Harrington's Appointment Effective Immediately
Rondileau Acting Academic Dean

Bridgewater-Buzzards Bay - Bridgewater State College's Academic Dean Lee Harrington was elected President of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy by the Board of Trustees of the Massachusetts State Colleges at their December meeting held in Boston. Harrington received word on Sunday, January 2, 1972, that the presidential appointment would become effective immediately.

The COMMENT interviewed the former Bridgewater Dean in his new office at the Academy on Tuesday. He told the COMMENT reporter that he had two reasons for accepting the Presidency at Mass. Maritime. First, President Harrington emphasized the difference in size between the Academy and Bridgewater State College. The Maritime Academy presently has an enrollment of 200 cadets with a projected maximum enrollment of 800. Bridgewater State, on the other hand, has an undergraduate enrollment of 3,500.

The second and equally important reason for Dean Harrington's decision was that he believed it was time for a change, both for himself and for the Academic Dean's Office. Mr. Harrington stated that in his opinion, ten years was long enough for an administrator to hold the same position and he has been at Bridgewater fourteen years, only nine of which were spent as Academic Dean.

The former Dean's appointment marked the end of a six month search for the successor to the Academy's last president A. Sunfed Limouze. Mr. Harrington was the unanimous choice of both the campus selection committee and the Board of Trustees' Personnel Committee.

Mr. Harrington's candidacy received strong support from all phases of the Maritime Academy community. He was actively supported by the Academy Alumni Association and the leading citizens of the town of Bourne, the home of the College campus. The current Academic Dean's Office is usually lead by their respective groups; three administrators; (elected); three professional faculty; ten departmental chairmen; three directors, one of which will be the SGA President and two additional elected students; the Chairman of the Faculty Council would act as the moderator of the group.

President Rondileau told the COMMENT that candidates from both inside and outside the College and State College System and from outside the Massachusetts Higher Education System will be considered for the position.

No date has been set for President Harrington's Inauguration. A reliable source informed the COMMENT that the new President of the Academy recently completed his residence hall complex. Presently he cadets are stationed in the completed facility, which was designed to accommodate 1,500 cadets. The Academy's rate of growth is presently 39 percent per year with a projected ceiling of 4,000 students.

Massachusetts Maritime Academy
From the Outside Looking In

Massachusetts Maritime Academy, the smallest of the eleven institutions in the Massachusetts State College System, was founded in 1811, is located in Buzzards Bay, Massachusetts on the shores of the Cape Cod Canal. The Academy has a distinct similitude that of the United States at Hyannis where it was housed in 1948 and moved from Hyannis in 1956 the battle transport Charleston as its training ship. In 1948 the Academy received the naval commission as Ensign in the U.S. Merchant Marine and a the Bay State which until last year was the home of 300 men for the 35 Naval Reserve. Each cadet must months they were at the Academy, also minor in a related field such as the other aspects of the campuses' oceanography or fisheries physical plant now hearing.

The President's cabinet would consist of ten members: three administrators, one divisional director and two departmental chairmen (elected by their respective groups); three professional faculty; ten departmental chairmen, one of which will be the SGA President and two additional elected students; the Chairman of the Faculty Council would act as the moderator of the group.

President Harrington has expressed a desire as a college administrator to know every student intimately. This was of course impossible at Bridgewater. Mr. Harrington commented that with a student body of 3,500 he was only able to know the student leaders of the College which exceed the number of students enrolled in the Academy. President Harrington has already initiated his plan to know all the midshipmen at the Academy. Mr. Harrington met with the Corps yesterday for the first time and was enthusiastic about receiving by all elements of the Academy.

The second and equally important reason for Dean Harrington's appointment was that he believed it was time for a change, both for himself and for the Academic Dean's Office. Mr. Harrington stated that in his opinion, ten years was long enough for an administrator to hold the same position and he has been at Bridgewater fourteen years, only nine of which were spent as Academic Dean.

