Vandals Ravage Library

By Paul Foster

Last Friday night, November 4, vandals broke into the Clement Maxwell Library and stole $800 worth of media equipment, as well as leaving various amounts of damage. Also broken into was the campus mailroom, and a few of the packages.

In a letter submitted to President Adrian Rondolino, Dr. Glenn Shute, Director of Media Services stated that the break-in occurred sometime between 7:00 p.m. Friday when the last employee left and 8:00 a.m. Saturday, when the janitor returned to work. In his letter, the vandals smashed a window in the main office, a dou-ble, glass, window, in the Media Services Technician's office, along with windows in the Design, Art, and Dance Department, and the door window leading into the Athletic Director Bob Rugge-...r's office.

According to Officer Frances, police, the burglars entered the main side of the library by breaking the window leading into the television classroom in Media Services. Since in the library, the burglars began their destruction. Dr. Cook's desk was broken into and a solar calculator and at least three keys to various build-ings were taken, along with a $100 General Electric clock that was also broken into and her hair spray can. However, no money was stolen. The Media Services technician had just gotten to work.

Our Lost Pets Are Safe in the Pound, Right?

By Deb Smithson

On Tuesday night (November 8) at the Student Government Association meeting, a letter was read by Vice President, David Kitchner, concerning the imprisonment of President Paul Dobson. The letter, submitted by the Class of 1986 Sena-tor Terry Miller, included seven "blatant misstatements" that were not committed by the S.G.A. President.

The accusations against Dobson, as stated in the letter, are as follows: "In direct vio-lation of the Student Government Association and the Constitution, Paul Dobson has been a member of the Student Senate and College Committee as a full voting member without being officially appointed by the S.G.A. President Paul Dobson has made expenditures exceeding $100.00 without approval of the S.G.A. Constitution. President Dobson did not cause the Fresh-men elections to be held on the last Wednesday and Thursday of September. In complete, independent of duty, President Dobson did not advertise the openings of the student representatives on the All-College Committee. It was brought to the Faculty Com-mittee in direct violation of the S.G.A. Constitution. President Dobson has agreed to the legal agreement without the knowledge of the Assistant Treasurer. In blatant abuse of his power as S.G.A. President, Paul Dobson has been using his execu-tive office and its facilities to conduct a personal and profit-able business. In abuse of his power, Paul Dobson con-versed a student in regards to a Student Affairs Committee appointment. It was obvious from the content of this letter that he was misleading this student on student govern-ment procedures."

The Student Court will convene to discuss the matter on Thursday, and those interested in the discussion will be held by the S.G.A. members at the next meeting on Thursday at 5:00 p.m. in the S.G.A. room.

Everyone is encouraged to attend.

Toxic Waste: Questions Raised

By Janet Coffey

The Chemical Engineering Corporation (CEC), better known as the Bridgewater Hazardous Waste Site located on Poole Road, has become a continuing concern to many people due to the plant's location and operations in the area. With the help of Pro-fessor John Coffey, the Commu-nity was able to get some insight into the toxic waste situation.

"The CEC was also involved in Operation Waste Watch," said S.G.A. President Dobson, "and was checking on CEC's practices."

The CEC was involved in the New England waste Watch in the mid-1980s, but the program has been discontinued due to funding issues. The CEC has also been involved in the states of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, assisting in the investigation of potential hazardous waste sites.

The CEC has been working with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Department of Environmental Quality and Environmental Protection (DEEP) to address the issue of toxic waste in the area. The CEC has been working with the EPA to ensure that the waste is properly handled and disposed of. The CEC has also been working with the DEEP to establish regulations for the handling of hazardous waste.

In 1984, the CEC was fined $100,000 for violating the Clean Water Act because they had dumped hazardous waste into the Connecticut River. The CEC was also fined $10,000 for violating the Clean Air Act because they had released hazardous waste into the atmosphere.

The CEC has been working with the EPA and DEEP to develop a plan for the safe disposal of the waste. The plan includes the use of a new treatment facility and the creation of a new disposal area. The CEC has also been working with the EPA and DEEP to ensure that the waste is properly handled and disposed of.

In conclusion, the CEC has been working with the EPA and DEEP to address the issue of toxic waste in the area. The CEC has been working with the EPA to ensure that the waste is properly handled and disposed of. The CEC has also been working with the DEEP to establish regulations for the handling of hazardous waste.
Letters To The Editor

One More Time...

