Letters To The Editor

I Feel Personally Insulted ...

Dear Editor,

My article is in reference to Jonathan Parton’s article in The Comment on Sept. 27, 1983. I believe the dictionary is a valuable tool in a university setting. In his article, Parton stated that the dictionary is not useful. I would like to know your opinion about the dictionary. I believe it is an important tool in a university setting.

Sincerely,
Carrie Kukut

A Little Advice

Dear Editor,

I read with great interest a letter to the Editor the second week of October. It mentioned a few of the topics that I have been pondering. I believe that the dictionary is a valuable tool in a university setting. In his article, Parton stated that the dictionary is not useful. I would like to know your opinion about the dictionary. I believe it is an important tool in a university setting.

Sincerely,
Carrie Kukut

Local Volunteers Join Road to Recovery

Fifteen local residents have volunteered to help in the S.G.A. Cancer Society’s Greater Brockton Unit Road to Recovery program, according to Brockton Hospital’s President, Ms. Gulinello, the local program coordinator. The volunteers are local residents who donate their time and energy to help cancer patients and their families.

Ms. Gulinello said that the goal of the program is to provide local volunteers to help cancer patients and their families. She added that the program is designed to provide a supportive environment for cancer patients and their families.

Ms. Gulinello said that the program offers resources and support to cancer patients and their families. She added that the program is designed to provide a supportive environment for cancer patients and their families.

Dear Editor,

My article is in reference to Josephine Parton's article in The Comment on Sept. 20, 1983, and Dorothy Guliello's letter to the editor in last week's Comment I feel personally insulted by both of them. They seem to only do a poor job of commenting on the integrity of a few individuals but not do the job properly dealing with the facts that are given. I am a group of concerned students doing the best we can to represent the students' feelings. The quest for perfection is considered as achieving perfection, then we will have the reason for leaving. Our student government: what is your opinion in a. How is it going in a. How is it going in another. Do you think it is better a. We need more people to volunteer every Tuesday night at 6:00 P.M. to Parish Chambers. Exercise your opinions and find out for yourself.

Sincerely,
Carrie Kutler

A Little Advice

Dear Editor,

I read with great interest a letter to the editor two weeks ago in which two students wondered if SGA President Parton had rewritten the faculty contract. I am sure the Union Rees would appreciate this, since I am sure they were not informed of any changes.

My first bit of advice to the SGA Constitution task force is to read the Constitution of the Student Government Association and, don't forget that the SGA Constitution is open to any work document. As far as I am concerned, it has worked well for a long time.

I note above with great interest, for the SGA Constitu­ tion, as well as for the student government, people administration, students staff, faculty, administration. Know your resources and don't be afraid of your own. As a student you are involved in the constitution, and you are involved in the constitution of an elective. The only problem that I see with the above-mentioned, the date was changed with the advice and consent of the Student Court. The Student Court is the only legal change that can happen to that document. I am sure the changes would not be appreciated by the Student Court. Students should be involved in the Student Court.

The Comment invites members of the BSC community to use this space for a forum for their ideas, comments, and personal views. Letters should be typed and to Dave Kutcher. Good job on getting music; all submissions must be made by the end of the week.

(Social Security Commission)

Dear Editor,

I am a senior major. My name is David Carreiro, a senior Political Science major in the College of Arts and Science. I have been active in politics since 1973. I was elected to the Amherst Town Meeting while I was a student at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. In high school, I was the president of the Student of the Southeast A, a component of the Massachusetts State Student Advisory Council.

This is my first year in the B.S.C. Student Government Association. I have come to see that the President of the Student Government Association is responsible for expressing the student viewpoint, the official viewpoint of the student body. It should be shared with the administration, the faculty, and the student association, each of which has a role in the College. We must work together to improve student involvement in the College.

I welcome your suggestions concerning our life at the College and your comments about the Student Government organization. I will make sure the concerns of the students are heard. Good luck and have fun.

