Forensic Dispute Explained

by Joan Thibeault

Recently there has been a great deal of controversy surrounding the funding of BSC's Forensic Society. The conflict began after a series of meetings of the Student Government Association (SGA) in which the Forensic Society had their budget presented to the Senate. The resulting budget, however, was not what the Forensic Society had anticipated.

The cause of all this emotional furor was a simple misunderstanding in the wording of the Forensic Society's budget. All that was required of the SGA was to present a budget hearling before the Senate, in order to present the budget for approval. However, the Forensic Society misunderstood the wording of the budget and presented it in a different form.

Recent meetings of the Forensic Society and the Ways and Means Committee revealed the misunderstanding regarding the wording of the Forensic Society's budget. The money requested for the Winter Regional Tournament of the Eastern States was $1451, and for the Winter National Tournament of the Eastern States, it was $930.93. However, the Ways and Means Committee, which was responsible for approving the budget, interpreted the wording incorrectly, and the budget was presented to the Senate.

The Forensic Society had originally requested $1451 and $930.93, respectively. However, the Senate did not approve these amounts, and the budget was reduced to $350. The Forensic Society was then required to attend a budget hearing before the Senate to present their revised budget.

In his article concerning the SGA meeting of January 24th, which appeared in the January 26th issue of The Comment, former Senator William Driskell claimed that the Forensic Society had failed to attend any hearings. This is erroneous. In fact, both the Ways and Means Committee and the Senate approved the Forensic Society's revised budget.

Mr. Driskell is a former member of the Forensic Society and, as such, should be familiar with the procedures of the SGA. The budget was presented to the Senate on January 24th, and the Forensic Society was invited to attend the budget hearing. However, the Forensic Society did not attend this hearing, and the budget was approved without their presence.

The Forensic Society had hoped to attend the hearings, but were unable to do so due to unforeseen circumstances. The Forensic Society had no idea that the budget would be approved without their presence, and they were not given any explanation as to why.

The Forensic Society is a totally academic organization, and they have been a source of enjoyment and pride since their opening. The Rathskeller in particular has become one of the college's most popular places for students to hang out, enjoy a variety of entertainment, and meet friends and club members. The Rathskeller is an essential part of the college community, and the Forensic Society is proud to be a part of it.
Invasion of Privacy?

The Forensic Society, the target of an article appearing in THE COMMENT, would like to present the following facts and information.

On November 18, my friend and I were in the Forensic Society's new offices in the Academic Building. We were engaged in the usual activities of the society and the room was occupied by two members of the society. Suddenly, a group of people entered the room, including the police. My friend then produced a small, brown object from her purse. She handed it to the police and asked that it be treated as evidence. The police, however, did not ask for a search warrant or any other form of authorization. They did not even identify themselves or state their purpose. They simply arrested my friend and took her to the police station.

The Forensic Society takes this incident very seriously. We believe that the police acted in an unauthorized and illegal manner. We have filed a complaint with the police department and we are seeking an apology and compensation for any damages suffered as a result of this incident.

Signed,

The Forensic Society
Feasibility Studies

The Bundy Report had recommended that the United States build a railroad across the isthmus, and the canal was completed and, therefore, the political situation changed abruptly when, in 1878, the United States bought the French canal. In a personal evaluation, the French considered the Panama Canal a failure and was immediately polarized for on, Panama had been, at best, an isthmus from the Bogotá area to the Pacific, a region with a small amount of land and Panama signed the Hay-Hansen opened for its first commercial travel it in 1878 and the official

Invasion of Privacy?

Last week, a trend of news came to my news very upset because the family of an old friend found a police officer to search his house. The officer entered the house and was able to access the private files and belongings, including photos and documents. The police officer said that he was searching for evidence related to a criminal investigation.

A friend of mine was cheeks the officer, explaining that he had no criminal involvement and that he did not want his personal files to be accessed. The officer then proceeded to search the house, including the drawers and cabinets, without any legal justification.

This friend of mine said that he felt violated and that his privacy was invaded. He felt that the police officer had no right to enter his house and access his personal files without a warrant or consent. The police officer then left the house, but my friend felt uncomfortable and insecure.

Recently, there have been several cases where police officers have entered homes without a warrant or consent, accessing private files and belongings. This trend is extremely concerning as it violates the privacy rights of individuals.

"Tet": The Vietnamese New Year

President John F. Kennedy once said: “If you think education is expensive, try ignorance!”

Tet is the Vietnamese New Year, a time when Vietnamese people celebrate the arrival of spring and the new year. It is a time of joy, family reunions, and cultural traditions. Tet is celebrated by the Vietnamese community worldwide, and it is one of the most important holidays in Vietnamese culture.