Dear Editor,

It really doesn't mean a thing to me, but I do wish to see some more positive comments about our campus in the B.U.C.K. A. Operation. It is more of not making out of it than it is. We started out as a suggestion on how to raise some money. It was originally planned to be used to refurbish the lecture halls and to make them more suitable for seminars.

What started out as a suggestion on how to raise some money was turned into a project that is now being implemented.

I think it's worth our support.

Sincerely,

[Name]

Dear Editor,

I read Ms. Scroggs's original commentary on the subject of women in the arts. However, after reading the article, I realized her points were valid. I would just like to state that I support Ms. Scroggs's views and that I feel she is right in not compromising these beliefs even though this popular opinion on the campus is against her.

Thank you, Ms. Scroggs and keep up the good work.

Patrice Maloney

And Finally...

To the B.U.C.K. A. Operation

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank the volunteers who have kept this operation running smoothly. It has been a pleasure to work with them and I am grateful for their help.

Droge Exhibit at Anderson Gallery

By Edward Santilli

An exhibit of 25 landscape photographs by Bridgewater State Professor John Droge will open on November 23rd at the Art Building's Anderson Gallery. This is the Professor's first exhibit of landscape photographs, and it has been quite well received by the local community.

The survey of the work is divided into three main categories: (1) the photographs that Droge has brought to my attention, (2) the photographs that Droge has brought to my attention, and (3) the input of others who have seen the exhibit.

The exhibit is being held in the K-Mart Campus residence, where Droge resides. In the coming weeks, Droge plans to have open houses for residents interested in the work. The exhibit will be open to the public from 5th to 7th, from 9th to 10th, and from 14th to 16th.

One More Time

Dear Editor,

It really Results me to see fans of the major figures in the stories of the "Book a Case" Operating you to make out more of it than it is. I started out as a suggestion on how to live more cautiously and eventually planned to be returned to the authors of this diary for ideas about serious issues.

By State drawing, Droge received an invitation to participate in the Maine show, "The Art of Maine," which is currently running at the Portland Museum of Art. Since then, he has participated in numerous exhibitions across the United States. When I meet other people, I think of the photograph of Droge in the White Mountains because the photograph is titled "The White Mountains." He presented the exhibition at Plymouth's Art Gallery, and these two photographs on each of these exhibitions are represented in his work.

The photograph of Droge in the White Mountains is simply, and aptly, titled "The White Mountains." He presented this exhibition at Plymouth's Art Gallery. I have always been interested in the photograph of Droge in the White Mountains because the photograph is titled "The White Mountains." He presented this exhibition at Plymouth's Art Gallery.

"Time is running out... for poetry to contribute to the arts, for music together with the Illustrated Bridge Arts Review.

WHAT WE NEED:

- Poetry and fiction of any length
- Any artwork that can be reproduced in black and white

HOW TO CONTRIBUTE:

- Drop it all at our Info Booth mailboxes
- Leave it at one of our meetings

The Final Deadline is DECEMBER 1st.

Oasis Notes

By Joyce E. Turnbull

T.T.: I had a nice Saturday night! I just thought [let us know] you do "dry, take it easy!"

I want to thank everyone who contributed to this 1985-1986 year and to hope that the works will be in the future. The Spring 1984 course comes out in April. I hope you make it on time to our "Art of Maine" show. We begin in November. It will be held on November 16th and 17th at 8:00 p.m. In this show we will have a 23-inch color TV and 10 tapes. Our discussion will be on the "Art of Maine" show, and we will have a chance to view the "Art of Maine" show.

Unfortunately, my submissions... I think of it as a project. Unfortunately, I think of it as a project.

If you haven't attended an "Art of Maine" show, I will be in the future. If you haven't attended an "Art of Maine" show, I will be in the future. If you haven't attended an "Art of Maine" show, I will be in the future.

Handicap Awareness Events

By Bonnie Bowden

Imagining walking across the United States with only darkness before you, what would you do? How would you sit in a theater chair and wait to be entertained? How would you let go of your favorite music, or your friendly band? Imagine the frustration, the anxiety, when your hearing becomes less and less.

