Field Hockey
Stayns on Winning Side

Over the weekend of the last two weeks, the BC women's hockey team has remained unbeaten in the first two weekends of the season. The BC women's hockey team is off to a strong start in their 1980-1981 season.

The game against Holy Cross, the scoring efforts of Lisa Volchik and sophomore Karen Keegan kept the team out of the losing column. The BC women's hockey team needed two goals to beat the Holy Cross Crusaders, but the BC women's hockey team was able to do so.

Student Services

The Chapter has put together a student assistance fund. Mike Kryzanek, Joyce Marcus, Otto, Bill Levin, and Jim Brennen to the student assistance fund. Mike Kryzanek, Joyce Marcus, Otto, Bill Levin, and Jim Brennen have been working on this project for some time.

The assembled funds have received phone calls and questions concerning the undecided fate of the contract. When asked whether the college would actually withhold services, Elmer Angell said that he hoped they wouldn't have to and that a strike could be reached to the satisfaction of all concerned. But, Angell added, plans had to be formulated just in case. The Chapter has set up a Crisis Committee of Don Johnson, Joe Mullen, and Mike Kryzanek.

The campus-wide vote saw 1,244 eligible faculty, 810 of whom chose to send a clear signal to the Governor that we are entitled to a 10 per cent a year salary increase over a three-year period. We have to mount the most vigorous and effective protest we can to assure no harm coming to the faculty or the students education, Angell said. I hope everyone will respond, especially through this kind of treatment and this is the time to get informed and that everyone be made aware of what's really going on. BC students, faculty, and the general college community will be notified by the Commonwealth in the months of May through August, the Union spends a substantial portion of its money on the Student Union building. The Board of Governors and the Student Services Crisis Committee work on this project for some time.

Student Apathy Attacked

Open Letter to the Campus Community:

Student apathy has reached a crisis point on the B.S.C. campus. Rather than rallying to the cause of students’ rights, many students have chosen to ignore their responsibilities and the consequences of their actions.

The attitude of students toward the administration is one of indifference and disinterest. By failing to uphold their civic duties, students are undermining the democratic process and the principles upon which our society is built.

Open Letter to the Student Body:

Students are a) self-centered and b) fiscally irresponsible. They are bemoaning the shift in their solar system, a) free spending or b) free spending, and the loss of their rights. They are also bemoaning the rise in prices for the next generation, a) free spending or b) free spending, and the shift in their solar system.

Apathy is not just a problem on our campus; it is a problem throughout our society. We must all work together to combat this growing tide of apathy.

Is There Anybody Out There?

by N.C.L.

The Department of Psychology is sponsoring the following guest speakers in conjunction with the Psychology Club: Ms. Krystyna Dubois, a Social Worker at the Wrentham State School, who spoke about the methods of working with the mentally retarded, on Saturday, October 4, when the Children's Developmental Clinic hosted its first guest speaker of the semester.

The last thing that I would like to talk about is the importance of having eye contact and following the rules of the game. We have mentioned a few times, throughout the game, that we should never stop playing. If we do, it's over. This is important because if we don't follow the rules, we may not be able to play the game at all. We must learn how to follow the rules, and how to make decisions based on them.

The next step in teaching the trainable retarded is to "set situations." A example would be to indicate that eating is done on a round table top, table top, etc. Once again, the goal for the trainable retarded is Ms. Dubois' next recommendation. This is that we must "refine this outline. Now that the idea of the program has been outlined, the next step is to go over the hands of the community. The Bridgewater Energy Task force will be meeting at the Wrentham State School grounds on October 18th, from 11am to 3pm in conference rooms C and D of the Student Union.

Tackle Energy Prog

By Sue Asay

The Tackle Energy Program (T.E.P.) has been introduced to the Bridgewater community. The program is designed to help community members reduce their energy consumption.

A meeting was held last Monday, at which the bridgewater State School Board of Directors discussed the importance of energy conservation. President Mullen announced that the school has received a grant from the Department of Environmental Protection to fund the T.E.P.

Clinic Sees First Speaker

by N.C.L.

Dr. Harrington of the Political Science Department will be conducting a seminar on "The Role of Political Repression in Democratic Societies," on Tuesday, October 16, at 11am in room 207 of the Student Center. The seminar is open to all members of the Bridgewater community.

I believe they all can learn something from our society, from the way they function. The Wrentham State School Board of Directors has been interested in this topic since last year, and when the Children's Developmental Clinic hosted its first guest speaker of the semester, Ms. Dubois explained her method of working with the trainable retarded, which she described in her recent book. "The next step in teaching the trainable retarded is to create a "situation." A situation would be to indicate that eating is done on a round table top, table top, etc. Once again, the goal for the trainable retarded is Ms. Dubois' next recommendation. AC/DC ELECTRICITY

by Sharon Dietsch

Do you know who the father of punk is? It's a question you may not know the answer to, but you've heard about the music. The father of punk is Johnny Rotten of the band The Sex Pistols. He was the lead singer of the band and is known for his aggressive politics and provocative stage presence.

LUCIFER'S DIARY

Matthew Scobey's "Lucifer's Diary" has been released. The book is written in the form of a diary and is a collection of personal reflections and thoughts about the author's life and experiences. It is a powerful and thought-provoking read for anyone interested in exploring the human condition.

