The Bears scored two first-half goals on a pass from Scott Armstrong. The first goal came when Armstrong passed the ball to Bear midfielder Ray Via, who scored on a pass from Bear forward Charlie Burns. The second goal came when Armstrong passed the ball to Bear forward Tim O'Connell, who scored on a pass from Bear midfielder Bill Greene.

The Bears dominated the game, outshooting the Wildcats 20-5 and controlling the play for most of the game. The Bears' defense was solid, allowing only one goal on a penalty kick in the second half.

The Bears improved their record to 10-0-1 and moved into first place in the New England Conference. They will face their biggest test of the season when they travel to play Harvard next week.

A study done by Greer Litton Fox, published in 1977, reports that students engage in "coitus" and about 50 percent of college women. Men will...
1. Mrs. Henry Rosen and Dr. V. James DiNardo stand before memorial in honor of Dr. Henry Rosen, member of the college faculty and coach of the tennis team from 1952 to 1975. Tennis courts at Great Hill have been named in his honor. The dedication took place Saturday morning and was attended by College officials, members of Dr. Rosen’s family, and past and present members of the Tennis Team.

2. The Homecoming Queen finalists for the 1978 line-up just prior to announcement of the Queen.

3. The WRA/MAA float on march to the football field and the Homecoming Game against Nichols College.

4. Quarterback Bill Armstrong throws a strike in the first quarter of Saturday’s game.

Clinic Features Cardiology Specialist

Dr. Marlene Rabinovitch, who teaches at State College on Saturday mornings (Mi, Nov. 2, 9:30 AM), has come to the state's attention as a specialist in cardiology. Dr. Rabinovitch started a program at State College in 1976 to help children with heart problems. The program, called the Physical Developmental Clinic, has helped many children with heart problems improve their physical condition.

The clinic is held in the Physical Education Center at State College. It is open to children with heart problems and their families. The clinic offers a variety of services, including physical therapy, occupational therapy, and speech therapy.

Keep plugging for those “C’s”

The intense academic pressure that students are facing these days is understandable, but it is also dangerous. The pressure is creating an environment where students are sacrificing their health and well-being. It is important for students to find a balance between their academic and personal lives.

In order to achieve this balance, students should focus on maintaining a healthy lifestyle. This includes regular exercise, proper nutrition, and adequate sleep. It is also important to manage stress effectively.

By focusing on these “C’s”, students can improve their academic performance while also maintaining their overall health and well-being.

Dr. Markle Babcock, Physicist, recently published a study in the Journal of Popular Education Science that sheds light on the effectiveness of the BSC student union program. The study found that student union programs can positively influence student behavior and academic performance, especially in the sciences. Babcock's findings suggest that student unions should play a more active role in college life, fostering a sense of community and encouraging student engagement. Babcock's research has received widespread attention and is expected to have a significant impact on the future of college student unions.

Frank Hatch Speaks out on Public Higher Education

by Howard Ray

The high price of public higher education and the struggles of its students are making headlines across the country. The recent cuts in state funding for higher education have made it more difficult for many students to afford college. At the same time, the quality of education is declining as resources are diverted to other priorities. In his recent speech, Frank Hatch, a former student at BSC, discussed the challenges facing public higher education and called for a renewed commitment to funding and improving the quality of education. Hatch's speech has sparked a national conversation about the future of public higher education.

Shenandoah is a musical that tells the story of the American Civil War. It is directed by Associate Professor of Theatre, Daniel Pinkham. The cast includes a mix of professional actors and students from the BSC Theatre Program. The show will be performed from November 3rd to 5th at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Auditorium.
Arts for All Notes

There is much to react to in this week's article about the Arts in '78. Artists, arts organizations and those who were very successful this past week fell in love with the New York City during the Columbus Day weekend. The performances of the students who were still all of whom who were involved in the Arts are so diverse. People of all ages took part in the major concerts in Central Park. Many others decided to take in a few of the many other performances throughout the city.

The variety of both the kind of performances and the talents of those who performed was truly a sight to see. It was not easy for the Arts writer to choose which ones to write about, but all those who participated were truly deserving of recognition.

There are many more events that are scheduled for the coming week and all of them are sure to please. So be sure to check out the Arts section of the newspaper for more information on what is happening in the arts in the '78.
Vandalism mars BSC campus

Academy about the lavatory. A lot of vandalism on campus. Have also been a problem. Another complete. Responsible for the damage will also pay for it when due process is finished. Letter has been written to the Dean informing him of the vandalism. Several times ran things gone to far. No one has been arrested. No one has been hurt. No one has been injured. A lot of the damage was done during the night. During the day, it was done by people who were drunk. People who were not drunk were also involved. The situation is very serious. The Dean has been notified. They are going to take action.

Great American Smokeout: Nov. 16

On Thursday, November 16, Bridgewater State College students will be given an opportunity to participate in the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout. Students who participate will be given a free pledge card to sign. Thousands of smokers across Massachusetts will "take the pledge" and put out their cigarettes for 24 hours. The purpose of the supplement is to introduce students to the dangers of smoking and to help them make the adjustment to American society. The American Cancer Society is the largest voluntary health agency dedicated to eliminating the suffering and death caused by cancer.

Bears Score First

Nichols had a good reason to be disappointed. It was their first time to be beaten by the Bears, coming into the game as one of the top teams in the NEFC. Despite Nichols having the ball in the Bears' end of the field, they couldn't get past the Bears' defense, leading to a Bears score.

Pass Up Field Goal

The Bears faced the Nichols defense and decided to pass up one of the goals they had been practicing. The Bears kicked a field goal, increasing their lead.

Vandalism mars Homecoming Week at Bridgewater State

The week was marred by vandalism, as the Bears lost to Nichols College.

The Crowd

The crowd was estimated at nearly 3,000, who turned out to watch Bridgewater play Nichols in game Saturday for Homecoming Day. The crowd, largest of the season, was disappointed, however, as the Bears lost, 10-7.

The Bears’ victory was their second straight over the Nichols College Bearcats. The Bears had lost to Nichols in their last meeting.

Bears quarterback Scott Armstrong

Armstrong was impressive, leading the Bears to a big win. His passing ability and leadership were key factors in the Bears’ victory.

By Kathy Gagnon

"Cocktail Night," one of Saturday night’s homecoming events located in the ballroom, turned out to be quite a disappointment for many. The goals of "Nichols and "Armstrong," which were initially well-received by the crowd, were met with mixed reactions.

Officiating Hurt

With Armstrong playing his usual role, the Bears were able to keep the ball in play for much of the game. Their defense did a great job of limiting Nichols' opportunities, leading to the Bears’ victory.

Bridgewater State College

This wasn’t the way it was supposed to end. The Bears had a great chance to win the game, but a missed field goal gave Nichols the victory. The Bears were left disappointed, but they will regroup and come back stronger.