The Student Union Program Committee is in the process of choosing an artist for its final concert. The Committee has designated this a ‘pop concert’ in keeping with its past philosophy of diversified programming. The Committee is investigating the $7,500 category and is asking the students for their opinions on the artists listed below. Space is provided for other suggestions in the popular music category. Such artists as SeaTrain are not considered popular since the caliber of Diane Warwick are priced out of the Committee. The Committee would appreciate responses by January 18, 1972._optinaires should be returned to Committee's Office.

Return by Jan. 18, 1972 to S.U. Info. Booth
Don McLean is a hard man to pin down. There are so many sides to this young poet singer, whose latest release on United Artists is currently soaring up the record charts.

A songpoet with two albums to his credit, he is highly inventive, totally unique and has been mentioned in the same breath with James Taylor, Neil Young and Elton John. And yet he is like none of them.

When he sings it about waste and pollution, Pete Seeger and the Beatles, Buddy Holly and the Rolling Stones. His songs apparently express a lot of the feelings of his generation, for his latest record, “American Pie,” is selling phenomenally well in every corner of the country.

“American Pie” is as varied a record as Don is a person. It begins with a nine-minute song that bears the title of the album and is a look at the last ten years in music, culture and politics. Although it features a simple, unforgettable chorus, the verses are filled with images open to interpretation, and some radio stations are even running contests to see who can interpret the song best.

Don will tell you that he doesn’t believe in writing single songs, that his music runs in patterns, with many songs linked to make a broad and fresh statement about the way the world is today.

One thing that appears again and again in Don’s work is his deep concern with ecology. McLean was active in the struggle for cleaner water and air long before it became a national fad.

Don traveled up and down and the Hudson River singing about the message of ecology. One of the original members of the anti-pollution loup, The Clearwater, Don has also served a term as Hudson River Troubadour, performing over 25 concerts in six short weeks, sometimes singing forty songs a day.

“Well travelled and sang because whole communities along the Hudson were on the brink of total destruction due to industrial pollution, and the people never knew.”

Don has recently completed a public service TV announcement for the Sierra Club which is being released nationally.

Great-grandson of one of the first presidents of the DAR. McLean believes in taking a strong stand on issues he sees as important.

“I was brought up to stand behind what I believe in. I guess I get to feeling responsible, and having to do something. Touch upon things, change them, work them out.”

But Don is a complicated character, and his music shows it. “You’re JUST AS LIKELY TO FIND A SONG ABOUT LOVE GONE WRONG ON ONE OF HIS RECORDS AS YOU ARE TO FIND A TUNE ABOUT SAVING OUR RIVERS.”

There are Don McLean as a folk singer, others as a pop singer, but he is also a bard and a songpoet as well. His lyrics are warm and human and he’s singing about problems and experiences that touch us all.

PROJECT HEAD START

Dear Student,

Self Help Project Head Start is in need of volunteers. Very often, as a third person in the classroom, you would provide a one to one relationship with a child who may feel the need to play a game, to have a story read, to take a walk or perhaps just to talk.

Our centers are located in Brooklin, Easton, Hanson, Pembroke, Rockland, Sandwich, Wareham.

If you feel that you can spend a few hours one morning per week to help these deserving children, please call Mr. Jane Bouren.

Bidding in S. U. Ballroom

The SNEA Faculty Auction was held last Tuesday at 8:00 p.m. in the S. U. Ballroom. The auction, lasting about an hour, netted about $110 for the SNEA.

During its peak, the auction entertained an overflow of students. Attracting the highest bid, which was $212.50, was Professor Donaldson’s offer of four tickets and a boat ride. Among other good offers were the chance to receive 4 for an Italian dinner. His offer, however, was turned down, as well as the chance to receive 4 for a French dinner, 2 for a French dinner, or 4 for an Italian dinner. NEWS RELEASE

Formal announcement has just been received by Dr. Adrian Rondell, President of Bridgewater State College, from the New England Association of Schools and Colleges, Inc., at their annual meeting held in December, 1971, that the college to continue membership in the Association for a period of ten years.

The announcement was presented in the Faculty Council of Bridgewater State College at its first 1972 meeting this morning.

(1 January 4)

Studies made over the past two years have proven that Bridgewater maintains a standard of academic excellence that merits this honor.

