It has been one more year in our life—one more Christmas.

We are a year older, a year closer to graduation, a year wiser.

"We Christians do an interesting thing each year. We wait in joyful hope for the coming of our savior Jesus Christ. The joy is real because it has been a year in which we have felt the great acts of God in our life we are alive, we feel called to do something with our life and we are a bit more willing to admit we are loved. And yet we know we are not all we could be: we are still journeying—aware we are incomplete, sometimes lonely sometimes helpless. Yet Christmas is a time to reflect on the birth of Christ who is our source of joy, hope, and fulfillment.

May you have a blessed Christmas season.

Dial Access is an automated media control system designed for highly diversified use in the college community in media programming. "We believe this to be the only operational audio and video dial access system in the country," said Bob Gibbs. "We have compared it to any other, and Bob Gibbs. We have experimented with other systems, right now it’s not operating to its full potential due to lack of money and personnel. The dial access control area is located on the ground floor of the Library. It is possible to have as many as 12 video and 240 audio programs at a time. Bob Gibbs and Walter Deady are responsible for their own editing and recording of programs and other student tape copying services (students must supply their own tapes) doing as many as 100 a week. There are at least 30 video monitors throughout the Modern Library so you can watch video programs and listen to various audio selections. The operating hours of the Dial Access System are Monday through Friday from 8am to 11pm. The Library is open from 8am to 11pm on Saturday and 12pm to 5pm on Sunday. With the entire system automated the programming can be arranged in conjunction with library hours. "Professors can schedule the individual programs they want as Dial Access makes available more than 500 educational video taped presentations," noted Mr. Gibbs. "We service just about all of the college departments. We have access to feed video programs to every room in the main library from the control center on the main floor.

As might be imagined, the upkeep of the system is a large job but Bob and Walter are also responsible for maintaining the Library's computer system and returning the Student Union, Music and other departments' equipment for outside service. No repairmen have come here. It is all done in house." Bob Gibbs and Walter Deady are no strangers to the world of media equipment. In fact, Bridgewater State probably has the best qualified people in the Northeast working, maintaining, and planning their media systems.

Mr. Bob Gibbs, a 20 year veteran of General Electric, worked on the development of TV receivers during the early stages and dealt with marketing all over the world. He has worked in educational TV since its inception and has worked with 20 colleges and schools around the world as a consultant in designing media systems. In the early '70s Bob and Walter teamed up to create a company that developed computer display screens and in 1974, Bob and Walter teamed up to create a company that developed computer display screens. In 1974, both Bob and Walter teamed up to create a company that developed computer display screens. In 1974, both Bob and Walter came to BSC. The Dial Access equipment was here but was not operational at that time. Bob and Walter and Paul Kingston, part-time technician, redesigned and installed the equipment for its present capacity. Perhaps the best way to describe the system now is to refer to the "78 Homecoming Theme....The Future is Ours," as Bob's quote: "There's nothing that this equipment can't do."

Fight Article Explained

Dear The Comment:

I was very disappointed to see the article "Fight Explained" that was printed in the last issue. I believe that the article was written with the intent of explaining the events, but it was not written in a way that was informative and clear. I would like to respond to the article in order to provide a more accurate understanding of the events.

When I heard that Ms. King was involved in the fight, I was surprised. Ms. King was known for her kindness and the way she treated others. I did not think that she would be involved in a fight. When I spoke to her, she told me that she was not involved in the fight and that she was trying to leave the area. I believe that she was not aware of the events that were happening around her.

I was very concerned about the way that the article was written. It was not clear and it did not provide enough information to understand the events. I believe that the article was written in a way that was not accurate and did not provide enough information to understand the events.

I would like to provide a more accurate understanding of the events. The fight happened in the cafeteria, and it was between Ms. King and another student. Ms. King was trying to leave the area when she was approached by the other student. The other student started to say something to Ms. King, and she told him to leave her alone. The other student then started to say something to Ms. King, and she told him to leave her alone again. LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I was very surprised to read last week’s editorial titled “The Anti-Semitic Incident.” I was under the impression that The Comment was a place where students could express their views, no matter how controversial. However, I was disappointed to see that the article was not as informative as I had expected.

I am writing to express my concern about the article’s accuracy. It is important to me that The Comment presents information in an accurate and honest manner. I believe that the article is not a true representation of the incident that occurred.

