EDITORIAL

Drive Safely This Vacation

The record of young drivers worsened in 1966. Drivers under 25 were involved in almost 32 percent of the fatal accidents compared with 30.3 percent in 1965. This was the worst record in the history of the Bureau of Public Roads. It is estimated that the fatalities among young drivers have exceeded 4,400,000 over the past year. In an editorial letter to the New York Times, traffic safety editor, Mr. Mark J. Philpot, one of the outstanding leaders in traffic safety, lashed out at the agencies and organizations responsible for the high accident rate among young drivers. He pointed out that the main reason for the increase in accidents among young drivers is due to the high number of young drivers who use alcohol and drugs while driving. Philpot also stated that the regulations for young drivers are not as strict as those for older drivers. He emphasized that the young drivers must be taught the importance of driving safely and responsibly.

Dear Dan,

Becoming a statistic for next year’s newspapers. Drive safely and have a wonderful time you made our time so enjoyable.

To everybody, we offer our very best wishes of a happy summer; we want to see you all back next year,

 Yours sincerely,

Mary J. Philpot

The Editors and Staff of The CAMPUS COMMENT would like to wish you a happy and safe summer vacation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Britons Send Thanks

Coach Praised

Editor's Note: This letter was forwarded to us by Don Kliffner, who received it from Mac Whalen, and thanked after our stay at Bridgewater State College. It was written by a student under a variety of conditions. I want to say that we shall forget the word that a trip was a success. I am all who wished it could have been longer.

Thank you, all the students. The Britons gave us during our stay at Bridgewater State College. We would like to say that we shall appreciate the outstanding job he has done in preparing our intramural athletics program. In past years our intramural athletics programs have been successful for our dorm students and a money generator for our student union. This season it has been quite different.

In a fall football season, the young man enjoy competition and good sportsmanship. During the winter, basketball was enjoyed by many. In the early part of spring over a hundred Britons played a volleyball tournament, one of the first of the season for any college. So many of the students have been involved in these activities. We have a variety of groups that have taken part in our intramural athletics program. We are proud of the Briton student body.

A chance to play a game in the outdoor field and to participate in a sport that is enjoyable for all.

Sincerely,

Geoffrey Fanning
