SGA Hires A Lawyer

by Michael J. MacHardy

The Comment spoke with the newly hired SGA legal counselor, Althea Cerrone on Wednesday night. Althea Cerrone received her undergraduate degree from St. Lawrence University and her law degree from New York State University. For the past 2 years she has worked as volunteer attorney for the Brighton office of Greater Boston Legal Services an organization which represents people who have been determined as being unable to afford their own private counsel.

Her job at Bridgewater State will be to provide legal advice and counseling. If a person is experiencing a legal-type problem they should come in and tell Althea Cerrone what the problem is and she will be able to tell the student what help she can offer. Under the SGA's circumstances she may go as little contact as she feels will help the client. She will always be involved in government agencies (ex. Dept. of Education), but the problems which are most common to students include assault and battery, signing problems and contractual problems.

Althea Cerrone, a resident of Brockton, Mass. for the past 2 years will have the following hours for the rest of the month of April, Room 532-07, in the Student Union Building.

WED. APRIL 19: 8-10 WED. APRIL 26: 10-1
WED. MAY 3: 10-1

She is retained if she is unable to afford a lawyer.

Re-organization:

Two Bored Proposals

Governor Dukakis’s Plan

Long-term planning for public higher education in Massachusetts would be central in a single governing body under a proposal announced by Governor Michael Dukakis last Wednesday night. Atty. Paul Parks and Frady Paul Parks on Friday, April 2.

The Governor outlined legislation which would bring the recognition of the state’s college and university system at press conference at the Massachusetts College of Art in Boston. Stating that “the absence of a unified system for making decisions about the future of Massachusetts education programs signals the vitality of our colleges and universities and detracts from their continuing success,” Dukakis called for the creation of a new and strengthened Board of Overseers to replace the Board of Higher Education.

Governor Harrington’s Plan

Senator Harrington said he had instituted a campaign to build a public higher education system in Massachusetts which has three campuses, as one three separate colleges under Harrington’s plan would take immediate effect in two steps.

2.) An interim board would be set up and would be responsible for setting up a public higher education board to be broadband.

In January of 1978, the Governor would appoint a new Board which would follow the blueprint set up by the interim board.

Harrington’s plan for reorganization exhibits all existing segments of higher education, present capacity as legal counsel with possibly expanded hours.

So far Althea Cerrone has had three ISC clients with totally different kinds of problems from the type he had anticipated being confronted with. The specific problems which are most common to students include assault and battery, signing problems and contractual problems.

The Comment spoke with the Governor’s assistant, Michael J. MacHardy about the Governor’s plan for reorganization.

SPECIAL EDITORIAL
S.W.A.T. Strikes
The Kingdom

by Sam Leonov

"Hey Sam, there's a elephant behind you!..." "Ha, Ha!"... Not really... April Fool!"
The sky was a bit overcast, and afternoon classes were more filled out than earlier in the week, but, these two considerations aside, Thursday, April 1st, was just another day, like any other day here at Bridgewater... One of the things which stood out about this day was the sky, though how key as it was, caused some double takes by those who knew.

...For example, take a look at this memo sent to the General Faculty and Administration...

To: Chairpersons, Faculty and Staff
Subject: Pecans

Dean Breslin:

Dear Pecans:

Due to a fire alarm in the computer room we will be unable to supply your pecans for the next two weeks. We regret that this unfortunate situation will exist however, we have no other answers from which to draw this. For further information please contact this office.

Silly!... Maybe a little unorthodox... Possibly, but certainly timed well on the part of the President, or whoever wrote the memo. Did you notice the traditional Administrative memo.

There was also a flyer circulated around campus, addressed to all students that they were entitled to a free ticket in order to get into the S.W.A.T. show. This was the second show of the semester which is "performed" under the auspices of S.G.A. (Student Government Association) and also, (continued to page 4)

April 1, 1976

Dean Breslin: "Hey, do you thing that I should go up to the Hill tonight?"

"No Dean Breslin, that would probably start it." obviously has no conception of the word professional

The conversation that passed between the two went something like this:

Dean Breslin: "Ray, dear, do you thing that I should go up to the Hill tonight?"

The driving force behind all these pranks seems, allegedly, to be a graduate organization which goes by the code-name, S.W.A.T. (Students Working All Time). In talking with Dean Deep, the President of S.W.A.T., it was revealed that the organization writes a letter referring to the free tickets at Hill. Further investigation has revealed that this organization, whenever it annoyed the SGA for either funding or SPACE ALLOCATION.

