Gabriel Speaks on U.S.-China Affairs

Alexander Gabriel, present Dean of the United Nations Press School, spoke last Tuesday morning in the SU Demonstration Room. Having lectured during the past 15 years on world affairs, Gabriel was even present at the founding of the UN. At Tuesday’s lecture, he chose the President’s visit to China as his topic.

Gabriel began by characterizing Nixon’s China trip as “one of the most important developments in the post world war period.” He stated that the trip will have an important impact on the world’s concept of peace.

Throughout his lecture, Gabriel stressed the idea that peace is possible in our time. It is only in the last 1,972 years of man’s history that he has considered peace as an objective and most hoped for world peace is now to exist only in the last 500 years.

Gabriel further stated that he has only been in the last few years that peace has become a political rather than a moral concept.

Gabriel then spoke of the awareness of the public in general. He pointed out that the American public is not completely informed of the truth by his press. Government think that people make decisions and therefore nations attempt to hide the truth from their people. Gabriel suggested that Governments themselves, don’t think at all, they carry “more like elephants.”

In the case of Nixon’s trip to China, Gabriel lamented that the media is hiding the truth of the trip’s cause from the American people. According to Gabriel, Nixon is running for political reasons, because he has realized that this country cannot survive without recognizing China.

In considering the new U.S. approach to Communist China, Gabriel stated that Taiwan is hardly to be considered. There is no doubt that the U.S. can not completely reverse its policy, in spite of the D.U. position that it shouldn’t, and now the nation must consider Taiwan as a provocation of China and daily withdraw.

Gabriel expressed his opinion that Taiwan would not take over Taiwan by force but that the two would come to a reconciliation peacefully.

Gabriel pointed out that that Nixon’s trip to China and the U.S.-China agreement is a U.S. decision to group its dominance in Asia. It will mean a lessening in massive U.S. power in its Pacific bases.

This agreement also includes a U.S. responsibility to help other nations prevent dominations. Considered to be a relatively unpublicized point, Taiwan is never to be considered a problem.

Gabriel viewed Nixon’s trip to China as a last resort effort, the U.S. could not win in Vietnam. Nixon, who had efficiently with Japan, will undoubtedly in this Vietnamese field, presently successfully trying to run Vietnam and probably the war themselves.

The U.S. has generally followed the East, Gabriel claimed, and now must try to keep the door to China open.

Gabriel concluded his lecture, he stressed his opinion that Nixon cannot seriously be seeking world peace. The U.S. is still burdened with Vietnam, not while Korea is divided and fighting on its border, not while South Africa is still enslaved in racism and certainly not while the major nations are ready with the power to destroy the world.

Wonderful as this trip may seem, Nixon’s trip to China, we are bound to come to the conclusion that when we speak of world peace, it is not so.

Gabriel finally stated that new patterns of peace are coming from science, science is universal, Gabriel claimed, and continues in hopes in Science, Ecology, and Interpersonal Relations with a strong focus on ecology in Vietnam, not while Korea is divided and fighting on its border, not while South Africa is still enslaved in racism and certainly not while the major nations are ready with the power to destroy the world.

The ocean are already uniting nations. World peace cannot simply occur through agreements between the U.S. and China. It must occur through a world movement, between major powers. According to Gabriel, the machinery for this world peace is already established in the U.N. Gabriel said that peace is not a matter of police keeping, but rather, a matter of people building, nation building, peace is the “positive aspect of life itself.”

Maharishi to Lecture on Transcendental Meditation

Transcendental Meditation is taught by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi which brings to the practitioners’ life a fourth level of consciousness: Wakesfulness, Waking, Dreaming and Transcendental Meditation. The American students International Meditation Society is presenting a lecture on this technique.

Transcendental Meditation is based on the mind’s natural ability to move towards greater and greater happiness and pleasure. You experience this natural tendency when you have been studying boring material and then down the other end of the corridor you hear strains of Neil Young’s new album. Your mind instinctively moves naturally to this music.

During meditation the mind’s normal levels of consciousness and more subtle fields of consciousness are made available to the meditator. Until this happens, the impactive force by force of the second has changed the surface of crisis.

Of all forms of life that ever existed on this planet, ninety-nine percent are now extinct. They became extinct because of organization at Bridgewater State College.

The Environmental Action Organization at Bridgewater State College was specifically designed to educate people, the students and public, on the environmental problems. To do this we must accomplish two things. The first is to inform the people what the problems are. Second is to educate people, the students and public, on the environmental problems. To do this we must accomplish two things.
SNEA-LARGEST ORGANIZATION AT BSC

The largest organization on the BSU campus is undoubtedly the SNEA, the Student National Educational Association. Claiming almost 300 members here on campus, the SNEA asks of its people only that they have an interest in education. A dues-paying organization, the SNEA returns many services for the money it takes in. The portion of the dues allotted to the national organization pays for the members' copy of TODAY'S EDUCATION as well as for films and other research material made available to local SNEA's.