Congratulations have been sent by the Commission of Institutions of Higher Education and its chairman to the faculty and students of Bridgewater State College on this accomplishment.
The Student Union is proceeding with the construction of the Rathskellar, located in the lower corridor of the Student Union. This area was originally designated for bowling alleys. The unfinished area was designated for the Rathskellar by the 1969-70 Student Union Board.

The first place of construction is now being completed in the area. An independent heating and ventilation system is being installed specifically to service this area. The Student Union accepted the low bid of $13,500 from the Construction Co. of New Bedford. The second low bid was about $8,000. The ventilation system, which includes air conditioning, was decided upon because the ventilation which exists in this area of the building services the S.U. Auditorium. The expenses occurred in this type of ventilation system would eventually be more costly than an independent system. The Auditorium System requires a qualified engineer to be on duty while the system is in use. Since the Rathskellar will be used almost daily the cost of paying an engineer would be high. The independent ventilation which passes out through the Print Shop, will not require an engineer for operation.

In action taken at the November 30, 1970 meeting, the Board of Governors declined to allocate the estimated $22,350 needed to complete the Rathskellar area. It was the desire of the Board of Governors the student body be informed of the amount necessary for construction of the Rathskellar and time be allowed for opinions, either pro or con, to be presented. The $22,350 will be taken from the Student Union Reserve Fund which will largely erase the remainder of the fund. The Reserve Fund was established by the Board of Governors last year as a result of the large surplus which existed at the end of the Building's first fiscal year.

The Student Union Fee was collected in September, 1970 when the Student Union first opened, but since the Board was still in the formation process spending of fee monies was light during the first semester. The first place of construction is now being completed in the area.

States Vote Record Total

$7.7-Billion for Higher Education

State appropriations of tax funds for higher education's operating expenses reached a new high of $7.7 billion in 1971-72, but the rapid rate of increase or recent years appears to be slowing. Appropriations were up only 10 per cent over 1970-71, the smallest year-to-year increase since 1962. The two-year increase was 24-25 per cent, compared with recent two-year gains of 38 per cent and 44 per cent.

M. M. Chambers of Illinois State University, a special contributor to The Chronicle of Higher Education who has been compiling information on state appropriations for higher education since 1969, said the latest total indicated a "moderate slowing down" in comparison with the years since 1965. In the early 1960's, he noted, the two-year increases were not as high.

Because some states appropriate funds for colleges two years at a time, Mr. Chambers feels that two-year rates of increase are more meaningful than those of single years. Changes in Distribution Noted

In addition to the slowing-down of rates of increase in appropriation, changes have been taking place in how states are apportioning funds within their statewide systems of higher education.

The National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges, which represents the major state universities, pointed out that 71 of 97 of its member-institutions had reported smaller rates of increase than their states as a whole had reported over the past two years.

Twelve other state universities reported percentage increases roughly comparable to those of their states' entire statewide systems, while 14 institutions received larger percentage increases. The association has estimated that, because of inflation and enrollment increases, a major state university must have an average annual increase in funds of at least 18 per cent in order to maintain a status quo in its level of operations. The association noted that 17 of the 97 institutions reported increases averaging less than 10 per cent a year over the past two years.

Five state-assisted institutions received less money in appropriations for 1971-72 than in 1970-71. Other kinds of institutions, however, have been improving their share of state funds.

Increases for Junior Colleges

In all 31 states, the rate of increase of funds for junior and community colleges was higher than the overall state increase over the past two years. Some funds went to new institutions or to rapidly expanding ones, and a larger number of states have begun to provide aid to private colleges and universities.

Thirteen states enacted legislation for that purpose this year, bringing to 35 the total number of states providing some kind of aid - direct or indirect - for private colleges or their students.

The land-grant association expressed fear that a continued slowdown in appropriations would force many public institutions to raise their tuition and fees, which have already increased by an average of slightly more than 6 per cent a year between 1965-66 and 1971-72.

"Trail Leads Upward"

Mr. Chambers, however, remains convinced that the lower rate in increase of appropriations will not be permanent. "Any current temporary suspension in the financing of public higher education cannot be regarded as a crossing of a summit on a trail which thereafter leads only downward. The trail leads upward for another 10 years," he said.

