovett, left the campus of Bridgewater for the Boston Public Library.

Eleven students visited the rare book department of the library and saw many precious antiques in the field of written and printed records.

Tour Museum of Fine Arts

After lunch, they continued on to the Museum of Fine Arts. Touring the museum, they were stare-eyed (?) as they saw for the first time puppies which had been unearthed from tombs recently discovered. The class also saw Greek, Chinese, and Roman records. The trip was taken in connection with their study of the history of language and printing.
W. A. A. Night Features Banquet, Movies, Awards

May eighteenth was the night of nights for fun, frolic, surprise and joy for all who entered the Tillinghast dining hall where everyone enjoyed the reading of the activities presented by W. A. A. during the past year.

It was a wonderful evening in every respect starting with a banquet in the Tillinghast dining hall where everyone enjoyed the reading of the activities presented by W. A. A. during the past year.

After dinner all adjourned to the auditorium to enjoy movies and receive either stars or bars for participation in activities during the year. The installation of all the new officers was a highlight of the program as also was the introduction of activities directors old and new.

Plaque Awards

The plaque, awarded to the class of 1950 for the greatest number of points in athletics, was received by the class vice-president Rhoda Leonard. It could not have been given to a more deserving group. The girls participated wholeheartedly in all sports during the year and they certainly earned it.

The "Four S" Awards

Smiles and tears held full sway however as the "Four S" awards were presented. These awards made on a basis of service, scholarship, stability and sportsmanship could not have been given to three more deserving seniors, namely Irene Bosley, Carol Schneider, and Phyllis Schneider. The recipients are the finest examples of just what the award stands for and they certainly are worthy of them in every way.

Senior Week—

Miss S. Elizabeth Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Meier, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Foth. A picture-frame favor is to be presented to each girl attending, the key chain being given to her escort.

Baccalaurate

Baccalaurate services will be held Sunday morning, closed by the senior lachconm, to which guests are invited by the graduating students. Commencement activities begin at 2:00 p.m., formally ended by the traditionalivy march on the quadrangle with the participation of white-ede underclassmen. Seniors will then depart and the rest of the students will pack once more to their inevitable finals.

W. A. A. Activities End After Successful Year

W. A. A. is closing up shop for another year. It has been a most successful one.

Softball

The team sport for the spring season, softball, came to an official end when the Junior team defeated the Sophomore 11-7. Peggy O'Neil directed the activity.

Tennis

"Pit" was in charge of tennis. She instructed the beginners in the fundamentals and directed the intermediate and advanced players. It has been a banner year for tennis, with the courts occupied at every free hour.

The girls have been flying in the gym. Relax, — I mean shuttlecocks. "Con" Haley, director, reports that eighteen girls have earned credits in both gym and tennis.

Many Activities Supported

Springtime is most conducive to nature study. Many of the local botanists killed two birds with one stone by earning their credits in hiking and biking. Artichy, under the capable leadership of Isabelle Bragg, has enjoyed a fine season. The swimming enthusiasts traveled over to the Brockton "Y" weekly. Instructor Mapes reports progress was made in all classes.

Did you count your letter this year? If so, good work. If not, why not? Plan now to allot some of your time to W. A. A. next fall.

Harvard Glee Club Sings

The Harvard Glee Club was featured, entertaining the capacity audience with its fine rendition of "Coupolets of the Greek Kings" from "La Belle Helene" by Offenbach, "Choruses From Patience" by Sullivan, and numerous other selections.

Waltzes By Rogers Played

The Pops orchestra, conducted by Malcolm Holmes "28, presented an enjoyable program. One of the favorites of those attending was Anderson's arrangement of the Richard Rogers' Waltzes.

The week's festivities are: Marie Vincent, chairman of senior marshalling; Paul Sales, next year's senior class president, chairman of the Ivy March; Rhoda Leonard, next year's senior class vice-president, chairman of the dance crew; Jacqueline Killian, in charge of writing the class will and prophecy; Barbara Sykes, the writing of the class history; Mary Fakoy, chairman of class ooe committee, assisted by Barbara Harboe and Leona Liftman, Barbara Leach, chairman of class gift committee, assisted by Hope Killiam and Carol Schneider; Loretta Ann Jeffery, in charge of caps and gowns; and Lola Watters, chairman of invitations.