Another part of a member's dues is given to the state SNEA organization which provides each paying member with a copy of MASSACHUSETTS TEACHER as well as supplying each local organization with additional research material on jobs and trends in education. BSC's SNEA is funded by the remainder of the dues.

This year the SNEA created an executive board of 15 including the 5 main officers; the executive board serves to involve more members actively in the organization as well as to aid the officers in the activities of the SNEA. The executive board, except for the 5 officers, is chosen each semester; it includes as representative from each class. The officers of this year's SNEA are: President, Irene Potts; Vice President, Lynne Dunne; Treasurer, Jean Weber; Recording Secretary, Bob Bergquist; and Corresponding Secretary, Linda Nascimento. Professor Wolpert is the organization's advisor.

Like almost every other BSC club, the SNEA has difficulty obtaining and maintaining an active membership. The club keeps its members informed with frequent newsletters but the typical turn out at a meeting is about 15 members. President Irene Potts suggested that this shortage of active members is probably due to inexperience and a lack of time for the students.

As far as the size and political power of the SNEA is concerned, nationwide, it is the largest dues-paying organization in the country; the SNEA has 100,000 members and is located in every state except NEVADA. NEA, the parent organization, is itself the largest professional organization in the world having a membership of 1.6 million. The SNEA was active politically in pushing for the 11 year old vote. It also takes a sponsor of a book on student rights. The SNEA, also active politically, is presently supporting an early school year bill which if passed will allow 12,000 teachers to retire early. This is bound to open up new job opportunities. National and state-wide SNEA organizations are also researching present presidential possibilities for the '72 election. BSC's SNEA is not planning to research the can-can obtaining a point that will use the results of other SNEA groups in order to inform its own members of the educational positions of various politicians.

The SNEA was created nationally in 1968, its activities and powers died for a period of time but, in the last two or three years it has risen to a new strength. Basically, the purpose of SNEA at BSC is to provide a chance for student interested in education to meet and talk. SNEA attempts to help its members decide whether they want to enter the field of education or not, if not, SNEA can also provide alternative information on what its members can do with their degrees in other fields. SNEA keeps its members informed on what's going on in the field of education.

Presently, the SNEA is planning and making preparations for the visit of superintendents which will occur in March. The superintendents will be interviewing prospective teachers Wednesday afternoon, this schedule will allow student teachers to be interviewed at night while the superintendents will have a chance to observe the BSC students and campus during the day. The visit, estimated to cost 15,000, will be sponsored jointly by the SNEA and the college campus, if possible no charge will be made however, if necessary it may be necessary to charge students a registration fee in order to cover expenses.

Presently, SNEA is participating with and for students in informing them about the newest educational trends as well as working for education politically.

BSC'S CLUB OF THE WEEK

The BUDDY CLUB of BRIDGEWATER STATE COLLEGE was founded in September of last year. Its primary purpose is "to be a coordinate agent for service to the most vulnerable members of society: the very young and the very old". Volunteers are channeled through the BUDDY CLUB to other service organizations.

CHILDREN'S PROTECTIVE SERVICE, DIVISION OF CHILD GUARDIANSHIP, SELF HELP, INC., YOUTH REPRESENTATION BUREAU, JUVENILE PROBATION DEPARTMENT.

The BUDDY CLUB here has no volunteers for nursing here but has a volunteer program organization for senior citizens has not yet gotten under way.

A big brother/little sister has one to one relationship with his little buddy. The child's parents have to sign a release allowing their child to participate in the buddy program. With the exception of the Taunton Drop-In Center and (Brookline's) Self Help, Inc., volunteers usually work closely with a social worker and a psychologist.

Parent's reactions to the buddy program are usually good. You, as a big brother/sister might tutor a child or take your buddy out once or twice a week for an ice cream cone or to the park or a movie. Fifty percent or more of the children the buddy club works with are from low income families. Some of these children have never seen a movie or been to a museum. For some, a big brother/sister is a friend to talk to.

The Taunton Drop-In Center, organized by Joe Monaghan is open twice a week. There are recreational facilities: pool table, assorted board games, table hockey, books to read, arts and crafts and volunteer tutors and counselors. A one to one relationship here is practically impossible and as Jenny Ames says, "It's a place for the kids to goof off and do whatever the want instead of on the streets." Kids anywhere from 7-15 years or more and everything and everybody is welcome at once. Kathy Gragnani put it well, "It's pretty wild."

Mr. Bob Quinn from Children's Protection Service in Brockton and Mrs. McCool from Youth Resources have both been guest speakers at buddy club meetings. Dr. Greene of the Sociology Department here at Bridgewater is the club's advisor.

