2-2-1984

The Comment, February 2, 1984

Bridgewater State College

Follow this and additional works at: https://vc.bridgew.edu/comment

Part of the Education Commons, and the Social History Commons

Volume 58
Number 2

Recommended Citation
Retrieved from: https://vc.bridgew.edu/comment/557

This item is available as part of Virtual Commons, the open-access institutional repository of Bridgewater State University, Bridgewater, Massachusetts.
We took a crash course in wine & cheese, beer, cold cuts, salad bar, and hot-take-outs!

And we graduated with honors!

Wood Hall: Roach Motel?

By John Marciano

The trouble started after Christmas, says House Director, Ms. Maureen B.突破; When a Woodward Hall resident, Fitzgerald, who reacted positively to a confined some cockroaches in a flood the resident, complained, Ms. Fitzgerald bathroom at the all-girls flood acted quickly on the matter, and the resident reported the event to the soon the resident was referred to that housemother, Mrs. Wheaton, who on February 2nd, each room will be checked that the area would do the right thing. She reported that they could do to control the problem: the residents to carefully wash their clothes. As a result, the first floor's 25 bathrooms were closed for a week while things, etc., prior to using them after the issue was sprouted with an insecticide, the proper action was taken. Hopefully this will extinguish the problem, but it does not do much, the whole area was sprayed by the following weekends. This was the first time we encountered "Roach Motel," which is a new method used by pest control agencies.

Voter Registration Drive

The State Student Association of Massachusetts will hold its drive on Thursday, February 14, to get the driving going. The campaign will be to draw attention to students, who are becoming more and more politically sophisticated in the Democratic world of elections. The annual voter registration drive is a vote for the March Massachusetts Presidential Primary.

Any Bridgewater student interested in attending the conference should leave their names at the MassPRG office or The Comment office.

This "Apple" Is For You!

By Paul Foster

Computers - they're everywhere. In our schools, homes, stores and restaurants. They have become a way of life for many people. But if the use of computers is not being used, the first time experience can be quite traumatic. Once a person gets to know the computer, the results can be very beneficial and rewarding.

Learning how to use a computer isn't as difficult as it may seem. In fact, members of the B.S.C. community have learned how to operate an Apple Computer in class. Christopher Maxwell, instructor in the B.S.C. Computer Lab, said, "I've been teaching people how to use the Apple II. Plus, it is very easy to learn."

By David Carnes

Patrice Wood, anchorwoman of WJAR Channel 10 in Providence, spoke to Professor Maureen Connelly's Journalism class on January 28. Ms. Wood had been invited to speak on the role of women in print journalism. While at The Daily, Ms. Connelly had written about many of the not-so-famous anchorwomen who had to work 16 hours in order to gain their professional status. Women were in a position where they had to prove to television management that they were indeed qualified for on-air reporting. It was a widely held belief that the viewing public would not, or could not, accept women as news reporters. Thus, women had to work extremely hard to break through this barrier. Barbara Walters, Diane Sawyer, Connie Chung, Jessica Savitch, and others were the trailblazers, the ones who proved women could succeed in a field that has long been dominated by men.

When asked to comment on the Cranston Journal, Ms. Wood expressed feeling a pride for Ms. Craft, "She says, believe that Ms. Craft's difficult time getting another job is in the past. Ms. Wood has been involved in broadcast journalism nine years. She first became interested in this field while attending Boston University in Ohio. She took an internship at a local public broadcasting station as a news writer, and got her first chance to go on the air when she took a second-year class. At this point, the first floor was abandoned, which is new migrated from the trashroom at the southeast.

Wood Speaks on Women in TV

By Patrice Wood

Photo: Ed Donahue

Voter Registration Drive

There will be a statewide Voter Registration Drive, sponsored by the MassPRG, held at Harvard University on February 14th - 15th. The conference will focus on a proposed National Student Registration drive. The Bridgewater State Student Government Association plans to host the drive on February 14th. The $5000 registration fee will cover the BSGS's costs.

The conference will include speeches and forums featuring national leaders with diverse viewpoints on our nation's most prominent issues, training on how to conduct voter registration drives on campus and in the community, and leadership in the fight against the adverse effects of computerization and organization skills workshops, and the opportunity to meet student leaders from across the country.

The State Student Association of Massachusetts will hold on Thursday, February 14, to get the drive going. The event will be to draw attention to students, who are becoming more and more politically sophisticated in the Democratic world of elections. The annual voter registration drive is a vote for the March Massachusetts Presidential Primary.

Any Bridgewater student interested in attending the conference should leave their names at either the MASSPRG office or the Comment office.

Wood Hall: Roach Motel?

By John Marciano

The trouble started after Christmas, says House Director, Ms. Maureen B.突破; When a Woodward Hall resident, Fitzgerald, who reacted positively to a confined some cockroaches in a flood the resident, complained, Ms. Fitzgerald bathroom at the all-girls flood acted quickly on the matter, and the resident reported the event to the soon the resident was referred to that housemother, Mrs. Wheaton, who on February 2nd, each room will be checked that the area would do the right thing. She reported that they could do to control the problem: the residents to carefully wash their clothes. As a result, the first floor's 25 bathrooms were closed for a week while things, etc., prior to using them after the issue was sprouted with an insecticide, the proper action was taken. Hopefully this will extinguish the problem, but it does not do much, the whole area was sprayed by the following weekends. This was the first time we encountered "Roach Motel," which is a new method used by pest control agencies.

Voter Registration Drive

The State Student Association of Massachusetts will hold its drive on Thursday, February 14, to get the drive going. The campaign will be to draw attention to students, who are becoming more and more politically sophisticated in the Democratic world of elections. The annual voter registration drive is a vote for the March Massachusetts Presidential Primary.

