Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

On Tuesday, Feb. 19, 1980, the Mass. Police arrived at the College to ticket about 20 cars, which were parked in the new Campus Police ticketed about 20 cars, which were parked in the new lot on Feb. 20; ’80, all vehicles parked in this lot are acceptable for us to park in this lot prior to administering the penalties. When we went over to the campus police station to find out why we were ticketed, we were informed that the lot we were using is not a safe walk due to the crazy dirt lot in which drivers pull into the lot. The dirt lot is placed on it.

The mud just swallows up whatever water is placed on it. It is a major disadvantage. When the transportation committee was working on this situation, they stated that we were parked in a "no parking" area because we were not on the college property. We, the students of the college, feel that you should have to suffer from someone else's carelessness. You can not blame us for being careless.

Sincerely,

New Brothers

Each year during the spring semester, the Alpha and Omega chapters of Gamma Nu make an alumnus tour of the campus. Prospective members are greeted by the Alpha and Omega brothers of Gamma Nu in the new Fraternity House. The brothers of Alpha are welcoming these interested in considering chapter commitments to do. They are not natural! They are trying to stab each other in the back caring people who can never be for in the first place.

Many things we encounter and campus and I truly hope that you are not natural! They are trying to stab each other in the back caring people who can never be for in the first place.

Sincerely,

Response to Commentary

To: Members of the Bridgewater State College administration

The Bridgewater State College administration has been informed that sometime around 10:15 p.m. on May 19, 1979, an unknown person entered the administration building and set off a few smoke bombs. The persons responsible for doing this entered the administration building because they were unhappy about the way the administration is handling the biennial review and personnel issues.

If each person had taken a time to think about what they were doing, they might not do something dangerous. A major advantage. When the transportation committee was working on this situation, they stated that we were parked in a "no parking" area because we were not on the college property. We, the students of the college, feel that you should have to suffer for someone else's carelessness. You can not blame us for being careless.

Dear Editor:

In response to Mr. Kasten's letter in The Comment, I would like to point out a few inaccuracies. Mr. Kasten states that the editorial board is not responsible for the opinions expressed in the newsletter. This is incorrect, as the editorial board is responsible for the content of the newsletter. Additionally, Mr. Kasten's statement that the university's administration is not a legitimate news organization is also incorrect. The university's administration is a legitimate news organization and is responsible for the news that is reported by the university.

The Unmarried Man

by Jack Benfield

Being rewarded for his service by a woman, Richard Mississippi, whom he has married, seems to be all that is needed to make one content with life, but it is not true. Richard is not only the last straw for his beloved wife, but also the straw that breaks the camel's back. The Unmarried Man is a dark comedy about the struggles of a man and his wife, who are trying to make ends meet in a society that seems to have forgotten what it means to be human.

This is a new play with a lot of promise. It is a very funny production that uses a lot of satire and satire to make a point about the current political climate.

The Unmarried Man is a must-see for anyone who enjoys a good laugh and a good story. It is a play that is sure to leave you smiling and thinking about the world we live in.

Alumni Speak at Clinic

By Susan Larrow

On Saturday, February 23, Dr. Doug Collins and Mr. Bob Kasten, two recent graduates of Bridgewater State College, addressed the "Children's Physical Development Clinic." They spoke on the problems of emotionally disturbed children in the public school system. "It is difficult to find a program that fits all children," said Dr. Collins. "Each child is unique and has his or her own needs." Mr. Kasten added, "We need to develop programs that are flexible enough to meet the needs of each individual child." The new program involves a team approach where educators and parents work together to help children overcome their problems.

Bishop Visits Center

The Bishop was invited to the campus late last year and graciously accepted the invitation and told everyone that he feels "campus ministry is a very important function of the Catholic Center and meet with the many students, faculty, and administrative personnel. He was given a tour of the campus and was greeted by Dean J. Flanagan, Bishop of Worcester. The Bishop concelebrated the 10:45 Mass on Sunday, February 24, in the library of the Center where many from the Catholic Center, faculty, and students were present.

The Bishop arrived on campus at about 9:45 a.m. and was greeted by Dean Flanagan. He spent a reception in his honor. He spent a great deal of time talking with students, faculty, and administrative personnel. He was given a tour of the 1500 acre campus which is located in Massachusetts, a 1977 graduate of the Kolburne School. He explained, "The Kolburne School is based on an established program that people like Doug and Bob have begun and carry on our work." He continued, "We use our expertise to help children in need. We must develop a particular program to help these children." He added, "We must use our expertise in working with emotionally disturbed children in the public school system." The Bishop was then escorted to the Bishop's Office by Bill Kaste, a 1977 graduate of the Kolburne School. Bill Kaste explained, "Foster Homes are very important for children threatened with their lives." He continued, "The Bishop was very interested in the problems of emotionally disturbed children in the public school system. He feels that the Bishop Visits Center is a very important function of the Catholic Center and will continue to support the center in the future."

SPORTS

SWIMMING

The season began with an unseasonal burst of energy as the Bridgewater State University (BSU) Swim team closed out the winter season with a 70-6 and a 70-28 victory over the University of Rhode Island (URI) and the University of Massachusetts Boston (UMB) respectively. The BSU men's team, led by Seniors Demetrius Wright, Smith, and Wright's strong showing in the 500-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley, respectively, took home a second-place finish overall.

The BSU women's team, however, fell short in their efforts to replicate the men's success, finishing in fourth place overall. Despite this, BSU's Sara Scott displayed impressive swimming abilities, securing second place finishes in the 100-yard backstroke and 200-yard individual medley.

The BSU team's performance at the end of the season indicates a promising future for the program. With strong individual performances and a cohesive team spirit, BSU's Swim team is well-positioned to continue their upward trajectory in the upcoming season.