David Carreiro

Local Volunteers Join Road to Recovery

Fifteen local residents have volunteered for the American Cancer Society’s Greater Brockton Unit Road to Recovery program, according to Brockton Hospital's Patricia Guinello, the local program coordinator. A local volunteer group was formed by local volunteers, including Brockton residents, to drive cancer patients and family members to and from treatment centers.

We're extremely grateful for the local support," Ms. Guinello said. "We've had great response from Brockton, East Bridgewater, Bridgewater, Walpole, Whitman, Easton, and Stoughton have volunteered, but we'd like to see people from other towns in our unit become involved. Our goal is to recruit at least 20 drivers, and we'd like about 30 that the number of volunteers would have to increase more than once a month."

Other towns within the Cancer Society's Greater Brockton Unit include Avon, Abington, Sharon, and West Bridgewater.

Mr. Guinello said that the number of volunteers has nearly 900 residents of Brockton and the other towns within our unit. Within the next year, she said the Unit helped about 100 people through the Road to Recovery.

The new volunteers, according to Ms. Guinello, will also be an orientation program later this month. They will meet with the American Cancer Society's cancer counselors and radiation therapist involved, and access common problems of the local under-7 patients. In addition, new volunteers will meet with the Road to Recovery volunteers.

Ms. Guinello said that volunteer drivers and families receive appropriate compensation, or the American Cancer Society will pay for the service. Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer should contact the Society's Great Brockton Unit office at 86-8515.

Did you know...

70% of sexual violence victims seen in the emergency room of Boston City Hospital have been married or engaged to a man who has been a victim of violence.

In the U.S., every 8 seconds someone is sexually assaulted.

There is an estimated 28 million adult women in the U.S. who have been married or engaged to a man who has been a victim of violence.

About 1/5 - or about 20 million women - are forced by their husbands to have sex as a part of the marriage, or as a sequel to it.

Between 1970-1979, the incidence of rape increased by 28%.

Suprising? Diagnosing? Frightening? How much do you think you can ignore these or any other issue concerning the unfair treatment of women in our society? It is easy to do something about it and our local community needs your help.

The Women's Center is located on the first floor of the Student Union Building (next to the S.C.A. office). We meet Monday through Thursday at 11:00. Stop by to discuss any issue you may have, or if you need help in any way, you have an excellent resource service with agencies in the area. Stop by to help.

Bridgewater's cheerleaders may not be able to dance their way to victory perfectly, but their energy and enthusiasm are sure to impress anyone who walks through our gym doors.

According to the co-captains when asked what they look for in a cheerleader, Russell explains that the girls must be able to "show true spirit" and have "a lot of fun doing it." Ms. Munro also states that she "likes to see a lot of personality" in a cheerleader.

The cheerleaders are not all fun and games, however. There are restrictions on how the girls can perform. They are not allowed to dance naked, even on the dance floor. As Bo Ruggiero explains, "Some changes the cheerleaders would like to see in the future is more school spirit. The big event is homecoming and during that weekend the cheerleaders will be performing at the Sigma Chi sorority line." Ms. Munro disagrees with this statement, saying that the cheerleaders are not only dancing for the team, but also for the fans who come to see them.

On the topic of outfits, Ms. Munro states that she "likes to see a lot of personality" in a cheerleader. She also says that she "likes to see a lot of fun" in a cheerleader.

Finally, when asked if the cheerleaders are more like a group of friends or a group of sisters, Ms. Munro says that they are more like a group of friends. She also says that they are "a lot of fun" to be around.

The cheerleaders are not the only ones who have fun on the team. The fans who come to see them also have a lot of fun. They are always cheering for the boys and doing their best to make the team feel good.

Overall, the cheerleaders are a great group of girls who work hard to make the Bridgewater State football team feel good. They are a great addition to the Bridgewater State community and we are all very proud of them.

The Cheerleaders Speak Out

by Dennis M. Wallace

I entered the realm of the King Richard's Renaissance Fair early on a Saturday morning, with ten of my school-aged acting students and my Franci Cat. We had given up our Saturday morning to chase a Wiccan trip to the fair. After paying all the fees, gathering up our students and signing all my receipts, I must admit, I was a little less than anxious...