Any Bridgewater student interested in attending the conference should leave their names at the MassPRG office or The Comment office.

This "Apple" Is For You!

By Paul Foster

Computers - they're everywhere. In our schools, homes, stores and restaurants. They have become a way of life for many people. But if the use of computers is not being used, the first time experience can be quite traumatic. Once a person gets to know the computer, the results can be very beneficial and rewarding.

Learning how to use a computer isn't as difficult as it may seem. In fact, members of the B.S.C. community have learned how to operate an Apple Computer in class. Christopher Maxwell, instructor in the B.S.C. Computer Lab, said, "I've been teaching people how to use the Apple II. Plus, it is very easy to learn."

By David Carnes

Patrice Wood, anchorwoman of WJAR Channel 10 in Providence, spoke to Professor Maureen Connelly's Journalism class on January 28. Ms. Wood had been invited to speak on the role of women in print journalism. While at The Daily, Ms. Connelly had written about many of the not-so-famous anchorwomen who had to work 16 hours in order to gain their professional status. Women were in a position where they had to prove to television management that they were indeed qualified for on-air reporting. It was a widely held belief that the viewing public would not, or could not, accept women as news reporters. Thus, women had to work extremely hard to break through this barrier. Barbara Walters, Diane Sawyer, Connie Chung, Jessica Savitch, and others were the trailblazers, the ones who proved women could succeed in a field that has long been dominated by men.

When asked to comment on the Cranston Journal, Ms. Wood expressed feeling a pride for Ms. Craft, "She says, believe that Ms. Craft's difficult time getting another job is in the past. Ms. Wood has been involved in broadcast journalism nine years. She first became interested in this field while attending Boston University in Ohio. She took an internship at a local public broadcasting station as a news writer, and got her first chance to go on the air when she took a second-year class. At this point, the first floor was abandoned, which is new migrated from the trashroom at the southeast.

Wood Speaks on Women in TV

By Patrice Wood

Photo: Ed Donahue

Voter Registration Drive

There will be a statewide Voter Registration Drive, sponsored by the MassPRG, held at Harvard University on February 14th - 15th. The conference will focus on a proposed National Student Registration drive. The Bridgewater State Student Government Association plans to host the drive on February 14th. The $5000 registration fee will cover the BSGS's costs.

The conference will include speeches and forums featuring national leaders with diverse viewpoints on our nation's most prominent issues, training on how to conduct voter registration drives on campus and in the community, and leadership in the fight against the adverse effects of computerization and organization skills workshops, and the opportunity to meet student leaders from across the country.

The State Student Association of Massachusetts will hold on Thursday, February 14, to get the drive going. The event will be to draw attention to students, who are becoming more and more politically sophisticated in the Democratic world of elections. The annual voter registration drive is a vote for the March Massachusetts Presidential Primary.

Any Bridgewater student interested in attending the conference should leave their names at either the MASSPRG office or the Comment office.

This "Apple" Is For You!

By Paul Foster

Computers - they're everywhere. In our schools, homes, stores and restaurants. They have become a way of life for many people. But if the use of computers is not being used, the first time experience can be quite traumatic. Once a person gets to know the computer, the results can be very beneficial and rewarding.

Learning how to use a computer isn't as difficult as it may seem. In fact, members of the B.S.C. community have learned how to operate an Apple Computer in class. Christopher Maxwell, instructor in the B.S.C. Computer Lab, said, "I've been teaching people how to use the Apple II. Plus, it is very easy to learn."

By David Carnes

Patrice Wood, anchorwoman of WJAR Channel 10 in Providence, spoke to Professor Maureen Connelly's Journalism class on January 28. Ms. Wood had been invited to speak on the role of women in print journalism. While at The Daily, Ms. Connelly had written about many of the not-so-famous anchorwomen who had to work 16 hours in order to gain their professional status. Women were in a position where they had to prove to television management that they were indeed qualified for on-air reporting. It was a widely held belief that the viewing public would not, or could not, accept women as news reporters. Thus, women had to work extremely hard to break through this barrier. Barbara Walters, Diane Sawyer, Connie Chung, Jessica Savitch, and others were the trailblazers, the ones who proved women could succeed in a field that has long been dominated by men.

When asked to comment on the Cranston Journal, Ms. Wood expressed feeling a pride for Ms. Craft, "She says, believe that Ms. Craft's difficult time getting another job is in the past. Ms. Wood has been involved in broadcast journalism nine years. She first became interested in this field while attending Boston University in Ohio. She took an internship at a local public broadcasting station as a news writer, and got her first chance to go on the air when she took a second-year class. At this point, the first floor was abandoned, which is new migrated from the trashroom at the southeast.
A Mistake Far More Serious

By Nancy L. DuPont

make the decision to drive or change area including before published. the police homrc1de.someho~ become~: when alcohol. I A Last night's S.G.A. meeting was a change of topic for a second time, as well as the return of the "police report."

It's strange that we would have a police report, but that is something that has happened in the past. When I was in high school, I remember that we had meetings where the police would come in and talk about what was happening in the community. It was a way to get the community involved and stay informed. I think that this is a good idea and should continue.

The police report was given by Officer Dobson, who spoke about the recent weather conditions and the impact on campus. He also mentioned the importance of staying aware of the weather and knowing when to stay indoors. He talked about the past week being one of the worst for snowstorms in the area in a long time. The campus has been closed for several days due to the weather, and students are advised to stay indoors if possible.

The police report also included information about a recent incident on campus. A student was reported missing and the police were searching for him. The student was eventually found safe, but this highlights the importance of staying in touch with friends and family when you are away from home.