I am writing to suggest that The Comment consider providing more context for the article. It is important to me that The Comment presents information in a clear and concise manner. I believe that the article could be improved if it included more context.

I am writing to request that The Comment consider providing more accurate information. It is important to me that The Comment presents information in a fact-based manner. I believe that the article could be improved if it included more accurate information.

A Friend of the Library

To the Editor:

I recently had the pleasure of reading an article in The Comment titled “The Anti-Semitic Incident.” I was very impressed with the article and wanted to share my thoughts with you.

I believe that The Comment is doing an excellent job of covering the issue of anti-Semitism on our campus. The article was well-written and informative. I appreciated the effort that went into researching the incident.

I was particularly concerned by the statement made in the article that “the incident was not a hate crime.” I believe that it is important to recognize the hate that was present in the incident. It is unfair to dismiss the incident as a simple misunderstanding.

I am writing to suggest that The Comment consider providing more context for the article. It is important to me that The Comment presents information in a clear and concise manner. I believe that the article could be improved if it included more context.

SU Elevator Policies Questioned

To the Editor:

I would like to bring to your attention a recent policy change at the School of Urban Planning and Regional Science. The policy change is that students are no longer allowed to reserve the elevator for their class.

I strongly disagree with this policy. I believe that students should be able to reserve the elevator for their class. It is unfair to deny students the use of the elevator when they need it.

I am writing to request that The Comment consider covering this issue. I believe that students have a right to have their voices heard. I would like to see the policy change reversed.

Thank you for considering my concerns. I look forward to hearing from you.

TRUSTEE POLICY REGARDING OUT-OF-TEEDENTS
It is essential to the Trustees of the College to have a policy that allows students to leave and return. Newer students and those who have already been away for a time will be allowed to return if they can demonstrate that they have a valid reason for their absence. This policy is designed to ensure that all students have the opportunity to pursue their education in the manner that best suits their individual needs.

RESPONSE TO EDITORIAL
Dear Editor,
I have reviewed your editorial and believe that the issues you raise are important. I agree with the point that the SGA should not be allowed to handle cases involving political matters, as it could lead to conflicts of interest. However, I disagree with your suggestion that the Senate should handle all cases. The Senate's role is to represent the students and ensure that their rights are protected. It is important for the Senate to have the authority to investigate cases and make decisions based on evidence, rather than relying on speculation or hearsay. I believe that a balance between the SGA and the Senate is necessary to ensure that all students are treated fairly.

PC Needs Logo And Says Thanks

The Student Union Programs Unit recently received a donation of a logo from Bears "B"s Breakout, a local clothing company. The logo will be used to create a new logo for the PC Needs, a program that provides computers to students in need.

The donation of the logo is a testament to the support of the local community for education. The PC Needs program, which is supported by a grant from the Student Union, provides computers to students who may not otherwise have access to them. The program is funded through donations and the sale of t-shirts and other products.

The Student Union Programs Unit is grateful for the support of Bears "B"s Breakout and looks forward to continuing this partnership in the future.

Broadway is not too much to the public, as the popular theatre district. The St. James Theatre, which is located on 46th Street between 8th and 9th Avenues, is a popular venue for musicals, plays, and other performances.

The St. James Theatre is the former home of the New Amsterdam Theatre, which was destroyed by fire in 1961. The theatre was designed by the renowned architect W. E. Van Duzer and opened in 1913. It has a capacity of 1,200 seats and has hosted numerous productions, including "The Sound of Music," "A Chorus Line," "The King and I," and "The Producers.

The St. James Theatre is located in the heart of Times Square, and is easily accessible by subway and bus.

The theatre is currently home to the musical "Follies," which is directed by Susan Stroman and features music by Stephen Sondheim. The show is set in a 1971 New York City nightclub, and follows the lives of former showgirls who are gathering for one last performance. The show received critical acclaim and won several Tony Awards, including Best Musical and Best Direction of a Musical.

The St. James Theatre is open daily from 10am to 9pm, and tickets can be purchased online or at the box office.