LOVE IN 1865

Virginia Sackville-West's "Love in 1865" is a novel set in the Victorian era. The story follows two characters, a man named Gilbert and a woman named Norah, as they navigate the challenges of love and relationship in the 19th century. The book is a poignant exploration of the complexities of human emotions and the nature of love.

PINTER PATTER

Trinity Square Repertory Company opens its Seventeenth Season in the downtown jockeys club with a production of Harold Pinter's classic

"The Birthday Party". Performances, which commence on Sept. 21, feature "the Birthday Party" which includes Alfie Basson, Charles and Percy, and "Almost, Mr. Marks" by David Bairstow, in which Robert Plummer, Jack Denham and Mark Gelb will create setting, costumes and lighting for "Beatrice". A formal dinner at the party will celebrate the relationship and introduce those who are checking out the Beatrice. The show, which opened on Broadway in 1956, is a collection of character sketches by Shell Duren, who won her first Tony Award for her role as Beatrice. The play features two main stories: the first is about a group of people who gather at a party to celebrate the birthday of one of them; the second is about an older woman who is visited by a young man who has just been released from prison. The production is directed by John Houseman and produced by David Merrick. The show played for 120 performances and was nominated for five Tony Awards, including Best Play and Best Director of a Play. The lead role of Beatrice was played by Geraldine Page, who won the Tony Award for Best Actress in a Play. The show also starred Joanne Woodward, who won the Tony Award for Best Actress in a Featured Role in a Play for her performance as Mrs. Abberline. The show was revived on Broadway in 1969 and 1987, and has also been produced in London, New York, and on tour in the United States. The show was published and produced by Samuel French Inc. and is available in many languages around the world. The show has been adapted into films and television series and has inspired many other works in the theatre and film industry. The show is considered a classic of modern drama and has had a lasting impact on the theatre world.
PINTER PATTER

Trinity Square Repertory Company opened its Seventeenth Season in Providence, Rhode Island, on September 12th with "The Rocky Horror Show," written by Richard O'Brien. The show is a musical adaptation of the cult classic film "The Rocky Horror Picture Show," which was released in 1975.

The musical follows the adventures of Dr. Frank-N-Furter, a Transylvanian scientist, as he brings to life an ancient obstruction from space. The cast includes several local actors, including Robert D. Soule, William Lane, and John F. Custer, as well as MaryBeth Lyon, Maureen MacDay, Donald Baillaigeon, Dave Winn, Susan Kane, and Sally." The performances have been scheduled for November 12 and 13 in the S. U. Oem. Room. There is a lot of loosely-tied storyling. Each person will portray a character and take you to be a part of it, we'd love to have you. We need help on all crews. For more information, contact Steve at 697-6851. We are also looking for a drummer to play for the performances.

BANNED AT BSC

The Rocky Horror Show opened on October 12th at the BSC Cinema in Providence, Rhode Island. The film was banned by the Board of Regents for的原因, as it was deemed to be controversial and inappropriate for the audience. The decision was made by the administration, who believed that the film did not align with the values and mission of the university.

The film was banned due to its explicit content, which includes scenes of nudity, violence, and profanity. The administration believed that these elements were not suitable for the student body and did not align with the university's mission. The decision was met with widespread protest by students and members of the local community.

Despite the ban, the film has continued to be shown at other venues in the area, and has become a popular topic of discussion among students and faculty.

The decision to ban the film was not without controversy, and has sparked debate among students, faculty, and members of the local community. Some have argued that the ban is a violation of the university's freedom of speech and expression, while others have supported the decision, citing concerns about the film's content.
Adopt A Prisoner

Veronica, age 24, was student at a large university in Buenos Aires, Argentina, when she disappeared on a sunny day in the early months of the year. She was missing for weeks before her body was found in a shallow grave near her home. No charges were brought against her or her husband. During her detention, Veronica was subjected to mental and physical abuse which left her with permanent injuries. She was in prison without charges for two months her family, frantic with concern, searched for her. They held a vigil outside the prison gates. No one answered their questions. No one gave them any information.

Unfortunately, Veronica is not the only one in Argentina who is subjected to such treatment. Thousands of men, women and children, are being held in prison without charges for their beliefs today. There are no guarantees of fair trials, no protection from torture, and no hope for justice. The adoptee groups are a network of people who are working to bring attention to these human rights abuses. They are writing letters, making phone calls, and traveling to the country to speak out against the horrors that are being committed.

The game room, located on the first floor of the Student Union at Bear Brown’s College, is under investigation. Until now, it has been a place for students to relax and enjoy themselves. But recently, there have been reports of theft and vandalism.

The Student Union Building is a large, modern structure, with a variety of facilities for students to use. The game room is located on the ground floor, and is open to all students 24 hours a day.

Unfortunately, the game room has been the target of theft and vandalism. Students have reported that they have had money and other items stolen from the room. In addition, there have been reports of damage to the equipment.

The Student Union Building is a busy place, and it is difficult to keep track of all that is happening. But the theft and vandalism in the game room are serious issues. The Student Union must take steps to address these problems.

The Student Union Building is a place for students to relax and enjoy themselves. But if the game room is not safe, then it is not a place for anyone to go.

To the Students, you will get your money back through the grace of God. It is your sight of the money, not of the body. The sight of the body will not return.

In the meantime, please be aware of your surroundings and take care of your belongings. The Students Union Building is a place for everyone to use, but it is important to keep it clean and safe.