Overall, the police report was informative and kept the community up-to-date on important issues. It is a valuable resource and should continue to be included in future meetings.
A Mistake Far More Serious

By Nancy L. DiPrupo

I never knew her. A month or so after the day the president died, I found myself going to her funeral. I knew her only because it is a startlingly black and white world in which I live, and I remember now only because of the tragedy which brought her name to the public. There are those who will never forget her. Among them are Craig MacTavish, the man driving the car that killed 26-year-old Kim Radley, it’s hard to see why this is the greatest tragedy. Mrs. Radley’s death was probably not the result of any point of view. But this case is not so simple. Trying to make it seem that this incident is a question of the balance of human life, more than a question of a community or a society that probably should have known better, is to make it completely unparsable. The fact that MacTavish, as a public person and a role-model for many Boston families, is a young girl, was not the cause of the tragedy. It would have been perfectly possible for anyone to have been killed.

A Mistake Far More Serious

By Matthew Peter Donohue

Last night’s S.G.A. meeting—more of a discussion than anything else—highlighted the situation that the present group of government representatives finds itself in on campus at the moment. There is a feeling of immobility among members of the Student Government Association, a feeling that might originate in the fact that most of the S.G.A. meetings, including last night’s, were held by a group of students who have been well satisfied with their current representation of their interests. But the point is, everyone in S.G.A. seems to be going through the motions of a college age, as we all know that it is a necessity in order to get along with the administration, our professors, and the student body. In this way, S.G.A. is not only a place to be for students who are interested in the issues of the college, but also a way for them to be heard and their voices to be represented.

The situation is further complicated by the fact that many of the S.G.A. meetings are held by a group of students who have been well satisfied with their current representation of their interests. This makes it difficult to gauge the effectiveness of the S.G.A. in addressing the concerns of its members, and it is also difficult to determine whether the S.G.A. is fulfilling its role as a voice for the student body. It is important to consider the role of the S.G.A. in the larger context of the college community. The S.G.A. should be providing a platform for students to voice their concerns and have their voices heard. However, if the S.G.A. is not fulfilling this role, it is important to consider whether it is time for a change in leadership or structure.

Commentary

By Joye E. Turnbull

Winter Dance Sale

February 11th - 20th

The All-Collge Committee

in Tarasov's, the S.G.A. student government, has announced a Winter Dance Sale for February 11th to 20th. The sale will feature a variety of items, including clothing, accessories, and collectibles. The proceeds from the sale will be used to support the S.G.A. activities and initiatives. The sale will be held in Tarasov's and is open to the entire college community.

Commentary

By Liz Scroggs

On the Importance of Women in Congress

There are three women in the United States Congress. These women are the overwhelming majority of women in the United States. Women are being proposed by their parties to be the first women in Congress, in the United States. However, school boards and political leaders have proposed legislation to ban hiring women in certain positions. In conclusion, the issue of women in Congress is an important topic that should be discussed and debated by all Americans.

A Mistake Far More Serious

By Matthew Peter Donohue

Recent events have brought to light the issue of women in Congress. It is important to recognize the importance of women in Congress and the impact they have on legislation and policy. Women have been underrepresented in Congress for many years, and it is time to change this. Women bring unique perspectives and experiences to the political arena, and their voices should be heard. It is crucial to ensure that women have equal representation in Congress so that their concerns and interests are represented. The impact of women in Congress is significant, and it is important to continue to work towards gender equality in politics.

A Mistake Far More Serious

By Matthew Peter Donohue

Recent events have brought to light the issue of women in Congress. It is important to recognize the importance of women in Congress and the impact they have on legislation and policy. Women have been underrepresented in Congress for many years, and it is time to change this. Women bring unique perspectives and experiences to the political arena, and their voices should be heard. It is crucial to ensure that women have equal representation in Congress so that their concerns and interests are represented. The impact of women in Congress is significant, and it is important to continue to work towards gender equality in politics.

A Mistake Far More Serious

By Matthew Peter Donohue

Recent events have brought to light the issue of women in Congress. It is important to recognize the importance of women in Congress and the impact they have on legislation and policy. Women have been underrepresented in Congress for many years, and it is time to change this. Women bring unique perspectives and experiences to the political arena, and their voices should be heard. It is crucial to ensure that women have equal representation in Congress so that their concerns and interests are represented. The impact of women in Congress is significant, and it is important to continue to work towards gender equality in politics.

A Mistake Far More Serious

By Matthew Peter Donohue

Recent events have brought to light the issue of women in Congress. It is important to recognize the importance of women in Congress and the impact they have on legislation and policy. Women have been underrepresented in Congress for many years, and it is time to change this. Women bring unique perspectives and experiences to the political arena, and their voices should be heard. It is crucial to ensure that women have equal representation in Congress so that their concerns and interests are represented. The impact of women in Congress is significant, and it is important to continue to work towards gender equality in politics.
The Historical Significance of Black History Month

As an organization and institution, Black History Month is committed to restoring the importance of understanding the contributions of African Americans to the world. It is dedicated to the promotion of the achievements of African Americans and their ancestors, and to the celebration of their culture, history, and achievements.

The Historical Significance of Black History Month

Black History Month was initiated in 1915 by Carter Godwin Woodson in honor of his parents, who were both teachers and scholars. It was later expanded in 1976 by President Gerald Ford, who declared February as Black History Month. The observance has been expanded to include the entire African American community and has become a celebration of the contributions of African Americans to American society.

The African American experience has been shaped by a rich and diverse history. From the early days of slavery to the present day, African Americans have made significant contributions to American culture, education, medicine, science, and other fields.

