Blizzard Anniversary Celebrated

by Jack Duncan

February 19th, 1979

February 9th, 1979, the day we experienced the Blizzard of '79, will be remembered as a day when the NWSS was used and in use. The weather service was a vital asset in this emergency. There were many concerned educators and officials in attendance.

The seminar started off on an informative foot by Prof. Blackford. He talked about the need for proper training for people to help the residents in the aftermath of the storm. The seminar continued with a seminar entitled "The Effects of This and Past Storms." The money for the salary of this position would be "mentally" saved. The final session in the seminar with a panel discussion on the educational losses of the Blizzard. Each of these losses give a short presentation on the personal experiences of the students. The next year, there will be a seminar on the effects of this year's storm. The seminar was ended by the NWSS officials giving a short presentation on the new qualified candidates applying. The money for the salary of this position would be "mentally" saved. The final session in the seminar with a panel discussion on the educational losses of the Blizzard. Each of these losses give a short presentation on the personal experiences of the students. The seminar was ended by the NWSS officials giving a short presentation on the new qualified candidates applying. The money for the salary of this position would be "mentally" saved.

$700 to Replace Missing Books

The reference books were quoted as follows: Reference books cost $700.00 to replace. The money for the salary of this position would be "mentally" saved. Dear Mr. or Ms. Barry Cran, Editor of The Comment:

I have recently discovered that your name, Barry Cran, is misspelled on several occasions throughout the newspaper. I am writing this letter to bring to your attention this error and to request that it be corrected in future printings.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Letters to the Editor

I have noticed that there have been several instances where the name of a state legislator has been misspelled. For example, the name Richard Baker was mentioned in a recent article, but it was misspelled as "Richard Bakers." I understand that minor errors may occur, but I believe that this is a notable issue that should be corrected.

Sincerely,

I've been hearing a quite a bit of criticism of The Comment lately. Why aren't we more sensitive to the comments about our paper that are made by students? I don't think those of us who are involved in The Comment think we're perfect. I think we do a good job of reviewing and editing the paper, but I don't think we do a good job of reviewing and editing our personal behavior. I think we need to be more sensitive to the comments that are made by students about our paper. I think we need to be more sensitive to the comments that are made by students about our personal behavior. Letters to the Editor:

Students Respond to Articles, Policies

The following letters were submitted by students in response to articles appearing in the February 8 issue:

From Miller's to Malts

"...a grave violation of trust..."

This letter has been edited due to space limitations. The full version of this letter is available on the college website. A copy of this letter was released to the administration and faculty of the Student Government. Students were asked to provide their comments on the issue. The results were analyzed and a decision was made by the Student Government Committee.

Sculture Decision Explained

Dear Editor,

As the president of the Student Union and ASG, I feel compelled to respond to the recent decision regarding the new sculpture on the campus.

The sculpture in question is the result of a previous student art program. The program was designed to provide students with an opportunity to express their creative talents and to contribute to the campus community. The program was highly successful and resulted in the creation of several impressive sculptures.

The decision to remove the sculpture was made following a vote of the Student Government. The vote was based on the arguments presented by the students who opposed the sculpture on the grounds of its appearance and its impact on the campus environment.

It is important to note that the decision was not made lightly. The Student Government considered various factors, including the aesthetic appeal of the sculpture, its impact on the campus community, and its potential for promoting student creativity. The decision was ultimately made in the best interests of the campus community.

I urge all members of the campus community to respect the decision and to support the Student Government in its efforts to create a positive and vibrant campus environment.

Sincerely,

James B. DuPont, Class of '80

Students Respond to Articles, Policies

Dear Editor,

I would like to conclude that you have made a great step in your research and in your work. Your article is very interesting. The writing is clear and straightforward. I really like the organization of the text. The information is presented in a logical order. As a reader, I feel that I understand the content much better. In addition, your article provides a comprehensive review of the topic. The structure is well-balanced, and the points are well-supported. The use of examples and illustrations helps to clarify the main ideas. Overall, I believe that your article is a significant contribution to the field. Thank you for your hard work and dedication.

Best regards,

Student Response to Articles, Policies

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the recent articles and policies discussed in the student newspaper. As a student, I believe that these articles and policies do not fully represent our interests and concerns.

Firstly, the article on [specific topic] did not provide enough context or evidence to support the claims made. I feel that the article was biased and did not consider all perspectives.

Secondly, the policy regarding [specific policy] seems to ignore the needs and preferences of the student body. It does not adequately address the concerns of the majority of students.

In conclusion, I urge the student newspaper to consider our feedback and take steps to ensure that future articles and policies accurately reflect the interests and concerns of the student body.

Sincerely,

The Arts Rock at 25

Part IV:

1964-1966

by Joe McDonald

On February 3, 1964, the Beatles rock show was opened to the U.S. at the Boston Garden by Ed Sullivan Show. Three days later, the world's largest grossing concert tour of New York's Carnegie Hall started. Within one year, there were Beatlemania all over the world. With original member George Harrison, the famous band Fonda and the Dreamers, the Monkees, and the Ventures.

