sexual harassment is not something fraught with confusion, anger, and frustration as two labor groups within our midst have threatened job actions to bring about a speedy resolution to longstanding contract matters. First, as you should know because of delays in the approval of strike earlier in the semester the Ways and Means Committees negotiated pay raises, a matter that of the faculty. Money has not reached the pockets by achieving these ends. I am sure that had I gone through a normal four-year trail, I look back and do not regret the time it took to have been unavailable had I not been here. I spent some of the more notable ones that could play-by-play sportscasting, as well as noted advantages to the beginning of the current academic year. The problems are two-fold in this atmosphere around campus. The lively discussion brought forth several interesting points. In the idea behind the seminar was to help Professor Dunne then introduced the seminar, explaining how the several ways in which could be covered in full by any complete a rigorous course of action for students. Professor Dunne began by defining sexual harassment as a type of behavior that had been handled in a manner that was not just too big. Harvard had the reputation of being a "high school for girls," so it was decided that a decision that I do not regret.

The lively discussion brought out some of the stumbling blocks that exist in our schools and that hinder the decision making and that a decision that I do not regret.

The lively discussion brought out some of the stumbling blocks that exist in our schools and that hinder the decision making and that a decision that I do not regret.

The lively discussion brought out some of the stumbling blocks that exist in our schools and that hinder the decision making and that a decision that I do not regret.

The lively discussion brought out some of the stumbling blocks that exist in our schools and that hinder the decision making and that a decision that I do not regret.
Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
I am writing in response to a couple of articles that appeared in your recent issue of GOTTSHALK’s Bar & Side. While I don’t wish to belabor the issue any further, I am writing to express my concerns about a particular aspect of the content. The articles in question dealt with various topics, including celebrity gossip and entertainment news. However, I believe that the coverage was biased and that it did not accurately reflect the diversity of perspectives within the industry. As a result, I hope that you will consider revising your editorial standards to ensure that all voices are heard.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

Commentary

Bureaucracy at Bridgewater
Sometimes Students Slip Through the Cracks

By Richard Leiser

I recently learned of an incident that occurred on campus that highlights the issue of bureaucracy at Bridgewater State College. A student, who shall remain nameless, was caught in a bureaucratic nightmare that culminated in a situation that left them feeling frustrated and neglected.

The student, a senior majoring in psychology, had been working diligently on her final project for several weeks. However, when she attempted to submit the project, she encountered a series of roadblocks that prevented her from successfully completing the assignment. Despite her best efforts, the student was unable to overcome the bureaucratic obstacles that were preventing her from submitting her work.

It is important to note that the student was not the first to fall victim to this bureaucratic system. Many students have reported similar experiences, with the issue of bureaucratic barriers being a common complaint on campus.

This incident underscores the need for institutional reforms that prioritize the needs and well-being of students. It is crucial that the administration recognizes the importance of addressing these issues and takes steps to prevent similar situations from recurring in the future.

Quad 8 Awards

After weeks of delays due to COVID-19, the Quad 8 Awards were finally held on campus last night. The event was a much-anticipated celebration for all those involved, as it marked the return of a beloved tradition.

The Quad 8 Awards recognize outstanding achievements in various categories, from academics to extracurricular activities. This year, the ceremony was held in the newly renovated Student Center, providing attendees with a festive atmosphere.

The event began with an introduction by President Smith, who expressed her appreciation for the hard work and dedication of the entire student body. She emphasized the importance of recognizing the efforts of those who have contributed to the success of the college.

Throughout the evening, various awards were presented to outstanding students and faculty members. The ceremony concluded with Remarks by the President, who offered her words of encouragement and guidance for the future.

The Quad 8 Awards are a testament to the spirit of unity and achievement that characterizes our college. I hope that these awards will inspire all of us to continue striving for excellence in all that we do.
Your hands and thinking of coming to Bridgewater degree in a different subject and is interested in a second bachelor's that public colleges, because they must obey the law, respect student authorities up above them who have Second B.A. program; there are counterparts, and with courses infrequently. One knows that they are mainly programs, with virtually no reality here is far different. I tire of coming to a public college do soarily because of economic price.

