Dear Dean:

This is in response to your letter of February 8th, in which you inquired about the foreign language requirements at Bridgewater. I am writing to inform you that I believe the policy is effective and that I have no reservations about its constitutionality. Your letter stated that I have spoken with many of the department heads, and I can assure you that I have spoken with all of them, as well as several other faculty members. I do not believe that there is a problem with the foreign language requirement, and I am confident that it will continue to be effective in the future.

The experience of other colleges, including those that have recently adopted foreign language requirements, suggests that they are effective. The students are generally satisfied with the requirement, and they see it as a valuable part of their education. The requirement is also consistent with the Board of Trustees' policy of requiring foreign language study, and it is consistent with the goals of the institution.

The Board of Trustees has adopted a policy of requiring foreign language study for all students, and this policy has been in effect for many years. The requirement is not burdensome for most students, and it is an integral part of the college experience. The students are generally satisfied with the requirement, and they see it as an important part of their education.

Letter to The Editor

The Campus Comment, Bridgewater State College
Dear Editor:

The following is a letter to the students which I would like to have published in the Campus Comment.

On behalf of the many faculty and many administrators of the College who are in attendance at the recent hearing with the Bridgewater Town Selectmen concerning the application for the Seekonk Deer lease, I would like to express my pride that all of us play in the constituency the students at the hearing. We heard many favorable comments from newspapermen in attendance concerning the behavior and spirit of the students. In particular, we would like to commend Karen Pownell and Cecilia Dellavance for the excellent leadership they have demonstrated throughout the proceedings.

I am sure that your behavior will be a significant factor in our future as we plan the plans for our College's future. I hope that you can help others by inviting them to come here with you.

THE PROOF IS IN "SOLID AIR"

John Martyn is recognized by a large number of very knowledgeable and discerning people as one of the best British singer/songwriters/ guitarists. Well deserved though this reputation may be, it is something of a surprise to those who had not been able to hear the original material and who heard the first album "London" covers' nature only helped to increase its reputation, and by the time this second solo album was released, John was in a more confident emotional position to take on the material.

The album was recorded in February 1972, with the band members being John Martyn (guitar), Joanne Shaw-Martyn (vocals), John Helliwell (keyboards), Martin Barre (guitar), and Martin Barre (percussion). The album features a mix of acoustic and electric songs, with Martyn's voice ranging from soft and melodic to rough and powerful.

In conclusion, "Solid Air" is a masterpiece of British folk rock and continues to influence musicians around the world. Martyn's skillful guitar work and heartfelt lyrics make this album a must-listen for any fan of the genre.