There are many awards given at this time of year. We (the sports staff) wish to give recognition where it is due. We have chosen the girl in each class, who we think is the best all-around athlete.

V. M. Knight

In the senior class, all-star honors go to Midge Knight. Midge has been an outstanding athlete for four years, excelling at hockey and basketball. She is also a worthy opponent in softball, tennis and badminton.

Helen Kudlic

Helen Kudlic was chosen Junior all-star for several reasons. The trickiest player on the basketball court, she was also high scorer in the intramural league in tennis. Hockey, softball or badminton, she is equally proficient in all. Helen is a natural athlete.

Cappy

Our sophomore choice was Jan女孩 Cappelluzzo. A set shot artist on the Blue Beetle team; a fast wing on the hockey team; a slugging first baseman; and a tennis player of proven ability (when she gets her racket restrung) is Cappy.

Lou Mariani has been chosen Junior most athletic athlete. Lou is a student at Bridgewater from Braintree with an excellent athletic background. Hockey, softball, basketball, volleyball, tennis or any sport you care to mention, Lou has the necessary qualifications.

Opening Match Lost To Durfee By Tennis Team
The tennis team played its first match of the season in Brockton against Durfee on May eleventh, losing out five to two.

Sargent and Ford Team Up
Ricky Sargent, showing the form of Jack Kanmer, took one match and then teamed with Bill Ford to take a doubles match. Sargent’s matches went 6-4, 4-6, and 6-4, and the doubles match with Ford went the same way. Walt Creelion showed plenty of form in a very evenly matched game, bowing out by scores of 7-5, 4-6, and 6-4, after taking the first match.

Doubles and Singles Games Lost
"Harry" Topham dropped his singles match by 4-6 and 0-6, and teamed with John Berry lost out by the same scores. Berry also lost a singles match by 6-4 and 0-6 scores. John Matteson and Fred Nolan dropped a doubles match by 1-6 and 0-6 scores.

Team Loses Opening Game To Suffolk 3-1
Excellent pitching featured the debut of the Bridgewater baseball team, but the result was less magnificent, as they dropped a close three to one pitchers’ duel to Suffolk University. Except for one hit, they were scoreless until the seventh and final inning.

Suffolk Scores
In the first half of this inning, Suffolk combined three singles, a sacrifice, and a squeeze play with a couple of Bridgewater bunters to score three runs. With a dive, they scored a four to one blaze run. Bridgewater retaliated with one run in their turn at bat when pinch-hitter Chet Smolski walked, and Don Morey boomed a tremendous triple to left center field to score Smolski.

Good Pitching
Both pitchers proved accurate. Warren Tholette of Bridgewater issued only five hits in a losing cause. While Billy Shany of Suffolk gave up three hits and struck out ten.

Bridgewater dropped its second game in a row to Suffolk U. at Suffolk by a score of 8-5.

Exxon Cause Loss
Wildness on the part of pitcher Don Morey, and a defense that fell apart at the seams caused the downfall of the Red despite the fact that only four hits were registered from Morey.

All five Bridgewater runs came in a big fourth inning. Three infield errors, three walks, a single and a fly ball scored the five runs.

Softball News
An abbreviated softball schedule reached a climax on May sixteenth with the undefeated junior team annexing its final triumph at the expense of the previously undefeated senior team by the one-sided score of 20 to 3. The senior team was badly outclassed by the fast-striking juniors led by Captain Paul Salley. The juniors took an early first inning lead of 4-0 and went on to win easily. Offensive honors of the day went to Paul Dickie and Dave Weinstein, who led off with only early inning home runs to start the juniors on their way.

