Moves to Old Sturbridge

Twenty-four Bridgewater State College student teachers are developing new ways of making the study of history more interesting and useful to modern children.

Each student is creating his own "Learning Activity Package" (LAP) based on experiences during a recent three-day workshop at Old Sturbridge Village where the students made rice pudding and butter, learned the methods of fireplace cooking and studied farm tools and family life of more than 150 years ago.

Armed with cameras, tape recorders and notebooks, the Bridgewater seniors also spent time in the Village gathering photographs and data. These materials and experiences will be organized into a learning Activity Package for use in classroom teaching of social studies to elementary school children.

"The Learning Activity Package," explained Professor Gerald J. Thornell, supervisor of elementary education at the College, "is used to better teach and better illustrate the experiences the students have had here, to help make the study of history more interesting for elementary school children, and finally to have the children visit the Village."

Under the direction of Miss Nancy Osterud, Assistant for Museum Education at the Village, and Nathan Randall of the museum education staff, the students were shown how to use the museum as an historical source.

Their instruction included an introduction to tools in the museum's farm studio and experimentation with fireplace cooking in the Village tavern followed by intensive study of home and family life, daily patterns of activity and work roles during the early nineteenth century.

Miss Osterud and Randall took the students, in two groups, through the same type of educational experience that the Village is now offering to selected school groups. Afterwards, students reacted to their experience by analyzing the teaching strategies involved as well as the concepts taught, and discussing the contribution that this approach could make to the design of their own Learning Activity Packages.

Professor Thornell's decision to set up a workshop this year was "based on our positive experience last year," he remarked. The twelve students who participated last year developed an experimental filmstrip which illustrated farm activities at the Village.

"We were very successful in getting children excited about the activities," he noted. "And, every one of the twelve students who attended the workshop last year, all of them now teaching in the area, has used the materials they put together last year with tremendous success."

In speaking to the COMMENT, Professor Thornell wanted to thank the S.N.E.A. for their contribution of $100 to the project.

Emos Dominate Intramurals

It has been the general consensus that this year's intramural program has been greatly improved over previous years. But with the lack of better facilities there are still some outstanding flaws. The football program placed at night under the poor lighting in back of the gym. Even with this drawback there are many exciting games with the Chiefs coming out winners.

Basketball has always been the main stay of intramurals. This year was no exception. Again the Chiefs emerged victors without some stiff competition from both the Fiddle Fans and the Emos. In the semi-final game the second basket by Ron Daley gave the Chiefs a one point victory and a date with the Emos in a best of three final series. The first two games were both decided by one point, both featuring bag and lead by the Emos. After finding themselves 18 points落后 the Emos rallied back to within one point with 11 seconds but the Chiefs held on for a well earned victory. The next game was very similar with the Emos pulling it out in the final seconds. The last game, however, was a different story. Showing poise and discipline the Chiefs methodically destroyed the Emos by 10 points. John Birch led the way with outstanding two way play. The last two major sports, Street Hockey and Softball, are not finish as of yet. These sports are the two most hard by lack of space and fields. Street Hockey is the sport of the future. Growing rapidly into a 30 team league this year which knows how much it will grow given the proper space.

Women’s Basketball at BSC: Always A Crowd Pleaser Here!

Women’s basketball is a very popular sport at Bridgewater State as one could tell by the crowd always present at the home games. The team rarely let the crowd down, winning 6 of their 9 seasonal games under the guidance of Coach Judy Schneider. However, it wasn’t only the victories that made the games so exciting but rather the exceptional play of every individual on the squad.

Unfortunately, the team is losing four valuable members by graduation. Hopefully the gap will be filled by the underclassmen, one of whom is junior Cecile DeMarco. During the first few games, Cecile proved points down the line as she became one of the high scorers for BSC. Her outside shots never ceased to please the crowd and rebounding was always sure to be welcomed.

Another valuable junior was forward Cindy O’Callahan. Cindy’s consistency in sinking baskets and rebounding was a great asset to the team.

Coach Brown then suggested that he felt one person, a student, should be placed in charge of all the whole sports publicity set-up and be responsible for delegating other students to cover the various athletic events on campus and off. It would be his job as overseer of the whole system, to see to it that all sports publicity matters were handled properly.

The suggestion was favorably received and a special meeting was held on when an official form of the system was to be arranged so that the best qualified and most dependable student be selected. Nothing definite was established, however.

There was also some discussion on the construction of an office building that could adequately meet the needs of the sports publicity headquarters. This office will tentatively house any sports information office which might be set up.