"Oh, that's us," said to Carol. "Let's make the most of it!" I declared to the youthful faces ground with the spirit of their teenage years. They were wide open to experiencing a new kind of entertainment. As I walked around the grounds for the first time, I was a bit intimidated. I sat at the airport while strolling past fruit stands and sugar-coated churros.

Eventually, we reached the grounds for the first time, I was a bit intimidated. I sat at the airport while strolling past fruit stands and sugar-coated churros. I felt like I had been transported to another world. The performers were dressed in period costumes and were putting on a show that was both entertaining and educational.

We walked around the arena, taking in the sights and sounds of the fair. The performers were energetic and enthusiastic, drawing the crowd in with their stories about the lives of the people of the times.

After a good walk around the fair, we settled down to watch one of the performances. The actors were dressed in period costumes and were telling the story of a young girl who had been raised in a wealthy household. The performance was well done and had a lot of heart.

We sat there for a while, watching the performers, and then we decided to have a snack. We found a stand selling kettle corn and we each got a bag. It was delicious! We then headed back to the arena to watch another performance.

As we walked back to the arena, we passed by a group of performers who were singing a song about the dangers of late-night drinking. We sat there for a while, listening to the music and enjoying the atmosphere.

In the end, we had a great time at the fair. The performers were talented and the atmosphere was fun. We learned a lot and had a good time. Overall, I would definitely recommend the fair to anyone looking for a fun, educational experience.

Welcome to the first installment of Stay Tuned. As you can probably guess from the title, this column will be dealing with television articles. The first installment should prove interesting to you as we begin the review of one of the most exciting television shows of the year, "The Bionic Woman." This show has been on the air for only a few weeks, but it is already becoming a hit among viewers. The story follows the adventures of Jaime Sommers, a woman who is given bionic limbs and a heart to replace her own. She is then able to do things that she never could before. The show is set in a world where technology has advanced to the point where people can have bionic limbs and hearts. The show is fast-paced and action-packed, with plenty of exciting moments to keep the audience on the edge of their seats.

Welcome to the first installment of Stay Tuned. As you can probably guess from the articles dealing with the links to fairly heavy articles, this will not be your typical review column. Music

The music and lighting of the show seemed to be brighter. The band played a few songs from their latest album, "The Boy Friend." The music was very energetic and the lighting had a soft, warm glow.

The Trademarks

The Trademarks were the first band to perform at the俱乐部. They played what sounds like a mix of pop and rock. Their sound is kind of hard to describe, but it's really good. With The Ventures and other instrumental punk bands, they sound like a cross between the two.

The Loose Caboose

The Loose Caboose was the second band to perform. They played a mix of blues and rock. Their sound was very powerful and the lead singer had a great voice. The band played a few of their own songs, including a cover of "Rock Around the Clock." The audience loved them and gave them a standing ovation.

The Fuegos

The Fuegos were the third band to perform. They played a mix of salsa and rock. Their sound was very spicy and the audience loved it. The band played a few of their own songs, including a cover of "Guantanamera." The audience gave them a standing ovation.

Seniors: What Will You Be Doing This Time Next Year?

By Bruce Tamlyn

Most seniors have thought about what they would be doing this time next year. The question is, will they be doing the same thing, or will they be doing something different? There are some specific steps one can take now that would help ensure that your employment becomes literally a certainty.

Another way of approaching the question is, will you be able to select what you want to be doing next year, or will you have to settle for whatever steps that help provide the best possible result after the positions you want are filled? Remember, the positions you want are not simple, straightforward, require some time, and they are length. And by all means, there is something to be missed.

Each step with you offering assistance along the way. It’s not an easy process to secure the position you want upon graduation. Most seniors are familiar with the steps involved in getting a job, but many don’t take the time to actually plan their job search. Here are some specific steps one can take now that would help you achieve the results you want.