Softball Proves Popular
The interest shown here at Bridgewater for softball is indicative of the popularity and growth of the sport throughout the country. It is an offshoot of our national sport that has grown by leaps and bounds because of its appeal to all ages and to both sexes. It is hoped that in the future years more time can be devoted to sports of this type at Bridgewater. The first steps have been taken. The development of an expanded program (probably even co-ed) now lies in the hands of the students development from grade to grade of the physical prowess of the children. It was judged an outstanding performance by many of the spectators.

Morey Pitches Win Against N. B. Textile
Bridgewater ran its winning streak to three straight knocking off New Bedford Textile ten to six, in a wild and woolly game. Don Morey was on the mound for the Teachers, and threw a five hitter at New Bedford, getting five strikeouts; but his streaks of wildness kept him in hot water all afternoon.

Heavy Hitting Helps
Once again the sticks of Ford, Douthart, Sargent, and Morey continued to boom, each contributing very important hits.

In the first inning Ford led off with a single, advanced, on a sacrifice, to second; went to third on an error, and scored on a wild pitch.

Douthart Score
Morey started the second inning by driving out two singles, with Sargent, singled, scoring both. Ricky Sargent then followed with a triple to score Douthart, and later scored himself on an error.

Five Run Score in Fifth
In the fifth Morey led off by dropping a single into left field, Ford walked, then Douthart singled scoring both. Ricky Sargent walked, moving Douthart up, who scored on a double by Dillow. Joe Emerd reached on an error, with both Dillow and Sargent scoring.

Good Pitching Teamed With Hitting Brings Win
In the second Durfee game, Don Bates pitched B. T. C. to its second win, seven to three, serving up a seven run inning. Up until the seventh inning Bates merely touched, but in the last three innings he tired and gave up three runs.

Bill Ford continued his great hitting, driving out two singles, with Sargent, singled, scoring both. Ricky Sargent walked, moving Douthart up, and scoring himself on an error.

High Scoring Inning
In the fourth with one out, Emerd walked, Bates sacrificed him to second and then the house fell in on the Durfee pitcher; Douthart cracked a double into the left field corner scoring Emerd; Morey followed with a long triple, and then scored on a passer ball. Walsh reached on an error, Sargent singled, and Hughes, single scoring Walsh and Sargent for the fourth and fifth runs of the inning, ending the scoring.

Father And Son’s Day Features Double-Header
Father and Son’s Day was held Saturday, May twenty-first at Bridgewater State College. The activities included a double-header between Bridgewater and Smith Brings First Win
Behind some very effective three-hit hurling by Sargent Smith, Bridgewater Teachers gained its initial win of the season at the expense of Durfee Textile by a score of four to two.

Hits Well Scattered
Statsy struck out five and scattered his three hits well enough, but fumbles in the infield cost him his shutdown.

Runs Scored
Going into the fifth, trailing one to nothing, B. T. C. came up with three big runs. Emerd walked, Smith reached on an error; the singles by Ford, Douthart, and Morey, scored the three runs. The fourth run came in the sixth inning when Dillon slapped out a single, stole second, and scored on Emerd’s single to center.

Along with Morey, Ford, and Emerd, other lights shining at the plate were Hill Dillon, Ricky Sargent, and Manch Douthart.

If you use any of Lever Brothers’ products be sure to let Ellen Noonan know. She will do consumer research for that company.

Sally Russell will be in civil service as a clerk in the Starbridge Post Office.

Lifeguard
Fewer drownings are predicted this year in Hyannis — Lee Milch will be a life guard and water safety instructor.

Trowel may not be a job but it is interesting. This summer Claire Pachos went to Texas and Jean Ruthwell to Florida — to escape the heat perhaps?

and New Bedford Textile, and a tour of the campus and school buildings.

Banquet
The climax of the day was the banquet held in the college dining hall. The “gong” signal — gold chams in the form of a baseball, basketball, or soccer ball, to be worn on a key or watch chain — were awarded to the deserving senior athletes: Robert To­lan, Sargent Smith, William Flanagan, John Berry, Edward Sweeney, William Sides, Frederick Nolan, William Gaull, Walter Gibson, and Eric Sargent by Mr. Frederick Meier, Athletic Director. After the banquet, the fathers had the opportunity of meeting Dr. Kelly.