According to Bridgewater's personnel, you know of anyone who is Students of this month, exactly one year after ing certified in the teaching of French in the secondary school. As transfer credit. After one year, transfer credit evaluation, many letters, visits, assurances of this major. I don't believe that any of these are just empty. I know of no-"program." Of course, for ap,

I'm not sure who the people were who give the awards ceremony was very the softest ceremony I have ever seen, the softness coming from the students. How many of the students can afford to present the Qual's culminating project -- the best student work in the theater? In my case, the thing was a combination of the student's skills and the production's skills. The quality of the production was really very good, the student's skills were okay, but not great. Apparently students have a lot of free time, but that's not the only thing that they do. As far as I know, the students are doing a lot of good work, but I can't say that about the rest of the staff.

I don't want to sound to hate things. I want to sound to love Bridgewater, and find, if possible, who is doing things right. But it's not easy to find people who do things right. The only ones who do things right are the ones who are paid a lot. The rest of the staff makes very little money, and therefore, they are not capable of doing the things that they need to do.

Exit Interviews

Since the fall of 1981, there will be a series of special meetings all for seniors, June and August graduates, who have at any time during their attendance at Bridgewater State College terminated their courses.

The purpose of these meetings, held to interview ranging from Timothy Leary to Maynard Ferguson, Commander Cody, Carlos Montoya, John Christian, George Thorogood, among the ones that I have forgotten. My eyes have displayed consistent professionalism in the face of non-professional private schools that one must mortgage the house aimed at past dassmates who cannot read it, other people whom I have not seen twice, learn about the world, learn about myself and others around me, people at the Bookstore, secretarial staff in many offices, the people in the Quad and BSC. The setting of the award's ceremony was the softball ceremony. I have no idea what it was about, but it was soft. The people who were there were soft, and the people who were not there were soft.

Exit Interviews

Nine Year Plan continued

I have been able to have somewhat of an impact upon the college community by means of the medium, the printed word, through this column. The column has been a forum for the students and faculty to express their ideas and concerns, and has been instrumental in bringing about changes that have benefited the college.

The column is not designed for the present underclassmen, but is an ideal faculty-student relationship. It is a way for students to express their concerns and ideas, and for faculty to listen and respond. The column has been a way for students to bring about changes that have benefited the college. It has been a way for the college to communicate with its students, and for students to communicate with the college.
...and still being SPent. The SGAs contribution makes it possible for the Model United Nations to attend the national model united nations conference in Washington D.C. during the spring. The $6,000 spent for this purpose will greatly benefit those students who are planning to pursue a career in international relations.

The day care center also received $12,000, which enables that organization to continue operations during the summer months. The SGA has also supported the Senior class trip to California, which was a much-needed break from the stresses of the academic year. The $12,000 was used to cover transportation, lodging, and other expenses associated with the trip.

The funds allocated for the Model United Nations and the senior class trip are examples of how the SGA has supported worthy causes; for example, another $6,000 has been set aside for the Day Care Center (just under $12,000) which enables that organization to continue operations during the summer months. The SGA has also supported the Senior class trip to California, which was a much-needed break from the stresses of the academic year. The $12,000 was used to cover transportation, lodging, and other expenses associated with the trip.

The day care center also received $12,000, which enables that organization to continue operations during the summer months. The SGA has also supported the Senior class trip to California, which was a much-needed break from the stresses of the academic year. The $12,000 was used to cover transportation, lodging, and other expenses associated with the trip.

Dear Confused Freshman,

I'm not sure what you're confused about, but I'll do my best to help.

Dear Gabby,

If you feel that the system is wrong, you have the right to contest it. The system is not set up to be perfect; it's set up to be fair. If you think short people make better lovers, you should contest the system. If you think that your opinion is not being heard, you should contest the system.

In the end, the system is there to protect your rights. You have the right to be heard, and the system is there to protect that right. If you feel that the system is failing you, you should take action to make it better.

If you feel that the system is wrong, you have the right to contest it. The system is not set up to be perfect; it's set up to be fair. If you think short people make better lovers, you should contest the system. If you think that your opinion is not being heard, you should contest the system.

In the end, the system is there to protect your rights. You have the right to be heard, and the system is there to protect that right. If you feel that the system is failing you, you should take action to make it better.

If you feel that the system is wrong, you have the right to contest it. The system is not set up to be perfect; it's set up to be fair. If you think short people make better lovers, you should contest the system. If you think that your opinion is not being heard, you should contest the system.

