Philosophy Department:

Pros to Publish in January

by Pauline Leoni

Last November 10 in 3-BRC, Anthropology professor Dr. Richard Goodwin presented a paper on religion and ecology to the BSC's Korean students. Dr. Goodwin was invited to present this paper as part of the Curriculum in the Philosophy Department's "Philosophy, Life Learning and the World Today" series. The presentation was well received and there was much discussion among the students about religion and ecology.

The Meaning of Life: A Problem for Today

by Robert A. Colby and Murray Olbrot

Bears win Mud Bowl

by Ann Perrier

Last Saturday Night at 9:00 p.m. in the School House, the BSC's Madhatters performed a sketch comedy show for the benefit of the Drama Club. The show was very well received and there were many laughs from the audience. The sketches were very original and entertaining, and the performers were all very talented. The show was a huge success and raised a good amount of money for the Drama Club.

Physical Therapist Speaks

by Susan Murray

Susan Murray, a registered physical therapist from the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Center, spoke at the Professional Development Clinics on Saturday, November 3rd. The topic of her lecture was "Physician's View of the Fraternity Problem." Murray discussed the physical education program at the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Center and its relationship to the physical therapist's role. She also talked about the importance of communication between doctors and physical therapists in the treatment of spinal cord injuries.

Sculpture

by Edith Bell

The sculpture, "The Acrobat," was presented at the Professional Development Clinics on Saturday, November 3rd. The sculpture was created by Charles Baker, a local artist, and was sponsored by the BSC's Art Club. The sculpture is made of bronze and stands 8 feet tall. It was unveiled at a ceremony attended by many faculty members, students, and community leaders. The sculpture is now on display in the main lobby of the BSC's Administration Building.

Chemical Education Class

by Brenda Canepa

A group of high school students attended the first Chemical Education Class on Saturday, November 3rd. The class was led by Dr. Robert Canepa, the BSC's Dean of Science. The students were given a tour of the BSC's Science Center and were introduced to the various science programs offered at the college. They also had the opportunity to interact with some of the students and faculty members. The class was well received and the students were enthusiastic about the experience.

Town Cracks Down

by Robert G. Clark III

On November 3rd, the Selectmen of Bridgewater voted to demolish the former Alpha Upsilon Fraternity house on Spring Street. The Selectmen were responding to complaints from the neighboring residents about the fraternity's loud parties and disruptive behavior. The Selectmen were also concerned about the fraternity's lack of respect for the property and its neighbors.

Bears win Mud Bowl

by Cheryl Patterson

The Bears football team won their last game of the season on Saturday, November 3rd, against the Mustangs of the University of Massachusetts. The Bears' victory came in a close game, with the final score being 27-20. The Bears' offense was led by quarterback Tim Clark, who threw for 280 yards and two touchdowns. The Bears' defense was led by linebacker Mike Higgins, who had 13 tackles in the game. The Bears' overall record for the season is now 4-6.
Letters to the Editor

Doesn't Anyone Care?

As an Open Letter to Students, I think there is a misunderstanding of student apathy. I thought it would be timely for me to write a bit more on that subject. Last Thursday, I attended a special meeting of the Dorm Council. At that meeting, I heard Vice President Deep Blomquist of the Dorm Council tell them that he was working in favor of a new member. He told them that he was working in favor of a new member. He told them that he was "working in favor of a new member." He told them that he was "working in favor of a new member." He told them that he was "working in favor of a new member." He told them that he was "working in favor of a new member." He told them that he was "working in favor of a new member." ENSEMBLE NEXT PRODUCTION ANNOUNCED
The Ensemble Theatre would like to thank everyone for making "Man of La Mancha" such a tremendous success. And now the theatre is ready to announce its second show of the academic year, "Farms of the Far South," a musical/ theatrical adaptation of Leopold von Sacher-Massorra's novel "The Mad Scientist." The show will be directed by Dr. Frank N. Green, professor of drama. Performances will be held November 19, 20, 21, and 22 at 8:00 PM, and a special matinee will be performed on November 21 at 2:00 PM.