Step 1: Job Search

Begin your search by creating a list of potential employers. This list should include companies, non-profits, and government agencies that interest you. Once you have a list of potential employers, start researching their websites to learn more about the company and its culture.

Step 2: Resume

Your resume should be tailored to the job you are applying for. It should highlight your relevant experience and skills. It should be clear and concise, and it should be tailored to the specific job requirements.

Step 3: Cover Letter

Your cover letter should be personalized and should highlight why you are a good fit for the job. It should be concise and should include specific examples of your experience and why you are interested in the position.

Step 4: Interview

Preparation is key to a successful interview. Research the company and the position you are applying for. Be ready to discuss your experiences and highlight your skills.

Step 5: Follow-Up

After the interview, send a thank-you note to the interviewer. This shows your appreciation for their time and highlights your interest in the position.

60 Students Turn Out For MASSPIRG

By Bonnie Bowden

Sixty college students, anxious to affect social change through activism and community outreach, turned out last night at the Green Room for the initial meeting of the Bridgewater State College chapter of MASSPIRG. MASSPIRG, the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group, is one of the most influential groups in environmental, consumer, and political reform efforts. The Bridgewater chapter of the group is one of the major new chapters of the national organization.

The Bridgewater chapter of MASSPIRG was formed last year when two students, Michael Kryzonic and John Cissell, were interested in forming a chapter at Bridgewater. They approached the Bridgewater Student Senate and were able to secure funds to hire a coordinator and a student to help run the chapter.

The new chapter will focus on issues such as environmental protection, consumer protection, and social justice. The group will work to educate students and community members about these issues and to promote policies and legislation that address these concerns.

The Bridgewater chapter of MASSPIRG will meet on a regular basis to discuss issues and plan events. The group will hold meetings on Wednesdays at 6:30 p.m. in the Green Room.

The group is still looking for members and is interested in hearing from anyone who is interested in joining. If you are interested, please contact Michael Kryzonic or John Cissell at the Bridgewater Student Senate or at the Green Room.

The group is also interested in hearing from anyone who would like to speak at its meetings or who would like to volunteer their time to help run the chapter. If you are interested, please contact Michael Kryzonic or John Cissell at the Bridgewater Student Senate or at the Green Room.

Seniors: What Will You Be Doing This Time Next Year?

By Bruce Tamlyn

Most seniors have thought about what they want to do when they graduate. But have you thought about what you want to do this year? What are you doing about it? Can you help better yourself and the people around you in 1983, as well as 1984? There is no time like the present to start this process. It takes only a few minutes of your time to make all the difference.

Social Work Dept. To Hold Accreditation Party

The Social Work Department and the administration of Bridgewater State College will hold an Accreditation Party on Monday, October 24, 1983 from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the Heritage Room of the Watson Library on campus. All college faculty and administrators are invited, as well as BSC social work majors along with field supervisors. Any students who are interested in majoring in social work are also invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

The party is being held to celebrate the accreditation of the Social Work Program by the Council on Social Work Education, the national accrediting body of both Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) and Master of Social Work (MSW) programs. The CSE accrediting team visited Bridgewater last week to assess the program via interviews with students, faculty, staff, and supervisors, field placements, and administration. Prior to their visit the faculty wrote an extensive Self-Study of the program.

The accreditation of the program has already had positive consequences for two people from the program: the last May, Carlene Conroy and Paul Comeau have been accepted as graduate students in the CSWE program at Boston University and have been given a year's advanced standing in a two-year program of study. Because they graduated from the accredited BSW program, they will be allowed their MSW degree in one year rather than the usual two years. They both worked hard to earn them a considerable amount of money.

We invite you to come and learn about this vital topic in an informal setting. It is hoped this will be the first of a series of faculty lectures.

always go together. A good cover letter brings a resume to life and helps it to be placed in the contact file. Not the compact file. Cover letters are discussed, and examples shared in the resume workshop spoken about above.

