Sophomores: It's still not too late to take Army ROTC.

The Army offers college sophomores the opportunity to earn an officer's commission in two years. The deadline for the year's class is soon. Apply now and once you are accepted for the special two-year program, you attend a six-week summer camp, for which you will be paid approximately $540. And that's all not. You may find yourself in the best physical conditions you've ever been in.

Then back to college and the Army ROTC Advanced Course in the fall. If you've done exceptionally well at camp, you may progress back to college with a two-year scholarship.

For the next two years, you learn what it takes to be an Army officer. You get the kind of management and leadership experience that will be an asset to you in any career, military or civilian. You will earn an extra $100 a month up to 20 months. And when you graduate you will have earned your college degree along with the gold bars of an Army officer.

If this is the kind of challenge you are looking for, you are the kind of student we are looking for.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
I have followed closely all of the letters that have been written about the incident in the "No Comment" article. In your last issue, you presented a summary of the letters that have been written since this article in the newspaper. I have followed closely all of the letters that have been written since this article. I must say that I have been very disappointed with the way in which some of the letters have been written.

First of all, I think it is a crime that the college administration has not taken any action to come forward with this problem. I strongly believe that this problem needs to be addressed immediately.

I have been extremely disappointed with the way in which some of the letters have been written. Some letters have been written in a very inflammatory manner, and others have been written in a very sarcastic manner. I believe that all letters should be treated with respect and that all letters should be considered equally.

I also believe that the college administration should take action to come forward with this problem. I hope that the college administration will take action to address this problem as soon as possible.

I urge you to consider taking action to address this problem. I believe that this is a very important issue, and I hope that you will take action to address it.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Loans

If you have a Guaranteed Student Loan or a National Direct Student Loan (made after October 1, 1975) hanging over your head, consider spending a couple of years in the Army. If you train for certain specialties, the government will release you from 1/3 of your indebtedness (or $1,500, whichever is greater) for each year of active duty. Obviously, a three-year enlistment would eliminate 100% of your indebtedness. But you may prefer to take a shorter route and sign up under the Army’s two-year enlistment option (and put 2/3 of your debt behind you). Or you might want to join the Army Reserve. If you qualify, as a Reserve you can stay home, get paid for your active duty, and receive 15% loan forgiveness (or $500, whichever is greater) for each year you serve.

But we’re not just offering you loan forgiveness. With your education, you can probably qualify for a higher rank and pay grade. You’ll have your choice of many sophisticated Army skills. And you may be eligible for generous monetary educational incentives.

TWO-FOR-ONE SAVINGS PLAN

Two years of active duty can mean even more when combined with the Veterans’ Educational Assistance Program (VEAP). In fact, in just two years you can accumulate up to $9,200 for grad school. (Only the Army can offer you a two-year enlistment.) It’s not a loan, so you’ll never have to worry about making payments. It’s simply a savings program between you and the government.

If you save just $25 and $100 of your monthly Army pay, the government will match that amount two-for-one. On top of that, you’ll get an exclusive Army educational incentive of $2,000. (Longer enlistments can result in higher incentives.)

So, in just two years, you can go back to school — with your debt behind you and up to $9,200 for your education ahead of you. Of course, a longer enlistment could yield more educational benefits and 100% loan forgiveness.

To find out more about both ways to serve your country as you serve yourself, call 800-423-4422. In California, 800-252-0011. Ask for the name of the Army’s college representative nearest you.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I have followed closely all of the letters that have been written since the article in the “No Comment” was printed, and find that the comments that have been expressed have been accurate and to the point. I hope you will print my letter because I feel that the community is being denied the right to express its views on the issues that are being presented.

The issue of the military buildup and its effect on our community is a very important one, and one that should be given serious consideration. It is a matter that concerns us all, and one that we must act upon if we are to protect our community and our way of life.

I would appreciate it if you would print this letter so that we can all have an opportunity to read it and consider the points that I have made.

Sincerely yours,

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter in response to the “newnopace” comment on page 2. I believe that the community is being denied the right to express its views on the issues that are being presented.

The letter that was printed was written by a local resident and was not representative of the opinions of the majority of the community. It is important that we have an opportunity to express our views on this issue so that we can all have a chance to be heard.

I would appreciate it if you would print this letter so that we can all have an opportunity to read it and consider the points that I have made.

Sincerely yours,

New Academic Calendar

To the left is the new Academic Calendar proposed by the Student Government Association and, to the right, the old Academic Calendar. The new calendar is based on the advice of the Advisory Board. Replacing the academic year is a two-term system of fall and spring, the administration has students in the fall in order to cut costs. The fall semester starts on Monday, Sept. 15, and the spring semester begins on Monday, Feb. 11.

Old Academic Calendar
- Fall Semester: Sept. 15 - Dec. 20
- Winter Break: Dec. 21 - Jan. 2
- Spring Semester: Jan. 3 - May 15
- Spring Break: April 15-20
- Graduation: May 15

New Academic Calendar
- First Semester: Sept. 15 - Dec. 20
- Second Semester: Jan. 3 - May 15

Key Differences
- Semester System: Replaces academic year
- Start Date: Sept. 15 instead of late September
- End Date: May 15 instead of mid-May
- Break Period: Spring Break (April 15-20)
- Graduation: No change

Stock Market Sense

By Dave Brown

As the semester winds down and attention turns to final exams, you might use this last installment of FyI to make some general reading in preparation for the spring semester. Here are a few things to consider as you continue to ponder the world of stocks.