Coach Yeskovetz suggested that some “eye catching” sports information station be purchased to enhance the publicity set-up at Bridgewater. He stated that he felt it might more effectively attract students working in sports publicity, if there are still some outstanding flaws. Jim Doody then pointed out that many students are inconsistent and unpredictable, through their own fault but due to the fact that they are students and have academic priority to meet. All parties mutually agreed that the ideal system for an adequate sports publicity program should be placed on academic priority to meet. They are students and have their academic priority to meet.

Women’s basketball was played against Boston State where she scored 13 points in BSC’s romp over Boston State 82-40. Perhaps one of the best ballplayers BSC will ever have, Karen McHale, scored an average of 13 points a game and against Springfield she exploded for 25 points. Karen’s great offensive moves enabled her to get around the defense easily and go up to score. She was also a great rebounder for BSC and was frequently missed next year.

At the guard position, Annette DiMarco who played good basketball for BSC. Her ability at ball-handling and setting up plays made her invaluable to the team. The squad was also aided greatly by five underclassmen, one of whom was junior Cecile DeMarco. On Tuesday evening, April 11, a special meeting of the Men’s Athletic Association was held to discuss sports publicity at Bridgewater State. The MAA had invited numerous outside parties who were directly concerned with putting on sports at Bridgewater State. The following sports were represented by their respective coaches: Football, swimming, hockey and baseball. There was also a representative from the WRA present at the meeting.

Students attending the meeting who were directly concerned with the sports publicity program at Bridgewater State included: Jim Doody, who has served at statistician and writer for football and hockey, Dana Pierce, Larry Jackson and Dave Bainione all photographers.

President Peter Higgins briefly discussed the inadequacies of the present sports publicity system especially on campus sports news with regard to the COMMEN'T. However, after discussion it was generally agreed upon to solve the problem of a lack of personnel with interest in sports, was the chief cause for the inadequacy of the present on-campus systems.

There was a general consensus that students were capable of doing the publicity, even when being compensated for their work, are just too inconsistent. Jim Doody then pointed out that many times students are inconsistent and unpredictable, through their own fault but due to the fact that they are students and have academic priority to meet. Field Hockey 7-0-1 in Regular Season

"It was a fantastic season. We went undefeated until the Massachusetts State Tournament when we lost by only one goal to Worcester State. They are an excellent group of girls and although we are losing some valuable seniors the potential of the underclassmen is great."

This was the reply of Miss Hurst, coach of the Bridgewater State College Field Hockey Team, after being asked for her opinion of the 1972 season. Miss Hurst coached the team to a 7-0-1 seasonal record and by the end of the tournament the squad boasted a 8-1-1 slate.

The field hockey team of ’72 was a strong nucleus composed of an explosive offense and a solid defense. From Becky Mills at center forward to Cathy Burt in the goal, there was not a weak position on the team. The girls worked together beautifully, perfecting their strategy with every encounter. Their persistence enabled them to beat such teams as U. Mass. (3-0) and Springfield (3-1) for the first time. They also blanked Salem State (2-0), Worcester State (3-0), and Westfield State (5-0) in their quest for a successful season.

The strength of the team as a whole was obviously due to the ability and determination of every player on the squad. The members of this year’s squad were as follows:

Becky Mills, a sophomore, who played center forward and proved to be a valuable scorer for the offensive unit. Becky’s ability to dodge her opponents and hit strong drives enabled her to score frequently and set up others on her wing.

Right inner Eileen McKenna, another sophomore, whose perseverance and agility caused her to be invaluable to the forward line.

Eileen’s goals were often the spark for BSC and her return next year will surely be welcomed.

Chris Lodi, who played left inner and will be returning next year as a senior. Chris’ speed allowed her to get by the opposition easily and her quick, strong drives often foiled the defending goal.

Senior Sharon Reed at right wing, whose strong determination and accuracy at dribbling the ball in the alley. Also playing the right wing position was freshman Elaine Fisher who showed great potential for future years.

Kathy Seaborn, known as “Bomb” to her teammates, who played a strong left wing position using her vicious drive to set up several goals. She will be sorely missed next year by graduation but hopefully replaced by an underclassman.

Upcoming junior Linda Sears had a great season at her halfback position. Her quick defensive moves prevented the opponent from penetrating deep into the BSC zone and her strong flicks helped to set up forwards in a scoring position.

MVP in ’70, center halfback Paula Gentry who will be graduating this year. Paula’s consistency at backing up the forward line was an essential factor in their success.