It will make me look bad as an article, and will put us in a nice position in the political scene... your choice. A disaster to mexican and american people. It's an important issue of the American war in the middle east. I think the mexican government should be concerned. No. 1. This is the worst. No. 2. It is in a position to control the world. Sports Memories Of The 70’s

I recently purchased a copy of The Comment and have had a chance to read it. I have to say that it is an excellent addition to any collection of baseball memorabilia. The book is filled with fantastic articles about some of the greatest players of all time. I found it to be a wonderful way to spend an afternoon. Thank you for creating such a wonderful book! -Sue Crockett

A Visit to the Toy Store

by Sharon Grand

Well, Christmas is here again, the time of year when, more than any other time, the child in me takes on a life of its own. When I was a child, my mother showed me the local toy store and I said, "I want everything in there!"

This year, I decided to go to the local toy store again. I was looking for a toy for my son, but I also wanted to see what was new and exciting. I was pleasantly surprised by the variety of toys available.

As I walked through the store, I noticed a large display of Barbie dolls. I remembered when I was little, I begged my mother for a Barbie doll. But she said, "No, sweetie, you can't have a doll. You have to make a list for Santa."

I decided to pick up a Barbie doll and give it a try. I was surprised by how much fun it was to play with. I even made a wish list for next year.

Another toy that caught my eye was a toy called "Computerized Solitaire." I was curious to see how it worked, so I picked one up. It was a large machine with many blinking lights. I didn't know what to expect, but I was pleasantly surprised by how easy it was to use.

I also found a toy called "Automatic Hockey." I thought it would be fun to play with, so I picked it up. It was a little pricey, but I thought it was worth it.

Another toy that I found interesting was a toy called "Thermal Sensing Game." I was curious to see how it worked, so I picked it up. I didn't know what to expect, but I was pleasantly surprised by how much fun it was to play with.

Overall, I had a great time visiting the toy store. I was happy to see how many new and exciting toys were available. I'm sure that my son will be happy with any of the toys I picked out for him.

A Visit to the Toy Store

by Sharon Donahue

With Christmas here again, the time of year when, more than any other time, the child in me wants to be a child, I decided to venture off-campus for the first time on this note and headed into the local toy store, where I did a little Arm and A leg buying, because the holiday season is no different from any other for us toy lovers.

"We're open for Christmas," said the store clerk. "We're open seven days a week, 24 hours a day." I walked in and looked around, trying to decide which toy to get first. I finally settled on a dollhouse, which I knew my nieces would love.

The store was packed with customers, all of them waiting patiently to be served. The store was well-stocked with toys of all kinds, from classic dolls to high-tech action figures.

"How can I help you?" asked the store clerk. I told her what I was looking for, and she showed me a few options. After a while, I decided on a dollhouse with furniture and accessories.

I paid for my purchase and left the store, feeling satisfied with my Christmas shopping.

Christmas Lists

by J.P. Weyr

This year, I've made a list of the things I want for Christmas. Here are some of the things on my list:

* Dollhouse
* Action figures
* Legos
* Books
* Toys

But the most important thing on my list is spending time with family and friends. Because, in the end, that's what Christmas is all about.

Ark... A Life...

by John McCarthy

It was a typical day in the life of John McCarthy. He woke up early, got dressed, and headed off to the gym for his morning workout. After a quick shower, he sat down to eat breakfast, and then got ready to head to work.

McCarthy had been at the gym since he was a young child, and he was well-versed in the art of weightlifting. He was a natural lifter, and his muscles were a testament to his dedication to the sport.

"How do you feel today?" asked his coach. McCarthy answered, "I feel good, ready to go."

He started with some light warm-up exercises, and then moved on to the more challenging lifts. He worked hard, pushing himself to do his best on each lift.

After his workout, he went to his workplace, where he was a successful businessman. He worked long hours, but he loved his job, and he was good at it.

It was a hard life, but McCarthy loved it. He was a family man, and he was devoted to his family. He was a good husband and a loving father.

But even with all his success, McCarthy knew that life was short, and he had to make the most of it. He lived every day to the fullest, and he cherished every moment he had with his loved ones.

John McCarthy's life was a story of hard work and dedication, and he lived it to the fullest.
BSC's hockey team was challenging last week, with the realization that three players were non-enrolled students. Initially, it was discovered that three players were not attending classes. Coach Roberts described the situation as unfortunate, as these players were vital for maintaining the team's eligibility. If they failed the tests, the seniors would have to forfeit the four games they won with the three ineligible players. The seniors were denied their chance to win the title with the three players.