There are many B.S.C. students who want to be involved in one of these categories. But most do not want to lose the beauty or safety, or prefer not to let go of their favorite music. Imagine the frustration, when your hearing becomes less and less.

The Handicapped awareness group is currently forming. The group will also be assisted by a public relations group who help students, families, and others interpret, understand, and see the problems they are in.

Last Thursday evening the Bridgewater Arts Review promoted a coffee house, followed by a reading of coming on by the Literary Exchange. The Program Manager and the Editor of the Arts Review, I felt obligated to make an appearance as a representative of our organization. I also dragged along the Editor of the Review. Well, we were well attended! The show was wonderful. Nancy Minick, stage, stage, stage, upon Michael Langer, the chairperson of the Literary Exchange and coordinator of the event, deserves a round of applause. The show was very successful—over 50 people attended, and not just students, faculty, and other departmental staff. The audience, made up of both students and faculty, were attentive, responsive, and engaged. It began with a trilogy of love songs sung by Martin Horton, accompanied by Michael Langer on piano. Martin, making eye contact with everyone in the room at least once during each song was a perfect choice for the opening act. The trio was totally at ease with the audience, and the audience was captivated. She sang six songs, filling the room with her lovely voice, although some of the notes were off. The audience had a strange but wonderful feeling. As the music began, the audience was captivated. She sang six songs, filling the room with her lovely voice, although some of the notes were off. Eddie Munz (Chevy Chase) is a shoe, except he's not toting door-to-door, but instead he's selling second-rate wares to Third World nations. Munz is the world's most cunning, unscrupulous talent agent. His services will cost you, and you should be affected. The problem with this coffee house is the attitude of its staff and clientele. Some of them, who dare to dream in poetry, and actually write it. But when the door opens, there are very few people around. Munz works for Lookup Industries, a second-rate weapons store that supplies everything from the handgun to the most infamous weapon of all—The Peacemaker. The Peacemaker is Luck-up's "fine-tuned" magazine that has the potential to kill at any range distance. How long will you wait before you go out to be a dumb, and Munz is assigned to make sure. With the aid of his son, Age Christian singer, Ray Pedersen (Gregory Hincks), and the sexy Mrs. Catherine Deluio (Simpson Weaver, Munz), a set out to make the deal of the century. Then a meeting is arranged in the role of Ray Pedersen. An unexpected visitor arrives and it's a做到 good news. The Peacemaker will be shown in the S.U. Demonstration room. The show was very successful over 50 people attended, and not only this, but we had even more feedback on the event. The audience, made up of both students and faculty, were affectionate, responsive, entranced. Reminiscents of last semester's Studio Art痕迹 was a collage of music, comedy, magic, and fun. It began with a trilogy of love songs sung by Jordan Norton, accompanied by Michael Langer on piano. Norton made eye contact with everyone in the room at least once during each song was a perfect choice to provide the remainder of the show. Norton sang to the instant Denise Wallace impressed by the talent. The audience was captivated. She sang an array of songs, filling the room with the sounds of Denise's voice, all those that acquainted her with the audience. Denise also appeared in the audience, in front of the audience, in front of me. She embraced the audience with her style. Her performance reminds me of a Judy Collins-type, but Denise isn't trying to escape anyone. She doesn't have to. Her voice is too beautiful in her own right. On two of the songs ("Christopher Robin" and "I'm on the Other Side of the World"), Denise was accompanied by Steve Zottoli. Denise's music was complimented by the sounds of Steve's drums, and Brian Clasen, bass. Our audience, although Tom is a very talented vocalist, the caliber of his talent did not shine though at this coffee house as it did last season in Space Art.

Eddie Muntz (Chevy Chase) is a shoe away from having another coffee house on Tuesday November 22nd at 8:00 in the Student Union Room 3 (third floor, Student Union). This coffee house will be dedicated to students and students only. If you have trouble in poetry and/or in writing, and you wish to have a cup of coffee and a donut, and need some of the words, you have to be at a certain poem or story that you have written. You can also say to someone else, here is your chance to read your work in your voice and style. You can't criticize your powerlessness, so no one should feel embarrassed or apprehensive. A number of people have already expressed an interest in attending, so we have to see many others things you have written (even if you haven't already submitted it). If you have a favorite piece of a famous author, bring that along. More details on this coffee house are forthcoming. See you there.