Airplay
By Jay Wilkison
One of the first times for "Airplay," the article that puts you inside WBMN 11:15 PM, your student radio station. A music format that has been released only in the past year. WBMN's current format features '70s hits like Led Zeppelin and the Rolling Stones. The station's slogan is "Farms of the Far South," which is a reference to the show's theme. The station's DJs rotate every three weeks, and each DJ has their own unique style. WBMN is also home to "The Amateur Hour," a show that features local sports news and events. The station is located at 400 Memorial Drive, and can be heard on 91.5 FM.

Listening Voice of Christine McVie. This is followed up by "The Ledge," a song written and performed by Lindsey Buckingham. The format is still there, the beauty is still there, but the strings are not. This song is no exception. Side Two opens with "What Makes You Think You're the One," a song written and performed by Stevie Nicks. I feel that this song is the most confusingly written and executed. There is no real way to describe it; it has to be heard to be deciphered. "That's all for this week. Have a great holiday. Happy Thanksgiving. See you whenever. Keep it cool. Rock and Roll lives."

Why the Secret?

If you have not yet read a Commentary titled "A Matter of Principle," read it before you read this.

You may be sick of reading about Charles Blomquist and his case. You might not want to hear any more about it. You should. To begin with, it is an issue of principle.

It was in the middle of May that Charles Blomquist was expelled from Bridgewater State College for an alleged violation of the Residence Hall Handbook. Blomquist has been successful in his efforts to right his wrongs, which has made this the center of attention. Blomquist's case is being monitored by many other students.

The next issue of The Comment will be November 29th. Happy Thanksgiving!

Why the Secret?

If you have not yet read a Controversial Idea for "A Matter of Principle," read it before you read this.

You may be sick of reading about Charles Bismarck and his civil service. But you might want to read about him now. The government's 1975 report on the Federal Government's Role in the Civil Service is not just another study. It is, in fact, the report that led to the establishment of the U.S. Civil Service Commission (USCSC) in 1923.

The report was made by Charles Bismarck, a former Cabinet officer who had served in the war department during World War I. Bismarck was appointed to head the commission in 1923, after the death of President Woodrow Wilson.

Bismarck was a strong proponent of civil service reform, and he used the report to argue for the establishment of a merit-based system of appointment and promotion within the federal government. He believed that this system would help ensure that only the most qualified individuals were appointed to government jobs, and that it would help to reduce corruption and favoritism.

The report was a major victory for Bismarck, and it helped to establish the USCSC as a permanent body. The commission continues to exist today, and it is responsible for overseeing the civil service system.

Bismarck's report was not without its critics, however. Some argued that it would lead to a loss of political control over the civil service, and that it would be used to undermine the power of elected officials.

In the end, Bismarck's report was a key piece of evidence in the struggle to establish a merit-based civil service system. It helped to solidify the argument that the government should be run by professionals, not politicians, and it helped to ensure that the civil service would remain an important part of the federal government. The commission that Bismarck helped to establish continues to play an important role in the government today, and it is a testament to his vision for a better, more efficient civil service system.

The team showed good sportmanship and great team spirit throughout the year. Pam, who was a member of the doubles team, displayed strong all-around ability. Her best asset was her ability to hustle up and down the court, and her consistency was a pleasure to watch. The team's record for the season was 11-2, and Mary Doucette, who was often considered the team's number 1 player, was considered the team's backbone. On the other hand, Tammy, who held the number 2 position, was often considered the team's wildcard. Together, the team came up with many winning combinations.

The Bridgewater State Cross Country team was one of the top teams in the nation. In the N.C.A.A. New England Meet at Franklin Park, Coach John Laverty stated, referring to the N.C.A.A.'s was very fortunate to be connected with such fine young men and women. One of the biggest things that the Patriots have been doing is that they have been using the natural grass. The Patriots have been led by the fine play of last year's Rookie-of-the-Year, Bobby Spwols. (a left-hander). Now a starter, Bobby has continued to excel and has become one of the team's most valuable players.