The question on the minds of most to mention is all these outrageous practical jokes is not, did it did, but rather, Why did they do it? Why would one want to damage the campus of Bridgewater? What was the end in sight? Where will they stop from here? (Not only known)... Why didn't I think of that?

Happy April Fool's Day!

Rebuttal to Talent Show

In Brian Liddy's article (April 1, Vol. 7 of the Comment) concerning the All-Ath Talent show, Mr. Liddy seems to think that a few things spoiled the professional attitude of the show. I ask Mr. Liddy why ever said that this show was intended to have anything to do with professional. I have never even heard of a professional in any profession performing for free money. In fact, according to the American Heritage Dictionary, a professional is one who is "engaged in a special activity as his livelihood or to receive pay."

Therefore, Mr. Liddy has mistaken the meaning of the talent show simply for the audience and the performers to have a good time which was accomplished for a stiff 25c fee to cover expenses.

Also I imagine Mr. Liddy's knowledge of what he is talking about when he mentions "professional show" or "professional attitude" He obviously has no conception of what a professional means-speaking to the professional mind of the amateurs.

Mr. Liddy further criticized the lack of "preparation and organization necessary for a professional show" and the "perceived lack on the part of the performers" (see what he did when he recorded the performers names.)

I would hope that Mr. Liddy consider the fact that everybody in the steps were only another amateur who was a part of the show. The audience and the performers were a lot of actors in the show and not showing that performer's name is a perfectly futile thing which I have been happen in the principal of Hollywood M.C.'s, from Johnny Carson on down. Also, I would hope that Mr. Liddy consider the fact that the MC's is criticized for not revealing some performers' names was not blessed with the time that Mr. Liddy had in the critique without requiring a critique of the MC's, in the true fashion of a professional show. Without time or pressure on his back, could not give the correct name for one of the amateurs he spotlighted in his criticism, namely myself Bob Folloni, and the partner of mine, and anybody who they have the support of mine, and anybody who's name is Bob Folloni, just further displaying his amateurism.

This columnist's (my own) reaction to the talent show was not only a week later than Mr. Liddy's, the consensus were good, the performances were good.

The new Board would have the power to approve, disapprove, or consolidate existing programs whenever the Board of Higher Education can only approve or reject new proposals. This Board would eliminate duplication and assure coordination among the various parts of the system, Dukakis stated. "Economic realities dictate that we do things with the resources we have. It is obvious that we cannot depend on rapid economic growth to generate the funds necessary to meet our needs. We must use the resources we have with a view to their rational and effective utilization."

"In the past four months, Secretary and I have visited eleven of our college and university campuses, seeking advice of students, faculty and administrators, to which we are deeply grateful for sharing their views and suggestions," Dukakis said. "I am convinced that the sit-down meetings describing the present Board reflect the concerns we have been hearing since we began this process in December," he continued. "The formation of a single governing board required by law to include broad public participation in the planning process will result in a public education system that is more rational, efficient, and responsive, one which meets broader educational needs for all students."

The proposed 15-member Board of Governors would report to the --GOVERNOR AND LEGISLATURE within six months on its recommendations for reorganization of our college and university system. The Board would be given the power to conduct public hearings on specific reorganization options and allows the Board to plan and present any additional options it finds advisable.

The Governor stated that the sit-downs of four options for reorganization reflect the fact that "there is no single person, agency, or group that can have the answers for our public higher education system. We need the advice of our college and universities serve the community in a variety of ways. The organization of the system must reflect this variety of public interests. Plans and decisions about future of our colleges and universities must be based on the broadest input of students, faculty and administrators and be presented to the Board for approval." (One of the Governor's appointees was a student, one faculty member, and one lab representative. Of the six initial appointees will be from the present membership of the Board of Higher Education and segmental boards. A professional search firm will be hired to locate all members of the Board.) Regional sessions, involving reorganization planning will be held over the next 1-2 weeks.

The Environmentalist Conspiracy

by Terri Huenefeld

Recently (in the last couple of years or so) the business and political establishment of this country has been taking to heart the term "environmentalist" almost as much as "Communist" was in the 1950's....

...I have made every effort to mention every political party and every political doctrine in this country, and I have not said that the Environmentalists are not human beings; I have said that they are human beings that are attempting to stop the natural wheels of the economy by promoting something else.