The 1971 MVP and captain of next year’s Varsity team, junior Justice Macalban, who starred at her right halfback position. Justice’s consistent play at defending and of assisting the offense in their scoring bids stems from her great ability as a field hockey player. Her return next year as captain should be beneficial to the entire squad.

Manager and left fullback Sandra Tarnakiewicz, who played a solid defensive position. Her fast dribbling and ability to clear the ball from her own area never saved goalie Cathy Burt from making the stop herself.

Barbara Carreiro, who worked ideally with Sandra at the right fullback position by spotting the ball from opposing players and hitting a long drive helped BSC to regain control of the play.

And the last player in the lineup, who often proved to be the most important, goalie and captain Cathy Burt. Cathy recorded 5 shutouts when she allowed only 6 goals in 19 games giving her a 0.6 average of goals against an excellent tribute to a fine goalie and leader of the team.

The ’72 team will face quite a challenge in matching the achievements of the ’71 team, but with the return of several experienced players plus the potential of the junior varsity, they stand a good chance in having a successful season.

Gymnastic Team Goes Undeafeated in 1972!!!

The women’s intercollegiate gymnastic team went undefeated for their 2nd season under the supervision of Mrs. Kathy Etas.

The team consisted of three graduating seniors: Joanne Gatz, co-captain Murid Cerrigan and June Zago; one junior: Nancy Burke; five sophomores: co-captain Chris Aries, Wendy Milne, Janet McGarry, Naysa Miller, and Nancy Sjostrom; and three freshmen: Chris Kennedy, Debbie Lindstedt, and Kathy Oeter.

The team’s record for the season was 8-0. It is a winning team with great potential. With most of the top performers returning, the outlook for next season is good. High scorer in the majority of the meets was sophomore Naysa Miller with an average of about 7.9 on her floor exercise routines.

Their season consisted of three away meets and two at home. They were: Keene State on Jan. 30 at Keene, a tri-meet with Plymouth and Linden State Colleges at Plymouth on Feb. 17 a tri-meet with Westfield and Salem State at Westfield on March 1, March 8 at home with Northeastern University, and March 23 a tri-meet with Rhode Island College-Uri and Boston State at home. The team won every meet by about ten points—even in their toughest competitor, Salem State.

The girls are looking forward to repeating their current undefeated record next year and in the years to come.

Lacrosse vs Wheaton

The girls lacrosse team was victorious over Westfield by a score of 13-0 for its 6th win with only 2 losses.

Joyce Domingos was the winning pitcher giving up only 1 hit and 4 walks and striking out 2.

Leading the BSC attack were Snissy O’Callahan and Elaine Dunn with 4 and 3 hits respectively. Also contributing were Karen McHugh, Karen Butler, Joyce Domingos, Sue Baptista, Mal Lumi and Sheri Webb with 2 hits each.

The team now has a record of 6 and 2 and will move on to Westfield on May 15 and the first game against Springfield on the 10th. Both are home games.

BSC’s Volleyball Team first Winning Season!!!

The Bridgewater women’s volleyball team was able to put together the power volleyball skills of ’71-72. The varsity group won six matches and lost only three.

Two highlights of the season were the victories over Northeastern university, “N” and “15-5, and Boston State which went three games 11-15, 15-3, and 15-15.

Freshman player Sherry Sullivan provided a real spark for the team as Leslie Gibbons who played well in the clutch situation and served as the team’s “spark plug.”

The senior class also had quite a challenge in matching the achievements of the ’71 team, but with the return of several experienced players plus the potential of the junior varsity, they stand a good chance in having a successful season.

1971 SQUAD-A Building Year

The 1971 football squad was a very young and inexperienced team with only eleven veterans returning. The squad was composed of 25 freshmen, 3 sophomores, 6 juniors and 6 seniors.

Captain Phil LeFavor showed fine leadership in his own unselfish and unassuming manner. Although hampered by injuries Phil played every game and steered the young team.

Injuries and boys leaving school hampered the team especially on defense. The loss of Senior Safety Ed Thorton stunted the Curry game hurt the secondary a great deal. Two starting line backers- John Egan and Dennis Downey left school early in the season and this weakened our interior defense.

The attitude of the team was good and the success that they did achieve was due to this never say die feeling.

The highlight of the season was the 57-13 victory over Maine Maritime Academy and the 3-1 Conference record. Offensively the Vince Hickey and Rich Roath passing combination broke all the school records. Both boys were named All-Conference and All-Region.