There is much work to be done: new programs to be organized, field trips to be planned, more trips to be planned, more trips to be planned, more trips to be planned. Resources have both been guest speakers at buddy club meetings.

Ancient Civilizations

Commit Ecological Suicide

Science Digest. In several cases of "deprivation dwarfnsm," where a child has been mistreated by his parents and he was abnormally small for his age, tests showed no secretion of growth hormone from the pitutary gland. Deficient growth is only one of the defects caused by an abnormal child-parent relationship. Others include bizarre behavior, retarded speech, shyness and temper tantrums. Anthropologists are digging ancient ruins to discover what happened in the extinct seven-foot prehistoric men of the Columbian Calusa Indians of Florida. The few facts presently available reveal that the Calusas numbered about 2,000 on or near Florida's Marco Island. They had a plentiful food supply and sophisticated art forms. The March issue of Science Digest reports that wars with the Spanish, slavery, while man's diseases, or a combination of these factors, may have been responsible for the disappearance of this tribe of Indians from the Everglades. Two ancient civilizations, Sardis and Tikal, appear to be the best victims of ecological suicide, reports the March Science Digest.

Sociologist Gerald Olson read their ruins and discovered that poor planning practices, slouch and tumbled down buildings caused flooding, erosion and loss of valuable vegetation, soil fertility. Dr. Olson warns that we must learn from the successes and failures of those before us that prosperity are costly and management go hand in hand.

Q. Request a report on Radio Station WUSC. Present grop、
A. The station's call letters will be WUSC, but will be WBMX-P. It will operate at a frequency of about 93.7 MHz. Mrs. Mooney, director of the Student Union reports that the contract has already been signed with General Advertiser. All the equipment is being assembled at the General Advertiser, and will then be installed at the Student Union. Mrs. Mooney anticipates that the entire installation will be completed in about two months. Then the station will be tested by the FCC, checked by the Donaldson Committee. The station will have a power of 10 watts and a range of 3 to 5 miles. FCC regulations require a first class license be issued to the station at all times. The station will be fully operational before the end of this semester.

The tentative schedule of operation is from 7 to 9 A.M., 11:30 to 12 A.M., and 5 to 11 P.M., with morning and afternoon classes being run in the operation of the equipment.

Q. When is the proposed BSC football stadium due to be completed?
A. The proposed football "stadium" will not be a stadium as such. Mr. Lehman says it will be a football field with permanent seating on one side for about 40,000, and on the other side, there will be a portable bleacher for about 800. Barring all unforeseen circumstances including labor strikes, the field should be added sometime this year; but the field itself be settled before football can be played on it. Therefore it should be ready for the 1973 season.

Q. Is it possible for an Elementary Education student to take summer courses at BSC, and graduate in 3 or 3 1/2 years instead of 4?
A. Yes, it has always been college policy that students in good academic standing can take 18 credits a semester. Dr. Dickinson, Chairman of the Elementary Education Department, says that continuing students can almost all of the education courses during the summer. By taking 12 hours a semester during the spring and summer semester, and two each semester for 4 1/2 years, a student might complete the 4 1/2 years of the Sophomore and Junior years, earn an extra 22 credits and be earned. During first semester of Junior year, the student would get a Junior professional semester courses, and second semester, Senior professional courses, would be taken.

If this schedule were followed, you would graduate in August of the junior year. Going to school for 3 years straight takes a lot of courage. Good Luck!

Q. What happened to the bells in Boyden Hall?
A. Lou Perry said the chimes were turned off for Christmas vacation. When the chimes were turned on after vacation, they didn't work. Repairing chimes is a very specialized field, and the keys for the Music Practice Rooms, the bike keys, and Lecture tickets can also be found at the Union Desk. Stamps, both 8¢ and Airmail 1¢ are also available along with Student Union lost and found.

If there are any suggestions, please contact the Director of the Office.

We hope that everyone will avail themselves of this new service that is being offered.

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season, the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet. This diet was devised by a famous doctor in the 1960s. The basis of the diet is chemical food science. Reducing, you keep "full"—no water or stay at home.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If you weren't the Woman's Ski Team wouldn't be per- forming. Right? Get yourself the same book the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks.

This year out as a reminder. Send only $1.00 (1/35 for cash register) — cash is O.K. to the Ski Team Diet, P.O. Box 15495, Dept. A T, San Diego, Calif., 92111.

Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!
To The Freshman Class:

In the past seven members of this class voted for and elected four delegates: Gayle, Mary Kris Buckley, Brad Manter, and Terry Thomas, and a class president, Carol Thomas, all of which sit on the council. Although the freshmen are new students of the college, we feel that many do not know what this office could and should mean. Let us consider that you have been elected as students of Bridgewater State College. As such, the freshmen must determine the standards of thought and procedures of the S.G.A. Council and must work toward the good of this college by extending the opportunities to the students.