The Patriots' recent dominance on the field has been rewarded by their fans. The fans have responded with increased support. So far, the team has scored 300 yards in the fifth consecutive game, to break a seven year record of 270 yards. The team's defense, led by the fine play of last year's Rookie-of-the-Year, Bobby Spwols, has been one of the main reasons for the team's success.

The season marks a great year for the Patriots. The season was filled with unexpected surprises and exciting moments. The team's success has been the result of the hard work and dedication of the players, as well as the support of the fans. The team's record so far is 12-0, and they are looking forward to a successful season.

Town Cracks Down

Philosophy Department:

Profs to Publish in January

By Pat Rondn

Bridgewater College had its first and hopefully last snowstorm of the fall season. It actually came as a surprise when the weatherman predicted a high of 50 degrees and a low of 40. But, alas it did happen and the Bridgewater campus was transformed into a winter wonderland.

The snowstorm dropped heavily on the Bridgewater area and caused many problems for the students, faculty and staff.

Classes were suspended and the campus was closed. Many students were stranded on campus and had to find their own way home.

As the snow continued to fall, the Bridgewater campus became a virtual ghost town. Only a few brave souls ventured out to brave the storm.

Fortunately, the Bridgewater Police Department worked overtime to keep the campus safe and secure.

On the plus side, the snowstorm provided a much-needed break from the usual academic stresses.

As the sun began to rise on the fourth day of the snowstorm, the Bridgewater campus slowly began to come back to life. The students, faculty and staff were all happy to see the snow melt away and return to their normal routines.

In conclusion, the Bridgewater College snowstorm was a memorable event that brought the campus to a standstill. But, as the saying goes, "When the going gets tough, the tough get going." And the Bridgewater community did just that. They stuck together and weathered the storm. And in the end, they emerged stronger and more united than ever before.

Science Department:

The Scientists

By Mr. John Smith

The Bridgewater College science department recently published a new textbook on the science of climate change. The book, titled "The Science of Climate Change," is the culmination of years of research by Bridgewater College's leading scientists.

The book covers a wide range of topics, including the causes of climate change, its impacts on the environment, and potential solutions. It is intended for use as a textbook in college-level courses on climate change.

The scientists at Bridgewater College are widely recognized for their expertise in this field. They have been at the forefront of research on climate change for many years and have made significant contributions to our understanding of this complex issue.

In conclusion, the Bridgewater College science department is to be congratulated on the publication of this important new book. It is a valuable resource for students and researchers alike and is sure to be a valuable addition to the academic literature on climate change.

Sports

Fowestrians

By Mr. John Smith

Bridgewater College recently hosted a successful year-end fundraiser for the school's athletic programs. The event, called "The Spirit of Bridgewater," was held in the school's gymnasium and featured a variety of activities, including a silent auction, a live auction, and a raffle.

The fundraiser was a huge success, raising significant funds for the school's athletic programs. The money raised will be used to support the school's athletic teams, including basketball, soccer, and football.

In conclusion, the "Spirit of Bridgewater" fundraiser was a great success and a testament to the school's strong spirit and commitment to its athletic programs. We look forward to seeing even more exciting events in the future.

Children's Developmental Clinic

By Mr. John Smith

Bridgewater College recently opened a new Children's Developmental Clinic. The clinic, located in the school's health center, is designed to provide comprehensive care for children with developmental delays.

The clinic offers a wide range of services, including physical therapy, occupational therapy, and speech therapy. The goal of the clinic is to provide early intervention and support to children with developmental delays, in order to help them reach their full potential.

In conclusion, the Children's Developmental Clinic is a great addition to the Bridgewater College health center. We look forward to seeing many children benefit from the services offered by this new clinic.