...In 1972, the Environmentalists proved that they were still on the rise by publishing their "Environmental Audit of America " which was a book that listed every single property in America that was in any way contaminated.

Rhonda Pruss
Rhonda Pruss of Peabody. Miss. is a member of the class of 1977. She has served on the senate for the past two years and will be a senator-at-large for next year. S.G.A. chairperson and classes in division A of the class of 1977. Miss. feels that the students voice is heard when policies are put into the campus governing procedures. Administration and faculty are only two organs and the S.G.A. makes the third and it’s just as important. "Accomplishments seem to come from committees that work as a body and not individuals. From these committees Rhonda made a point that the S.G.A. is the best possible organization," says Miss. Through her representation on the Student Union Board of Governors she hopes to give better rapport between these two bodies, since most of their functions are held in the Union. Through her position as Senator-at-Large, she wishes to represent the student body uniformly. She would appreciate any feedback or ideas from any student. The meeting is at 5:30, in the SGA office hours are Tuesday, Thursday, and Wednesday (1-3).

Due to circumstances beyond our control.......

by Bill Smith

A weekend of singing.......

among other things

Last weekend as a member of both Thaddeus David Haskell and the Chorale Singers, I attended the second annual Mass College festival of North Adams State College. This was the second such festival that I have attended. Northfield and Bridgeport had similar events last year, the one here being the first annual;

The trip can only be termed a success. For the most part, you know, but rather the things that happened to us. To start off with, if a big hang, the second bus kept catching five every two minutes (No joke). In an attempt to give us an idea of the one remaining bus.

What Joy. The four buses left at indecipherableomy. (Have you ever tried to transcribe a group of music from one key to another with people trudging down your path? You can't say). We arrived at North Adams. The look on the campus farms as all of us descended the steps of the band program. The administration was possibly only a few syllables away from being one of these exceptions. There was the festival itself, of course. Bridgeport was first as and last with its Mass Memes and the Women's Chorus. They did very well and their performance was good.

I'm sorry the American Singers, I was sorry to report that they were not up to it. In high standards of ex-ce, mainly due to the fact that so few numbers were in attendance. Next was the Thaddeus David Haskell and the Chorale Singers. Due to the fact that we were missing half of our sopranos section we obviously did not do as well as we could have. Last came here again the group was not up to par in either group. We did not give a performance that was demonstrative of our capabilities. While we didn't sound bad, we didn't sound particularly good either.

The next college was Salem State, withstanded our women's group and their choir. Very lurid thing about their conductor. They were not without some bravura, but rather than good and was generally running down:

The sopranos slipped in their lower register they sounded fine, but once they went up their upper register, the pitch was off by almost eight years of the mark. Then their choir came on, a good group that did not falter. I know I should not compare groups from different angles, but it seemed as if the better other than the other group they need to spend more on their singing anddiction before they become legendary.

Due to the cancellations of Wunnemann State, Westfield State went next. They did not bring their entire choirs but rather a small group of ensembles. They were really impressive and were sold to individual groups.

Lobes and Other Strangers

Once upon this semester, the Ensemble Theatre will present a small production. This time Taylor Hayes and Joe Bologias's Lovers and Other Things will be presented on Thursday, April 22nd at 8:00 p.m. at the Horace Mannatorium in Southington High School. This production will give the theatre students the opportunity to direct an entire play. "Lovers and Other Things" is a modern dramedy directed by Dennis B. with plots three acts.

The cast is

Barbara Atkinson, Susan Heidt, and "Bare," needed challenge to chance their potential co scenes, these in some times.

There are even a few that I could live for me to see cancelled and For You Return (Other). The true two that didn't want to pay it without the need for any act for our own. Despite this, we did not have to worry about window cancellations are Space and the concert is at "Hart's" Hartman which gave American shows that were unfortunate that there are several by the networks, and buses added to individual groups.

(Buzz, Buzz, Buzz)

Band in.

Buzz What! That's all the choral groups that I know about but I have just been so infatuated with it until I didn't notice it. I'm sorry the American Singers that they were not up to it. In high standards of exec. (Thank you Lee Grant and the Kid, Doctors, Hospital, The Family Medium, Fay, Good Heavisen, Grady, Hurly, Howard Grant, The Invisible Man Joe and Sam, Kate Mc

Kee, Marion Wells M.D., Mel Holm, Medical Center, Medical Study, Stubs of the Mountain, On the Rocks, A.W.A., The Family Hancock, That's My Moms, Three for the Road, and When This Dance is over.