In conclusion, Black History Month is a time to reflect on the contributions of African Americans to American society and to celebrate their achievements. It is a time to remember the struggles and sacrifices of African Americans and to honor their legacy.

SGA Profile of the Week

Hit my name is Nadine Bell, a junior, campus representative of the SGA. My favorite memories are those that help me to enjoy the present, which was a great experience. I can be found at the SGA office at 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Tuesday.

What Is A Newscaster?

Someone who delivers concise, accurate news on a regular basis.

Who Is A Newscaster?

Ted Koppel? Walter Cronkite? Don Rather?

Maybe they all could have started at WBI M.

They Didn't.

You CAN! How You DUN?

Contact Ed Miller, News Director, or WBI M, or leave your name and number at his WBI M mailbox.

You Can Be A Newscaster.

Do it now! You're sorry you don't.

WBI M 91.5 FM

AfrO-Am Society

Dear Members,

We are pleased to have you as members. Our meetings will continue to develop into something that we can be proud of. Unfortunately there has been an increase in the number of members. This position of Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer have been open. We want to ensure that all members are actively participating. Elections will be held for these positions.

This week's meeting will be held on Wednesday, March 4, at 3 p.m. in the Library. Please be present to participate.

This is an exciting time for the AfrO-Am Society. We are looking forward to the future and to the opportunities that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

SAE
The Historical Significance of Black History Month

As an organization and initiated throughout the country for Black History Month, it is only right that we reflect upon the historical significance of this special month. Black History Month is a celebration of the achievements and contributions of African Americans throughout history. It is a time to educate ourselves and others about the rich cultural heritage and the strength of our community.

Local will terica player Jim

The Sex-Execs lead on

Bridgewater in an incredible scene or following of diehard fans.

Clay, a hardcore fan.

My totaly mystified and utterly enchanted.

They are created to transport you into another world.

Cure clones that offer basic new wave material that left me

Aurelius (stoic) and

King of the World

The Sex Execs have a new album, entitled "The Need..."

I like the life of Marcus Aurelius.

The Need..."s fatality. · · ·

Our group is divided into three sections.

It is definitely worth the search.

The band's "Panic at the Disco" album let's you

We are going to go out ever-

Ted: "Our mutual love of music is something that ties us together.

Our last album, "Outlet..." was full of emotion.

I know what you mean. I am counting on my friends,

Ted: "If I could find the guy that gave us that name, I would kick his butt, I really would."

You're good at it, I was a fortune teller.

So, you've had about four or five names, and believe it or not, this was the best one. Can you print "Pumpkin Mofos"? That's the name we were going to use.

What's the name and the band and there ferent name and...

Can: Who writes the songs? Where do you get the ideas for them?

Ted: I think we are going to use it for something.

I can't remember where I get the ideas from.

Can: How did you come up with a song like "Tam-litt"?

The Sex-Execs play Cabaret Night in the Union Balcony. It was, in a fortune cookie.

The Minutemen, Husker's "Flag..." was one of the first albums that I ever heard.

I really can't remember where I got the ideas from.

Ted: "Doesn't anyone drink with name for the band together?"

Ted: "If I could find the guy that gave us that name, I would kick his butt, I really would."

What a name, huh?

Com: "You guys didn't have any idea to doing with pumpkins.

You're not talking about trying to look like that's our version.

I haven't thought about this for a while, we were going to put something together under a different name and "The Pumpkin Mofos" was one of the names that we came up with.

Can: Who writes the songs? Where do you get the ideas for them?

Ted: I think we are going to use it for something.

Can: How did you come up with a song like "Tam-litt"?

The Sex-Execs play Cabaret Night in the Union Balcony. It was, in a fortune cookie.

The Minutemen, Husker's "Flag..." was one of the first albums that I ever heard.

I really can't remember where I got the ideas from.

Ted: "Doesn't anyone drink with name for the band together?"

Ted: "If I could find the guy that gave us that name, I would kick his butt, I really would."

What a name, huh?

Com: "You guys didn't have any idea to doing with pumpkins.

You're not talking about trying to look like that's our version.

I haven't thought about this for a while, we were going to put something together under a different name and "The Pumpkin Mofos" was one of the names that we came up with.

Can: Who writes the songs? Where do you get the ideas for them?

Ted: I think we are going to use it for something.

Can: How did you come up with a song like "Tam-litt"?

The Sex-Execs play Cabaret Night in the Union Balcony. It was, in a fortune cookie.

The Minutemen, Husker's "Flag..." was one of the first albums that I ever heard.

I really can't remember where I got the ideas from.

Ted: "Doesn't anyone drink with name for the band together?"

Ted: "If I could find the guy that gave us that name, I would kick his butt, I really would."

What a name, huh?

Com: "You guys didn't have any idea to doing with pumpkins.

You're not talking about trying to look like that's our version.

I haven't thought about this for a while, we were going to put something together under a different name and "The Pumpkin Mofos" was one of the names that we came up with.

Can: Who writes the songs? Where do you get the ideas for them?

Ted: I think we are going to use it for something.

Can: How did you come up with a song like "Tam-litt"?

The Sex-Execs play Cabaret Night in the Union Balcony. It was, in a fortune cookie.

The Minutemen, Husker's "Flag..." was one of the first albums that I ever heard.

I really can't remember where I got the ideas from.

Ted: "Doesn't anyone drink with name for the band together?"

Ted: "If I could find the guy that gave us that name, I would kick his butt, I really would."

What a name, huh?

Com: "You guys didn't have any idea to doing with pumpkins.

You're not talking about trying to look like that's our version.

I haven't thought about this for a while, we were going to put something together under a different name and "The Pumpkin Mofos" was one of the names that we came up with.