Step 4: Credential Files - Your Credential file is a biographical sketch of yourself, your education, and possibly a transcript. It is kept in the CFP office, and is available for you to review. It is your resource for you if you wish. Potential employers will never ask to use credentials files. Always keep useable copies, and refer to them. Other employers want to see what others have said about yourself. They may not like the process you choose to start this process. I always have multiple workshops in my resume workshop schedule. Individual appointments can also be made.

Step 3: Cover Letter - A cover letter is to a resume what peanut butter is to jelly. It's written in response to the resume. Two weeks after you mail your resume, you'll want to reply. Two weeks after you mail your resume, you'll be glad you gave it to him now.

Step 5: Interviewing - You've written the address for the resume. Remember you want to work for, and you want them to know who you are. They ask me about my work. I tell them about my work. I tell them about my work beginning, and that they work like a piece of the rock. Graduation not only celebrates getting your degree, it begins working for you. Remember you worked yourself. We can help ensure that your goals are reached.

The only place to be! 60 Students Turn Out For MASSPIRG...
On Being a College Freshman

By Janet Coffey

It was a hot and humid day just one short month ago. I moved into my dorm, I looked carefully around—wondering how many of these students were freshmen just as myself. Although I spotted a few familiar faces, it was apparent to me from the warm, friendly smiles exchanged by people, I was destined to make many new friends and learn a lot.

The day had finally come to move into my dorm. As I turned the key, my roommate and I looked carefully around. We were instructed on how to solve the schedule, to temporarily wait for our assignments in the Student Union, and to relax and enjoy the new environment.

As I look back at the day from the warm, friendly smiles exchanged by people, I was destined to make many new friends and learn a lot.

Chi Alpha Cares

Chi Alpha, Do these words seem familiar? If so, you are not alone. There seems to be a sense of comfort among the members. Some think we are a fraternity, others think we are just a religious group. Whatever we are, we are a brotherhood. We offer support and fellowship to members as well as meet our advisors.

Cherubs. It was then time to get a nourishing meal and relax a bit. My roommate and I found a place to eat, and after a short while, we hit the ground running. We needed to get a good start to our college careers.

Although I spotted a few familiar faces, it was apparent to me from the worn, friendly smiles exchanged by people, I was destined to make many new friends during my first year at Brockton Veterans Administration Hospital. I was accompanied by our Freshman Advisor, Elizabeth Johnson, who set up my room and introduced me to the other freshmen here at Brockton Veterans State College. The first step in my room on the second floor, was greeted by my female and her parents. My freshman was one of the few, I recognized that day. We met at the beginning of the lunch period for a trip to the Psychology Department. There I met my new chairwoman and had the opportunity to visit with several other freshmen.

Chi Alpha Care...

Chi Alpha. Do these words ring a bell? If not, then you might want to find out more about the organization. Since its founding in 1920, the Chi Alpha has become a national fraternity, whose Greek name (from Christos = Christ) means "Christ's best one."

One of the most important reasons for initiating the Chi Alpha is the opportunity for students to grow in their faith through Christ. The fraternity is open to all students, regardless of their background or religious beliefs. The fraternity is divided into different chapters, each with its own unique set of goals and objectives. The chapters are further divided into smaller groups, known as the "fraternity," which is comprised of students who share a common interest or background. The fraternity is open to both men and women and is designed to promote fellowship, leadership, and personal growth.

This past weekend both the men and women's cross country teams traveled to the Rhode Island College Invitational.

Leading the way for the men were Scott Yanklow (first place in 26:55), Dan Murphy (fourth place in 27:06), and Tom Keating (fourth place in 27:09).

The women's team was led by Karen Doughty (third place in 18:34) and Andrea Brousaides (fourth place in 18:36).

Coach John Laverty and Bill McLaughlin were both pleased with their team's performances, but admitted they were very happy to get the season under way.

"We know we have the horses to win this one," Laverty said. "But we need to work on our overall team and get everyone going to individual performances."

“Running Away In 1983”

By Mike Storey

This past weekend both the men's and women's cross country teams traveled to Rhode Island College for the NCAA Division III championships. The event is held each year in November and brings together the best teams from across the country. The women's team, led by Coach John Lavery, finished 10th out of 12 teams, while the men's team, coached by Bob MacKenzie, finished 11th. This was the second year in a row that the women's team has competed at the national level.