Spotlight On Jackie

The spotlight shines on one of the most interesting and active members of the senior class, Jacqueline Killen. Jackie is her "nom de plume." She came to us by dory from that scenic little island which the Indians dubbed little star shone like Sirius in the local sky of talent. She appeared in most of the school plays and rapidly gained in popularity which was made evident in her election to the presidency of the Student Council in her senior year.

Each summer she takes part in the plays directed by the Straight Wharf Players of Nantucket. While on the island our little star shone like Sirius in the local

Well Known As Actress

Our little Sirius was still shining brightly when she docked at Bridgewater in '44, and it wasn't long until she joined the club for which she was so adequately qualified, the Dramatic Club. Jackie became a familiar figure to the audiences of Bridgewater. This year we all saw her as one of the leads in "Our Town," taking the role of that demure and lovable little Emily. Being active in most of the Dramatic Club's activities, it wasn't long until she fulfilled the requirements to become a member of the nationally known society, Alpha Pi Omega. Last year she was the treasurer of the society, and followed it up this year by being elected to the presidency.

Active In Clubs

C-2 hailed her as their Division Representative in her sophomore year; at the same time she served as vice-president pro-temp of Tillinghast Dormitory.

Sophomore Sail Rated Success By Students

"All aboard!" summoned the dancers to Bridgewater's Mississippi Belle, sailing on a mythical journey down the Mississippi. The dance climaxed sophomore weekend which was held on May thirteenth and fourteenth. The gymnasium, decorated as a river boat, had the traditional mommy singers, Civil War boas with their bells, and the old river boat captain and crew.

Entertainment

Shipboard entertainment consisted of Rosanna Diaz with Marilyn Legere performing an adagio dance; Ruth Alice Henderson, Miriam Tenenbaum, and Lenore Rossi, an interpretative nautical dance; and Walter Creedon singing "Cudly Kid," a song hit from "Youth Howard of 1949."

Hayride

The weekend began with a hayride on Friday evening surrounding town. The evening was climaxed by a record hop held in lower Tilly. On Saturday afternoon a picnic was held at the West Bridgewater Park with softball, cutting, and a general good time.

Credit for the success of the weekend goes to Pauline O'Sullivan, as general chairman who directed various committees headed by Winifred Williams, picnic; Michael Sullivan, publicity; Virginia Cory, decorations; Doris Gould refreshments; Barbara McNeil, hayride, Ann McGee, hospitality; and Faith Dudgeon, orchestra.

Jackie is also an active member of the Newman Club.

Held Many Offices

As Chairman of the Chapell Committee in her junior year she was kept busy selecting and planning varied and interesting speakers for the Chapel Hour. During this same year her qualifications as an able financial administrator were recognized when the girls of Tilly elected her as their treasurer, she was also a member of the House Board and Dormitory Council. President of S.C.A.

This year her extra-curricular activities were crowned when she was elected to the highest office of the College, the President of Student Cooperative Association. Although she took part in many activities and held many offices Jackie still found time to become a member of the Honor Society, Kappa Delta Pi.

Jr. Phys. Eds. Visit Malden Public Schools

The members of the junior physical education class visited the Malden Public Schools on a recent field trip made in connection with their Health Education course, on Friday, May thirteenth. Miss Lois L. Decker, instructor, was in charge of the group, and Mary E. Spencer, Director of the School Health Department in that city, was the general hostess for the day.

Groups Split

Upon arrival, the group split up, half going with Dr. Spencer, and the remainder with Professor Decker. The first group visited the Belmont school wherein they saw a special May Day assembly program concerning the health activities of the school throughout the year. Lincoln Jr. High was the next stop where they witnessed a seventh-grade community health class and an improved lunch room. The latter group starting at the Emerson school received a "bird's eye view" of instruction in all six grades, and continued to the Beloe Jr. High. There, Mrs. Ruth Parker taught a sixth-grade unit on milk. Mrs. Parker is a former graduate of Bridge water Teachers College and formerly taught health in the Bridgewater Jr. High School.