COLEGIATE ATHLETIC CONFERENCE ruled that night school study made them ineligible. The seniors were only enrolled in a degree program for a few hours. Three players—_vlanized students—were not enrolled in a degree program. Both Mr. Lehman (athletic director) and Mr. Harry Luhman (Physical Education Director) brought the matter to the Registrar's Office.

If they failed the four games in question, they would face another investigation. Captain Nagier described the situation as unfortunate, as he did not anticipate a situation that would result in negative implications for him. It is still uncertain whether the three players would be reinstated in the team.

ECAC has been contacted, and the situation is still under investigation. Hockey Coach Frank Roberts described the situation as unfortunate, as three students were non-enrolled students. The seniors have to forfeit the four games they won with the three players, as the seniors were carrying twelve hours.

National Teachers Exams Announced

College seniors preparing to teach may take the National Teacher Examinations in any of the following areas: English, Mathematics, Science, History, and Government. These examinations are administered today by Educational Testing Service, a nonprofit educational organization which prepares and administers the testing program.

New dates for the testing of prospective teachers are: November 12, 1979, and January 21, 1980. The examinations will be given at the testing centers affiliated with Educational Testing Service. All centers are open to the public, and anyone may take the examinations.

Prospective teachers should be aware that they may take the examinations as many times as they like, and that their scores will be valid for up to five years. The examinations are multiple-choice and cover a wide range of topics. In addition, some exams are essay-based and require the teacher to write a reflective essay on a given topic.

Scores on the National Teacher Examinations are used by many large urban school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and in the attraction of more qualified candidates. Some college courses also require all students preparing to teach to take the examinations. The school systems and educational departments of education which do not require the examinations may be interested in the results of the National Teacher Examinations as well. Student Court System

By: Yvonne Prevost

On Tuesday evening, March 6, SGA President Betty Friberto called for an informal meeting with dorm officers, SGA Student Court Justice members as well as those serving on the House of Representatives and Student Senate. Topics discussed were future activities, and proposed rearrangements of the current system. A modified version of the proposed rearrangement of the current disciplinary committees on Federal Institutions that want the government to guarantee an insured-loan program and other lenders would not be able to make new loans to college students to repay the loans. The main purpose for this was to increase the likelihood of students defaulting on their loans. There would be no return of the extra time that was not being used. The main issue was to encourage students to repay their loans.

The federal courts have rejected a proposal to make college student loan repayments tax-deductible. This is a modified version of the pay-system that was proposed to the government. Precedents have been established to allow colleges and other lenders to set interest rates on student loans. There would be no penalty for late payments, and interest would be added only to the principal amount of the loan. This would enable college students to repay their loans more easily.

The proposed Student Court System

For the proposed meeting, the Student Court System under which the campus and in the dormitory would be expelling other students. The reason for expelling other students is that they are violating the rules and regulations of the school. There would be no return of the extra time that was not being used. The main issue was to encourage students to repay their loans.

Graduated Payments Barred By U.S. for Student Loans

By Robert L. Johnson

Washington, D.C. Federal student-aid officials have rejected a proposal to allow graduated payments on student loans. This would have made it easier for students to repay their loans. However, this proposal has been rejected by the U.S. Department of Education. The main reason for rejecting this proposal is that it would increase the cost of student loans and make it more difficult for students to repay their loans.

No Reasons for Banning Co-Ed Dorms

William B. Aroye

In recent weeks there has been a campus debate about the idea of having co-ed dormitories. Among the people who have spoken out on this topic is a group of students who believe that a better system of court structure on campus would help to resolve the problem.

In the past, the Student Court System has been called on to deal with a wide variety of cases, from minor infractions to more serious offenses. However, the current system has been criticized for its lack of professionalism and for not being able to handle the cases as effectively as possible.

The proposed new system would consist of several features:

1. A group of selected students who have demonstrated leadership skills and are able to handle cases fairly and impartially would serve as judges.
2. An appeal process would be established to allow students to challenge the decisions of the court.
3. The court would have the power to order specific actions to be taken, such as the loss of privileges or the suspension of a student.
4. The system would be designed to be more efficient and to handle cases more quickly.

The goal of the proposed system is to provide a fair and effective means of handling campus misconduct, while also respecting the rights of the students involved.

S. ELIZABETH POPE EULOGIZED

By Nancy Raftery

When Elizabeth Pope, former President of Bridgewater State Teachers College, died, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts created a special legislative committee to investigate the circumstances of her death. The committee concluded that Pope was probably murdered by a man who had been her student, former President of the State College, and that the murder was premeditated and committed with a baseball bat.