Can: Who writes the songs? Where do you get the ideas for them?

Ted: I think we are going to use it for something.

Can: How did you come up with a song like "Tam-litt"?
More Sex-Execs...

In one day with a case of "Tambourine Man"
Ted: Do you remember when I was a couple of years ago? Girls would ask me to sit all the world stuff on the plastic chair, and it was named a girl named Tami-Waltz. Did you remember?

We were in the WBCN in North End for a second time amongst the best Boston bands. Were you happy with your performance? Were you aware that they want to say on that is we really want to play WBCN in a rock 'n' roll, but we unfortunately wasn't asked.

Ted: WBCN's was considerate, demanding and time consuming.

Wed: They did what we want to say on that is we really want to play WBCN in a rock 'n' roll, but we unfortunately wasn't asked.

Ted: What's the group singing, "Take the L" out of Boston, and I'm the only one who played with them about 2 weeks ago and it was called The Orgone.

Walt: The Cerebral Case is one of our favorite "clubs" The Cerebral Case is the big "club" I've played in.

Do you mean barbecue beef burgers or BBQ's?

Chef: That's your third question.

Phantom Diner - Remember the soup drawer? They're all on diets, you're gonna love saying them. And she had a nice topic.

Com: last summer you were because... Why you play over and over again, just to give up the rock element to our sound?

Back to earth. Big PhD. We enjoyed doing it. Isn't this your third question?

Chef: Yes, it's your third question.

Walter: We enjoyed doing it. Isn't this your third question?

Chef: You're worth five spiders. I'm not the bet.

Chef: Nuts! You're worth five spiders. I'm not the bet.

Chef: Why so jittery? A raid on the cafe in the sky. Unfortu-

Want a cafeteria angels serve up PhD: No, just put it on the}

Phantom Diner. Remember the soup drawer? They're all on diets! You're gonna love saying them. And she had a nice topic.

Chef: Yeah? What do you want? Cream of broccolli?

Chef: Nuts! You're worth five spiders. I'm not the bet.

Chef: Why so jittery? A raid on the cafe in the sky. Unfortu-

Want a cafeteria angels serve up PhD: No, just put it on the
Entertainment

Phantom Strikes Again

By Kevin Roberts

Good evening, I'm the Phantom Diner. Remember me? I think I might have mentioned before that I'm a bit of a dyke, and well, I made our lives into something, and I'm delighted to be brought back to you. As you mentioned, quite a thing, I'm sure. Thank you.

D.C. Cab — This low-budget, poorly written, acted, and directed film about a group of thieves involved in a series of burglaries will have you running out of the theatre in tears. It's quite a thing, really. Thank you.

Critical's Corner

By John J. Beston

The dishes are all washed. The meals are all served. The kitchen is empty. The noise of the stove and the sound of the water pump have died down. The only sound is the crackling of the fire in the fireplace. It's a quiet moment, and it's one that I enjoy. Thank you.

Gorky Park — Michael Apted's "Gorky Park" is an intense and thought-provoking film about a Russian police chief who is trying to solve a murder case. It's quite a thing, really. Thank you.

The Lonely Guy — Steve Martin's transition from stand-up comedian to screen actor has been a successful venture. It's quite a thing, really. Thank you.

Neville Plays in Key — This is one of the few non-animated films that Disney Productions has successfully come out. It's quite a thing, really. Thank you.

More Sex-ECs...

In one day with a case of "Tambourine"...

Ted: Do you remember the Tambourine? It's a film about a couple of years ago? Girls arrive at a party and all the men wear the same outfit. One of them is a girl named Tami-Ann, and she's a hit in a little pool of pots. In the WBCN in Rock Hill, the L.A., the rockabilly local station, there were amongst the best bands in the city. Were you happy with your performance? Whatever you managed to say, it was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on.

Ted: We're going to talk about the Tambourine. What we're going to talk about is the Tambourine. What we're going to talk about is the Tambourine. What we're going to talk about is the Tambourine. What we're going to talk about is the Tambourine.

Leigh: Let's talk about the Tambourine. What we're going to talk about is the Tambourine. What we're going to talk about is the Tambourine. Whatever you managed to say, it was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on.

Ted: Well, we added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band.

Ted: We added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band, and we added a tenor sax to the band.

Leigh: What we're going to talk about is the Tambourine. Whatever you managed to say, it was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on.

Ted: We're going to talk about the Tambourine. Whatever you managed to say, it was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on.

Ted: We're going to talk about the Tambourine. Whatever you managed to say, it was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on. It was a thing that was going on.

Stay Tuned

By Bill Fineman

I am a fan of nostalgia, especially television nostalgia. In my opinion, sometimes I sit and wonder about the early days of broadcasting. What happened when it was like this, and why is it so different now? This film about an old-time radio show was very interesting. The actors did a great job and the script was well written. I would recommend it to anyone who enjoys vintage entertainment.

This is the end of the performance. Thank you for watching and we hope to see you again soon.

Cabaret Night

By Jeff Lindus

Life is a cabaret, old chum... and it's also a quick and dirty world. I don't know about you, but I have to keep my eyes open and my ears wide. It's quite a thing, really. Thank you.
The annual Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found some skills are in demand while others are not. The survey is designed to help individuals identify job opportunities that are generally changing and to plan for a rewarding career.

The survey shows that employers are looking for graduates with skills in computer science, engineering, and business administration. These skills are in high demand and are projected to grow even more in the future.

On the other hand, skills in traditional fields such as education, social work, and humanities are less in demand. These fields are projected to have a decline in demand in the coming years.

To stay competitive in the job market, graduates are encouraged to develop skills in the areas of demand and to adapt to the changing needs of the workforce.