The freshmen are the largest group of students in the college and are the ones who will be the leaders of the S.G.A. Council in the future. As such, the freshmen must take an active role in the S.G.A. Council and help to make it successful.

Thank you for your support.

Sincerely, Carol Thomas.

ROCK & ROLL WITH THE J. GILS BAND

Text and photos by Brian McKee

This made the seventeenth time I have seen the J. Gils Band over the past two years, and I can say they have changed that much. They still open their set with their instrumental “Son-Case” and close with John Lee Hooker’s “Serve You Right To Suffer,” but it is between them still hold on to that style that has given them such success. From the moment they get on stage they take hold of the audience and keep them moving for the whole night, not waiting even one second of their set.

Last Sunday at Brooklyn High they did the same old thing, they just played some good old rock and roll. They went through all their better songs, “First I Look at the Pure,” “Homework,” “Looking for a Love,” “Whammer Jammer” and about seven others. Each one gave them a chance to show off their musical abilities, without any one dominating the others. Geils is a good guitarist but not the best, although he can sustain a single note longer than anyone I have seen. Their image has also changed. Geils now has his hair cut in a short one and minus his glasses, drummer Stephen Blandy wears black Studs but pasts complete with suspenders and bass player Dave Klein wore an orange pair of knickers with velvet tails. Peter Wolf has remained the madman he was formerly running and leaning all over the stage, dressed in black and sunglasses. But the J. Gills Band should never have to change because everything they have done so far has been right.

Over all it was a good concert & I’m just too bad they didn’t have a WOEX disc jockey for the MC.

'SOCIETY EXPECTS TOO MUCH OF HIGHER EDUCATION,'
- ALAN PIFER

Declaring that society expects too much of higher education, Alan Pifer, president of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, has proposed that colleges and universities be relieved of responsibilities for "reluctant" students who enroll because they have nothing better to do.

Serving such students is "cruel at odds with many of higher education's other functions," Mr. Pifer said last week in his foundation's annual report.

He called on "the nation to create new opportunities and new low-cost 'national service' programs that would appeal to 'socially certified' students." Compared with $4,000 a year for college undergraduates, the proposal was part of a broad assessment by Mr. Pifer of the relationship between society and higher education. In general he said that the pressures on the colleges and universities had become "intolerable" and that alternatives were needed to "accomplish some of the tasks that higher education now performs."

Admits Cost Is an Obstacle

He described the enrolling of reluctant students—"perhaps in the hundreds of thousands"—as a "cruel" function. "It consumes scarce resources," he said, "creates institutions...so massive that they are virtually unmanageable, and creates conditions on campus which impede the progress of serious students."

On the other hand, Mr. Pifer acknowledged that there would be problems associated with providing special opportunities to the college experience.

He said the new programs would have to "at least be productive of society, as well as to the individual," and no more costly than going to college.

The jobs would have to be new jobs, he indicated, since simply turning many more young people out into the labor market would swell the unemployment ranks.

In the case of national service, Mr. Pifer acknowledged that costs would be formidable problem. He cited annual costs of nearly $50,000 per Peace Corps volunteer and $70,000 per Vista volunteer, compared with $4,000 a year for college undergraduates.

Perceiving he said of his call for reducing the pressures on higher education: "It means some new ideas that no one has as yet even thought of." Mr. Pifer mentioned without necessarily advocating these possibilities: Tightly linking the college undergraduate course of study to three years. This is a major recommendation of the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education, to which the Carnegie Corporation has given more than $5 million since 1967.

Tightening up the provision of a "talent pool for other institutions, principally government and industry," at the time of faculty surplus. Mr. Pifer mentioned the "Middle-Class Certifications" program of providing options outside college for "unwilling students" who might be reduced in higher-education's role in providing "social certification for middle-class status," Mr. Pifer said.

DISECTIBLE CODE

The proposal was part of a broad assessment by Mr. Pifer of the relationship between society and higher education. In general he said that the pressures on the colleges and universities had become "intolerable" and that alternatives were needed to "accomplish some of the tasks that higher education now performs."

Mr. Pifer observed that higher education's role in national service programs is being challenged by minority groups and the poor. He described the "Societies" expectations as "too much of higher education."

TRINITY SQUARE TO STAGE SCHOOL FOR WIVES

According to director Adrian Hall, the show is "double cast" with two first-rate companies alternating performances both at home and away. He stated that the aim of this touring production is to introduce Trinity Square to a potential audience here and outside the immediate tri-state area—Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Connecticut—so that they will be aware of the company's work when it moves downtown into Providence's Majestic Theatre next season.

Trinity Square is the first regional American theatre to present the new Richard Wilbur translation of SCHOOL FOR WIVES since its award-winning production in New York City during the 1970-71 season.
