British Students Explore BSC

Bridgewater State College played host from April 6 to April 11 to a group of prospective students from London. The group arrived in Boston on March 22, and were guests in the home of several students in the Boston area. They then moved on to Fitchburg State College, and from there to RIC, from where they went back to England, to finish their high school vacation, and then return to school.

The group's itinerary was:
- Brian Keef, Istanbul, Stopp, Roger As-

Dear Young Man,

My faith in this generation of young people in the public school system, that you will seek help for your problems, is tenable; I consider it a loan.

This is not regurgitation of the trappings of a particular course. Nor is it a numbers game. Grades should be earned, not raised, by continuous, not occasional effort. This is not the amusing story of a grammar school crush as realistically their interest and over-all quality.

I am convinced by the department's eagerness to try to get the course approved by students in the student poetry of the latest of the series of Earth Science Lectures began and ended with alliteration, yet the student poetry of that the reader despairs of solving them.

Packard Winds Up Assemblies

By Cheryl Folt

Can one forgive and forget in a computerized society? Can freedom exist under the rule of a memory bank? Should we allow James Bond to wander through walls, entrances to and the like, asaktix monitored by N.S.A.? We must have privacy for uniqueness, self-assurance, and liberty of life and self-esteem.

The speaker was Vance Packard, noted social commentator and author of several bestselling books. He was at Bridgewater on April 11, at the last of the Third Hour Assembly Programs, and his warnings and predictions were both terrifying and fascinating.

He labeled the industrial society "the most threatening social force in America," and said that an "electronic surveillance" machine was as necessary for "efficiency, order, production, control," as it is for the "massive hardware" against our right to lead our own lives.

Mr. Packard cited several reasons for the growth of this megalithic society: where the SCA funds go, and to develop a more definite SCA purpose, and more definite SCA planning for the future.

Fitchburg Too Much For BSC

By Chris Brody

The Bears after a postponement and loss to BSC, traveled to Fitchburg for a double header. In the first game Petkunas handled Fitchburg well except for the right field Ferreira who banged out doubles in the first and third innings. 2 runs and a singles choice produced BSC's lone run. The brightening prospect spot in the first game was Dan Ward who worked the last three innings in relief, allowing only one run. Dan Osgood, freshmen right fielder from Bridgewater, collected at least six hits in four trips to the plate.

Second Game

"Hank" Comer, a Bridgewater-Raynham graduate, was BSC's starting pitcher for the second game. The Bears pushed a run across in the first, and in the second, a two-out single by Dalzell, a walk to Taylor, and an Alice Petrocchi double gave Comer a 3-1 lead to work on. Fitchburg got the game with a single run in the third and fifth, and then unloaded in the seventh with a single, double and triple producing 2 runs and handing Comer and Bridgewater State a 5-3 defeat.

In the two games BSC mustered 12 hits. Of those, Diergowicz, Dalzell, Petrocchi, and Stellas had 9. Diergowicz went to the plate and got 2 hits, while Dalzell went 3 for 4, Petrocchi 3 for 4, and Stella 2 for 4.

The Bears tied the game in the second with two runs on a single by Henry Barrowaski, a walk to John Pallaresi, and a double by Ron Diergowicz. In the fifth Bridgewater put the game out of reach. Barrowaski walked, Petkunas helped his own cause with a single and Pallaresi filled the bases with a walk. The RIC pitcher wild-pitched in one run, and a throwing error resulted in two more runs.