By Nancy DuPont

The Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found some skills are in demand while others are not. The survey is designed to help individuals identify job opportunities that are generally changing and to plan for a rewarding career.

The survey shows that employers are looking for graduates with skills in computer science, engineering, and business administration. These skills are in high demand and are projected to grow even more in the future.

On the other hand, skills in traditional fields such as education, social work, and humanities are less in demand. These fields are projected to have a decline in demand in the coming years.

To stay competitive in the job market, graduates are encouraged to develop skills in the areas of demand and to adapt to the changing needs of the workforce.

By Nancy DuPont

The annual Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found some skills are in demand while others are not. The survey is designed to help individuals identify job opportunities that are generally changing and to plan for a rewarding career.

The survey shows that employers are looking for graduates with skills in computer science, engineering, and business administration. These skills are in high demand and are projected to grow even more in the future.

On the other hand, skills in traditional fields such as education, social work, and humanities are less in demand. These fields are projected to have a decline in demand in the coming years.

To stay competitive in the job market, graduates are encouraged to develop skills in the areas of demand and to adapt to the changing needs of the workforce.

By Nancy DuPont

The annual Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found some skills are in demand while others are not. The survey is designed to help individuals identify job opportunities that are generally changing and to plan for a rewarding career.

The survey shows that employers are looking for graduates with skills in computer science, engineering, and business administration. These skills are in high demand and are projected to grow even more in the future.

On the other hand, skills in traditional fields such as education, social work, and humanities are less in demand. These fields are projected to have a decline in demand in the coming years.

To stay competitive in the job market, graduates are encouraged to develop skills in the areas of demand and to adapt to the changing needs of the workforce.

By Nancy DuPont

The Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found some skills are in demand while others are not. The survey is designed to help individuals identify job opportunities that are generally changing and to plan for a rewarding career.

The survey shows that employers are looking for graduates with skills in computer science, engineering, and business administration. These skills are in high demand and are projected to grow even more in the future.

On the other hand, skills in traditional fields such as education, social work, and humanities are less in demand. These fields are projected to have a decline in demand in the coming years.

To stay competitive in the job market, graduates are encouraged to develop skills in the areas of demand and to adapt to the changing needs of the workforce.

By Nancy DuPont
Everything You Always Wanted to Know About BSC...But Were Afraid To Ask!
By Nancy DuPont

1. The dogs recently seen roaming the campus are not an indication that a generally characterized as a fast recruiting year.
2. It is 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, and you are wondering how hungry my mom would read to believe.
3. Did you know that Daisy has 9000 books in her collection on various topics, including some that are really interesting?
4. The Counselor Database is not a gift from the citizens of Jupiter, but rather a sophisticated computer system.
5. Did you know that the BSC library is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, and that the staff is there to help you with any questions you might have?

The annual Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found salaries required for jobs after a degree are generally not high, with an average of $30,000. The survey also indicates that many graduates may not be satisfied with their jobs, and that they may be considering changing careers or seeking additional education.

The survey also highlights the importance of networking and building connections in the job market. It is recommended that students take advantage of their college connections and reach out to alumni for advice and opportunities.

In addition, the survey suggests that students should consider pursuing a graduate degree, as this can lead to higher salaries and better job opportunities. It is also recommended that students seek out job placement services offered by their college and explore different career paths.

Finally, the survey provides useful information for students who are planning to enter the job market after graduation. It is important for students to be well-prepared and to have a clear understanding of the job market and the skills that are in demand.

The Changing Times survey is a valuable resource for students who are looking for guidance and information about their future careers. It is recommended that students take advantage of the resources offered by their college and explore different career paths to find the right fit.

The annual Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found salaries required for jobs after a degree are generally not high, with an average of $30,000. The survey also indicates that many graduates may not be satisfied with their jobs, and that they may be considering changing careers or seeking additional education.

The survey also highlights the importance of networking and building connections in the job market. It is recommended that students take advantage of their college connections and reach out to alumni for advice and opportunities.

In addition, the survey suggests that students should consider pursuing a graduate degree, as this can lead to higher salaries and better job opportunities. It is also recommended that students seek out job placement services offered by their college and explore different career paths.

Finally, the survey provides useful information for students who are planning to enter the job market after graduation. It is important for students to be well-prepared and to have a clear understanding of the job market and the skills that are in demand.

The Changing Times survey is a valuable resource for students who are looking for guidance and information about their future careers. It is recommended that students take advantage of the resources offered by their college and explore different career paths to find the right fit.

The annual Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found salaries required for jobs after a degree are generally not high, with an average of $30,000. The survey also indicates that many graduates may not be satisfied with their jobs, and that they may be considering changing careers or seeking additional education.

The survey also highlights the importance of networking and building connections in the job market. It is recommended that students take advantage of their college connections and reach out to alumni for advice and opportunities.

In addition, the survey suggests that students should consider pursuing a graduate degree, as this can lead to higher salaries and better job opportunities. It is also recommended that students seek out job placement services offered by their college and explore different career paths.

Finally, the survey provides useful information for students who are planning to enter the job market after graduation. It is important for students to be well-prepared and to have a clear understanding of the job market and the skills that are in demand.

The Changing Times survey is a valuable resource for students who are looking for guidance and information about their future careers. It is recommended that students take advantage of the resources offered by their college and explore different career paths to find the right fit.

The annual Changing Times survey of jobs for new graduates found salaries required for jobs after a degree are generally not high, with an average of $30,000. The survey also indicates that many graduates may not be satisfied with their jobs, and that they may be considering changing careers or seeking additional education.

The survey also highlights the importance of networking and building connections in the job market. It is recommended that students take advantage of their college connections and reach out to alumni for advice and opportunities.