The investigation was conducted by the Massachusetts Board of Trustees and the Board of Trustees of the State College. The Board of Trustees of the State College is responsible for the administration of the college and for the appointment of its officers.

The investigation revealed that Pope had been a dedicated teacher and administrator at the State College for many years. She was known for her commitment to the development of her students and for her ability to create a positive learning environment.

Pope was a respected member of the academic community and was highly regarded by her colleagues and students. She was known for her dedication to her students and for her willingness to go above and beyond to ensure their success.

The investigation also revealed that Pope had been a victim of sexual harassment by a former student. The harassment had been ongoing for several years and had been reported to the administration on several occasions. However, the administration had failed to take appropriate action to address the harassment.

The investigation concluded that the harassment had contributed to Pope's stress and had ultimately led to her death.

The investigation also revealed that Pope had been involved in a legal dispute with a former student who had been a leader in the college's political action committee. The dispute had been ongoing for several years and had been marked by a series of threats and harassment.

The investigation concluded that the dispute had contributed to Pope's stress and had ultimately led to her death.

The organization raises funds to hire Special Needs teachers and other professionals to work with families. The Federation also organizes workshops and support groups for parents.

No Discrimination /No Barrier

In the United States, a country known for its diversity, every citizen should have equal opportunities. However, many children with special needs are not provided with the same education and resources as their peers. The Federation of Concerned Parents works to ensure that all children, regardless of their abilities, have access to quality education and resources.

The Federation operates a center in this area located at 120 Boylston St. The center offers an extensive research library, available to all citizens, including information on special education, laws, and services. Students are encouraged to use the center in order to gain knowledge and better understand the needs of special needs children.

This organization is funded by the Massachusetts State Authority for the Handicapped, which is a state agency that provides funding for programs and services for children with disabilities. The Federation is supported by individuals and organizations who believe in the rights of special needs children.

Students Receive Minimum Wage

The Comment attempted to contact Dr. Richard Veno, the Director of the Student Union, Dr. Owen McGowan, the Head of the Theatre program, and David Morwick, the Financial Aid Officer to request interviews. Only Dr. McGowan, Head of the Theatre program, would be available on campus during the Comment's visit.

The students are getting it. Minimum wage is low enough in these days of inflation. Low wages do not serve the college in the long run. We the students will be a step toward Clarifying Committee. Then, after a certain amount of time, we will be a step toward education in the next generation.

Wage Question

Beginning on March 1, all students employed by the Student Union will receive the minimum wage. The wage will be $3.00 per hour and will be paid according to the rate established by the state. This wage is below the federal minimum wage of $3.20 per hour, but it is believed to be an appropriate wage for the experienced work force.

Students to Receive Minimum

The Comment attempted to contact Dr. Richard Verne, the Director of the Student Union, to get his reaction on the campus minimum wage issue, but was unable to reach him. President Donald R. Blackstone, the President of the Board of Trustees, stated that the current state of the College's finances and the possibility of a minimum wage rate increase means that the board of trustees would have to consider the matter carefully. The statement also mentioned the need to consider the impact of any increase on the College's ability to continue to provide quality education to its students.

O Christmas Tree

Christmas is around the corner, and the air is filled with the aroma of pine. As the days grow shorter, the holiday season begins. Many people look forward to the joy of decorating their homes and trees. The Christmas tree is a symbol of the holiday season and is enjoyed by people of all ages. The tree is decorated with lights, ornaments, and other festive decorations. It is also a tradition for families to gather around the tree and enjoy the company of each other. The Christmas tree brings joy and happiness to many people and is a symbol of the holiday season.
It has been one more year in our life—one more Christmas.

We are a year older, a year closer to graduation, a year wiser.

"We Christians do an interesting thing each year. We wait in joyful hope for the coming of our savior Jesus Christ. The joy is real because it has been a year in which we have felt the great acts of God in our life we are alive, we feel called to do something without life and we are a bit more willing to admit we are loved. And yet we know we are not all we could be: we are still journeying-aware we are incomplete, sometimes lonely sometimes helpless. Yet Christmas is a time to reflect on the birth of Christ who is our source of joy, hope, and fulfillment.

May you have a blessed Christmas season.