The team's MVP award for his play's quarterback Vince Hickey. Hickey completed 107 of 183 passes and was named All-Region. The Bears' junior quarterback, who broke all the small college passers. Richard Roath was also named to the New England Football Conference All-Star Team and the AP All-New England squad.

It marked the first time here at BSC that a Bridgewater State star has been nationally ranked and honored. The Bear's junior quarterback Vin Hickey, who passed for nearly 2,000 yards in 8 games was also nationally ranked. The fiery wide receiver was named MVP award for his play last season. Some of the records Rich Roath will graduate holding included: most passes caught in one game, in one season and lifetime. He also holds records for most touchdowns for the pass in one game, most yards gained by the pass in one game, in one season and lifetime.

The glue filled flanker finished this season with 43 reception and 725 yards and carried the ball four times on the reverse for 19 yards and two touchdowns.

As Coach Pete Mazzarotto told the BROCKTON ENTERPRISE after the Bear's triumph in the season's finals at Western Conn., "He's been quite a ball player, quite a ball player." He certainly has.

1972- Looking Ahead

Barring unforeseen academic problems the Bridgewater State College "Bears" should have nine letterwinners returning for the 1972 gridiron season. Offensively the attack should be centered around the strong arm of senior quarterback and co-captain Vince Hickey. Hickey completed over fifty percent of his passes and was ranked in the top thirty among small college passers. Richard Roath who broke all the school passing receiving records will be expected, but returning are three lettermen receivers- Larry Porter, Jim Hackenson and Tony Salerno.

Chris Logan (215) will return at Center. Tom Perry (280) has the potential to be an outstanding small college offensive lineman. Defensively the "Bears" will be led by Co-Captain Ed Cauley (253) from his outside linebacker position. The secondary will be led by Bob Gross (165) a sophomore who showed great promise last year. Al Billington (215) a sophomore should anchor the defensive line.

In order to win the "Bears" must establish their running game and do a better job of defending their opponents running game. The "Bears" should be able to pass the ball with their wide-open passing game and the arm of Vince Hickey.

Bears Baseballers in Race for Crown
Future Bright for Next Season

Bridgewater State is presently tussling up in a three-way scramble for the championship. Scoring up with Salem State and North Adams, the Bears have a doubleheader with North Adams and two with Salem State. At press time, the Vikings from Salem State were in sole possession of the lead, but the split between Salem and North Adams will be decisive. However, North Adams and Salem State are clashing in a crucial conference double header Sunday at Bridgewater. The Bears, providing they sweep their double header Sunday can still sneak back into first place if the North Adams Moths can whip the Vikings at least once.

Here's how the standings look at press time:

Salem State - 9
Bridgewater - 10
North Adams - 10

No matter what happens to BSC's baseball team during the remainder of the season, they have a record to be proud of, and that is their record of 9-9 to 9-9. The Bears are still in contention for the conference title, and there is no reason to believe that they will not be able to hold their own in the final three games.

Future Bright for Next Season

The Bears have a bright future ahead of them. With the departure of John McCarthy, the team will have to depend on the leadership of their assistant, Jim McCarthy. The Bears will be looking to the young talent of the team to provide the leadership that will be necessary to carry the team to the top of the league.

Tennis: A Love Affair

This year's tennis season has been marked by a number of outstanding performances. The Bears have been particularly strong, and there is every reason to believe that they will be able to maintain their form throughout the season.

The team has been led by the outstanding performance of John McCarthy, who has been consistently one of the top players in the league. McCarthy's skills have been evident in a number of matches, and he has been able to produce some outstanding performances.

The Bears have also been able to count on the contributions of a number of other players, including John O'Leary, who has been consistently one of the top players in the league. O'Leary's skills have been evident in a number of matches, and he has been able to produce some outstanding performances.

A new Bridgewater tradition was born Monday evening, May 15th when the College held its first Honors Day Dinner. The dinner, held in the Student Union Ballroom, was attended by President and Mrs. Rondileau, Dean Ellen M. Shea, who presided, the Deans of the College, several faculty members, the senior class (72) officers, and the recipients and their parents.

Dean Shea explained the history of Honors Day. The first award, the College presented was the Hill-Ross Award. The Class of 1935 instituted the award after the death of two outstanding members of the class, Lt. Paul Hill and Capt. Donald Ross. The award was first presented at Commencement.

The idea of giving awards caught on and the number of awards to be presented at graduation soon multiplied. Dr. Maxwell, President of the College before Dr. Rondileau, decided to separate Honors Day was established with a full academic procession.