Celebrations

Tet, through its meaning, is a symbol of hope and new beginning. In the Vietnamese language, “tet” means “year” or “birthday.” The Vietnamese celebrate Tet by cleaning their homes, decorating them with colorful paper cutouts, and giving gifts to family members.

During Tet, the Vietnamese believe that spirits and ancestors return to visit their homes. This is a time for families to come together and enjoy each other’s company.

Food

One of the most important traditions during Tet is the act of giving and receiving gifts. Red envelopes, known as “hong bao,” are used to give money to family members and friends as a symbol of good fortune. In the cities where Tet is celebrated, the sound of firecrackers can be heard throughout the night, symbolizing the joy and happiness of the occasion.

Traditions

In Vietnam, Tet is the time for families to get together and share meals. The main dishes include “banh trung,” a sticky rice cake, and “banh tet,” a rice cake filled with sweet bean paste.

Conclusion

Tet is a time of joy, family reunions, and cultural traditions. It is a time for Vietnamese people to come together and celebrate the arrival of spring and the new year. It is a symbol of hope and new beginnings, and it is one of the most important holidays in Vietnamese culture.

Archeology: II

As the winter season slowly gives way to the spring, the American archaeologists preparing for the winter season come to mind. What is it about the ancient past that draws us to the discipline of archeology?

As a way of life, archeology is a fascinating field that combines history, science, and cultural studies. It is a field that helps us understand the past and the people who lived in it. In this article, we will explore the history of archeology and what it means to be an archeologist.

History of Archeology

The study of archeology dates back to the ancient Greeks and Romans, who were interested in the ruins and artifacts of previous civilizations. The first systematic approach to archeology was developed in the 19th century, and it was not until the 20th century that archeology became a recognized academic discipline.

Modern Archeologists

Modern archeologists use a variety of techniques to study the past. They use archaeological tools such as excavation, dating, and analysis of artifacts to gain insight into the lives of ancient peoples.

Conclusion

Archeology is a fascinating field that combines history, science, and cultural studies. It is a field that helps us understand the past and the people who lived in it. Whether you are interested in the ancient past or the modern world, archeology is a field that offers a unique perspective on the world around us.

Aqua-Bears Defeat Keene

The Bears got bumped off the winning track by a high flying Framingham State hoop team last Thurs. night. The Rams forced the Bears to play their style ... SLOW.

The hoopsters stuck together for the first half 28·28, but in the end, fell by ten 74-64. Framingham's three quarter court press is what beat the Bears, exciting numerous turnovers as well as a host of rushed shots.

Bridgewater wasn't aided either by a poor shooting night, in a less than friendly gym, the Bears shot only 36% from the floor. The Bears will be on the lookout for their first win of the season.

The Bears suffered their eighth consecutive loss Saturday night as they fell to the Black Bears of Maine University (10-4)

Lady Luck certainly is not shining on the BSC ice men. After an impressive showing in their bout with the Framingham State team last week it appeared that Bridgewater would be back in the win column. However, the team was dealt a couple of bad breaks that left the already declining team morale down a couple more notches. The first fistful of bad luck came in the form of the flu, as it kept Jack Hynes, a fast, strong skating defensemen in bed and out of the lineup.

While the second curse was on Ed Kiberd’s ankle, which is stronger though not fully recovered, as was hoped it would be. Thus, BSC’s leading scorer was kept out of his fourth game.

Of the players able to skate, two, Goaltender Deacon Perrota, and Captain Paul Kelly, were running temperatures above 100 degrees.

BSC will be playing at the University of Connecticut this Saturday. The Bears’ next home game is Wednesday, February 8th at 8:00 when Bridgewater will have an opportunity to avenge their (3-2) loss to New England College.

Ballet Folk to Perform

Ballet Folk, scheduled to perform in Bridgeport on Feb. 3, has recently been recognized for bringing different American repertories to life. What most people think of when they hear the term “folk ballet” is a clumsy, traditional, “hillbilly” type of dance. But this is not what Ballet Folk is all about. It is a company that performs only American folk dances, music and literature. Its mission is to further the study of American folklore and to educate the public about the traditional music and dance of the American people. The company is composed of professional dancers and musicians who are dedicated to preserving and promoting American cultural heritage.

Forensic Dispute Explained

Our Student Union and Rathskeller have been called the "Best in the East" and have been a source of enrichment and pride since their opening. The Rathskeller is particularly active, becoming more of the popular places for the College community to socialize, enjoy a variety of entertainment, and good food and drinks. As student government, the Rathskeller is the only student organization that the campus is truly without. During the Rathskeller, the most student Union programs can only operate with your continued active support.

We ask each and every student to celebrate the increase of the Student Union and the Rathskeller and become an active supporter of all the student organizations that the Rathskeller and the Student Government Association would like to have in the future. By providing larger and more essential support, we can assure their success. Thank you.