In addition, the survey suggests that students should consider pursuing a graduate degree, as this can lead to higher salaries and better job opportunities. It is also recommended that students seek out job placement services offered by their college and explore different career paths.

Finally, the survey provides useful information for students who are planning to enter the job market after graduation. It is important for students to be well-prepared and to have a clear understanding of the job market and the skills that are in demand.

The Changing Times survey is a valuable resource for students who are looking for guidance and information about their future careers. It is recommended that students take advantage of the resources offered by their college and explore different career paths to find the right fit.
Whale Watches

We will again be taking two whale watching trips this year, one from Provincetown and one from Plymouth, Mass. Last spring's trips were very successful, with whales seen on all trips. We again had the experience of bénéficiting from the approaching boat and putting off on quite a show. The cost per person this year will be $120 for the Provincetown and $125 for the Plymouth trip, payable at the time you sign up for the trip. As last year, a refund will be given if I am able to find someone to take your place. Refunds will not be given to people who fail to show up on the day of the trip. A $20 refund will be made in case of bad weather. If you leave a phone number where you post it as soon as possible if you want to go. The boat will be using the 85 foot excursion vessel, Capt. John and Son. This boat is comparable in design to the Dolphin IV, but is far larger and more powerful, capable of handling two V-12-71 engines. We expect to cruise at a speed of 17 knots. The Captain, crew and passengers are very well-experienced and have the ability to handle the rough weather. We are still looking for the captain and lower deck. The trip has continued on page 13.

---

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Join Your Olympians and Go for Josten's Gold!</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>See Your Josten's Representative for Details of Josten's Easy Payment Plans.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 2 &amp; 3 1984 10 am - 3 pm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Don't forget the Time Student Union Bldg. (outside bookstore) $10.00 deposit required!</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

Summer Senate Positions

For the sixteen consecutive year, the Massachusetts Senate is offering a Summer Internship Program. Administered by the Senate Legislative Education Office, the program runs for eight weeks, June 11 through August 3, 1984. The intern students will be located in the office of the Senator where he or she can observe the legislative process and work with his or her day-to-day constituent requests and research materials. Orientation to the State House environment and to the Senate office, as well as attendance at a weekly seminar, are required as part of the program. Interns are responsible for the selection and placement of interns.

The stipend is $150 per week, paid monthly. The Intern Program is available to current freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students. One year of college education is a prerequisite for an internship. Applicants must be residents of Massachusetts. This means that either the student or the parent must be registered Massachusetts voters. As of January 1, 1983, the prospective intern must not have held a paid position with the Commonwealth or Massachusetts Legislature. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age. Applications which are not completed and submitted will not be accepted. Five copies of the completed application, including all supporting materials, must be submitted to the Senate Intern Program, Office of Legislative Education, Senate Building, Room 121, Boston, Massachusetts 02133. The deadline for submission is May 15, 1984. Only those applicants who have submitted a completed application, including all supporting materials, will be considered for the program. Letters of reference from professors or employers will be considered. Applicants are encouraged to visit the Senate Intern Program Office. Deadline is 4:00 p.m. Friday, May 11, 1984.
Whale Watches

We will again be taking wholesalers and the press from One Providence: and one from Plymouth, Mass. Last spring's trips were so successful, with whales seen on all trips. We again had the experience of hearing trumpets approaching the boat and putting on quite a show. The cost per person this year will be $120 for the Providence- town and $130 for the Plymouth trip, payable at the time you sign up for the trip. As last year, a refund will be given if I am able to find someone else to take your place. Refunds will not be given to people who fail to show up on the day of the trip, we will keep a wait list in case of no-shows. If you leave a phone number where you can be reached it will enable us to inform you in the event we let you take the trip. In addition, everyone should have a number where they can be reached in case the weather causes cancellation of the trip. You must check the college switchboard operator or call the Department Office (401-1530). Eye-witness are expected to keep a log of all sightings and any interesting behavior. A day trip to check on any last minute sightings is possible, weather permitting. Next weekend is 107, 104-8773.

The cost of transportation (round-trip) weather, your money will be refunded. Eye-witness are expected to keep a log of all sightings and any interesting behavior. A day trip to check on any last minute sightings is possible, weather permitting. Next weekend is possible.

If you have been going with the Dolphins and are interested in coming, please contact me soon. We want all those who wish to go.

The 1991 Whale Watch trips are as follows:

Saturday April 21, 180-8:00 am. (From Plymouth, Mass.)

Sunday - May 6, 9:00 am (From Providence, Mass.)

The Providence trip will depart from the Providence: and the Dolphin IV. You must arrange for transportation to Providence:.

(Count on 1 1/2 hour travel time from Union station to Brigeport Bridge). I will post a list of persons who are on the board outside about 10 AM toward the beginning April. Give yourself enough time since the boat must depart on schedule and cannot wait for latecomers.

Car-pooling is recommended. If you have a car, please let me know if you can take others. It is your responsibility to arrange for a ride and to reach an agreement with the driver relative to sharing of the cost of the trip to Providence-town and back.

We have been going with the Dolphins and it is for fall (students & faculty). The trip is open to anyone, the majority of the trips we do are for students and faculty. The boats are in top shape and captain is excellent. The crew of the Dolphin is experienced and scientific data is being gathered on these trips by Dr. Clive Anthony. Dolphins has been written up in the Drake and since we and was the original boat for whale watching in the cost. We cannot guarantee, of course, that we will see whales, but with a success ratio of over 95% success your chances are very good of not only seeing whales but getting a great experience.

