Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. DuPont...

I am pleased that Mr. James DuPont felt the time to respond to my letter opposing the foreign language requirement for all students. I think his article on the subject is one of my best in the last year, and I was glad to see him agree with me on the issue.

First, Mr. DuPont, I do respect you. You are clearly a person who disagrees with the SGA, however, I do not respect you or the comments you have made about me. I believe that all students, regardless of their background, deserve the opportunity to learn and grow. In this case, it is the SGA's job to make sure that all students have the chance to learn.

Secondly, Mr. DuPont, I will be taking foreign language courses at least two years, for language is a major of my major. Thus, I have nothing personal to gain by opposing a language requirement. I am fully aware that I will be participating in a government that is made up of people who have nothing personal to gain by participating in student government.

And yet, I may want to ask you if you have ever taken a course in college that you did not enjoy. I think you will reply, "not possibly." However, I can assure you that I have had courses that I did not enjoy. There are certain courses that I feel should be taken by all students, regardless of their major.

Mr. DuPont, if you would be so kind as to read my letter to the Editor, I am sure you will agree that I have a different opinion on the matter.

"Letting Opinion Distract Fact"

Mr. DuPont,

This is in response to your letter in last week’s Comment opposing the proposed foreign language G.E.R. I must admit you made some interesting points, however, I still believe that I have a different idea of what should be required of all students.

In my opinion, it is essential that all students learn a second language. This would not only be beneficial to their future, but it would also help them to understand other cultures and perspectives.

FIRE @ GREAT HILL

Fire alarms are a critical component of any building’s safety system. However, some people may not take them seriously enough. In this article, we’ll discuss the importance of fire alarm systems and provide tips on how to ensure they’re working properly.

FIRE ALARMS

Fire alarms provide an early warning of a fire, giving occupants time to evacuate safely. They are an important part of the building’s fire safety system, and regular testing is essential to ensure they are functioning correctly.

Regular testing:

- Conduct monthly testing to ensure all fire alarm systems are functioning properly.
- Test smoke detectors and fire alarm systems simultaneously.
- Check the battery and backup power sources to ensure they’re charged and working correctly.

Proper maintenance:

- Have a professional perform annual testing and inspections.
- Replace batteries and smoke detectors as needed.
- Keep records of all testing and inspections for future reference.

By following these guidelines, you can help ensure your building’s fire alarm system is functioning correctly and ready to protect you in the event of a fire.

STATE STANDARDS

Alabama’s Postsecondary Education Coordinating Board has approved new state standards for postsecondary education. These standards aim to improve the quality of education and help students achieve their career and personal goals.

The new standards cover a range of areas, including academic programs, student services, and workforce development. They are designed to ensure that students receive a high-quality education that prepares them for success in their chosen fields.

For more information on these new standards, visit the Alabama Postsecondary Education Coordinating Board’s website.

QUESTIONS?

If you have any questions about these guidelines, contact your local fire department or a professional fire alarm system provider. They can provide you with additional information and guidance to help ensure your building’s fire alarm system is functioning correctly.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, fire alarms are a critical component of any building’s safety system. By following these guidelines, you can help ensure your building’s fire alarm system is functioning correctly and ready to protect you in the event of a fire. Take the time to test your fire alarms regularly and maintain them properly, and you’ll be better prepared to handle any emergency that may arise.

We hope you found this article helpful. For more information on fire alarm systems, visit the Fire Alarm Systems Association’s website.

Office of Student Life

Commentary:

To: Steve Norton

I am a freshman and I think you should go to The Office of Student Life.

At the very beginning of the semester, I had several problems. To begin with, I had to purchase my tickets to the Homecoming game, and I noticed an immediate problem. The Homecoming tickets were sold very quickly, which was a disappointment. I found myself waiting for an hour to purchase my ticket, which was frustrating. I thought that the ticketing process should have been more efficient.

I spoke to Mr. Hartel, the Resident Assistant for Housing, about my problem. He was helpful and listened to my concerns. He explained that the tickets were sold on a first-come, first-served basis, and that there were limited quantities available. He also suggested that I should try to arrive earlier in the future to ensure that I get the tickets I need.

I also had a problem regarding my Hope Pass. I had trouble supporting myself with the Hope Pass, which I found to be quite confusing. I spoke to Mr. Hartel about my concerns, but he was not able to provide me with any information regarding the Hope Pass.

I would like to suggest that The Office of Student Life should have more staff available to assist students with their concerns. It would be beneficial if there were more information readily available regarding the Hope Pass and other important issues.

I appreciate the help I received from Mr. Hartel and hope that The Office of Student Life will continue to offer the same level of support to all students.

Sincerely,

Mary Johnson

Dear Mr. DuPont...

I am pleased that Mr. James DuPont took the time to respond to my article on African language GER I must admit, however, that I had to come to the realization that his logic was not as well grounded as his article would suggest. His logic is built on the notion to the merits of the issue-whether or not foreign languages should be included in the curriculum. For all students to acquire the skills needed to survive in the modern world, the study of foreign languages is essential. However, I must oppose Mr. DuPont's argument by demonstrating the necessity of the study of foreign languages. I believe that the study of foreign languages is essential for all students.

Secondly, Mr. DuPont, I will be taking foreign language courses for at least two years, for language is a tool of the mind. Thus, I have nothing personal to gain by opposing the recommendation of the Board of Education for participating in a foreign language course. I am writing this letter because of a misunderstanding with the Board of Education. All students, whether or not they will be exposed to a foreign language in college or not, must have such exposure to foreign language in high school. The Board of Education has not decided to discourage African GER. It has decided to include an announcement in the Board of Education's bulletin that GER courses would be given to all students.

Mr. DuPont, you are responding to my letter in last week’s Comment opposing the proposed foreign language GER I must admit you made some valid points, but I believe my points were clearer, and they were more precise. I don't know what it is about the exercise that makes me feel better, but I think it's the combination of the physical activity and the positive atmosphere that makes me feel better. I'm thinking of going to the gym this morning to see if I can get a workout in before my classes start. Do you have any tips for staying motivated when it comes to exercise?

Homecoming Tickets

I would just like to write to say that I agree with you. I think that homecoming tickets should be sold in an effort to raise money for the Lincoln Homecoming. Much to my dismay, I saw that in the tickets to Lincoln's homecoming, they stopped selling tickets for Friday night and said that we were only going to sell tickets for Saturday night. This is not what I expected at all, and I think that it is unfair. What do you think?

Thank You