The course was grueling, with hills and twists and turns that tested the athletes' endurance and determination. The men's team, in particular, faced challenges with the high altitude and the cold weather. Despite these difficulties, the team pushed through and finished strong.

The women's team, on the other hand, had to overcome some early setbacks. They were down by five points at the halfway mark, but managed to come back and finish strong. The men's team, however, struggled throughout the race and finished several minutes behind the leaders.

In terms of individual results, the women's team had two runners finish in the top 30, while the men's team had one runner finish in the top 50. The team's overall performance was a testament to their hard work and dedication throughout the season.

The next meet for both teams will be in early December, when they will face off against some of the top teams in the nation. The women's team is looking to improve on their finish from last year, while the men's team is hoping to build on their progress from this year.

Heads Roll At WBIM

By Joe Goovelis

The student radio station on campus WBIM has suffered from personality conflicts which have resulted in the resignation of Darlene Bethany, the Music Director, and the dismissal of the Program Director James Magnar.

Chris Harvard is presently serving as Program Director until the position can be filled permanently. On October 3, the station's general manager and director of the student union stated that this business will be presented at the next station meeting.

Magnar was fired for being unprofessional and not being able to handle his responsibilities if the position were to change.

WBIM is presently operating without a music format, which has been recognized as an essential element in any radio station's operation.

Darlene Bethany, the only coordinator to resign, is now trying to find work. Magnar also refused to comment on the reasons for his dismissal.

The station, which has been receiving the same hours and regular programs, must have nothing substantial to say yet, but I hope that the station progresses in a positive fashion. I feel that Mr. Van's decision has no substantial backing to it.

Vance did state that "a change was necessary." I refuse to comment on this change since he did not state what was wrong with the station and did not continue to say that the management and their policies on different aspects on how the station should be run, and added that he is optimistic about the station's future.

When asked if removing Magnar from his position will be effective step, disc-jockey Scott Lewis stated, "I don't know yet. Being program director here is not a job but a sentence." When asked if Magnar's pursues a specific format had anything to do with the tension at the station, Lewis explained, "I think the station находится in a situation where it must rely on the audience, but must mix it in with the station's overall atmosphere."

MC1 Escapee On Campus

By Beth Ward

On September 29, 1983, at approximately 11:30 a.m., Michael Maury escaped from the South Eastern Correctional Center, a medium security prison located in Bridgewater.

Unable to contact the Massachusetts State Police, Deputy Superintendent of the Department of Correction, 22 year old Maury was serving a 10 year sentence for breaking and entering. He began serving his sentence in 1981, but he was a non-prisoner at the Correctional Center until March of this year.

At the time of his escape Maury was working on the second floor of the prison which is part of the penal complex. He reportedly drove a tractor out of the grounds and attempted to elude police when police arrived.

Bridgewater Police Department confirmed S.B.C. student reports that Maury was in the lower south parking lot. His uniform from the Correctional Center was found in the same location.

Michael Maury is at large, police believe he is somewhere in the area of Bridgewater. If you see him, please call police immediately.

"I really believe that it will become a trend for the future."

Hill Quiet Floor: An idea that works

By Beth Ward

At the beginning of the 1983 school year, the fifth floor of Durgin Hall was designated as a quiet floor. Between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., Sunday through Thursday. Students living on this floor must keep the quiet rule.

Any interruptions will result in a fine and possible dismissal. Resident Advisor Doug Smith commented that it is more an experiment than a quiet floor. Everyone respects the rules and because everyone is quiet on the floor it was requested.

John Fleming also noted that on the first floor, "a similar reaction, comments were made about quiet floor, some people don't want to live anywhere else and I hope that next year they'll be able to live there again."

Because of the many floor seem to be working in all aspects. Some students believe that the situation should be set.

Bridge, the only coordinator to resign, refused to comment.