That's a lot of pitch shifts that they had to work out. I think what irrevocable voices of us oneself.

Of the season that is to start in September, the first of the twenty six is still there, and only two of them are in the top twenty (Phyllis and Stanley and Blanche. The one查理xes replacements did just pass by.

Astaire and Rogers

at MFA

America's favorite dancing team, plus the Art Institute is the author of the American Grap on the road. Astaire and Rogers are the most popular team that America has ever known. This program revolved by the American film industry under a grant from the Kennedy Center. It includes both live casts and film versions. The Astaire and Rogers festival, which is scheduled to be the final event of this year's Kennedy Center season, takes place on April 13th.

The old age is fast on the road and we have been waiting for something interesting. The program will be shown in full length during its run, from April 13th to May 9th. It will be screened at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington D.C.
Art Review:

Gary Thomas: Just One Man

by Richard Topper

We all dream of making it, and here is Gary Thomas, my dream has come true. An art major here, Gary has just opened his first one-man show by a student ever to be presented at the College. The show, which is of particular interest to the students, is of great significance for it demonstrates the collections of works by a student artist and gives the way for the possibility of other student exhibitions. Now on display in the Maxwell Library, the paintings are the result of a directed study during the fall semester, which was funded by a grant from the Library. Gary's work, painting, represents the culmination of time spent not only in the creative study found in the sample but also in the preparation and execution of the show.

The artwork primarily focuses on figurative sculpture, and a more recent pastel, and a small collection of lithographs and pen and ink. The early pastel works are more geometrical in design, containing shapes with a serious and realistic style, "Cross Collisions" and "Vells of Hope" requiring this technique. The more recent examples, composed primarily in acrylics, represent Gary's more characteristic trend to the surreal. "Blow My Mind" and "Dream Mill" both contrast sharp edges and bold colors with organic forms, highlighted by captions of color. These, ranging from the whisper, over the most popular. One of the largest, "Oriental", is a three dimensional geometric square of fish and orange. The pastel, however, are an interesting dig into the eyes, and more into different colors and patterns. In his pastel, Gary has managed to use the colors in a pleasing combination of large acrylic behind a shadow of white. In this piece, the library for the permanent art collection. My favorite, "Turiatemanuk", added a piece of movement through the use of both a white acrylic and pastel painting. The work exhibited in Gary's pastel of color-Gary's present signature. The lithographs and pen and ink drawings are somber. Highly realized in style, they are very small and intricate in detail. Gary mentioned that "The work is the only true measurement of art", adding that this show is his first attempt at a solo show.

The second exhibit, "Greats", shows Gary's style of highly meaningful, almost surrealistic works. Exquisite attention to the prices spent on the exhibition sheets. Appearing in an interesting pattern, Gary created with pastel, expressionism, friends and artists who arrived to view the opening evening and showing. The exhibition, dedicated to the great transcendental artist Max Ernst who died April 3, is a fitting reminder that creativity and art continues to beguile the minds of Gary Thomas.

Those of you who missed the production of Jesus Christ Superstar when it was staged in Boston may want to catch another rendition of the rock opera this Friday and Saturday evening (April 16th and 17th). The newly formed South Shore Community Work Shop is presenting this musical next week at Brockton High School auditorium.

Brockton's Community Work Shop is a non-profit theater group which has been together since last fall. This production of Superstar is their venture. The company has already toured with the show to surrounding towns and cities. Future productions are scheduled to include "A Chorus Line" at Brookline High School, April 23, at Sharon High School, and May 10 at Brockton High School. Gary Thomas is the owner of this production "Tommy" at Summerfest. Anyone who is interested in auditioning for this may send a resume to the South Community Workshop Office at 40 Main Street, Brockton.

people amassed in San Antonio, Texas last weekend to witness the second annual Texas Armadillo Race. The event, sponsored by a local radio station and a brewery, was staged in the basement of a drunken armadillo house. A live armadillo named Sammamish forgot all about 10 other entrants as he finished first place for the second straight year. But, second prize went to an unusual new competitor, "the bionic-dillo". Some spectators claimed the bionic-dillo which resembled a stuffed armadillo on wheels, should have been disqualified. A reporter noticed the creature fiddling with a black box in its belly, but the results were allowed to stand. First, the map on the armadillo and now a second.

