BONNIE & CLYDE

By Mark Allen Leech

This issue marks the end of our forty-fourth year of publication, and also the forty-fifth, and last, issue. It is time for me to say good-bye to Wednesday night deadlines, to an entire semester as the staff of any college newspaper could be. They were mine and who have made it what it is today, have been joined by student leaders and who seem to have a genuine affection for the College, and if the promise of marks the forty-fifth, and last, issue we should regret deeply. But in all we have tried our best.

This College has entered a new era, not only in terms of size but in character. The Bridgewater State College Community. To the editor goes the glory, to them Bridgewater State College. They failed tests, they lost sleep, they watched Wednesday, of every week, sometimes till midnight, sometimes till 4:00 a.m. and the Bridgewater State College Administration have been prominent in that not once in the past forty years has the question of censorship, either overtly or subtly, been raised. The editor, the deans of the College, the staff, the students, the faculty have all worked together to bring about a perfect union of truth and justice. The clear demonstration of our determination to be academically successful. The perfecttouch of a master.

It is time for us to say goodbye to Wednesday night deadlines, to an editorialized and hardworking staff. In the studio, back in the office. Everyone has done their part. We have tried our best. We have tried to do our best. We have tried to do our best.

Editorial

The moment the end of another three-year period of Lincoln's life, his death for the Union, and the total destruction of all the Southern States of the Union, we should remember that we are not alone in our sorrow and that we should not be afraid.

The country is in the grip of a great national tragedy. It is a time of mourning and reflection. It is a time to remember the sacrifices made by those who laid down their lives for the cause of freedom.

We must continue to work together to ensure that the ideals of liberty and justice are realized for all Americans. Let us remember that we are stronger together and that we must unite in our efforts to achieve a better future for all.

Bonnie & Clyde

By Mark Allen Loech

On this Thursday and Friday at 5:30 PM, the Drama Club will present the play "Bonnie & Clyde" at the Alumni Union. This drama was written by Lucille Lortel and directed by Herb Leishman. It is a powerful story of two young people who became prisoners in a world of crime and violence.

The play is set in the 1930s, during the time of the Great Depression, and it explores the themes of love, freedom, and the consequences of choices made.

The cast features outstanding performances by the talented Drama Club members, who have worked hard to bring this play to life. The production includes powerful stage designs and lighting, which create a realistic atmosphere.

The show is recommended for mature audiences due to its mature language and content.