California continues to lead in total state funds appropriated for higher education, as it has in every other year since Mr. Chambers began his tabulations, while New York is second.

On a per-capita basis, however, Hawaii and Alaska lead the rest of the states in funds for colleges and universities.

Alabama and Mississippi increased their appropriations by the highest rate over the past two years. The state of Washington, on the other hand, actually decreased its appropriations between 1969-70 and 1971-72.

Following is the breakdown of appropriations for Massachusetts:

The table above shows how much of its tax funds each state is spending, per capita, for the operating expenses of higher education in 1971-72. The information was compiled by The Chronicle from figures supplied by M. M. Chambers of Illinois State University and from the U.S. Bureau of the Census's estimate of civilian population as of July 1. See story on Page 4.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS HONORED

Two BSC football players were honored by the N National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) as they were given honorable mention on the NAIA Little All-American Football squad.

The two honored Bears were Rich Roath and Vin Hickey. Roath, a senior with honors, batted in 43 passes for 726 yards and was ranked 47th among the nation’s small college receivers. Hickey, a BSC junior QB who will be returning as one of next year’s captains, finished 8th in the nation as a passer and threw for 1200 yards in 5 games while completing 59% of his attempts.

This is the first time in the history of football here at BSC that two football players have been nationally honored by the NAIA.

PROS AND CONN.(S) OF WOMEN’S BASKETBALL

The BSC Women’s Varsity Basketball team edged a spirited Central Conn. team by a 45 - 38 score. Karen MacDonald played a fabulous game for BSC scoring 18 points and doing a great job under the boards. Susan Baptiste and Cathy Prendergast also played well scoring 9 and 7 points respectively.

Central Conn. opened the game with the first basket and retained the lead until the second quarter. With the score CCS 9 and BSC 7 going into the second quarter, BSC went to work and collected 16 points to Central Conn’s 9. In the quarter Karen MacDonald sunk 3 baskets while Judy Sullivan connected for 5 points for BSC, making the score Bridgewater 23, Connecticut 18.

Both teams played a hard fought third quarter during which Karen MacDonald gathered 10 points. BSC scored 12 points with Central getting 7 resulting in a third quarter score of 35 - 25.

Central came back in the last quarter scoring 13 points to Bridgewater’s 10. CCS almost caught the BSC girls at 4:14 when they trailed only by 5 points. However BSC pulled ahead, and ended up as the victors in a 45 - 38 win.

The BSC Women’s J.v. basketball team crushed the Central Connecticut J.v. by a 55 - 36 margin. Ann McGowan lead the attack with 13 points as the team chalked up its first victory of the season.

BSC played a good first half collecting 31 points, 13 belonging to Anne McGowan. Central Connecticut could only muster up 11 making the half time score 31 - 11. Neither team made their plays click during the third quarter with CCS getting only 1 points and BSC only 6. Debbie Finn, however, did a good job rebounding for the home team and the third ended 39 - 17 in BSC’s favor.

Mary Hamilton and Pat Hurney played a fine last quarter for BSC while teammate Janice DeCaire sunk a couple of great lay-ups. The final score read 55 - 26, a preview of some great basketball to come.

INTRAMURAL AWARDS

This year a new system for making awards for winners in the Men’s Intramural program has been developed. An overall Intramural Champion will be awarded to one team at the end of the Academic year. The winner will be decided by the points each team finishes in each respective sport. That is to say that the winner of a sport such as football will receive 100 points, second place team will receive 90 points, third place team will receive 80 and so on.

At the end of the year the points each team has earned will be totaled and the team with most points will be recognized in Intramural champs. An award will be presented to each member of the winning team. Individual awards will be presented to the winning teams in each respective sport. At this time the teams that have points from flag football are 1. Chiefs; 2. Vikings; 3. Alpha; 4. Emos; 5. Ties; Georgies; Kappa 1. Any team wishing to enter basketball second semester please leave roster at S.U. INFO BOOTH. We are hoping to expand our facilities, making it possible to play additional games. If any member of the college community has any suggestions that might better the Intramural program please leave them at the S.U. Info booth c/o Intramural Director.