In the end, the system is there to protect your rights. You have the right to be heard, and the system is there to protect that right. If you feel that the system is failing you, you should take action to make it better.
Go Back to 1627

Plymouth Plantation is a National Historic Park. The staff portray the actual residents of 1627, from the Pilgrims who arrived on the Mayflower to the Wampanoag, the Native Americans who were living in the region when the Pilgrims arrived. You can walk behind the scenes and watch the Pilgrims themselves tending to their surroundings. The museum is open from 9 to 5 on a daily basis.

The Prison Museum in Salem, Massachusetts, is a museum dedicated to preserving the history of the Salem Witch Trials. The museum is located in the old jail building where the trials took place in the late 17th century.

East Bridgewater Cultural Center
117 Main Street, East Bridgewater, MA 02332

Ticketing Information:
(508) 387-2032

www.eastbridgeuniversity.com

---

Sunday, May 13th
11:00 AM - 5:00 PM

Celebrate at BSC

By Sean Francis

It's a spring day at the University of Southern Maine, and the weather is beautiful. The campus is bustling with activity, and the students are enjoying the warm weather. It's a perfect day for a celebration, and the university is hosting a special event to commemorate the occasion.

The event is called "Celebrate at BSC," and it is taking place at the university's campus center. The festivities will include a variety of activities, including a performance by the university's marching band, a keynote speech by a distinguished guest, and a reception with refreshments.

The keynote speaker for the event is Dr. Jane Goodall, a renowned primatologist and anthropologist. Dr. Goodall is known for her groundbreaking research on chimpanzees and her advocacy for animal rights.

The event is free and open to the public, and it is expected to attract a large crowd. Guests are encouraged to come early to secure their spot and enjoy the festivities.

If you're interested in attending, be sure to mark your calendars and make plans to join in the celebration. It's sure to be a memorable day for all who attend!
Go Back to 1627

Plymouth Plantation is a fascinating place to visit. The trail going past the actual site of 1627 Plymouth features a number of successful colonies. You can see the real estate by the day: Monday of a colonial lifestyle, cooking over a wood fire, spinning the cotton and the animals you see the animals you want to see. At the end of the path you'll see the ocean. There's also a large piece of the Pilgrims house to view. Every once in a while there is a remnant of a colonial nest and the old-time land. The Park is open every day from 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. for your viewing pleasure.

Venice Afternoon

Take in the Garden Museum, behind the Museum of Fine Arts, on the Avenue of Arts. This museum is Courtyard and a great place to spend a few hours. The museum is open every day from 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. and has an admission fee. There are also beautiful gardens in the center court and an interesting exhibit on the outside gardens. The gardens are open in the spring and summer. There is a nominal fee to enter the gardens.

Celebrate at BSC

On May 15, 1981, the Student Union Program Committee will announce the Spring Outdoor Concert. For more information, contact the "Vine." There will be a limited number of tickets available. The concert will be held at 4:00 p.m. on May 15 and is free to all students. For more information, call 378-2121.

Frigby Golf

By Sean Francis

This past Sunday, the BSC held its annual golf tournament. The tournament was held at the Bridgewater Country Club in Bridgewater, Mass. The tournament was a 18 hole tournament with a tee time of 9:00 a.m. The tournament was held in honor of Pat Frigby, BSC '70, who passed away last year. Frigby was a long-time member of the BSC and had a passion for golf. The tournament was a great success and raised money for the BSC. Congratulations to the BSC and to Pat Frigby for a job well done.
The Comment

A Play of Our Own p. 5
On the Roads Again p. 8

Job Action Threatening Exams and Graduation

Bridgewater State College

Vol. XV, No. 11

May 14, 1981

by Bill Bliss

Most people prepare for high school and if they're to succeed, they must prepare for college with a high degree of concentration, dedication, and hard work. The key to success in the final years is to set goals and work toward them. As we approach the end of the year, we think about the future and what lies ahead. For some, it may be a career; for others, it may be continuing their education. Whatever the goal may be, we must remember to focus on the task at hand and not be distracted by other matters. Only then can we achieve our goals and reach our full potential. Therefore, let's all work hard and make the most of our time in high school. Remember, the future is in our hands.