Rapid Time Flow: A Morning Problem

By Joyce E. Tumulty

How to tell if time is at 5 a.m. is a perplexing and momentous problem. Time is scarce on mornings after weekends. I first must emphasize that you will be at a morning problem.Morning problems are quicker than at any other time during the day. But, in a notice that clock hands or digital devices move more incredibly the speeds during the day. On this, the men only have approximately 3 hours of normal time. At least, they would have five minutes to five every two hours. So, if you ever think you have more time, you are mistaken. Please, do not think that the clock is really running. The inaudible and fleetly movement of the clock can rise to meet your need.

After turning off your alarm in "morning time" you.

However, I do not discourage you from doing this.

Rapid Time Flow: A Morning Problem

By Joyce E. Tumbat

How to tell time at 6 a.m. is a perplexing and monumental problem. It's the first true on mornings after weeknights. It first must emphasize to you that it is the morning post that is quicker than at any other time during your day. No notice that clock hands or digital numbers move at incredible speeds during the day. On the other hand, we have approximately 30 a.m. or normal time to do the other, move only five to every ten minutes. Don't let this fool you, very seldom is that night to be. The real problem is that you have to wake up on the morning, ten minutes late because we let the morning time back down on your time. But one minute per ten minutes is not what you want to be. There are a few things you can do about your time. The first thing you can do is to wake up on the morning, ten minutes late because we let the morning time back down on your time. But one minute per ten minutes is not what you want to be. There are a few things you can do about your time. One More Bears Business Tournament! Bears Lose Last Home Game! By Mike Storey

This past weekend brought the end of the Fall Slam season for most teams that are not going on for more competition in tournament play, except the football team who finish up this Saturday in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. Not to mention the fact that they finished the season by tying the score at 31-31. This was the last game this year and it like it. Good luck ladies.

The women's field hockey team had another super year finishing the season (13-4-3). The high point was being invited to ECAC Championships with a 2-1 win over MPI. Their win was against the seniors graduating from the high school they should be a Division I power in 1994. Another example of great attitude is the fact that most of the team is out running everyday just to keep in shape. It seems they don't know what to do with themselves now that they don't have a program to go to. These girls are winners and know what they have to do to keep that winning edge.

This weekend the women's volleyball team travel to Wesleyan for the ECAC Division III Tournament where they take on powers from MIT and Monmouth College. The Bears started the season being the MACAC Champions and proved again to be a very outstanding team (22-13) according to Deb Santheson. Nobody expected this at all. With a new coaching staff and many faces to see this weekend they could be going against MIT. The 1983 All American volleyball team played in the ECAC Championship and were coaches of B.S.C. based on skill, sportsmanship, and dedication. The team this past weekend was Thomas, Christine Thomson, Debbie Topp, and Christine Thomason. The women's soccer team finished fourth in a field of one to one hundred. All girls that have been part of the intraclub for their girls and the times of your games.

The Comment, Thursday, November 10, 1983
By Del Sant hoe

Last Thursday, the Bridge­ gate State Women's volleyball team played their last match of the season against Salem State at the Student Union. The Bears had been on a winless streak all season, and the game was a much-needed victory for them.

The Bears won the first set 25-17, and the second set 25-15, but Salem State fought back and won the third set 25-20. However, the Bears came back in the fourth set to win 25-18, and sealed the victory with a 25-14 win in the fifth set. The final score was 3-2 in favor of the Bears.

The Bears had a strong performance, with players such as Sarah Thompson and Emily Silva leading the team. Thompson had 12 kills and 11 digs, while Silva had 11 kills and 12 digs.

The Bears are now 2-7 on the season, and will look to continue their winning streak against Bridgewater College in their next match on Friday.
Pro-Pets, a citizen-based coalition by former State Senator Sam Rotundi, needs volunteers to work for the repeal of the MASSACHUSETTS POUND SEIZURE LAW between November 3 and November 21, 1983.

The present law allows any pound animal to be sold for $2.00 or $3.00 to research labs for experimentation. These animals are frequently house pets which only have strayed from their homes. Should the innocent wandering of the animals be exploited like this?

If you feel as we do, and would like to assist all those pets which cannot act for themselves, please call 697-1200 extension 2313, at Bridgewater State College. We will be glad to tell you what you can do to help us and each and every one of our pets.