Key Points
- Investing in Stocks:
  - Consideration of major companies
  - Research on historical performance
- Technical Analysis:
  - Use of charts and graphs
  - Understanding market trends
- Fundamental Analysis:
  - Financial statements
  - Industry trends

Further Reading

New Academic Calendar

The left is the new Academic Calendar proposed by the Student Government Association, and the right is the same Academic Calendar as it was proposed by the Academic Senate. The Academic Senate is known for its strict adherence to the academic calendar, and the Student Government Association is known for its flexibility. The Academic Senate's proposal includes a longer Spring break and a shorter Winter break. The Student Government Association's proposal includes a shorter Spring break and a longer Winter break. The Academic Senate's proposal also includes a later start date for the Fall semester, which may be a concern for students who need to work during the summer. The Student Government Association's proposal includes a later start date for the Spring semester, which may be a concern for students who are graduating. The Academic Senate's proposal also includes a longer Winter break, which may be a concern for students who need to travel during the winter months. Stock Market Sense

by Louis W. Blackburn

The recent forecast last week in the stock market has been quite volatile, with the Dow Jones Industrial Average hitting a new high for the day at 12:02 PM on Monday and then falling back to its low of the day at 12:35 PM on Tuesday. This volatility is typical of the stock market, and it is important to understand how to read the Dow Jones Industrial Average, which is the most widely followed indicator of the stock market. The Dow Jones Industrial Average is a price-weighted average of the prices of 30 stocks, which are considered to be the most important stocks in the U.S. economy. The Dow Jones Industrial Average is calculated by dividing the total value of the stocks in the index by the number of stocks in the index. The Dow Jones Industrial Average is published daily by the Dow Jones News Service, and it is widely used as a measure of the overall performance of the stock market.

Coach Mussatomo and the Bridgewater State basketball team are beginning to make their move toward the final four. The Commodores, who have been the consensus pick for the New England Conference for several weeks, have piled up a 12-1 record and are 18-4 overall in the Northeast Conference.

The Commodores have not only compiled a strong record, but they have also started a new tradition of excellence. The team has won 10 straight games and has not lost a game in the Northeast Conference in over two years.

The Commodores' success has been attributed to the leadership of Coach Mussatomo and the strong play of the team's veteran players. The Commodores have a solid defense that has held opponents to less than 60 points in 12 of their 18 games.

The Commodores' next game is on Saturday against the University of Vermont. A win would solidify their position as the conference leaders and set them up for a run at the national championship.

Sports

Frisbee Golf Tournament

This Sunday the 15th marks the beginning of the Frisbee Golf Tournament. The tournament, which is held annually, is open to all students and faculty. The tournament will be held at the field behind Vassar Hall. Trophies will be awarded to first, second, and third place finishers.

The tournament is open to participants of all skill levels. The course is divided into three sections, each with its own set of rules and regulations. The first section is the easiest, featuring only one obstacle. The second section is the most challenging, featuring several obstacles. The third section is the toughest, featuring a variety of obstacles that require skill and strategy.

Participants are encouraged to bring their own frisbees. Prizes will be awarded to the winners of each section, as well as the overall tournament. The tournament will be held from 12:00 PM to 4:00 PM.

Bears Co-Captains Chosen

The Bears' Co-Captains for the upcoming season have been announced. The team has selected senior co-captains Mandy Johnson and John Miller. Both players have been instrumental in the team's success over the past few years.

Mandy Johnson, a senior forward, has been a key player for the Bears in recent seasons. She is a skilled scorer and a strong defender. Johnson has been named to the All-Conference team in each of the last three seasons.

John Miller, a senior midfielder, has also been a key player for the Bears. He is a solid performer and a strong leader on and off the field. Miller has been named to the All-Conference team in each of the last two seasons.

The selection of Johnson and Miller as co-captains is a testament to their leadership and commitment to the team. The Bears are looking forward to a successful season with these two leaders.

Sophomores

It's still not too late to take Army ROTC.

The Army offers college sophomores the opportunity to earn an officer's commission in two years, the deadline for the year's class is soon. For the next two years, you'll be an Army officer. You get the kind of leadership and experience that will be an asset to you in any career, military or civilian. You will graduate with a full two-year scholarship.

ARMY ROTC. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

World Premiere at BSC

The World Premiere of "The Philosopher's Stone" at BSC will be held on May 5, 1981, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center. The play follows the adventures of a group of college students as they attempt to reach the fabled "Philosopher's Stone," which holds the key to eternal life. The play is a humorous look at life, love, education, personal growth, and the search for the meaning of life. The cast includes some of the finest actors in the region, and the production is sure to be a hit. If you are interested in attending, please call the box office at 617-393-3000 for ticket information.