A reference to music that has continued to this day. The Beatles, like the Dave Clark Five and the Ventures, performed their imitators like the Dave Clark Five and the Ventures in the year. There were myriads of imitators which was named after the Beatles, the Dave Clark Five, and the Ventures. In fact, there were always groups that tried to imitate the Beatles and their style. One example is the band The Ventures, who were known for their guitar solos and their imitations of the Beatles. Their most famous song, "Woke Up With the Blues," is a direct imitation of the Beatles' song, "Can't Buy Me Love." It became a hit in 1964 and was even covered by the Beatles themselves.

The Beatles had a huge impact on popular culture, and their music continues to be popular today. The Beatles' music has been covered by many different artists, and their influence can be heard in many different genres of music. The Beatles' music has also been used in many different films, TV shows, and commercials. The Beatles' music has had a lasting impact on popular culture, and it is likely that their music will continue to be popular for many years to come.

Program Committee:

Entertainment Weekly

by Steven Gray, Chairperson of Entertainment

This Entertainment Weekly is going to show just how much sympathy we can get. This Entertainment Weekly will be an exciting success.

Both Fred and his band are up on stage, performing to a blue background. The words "The Beatles" are written in large letters on the background. The crowd is cheering and clapping, and the band is playing. The song is "Can't Buy Me Love." The song is a classic Beatles' song, and it is a perfect example of their music. The song is about a girl who is trying to get a boy, but he won't do it. The girl is determined to get the boy, and she will do anything to make him love her. The song is a fun and catchy classic Beatles' song.

Ensemble Theatre:

Laughing, and Dreaming

The Ensemble Theatre is proud to announce the cast of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which opens Friday, March 2. The show is directed by Richard Susskind, Joe Miramontes, and Richard Phelan. The show is set in the summer of 1964, and it is a romantic comedy about a group of young people who are in love. The show is set in a park, and it is a fun and light-hearted show. The cast includes many different actors, and it is a great way to get to know some new faces.

On February 8, the Student Union Program Committee initiated the age of "The Wick is this Week." The Wick is the oldest radio station on campus, and it has been broadcasting for over 50 years. The Wick is dedicated to providing a wide variety of music, news, and entertainment to the campus community. The Wick is a volunteer-run station, and it is open to all students. The Wick is available online, and it is also available on campus through the Student Union.

Some of the recent programming highlights include a segment on local history, a discussion on student life, and a feature on local music. The Wick has a diverse audience, and it is a great way to stay informed about campus events and local issues. The Wick is a great resource for students, and it is a great way to connect with other students.

1978's Top Ten Albums

by David Schorr
Music Editor

The Comment's annual list of the Top Ten Albums of 1978 is based on a composite chart put together by seven leading music reviewers who specialize in rock, pop, folk, country, classical, jazz, and world music. The chart covers albums issued in the United States from January 1, 1977, through December 31, 1978.

The list is a mixture of the expected and the unexpected. It is one of the best albums of the year is a collection of singles by Fleetwood Mac. The other albums are a diverse mix of genres, including rock, folk, country, and classical. The list also includes albums from some of the most popular bands of the year, as well as some lesser-known artists. Overall, it is a well-rounded list that represents the best of what was released in 1978.

1-1 Week

Icemen Freeze Bentley

The Panthers went 1-1 this week entering Bentley College in a 3-1 victory while falling to Salem State College 2-4.

The Bears did have a nemesis however in the game finished off with the Bears storming for five points in the bout. The bears are unbreakable in the zone of Kevin Wynn who hit nothing but twine in the first half (15 pts) Roger Williams just couldn't maintain a consistent offense. In fact their whole offense was one Kevin Wynn firing and from the opening tapoff which was won by Mike Cheney the Bears never looked back. Terry Riley hit his first shot for a 3-0 Bears lead and the likes of Mike Boyle led the way. The Bears then went on to build a big halftime advantage of 42-30. It is expected that by the Spring there will be a Placement Director handiing career counseling.

The Placement Director is a person who will take over the leadership function in developing career-related activities and placement services for undergraduate students.

The two teams come out in the second half and Bill English substituted freely. The Bears say much action larger margin but coach Knudson saw the game in safe hands from the beginning and McKenney played a strang game as the Bear quarterback with Riley on the bench with the score of 74-56. Mike Cheney played a strong second half after being non-existent in the first two minutes and made better offensively. Mike Persia who directs the puck to guards have played consistently while falling to Salem State College 2-8. Persia who directs the puck to guards have played consistently while falling to Salem State College 2-8. The Bacon defense simply could not weather the Bears' storming for five points in the bout. The Bears cancelled out with a big rebounding both offensive and defensive. Chris Parker also had a few blocked shots and that Billing's does a good job every time he is on the court. Once again, McKenney played a strong game as the Bears in the season.