If you're interested in having a dance orchestra around you, this weekend's that's what you'll be getting. With enough people around, they'll be dancing straight through your yard.

Yes, it's WBIM week, which, by the way, you read this line was to bemouse in a cage. The week was highlighted by live stage from the B.J. W. (B.F.) and the S.U. layer an is an effort to bring the radio station to your door. Told you they like to do all sorts of things, and now they've got a radio station. So, don't be surprised to see them around. The cab goes into service next month, when they're looking for volunteers to help them get started.

April has been correct in Boston as performers from the biggest to the smallest have been streaming into town to fill the gaps. O. O. D. reports have come back from the W.B.X. Radio Station. "Bob Weir (Grateful Dead), Dave torbert (New Riders) and company; with many more to come. Yours truly will now submit a capsule review of K.O.N.E. This San Francisco orientated group played in the semi-sold out concert crowd within five minutes Tuesday night at the Orphanage,波士顿. "Bob Weir (Grateful Dead), Dave torbert (New Riders) and company enjoyed a diverse show, bringing the crowd (majority dead heads) in a frenzy that they haven't experienced since the last appearance of Grateful Dead. Dancers amuse in the Wooden County to the various categories of musicals. "Where My Heart Lies" and "Fantasies Lie" and "Tolls of Rape" are available in the information booth. Appearing for an office secretary included a special surprise.

Finally, instead of a personal ad, yours truly has an open room in the Maxwell Library. A live armadillo named Samuelito forged ahead of 300 other entrants in the annual Texas Armadillo Race. The event, sponsored by a local radio station and a brewery, was staged in the basement of a drunken armadillo house. A live armadillo named Sammamish forgot all about 10 other entrants as he finished first place for the second straight year. But, second prize went to an unusual new competitor, "the bionic-dillo". Some spectators claimed the bionic-dillo which resembled a stuffed armadillo on wheels, should have been disqualified. A reporter noticed the creature fiddling with a black box in its belly, but the results were allowed to stand. First, the map on the armadillo and now a second. Spikemen Drop

by Kevin Warren

Despite getting their share of individual first and second place finishes, the ISC Bears dropped their home track meet Tuesday as 1st place in depth and their total score. ISC captured 1st place in second, and second, place, but managed just 2nd in both and lost both relays.

The meet was held in favor of Fitchburg State U., but the host proved a formidable foe. The ISC track faculty had second things to choose from. Chuck Smith, despite having a pulled muscle, finished first in the sprint in 6.02, while placing second in the 200 with a time of 23.2 seconds.

The mile run saw Hanover's Peter Gregory capture first in 4:20.0, while John Proy took care of the 3000-hardly in 9:35.0.

Both Ennis led (1:53.5) in the long jump, followed by Bob Green's at 19.9.

ISC's Gary won the triple jump with an excellent effort of 47.0, followed by Proy's 46.9, and Gary's second finish with 46.1.

Gary Proy scored a 5.8 in the high jump, a personal high, with Bob Green's finishing 5.6, and Gary's second place with 5.8.

Bridgewater is represented by two excellent javelin throwers, and each came through in the clutch as Bridgewater took first with 177.5, 4 inches and freshman Dennis of Easton landed an effort of 175.5 feet, 15 inches.

MELODIES IN MOTION

AQUABRYTE COMING

On April 2nd, 2nd, and 26th, at 8 p.m. in the Bridgewater pool, the 1976 Aquabryte, a synchronized swim club, will present "Melodies in Motion."

The Naval Reserve.

WHILE YOU'RE GOING TO SCHOOL

A part-time job that pays off big for veterans.
In training. Opportunities. Benefits. And cash.

It takes little time from your studies to be a Naval Reservist. Just one weekend a month or one evening a week, plus two weeks a year. But it's time profitably spent. As a Naval Reservist you have an opportunity to earn shopping privileges at armed forces exchanges. You are entitled to Servicemen's Group Life Insurance. A program of medical coverage for yourself during drills. A regular monthly pay check. And the Naval Reserve provides the first step toward a Naval Reserve Commission without an Active Duty requirement after you receive your degree!

So if you're a veteran of the Navy or any other branch of the Armed Forces, why not get a good thing going for yourself? Call us and see if you qualify for the Naval Reserve. Our number is 335-4141 or 335-4142. Call Any Day!
Be Someone Special in the NAVAL RESERVE.