When the College was smaller it was fairly easy to fit the faculty and seniors and a good number of underclassmen in Horace Mann Auditorium. However, in the past few years the faculty and seniors alone almost filled Horace Mann. Because of this space problem the underclassmen were unfortunately prevented from participating, except for those underclassmen who were receiving awards.

Last year the Honors ceremony was held in the Student Union Auditorium. Although there was plenty of room for underclassmen only a handful attended.

This year's Commencement Committee examined the problem and after polling the seniors decided to divide the awards into categories. Senior awards will be given to an outstanding student for excellence in the field of English selected by a committee from the English Department.

Campus Jobs For Next Fall Available

Those students interested in applying for jobs on campus, which begining next fall should apply before leaving for summer vacation. Applications may be obtained in the Financial Area Office in Boyden Hall for the following student employment areas: The Bookstore, Interstate United, Library, Physical Education Department, and the Student Union. It is important to apply before leaving for the summer as the applications will be distributed to the employing departments during the summer and students who are going to be hired will be contacted by the employer before school reopens in the fall. Students should also reapply each year, whether the person is presently working or not, because an application is applicable only for the time period of one academic year.

Student employment on the Bridgewater campus is a growing area as there are presently over 400 students employed throughout the institution. This year there were well over 900 applications for the jobs available and many students were able to finance their education this year via their on-campus jobs. However, because applications far exceed the number of jobs, it is important to follow the correct application procedures to insure your own best chances. Don’t wait, apply now!

Archaeological Excavation Program Opens

A prehistoric Indian site as old as the First Kingdom of Egypt will be the location of the second annual Archaeological Field School, sponsored by the Department of Anthropology at Bridgewater State College. Professor James Mueller will supervise the teaching and direction of the excavation program, which will take place in either the Berkley-Dighton or the Narragansett area. The project takes place outdoors five days a week during the month of June.

The ‘primary purpose of the Field School is to teach students the excavation techniques used by archaeologists all over the world. The program also attempts to discover the environmental relationship between man and nature in southeastern Massachusetts about 4,000 years ago. Students earn six credits for the course by registering at 9:00 a.m. on June 1st at the Boyden demonstration room for An 429 and An 428. The cost of the course is $15.00 for Bridgewater day students and $30.00 for Continuing Students.

Interested students should contact Professor James Mueller or Professor George Horner at Bridgewater State College (BSC) Extension 6164, 6165, or 6166 for additional details and for an orientation meeting.

Sullivan Speaks On Employment

On Thursday May 11, 1972 at 1:00 pm in the Student Demonstration Room Room one hundred and sixty students were present to hear a presentation by Mr. William Sullivan Director of Professional Services with the Division of Employment Security, Boston, Mass.

Mr. Sullivan spoke on the opportunities in general that are available and also pointed out some areas of employment where there have reached their saturation point. He made note of the problem of the intercommunication processes that is set up on a nationwide, as well as on a state-wide scale for employment operation for employment security.

He stressed that many positions are still available in the following fields: Health, Engineering, Library, Languages, Mathematics, and Sciences, and in the following areas of Education: Special Education, Industrial Arts, Physical Education, and Home Economics.

It is the hope of the Guidance Department that this event will be the forerunner of an annual career day program here at Bridgewater State College and that in the future representatives from Industry, Government, and other areas of employment will participate in a program designed to offer Senior students first-hand information about the general placement future outlook.

The program was sponsored by Professor Philip R. Dooley, Guidance Director and was assisted by Mr. David Morwick, Financial Aid Officer here at the college.

Carver Pond Clean-up

The Cleaning Up of Carver Pond last Saturday, May 6, was a tremendous success, thanks to the twenty-five odd people who volunteered their time during the course of the day. The quantity of trash removed was incredible. The bulk of litter consisted mainly of beer cans, paper, and glass. Some broken glass remains in a few small areas, only because of the impracticality of concentrating on removing it. About ninety large plastic bags of litter were removed from the pond, along with many more, very large articles (old stoves, car seats, etc.). Lou Perry and his ground crew are to be commended for their valuable assistance in the effort. Ruth and crew showed admirable enthusiasm and it is hoped that there will be a need to give the area with trash barrels in the near future.

It is now up to the students of Bridgewater State College and the people of the neighboring areas to maintain the pond as a worthwhile natural setting, as an area world-traveling, and for an enjoyable relaxing place. Each and every individual is obliged to preserve as much of nature and wildlife as possible in order to inhibit the rate of obliteration. Please! Keep Carver Pond CLEAN! David Longland