Pre-School

After a brief snack, (being "phys. oh..." they couldn't resist the gastric cry for nourishment), the two groups met at the Leonard School. Here they saw pre-school registration and conferences between the mother and child, and the nurse, principal and classroom teacher. Dr. Spencer showed them the value of early orientation for the future fast grader.

Progressive Education

At the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Chester W. Holmes, Superintendent, urged progressive education with a small "p." He went on to say that making the child the center of school activities should be done without the child conscious of the fact. Another point of interest was a conference with the school nurse. It was interesting to note the difference in the number of excuses from gym class between the boys and girls. The boys out-numbered the girls fifteen to one.

Comparison Notes

Dr. Spencer's office was the last stop. Here, the two groups compared notes. Both agreed that the general cleanliness and health of the Malden school children appeared to be excellent.

Spotlight On Nat Dorman

Sharing the spotlight is Nathalie Dorman, one of the seniors, who received her birthday presents on February twenty-second. Her early life was spent in Winthrop where she attended the local schools. When Nat came to Bridgewater in '44, it was B.T.C.'s gain and Winthrop's loss.

Well Varied Interests

Nat is considered one of the busiest of campus celebrities, but she still has time for sports. She plays tennis for recreational and not for reducing purposes. Nat is a girl of many abilities. She listens to Beethoven at the Symphony Hall, and "Bop" in Tilly Rec. Room.

Head Hostess

As Head Student Hostess of the Dining Hall she has duties which are varied. One of the most difficult of her duties was arranging the seating plan for the students in the dining hall. It's quite an undertaking to please all the Romneys and Julies who insist on dining together, and at the same time still maintain the proper ratio of males to females. Nat never had four years this year, but the friendships she has acquired here will never end. Good luck, Nat, and thanks. You have done a swell job.

Spotlight on Gibson

The house lights dim and the spotlight darts to the center of the stage; there, behind a wide, winsome smile, sways 200 pounds of curvaceous pulchritude. The applause is deafening and the encore is welcomed by the appreciative audience. Who is this "darling of the footlights"? Those of you who know him need no further introduction, but for the benefit of the uninstructed: Mr. Gibson received his initial experiences as a showman, while directing an air-force cast at Oklahoma A & M in their stellar presentation, "Wild Blue." This musical featured three former Radio City Rockettes and their performance set the pattern for Walter's specialties. "Evil" as enacted in the original "Harem Scene," which featured Sultan Gibson and the original can-can chorus of that fine show in which Mr. Gibson played key roles both as director and footlight performer. Madam Fifi Tennis and Elaine Girard.

Man Of The Month

WANTED! A tall, blond-haired fellow, athletic, and frequently seen with a camera, to report to Alpha and Campus Comment immediately. Of course we're referring to Walt Morrison, the pride of the A.A.F.

Waltham High finally let him out in 1942 and Uncle Sam, knowing a good prospect when he saw one, extended an open invitation. Walt soared through the clouds quite a bit, and named Italy as a favorite resting spot. Entered B.T.C.

After thanking the government for its kindness (?), he decided to give B.T.C. a chance in 1946. Just a few of his many activities are soccer (being elected co-captain for the 1949 season), intramurals, and baseball. He is assistant photography editor of the college paper and assistant photography editor of the yearbook, and was honored as assistant director of YOUNG HHoward 1948. Walter is an avid and conscientious reader, likes pretty girls (who doesn't!), and is the backbone of many a Bridge water enterprise.

Plans For Master's Degree

This year he had the audiences howling for two nights with his famous interpretation of the Apache dance, in YOUNG HOWARD of 1949. Walt is a geography major, and plans upon graduation from B.T.C. to obtain a Master's Degree in this field.

We certainly look forward to seeing great things accomplished by this versatile lad in his twenties.