The Plymouth trip has not been fully booked up yet, the trip is April 24 and will include a cutting ceremony. The boat will depart from the dock at Plymouth returning to the dock at Plymouth around 1:00 PM. Our trip in the past have been very successful, and are a great experience. Space will be limited so please contact me as soon as possible if you want to go.

The boat we will be using is the US flag vessel, Captain John & Son. This boat is comparable in size to the Dolphin IV, but is larger with a bigger power house. The boat has two V-8's and a completely modernized cruise at a speed of 17 knots. The Captain, crew and boat are very fast and has excellent visibility. The log capability from the top and lower decks. There is also a photo of Spring Break '84 by sending a certified cash, money or a copy if you wish to the address above.

TRADITION LIVES ON!

To: Spring Break '84, 701, Post Office Box 30, Deerfield Beach, FL 33441. 50/ includes postage and handling. A limited edition 100 copies only. Donations are tax deductible.

Black History from p. 4

Unfortunately, some feel that the "real" Black History is a list of "Great Negroes" and "Majestic" recognition. As a people, Afro-Americans must acknowledge the creativity, beauty and genius of those vast numbers of black people who have fought the day-to-day struggle to create a world. A serious look must be directed toward the subtle, as well as the obvious, cultural and political experience of Black people in America. The study of Black History is a part of our heritage, and an understanding of our history is of vital importance to the black community and to all who wish to learn from the past.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.

Unfortunately, some feel that the "real" Black History is a list of "Great Negroes" and "Majestic" recognition. As a people, Afro-Americans must acknowledge the creativity, beauty and genius of those vast numbers of black people who have fought the day-to-day struggle to create a world. A serious look must be directed toward the subtle, as well as the obvious, cultural and political experience of Black people in America. The study of Black History is a part of our heritage, and an understanding of our history is of vital importance to the black community and to all who wish to learn from the past.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.

Unfortunately, some feel that the "real" Black History is a list of "Great Negroes" and "Majestic" recognition. As a people, Afro-Americans must acknowledge the creativity, beauty and genius of those vast numbers of black people who have fought the day-to-day struggle to create a world. A serious look must be directed toward the subtle, as well as the obvious, cultural and political experience of Black people in America. The study of Black History is a part of our heritage, and an understanding of our history is of vital importance to the black community and to all who wish to learn from the past.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.

Unfortunately, some feel that the "real" Black History is a list of "Great Negroes" and "Majestic" recognition. As a people, Afro-Americans must acknowledge the creativity, beauty and genius of those vast numbers of black people who have fought the day-to-day struggle to create a world. A serious look must be directed toward the subtle, as well as the obvious, cultural and political experience of Black people in America. The study of Black History is a part of our heritage, and an understanding of our history is of vital importance to the black community and to all who wish to learn from the past.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.

Unfortunately, some feel that the "real" Black History is a list of "Great Negroes" and "Majestic" recognition. As a people, Afro-Americans must acknowledge the creativity, beauty and genius of those vast numbers of black people who have fought the day-to-day struggle to create a world. A serious look must be directed toward the subtle, as well as the obvious, cultural and political experience of Black people in America. The study of Black History is a part of our heritage, and an understanding of our history is of vital importance to the black community and to all who wish to learn from the past.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.

Unfortunately, some feel that the "real" Black History is a list of "Great Negroes" and "Majestic" recognition. As a people, Afro-Americans must acknowledge the creativity, beauty and genius of those vast numbers of black people who have fought the day-to-day struggle to create a world. A serious look must be directed toward the subtle, as well as the obvious, cultural and political experience of Black people in America. The study of Black History is a part of our heritage, and an understanding of our history is of vital importance to the black community and to all who wish to learn from the past.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.

Unfortunately, some feel that the "real" Black History is a list of "Great Negroes" and "Majestic" recognition. As a people, Afro-Americans must acknowledge the creativity, beauty and genius of those vast numbers of black people who have fought the day-to-day struggle to create a world. A serious look must be directed toward the subtle, as well as the obvious, cultural and political experience of Black people in America. The study of Black History is a part of our heritage, and an understanding of our history is of vital importance to the black community and to all who wish to learn from the past.

The study of Black History is therefore an important and necessary subject in the study of the Negro experience and the development of African American culture. We must understand that the world is contrived to impress a., view of the world as white. Black people are often asked to write about their experiences in America, in an effort to escape the racial gulf of color. We are asked to define our history, to feel that we no longer have to be society's, ability. Black people are the study of the social, economic, and political experience of Afro-Americans. The recognition of the African-Americans is essential to the development of a complete understanding of our society.
Attention: Minority Students

On February 14, 15, and 16, 1984, CARERU EXPO '84 will be held at the Rhode Island Convention Center to allow minority students the opportunity to meet with representatives from local and national institutions. The event is free to all students, and no prior registration is necessary. To participate, students should bring their resumes and any other relevant materials to the event.

Computer Exhibit

Photography by Robert Ward and Thomas Knudsen, both of the faculty of Bridgewater State College, will be on exhibit in the Heritage Room of the college. The event will run from February 6 through 12.

Attention:

Resignation of S.G.A. Senator

The S.G.A. has received a resignation notice from one of the three senators for this year. This will cause the Senate to lose a vote in the coming year. This is the first resignation of any S.G.A. senator this year.

Community Service Compulsory

Starting in the fall semester, students will be required to complete a minimum of 50 hours of community service. This new requirement is designed to promote civic engagement and responsibility among students. The university will work with local organizations to provide opportunities for students to fulfill this requirement. Those who fail to complete the required hours will not be allowed to graduate.

Attention: Minority Students

On February 14, 15, and 16, 1984, CARERU EXPO '84 will be held at the Rhode Island Convention Center to allow minority students the opportunity to meet with representatives from local and national institutions. The event is free to all students, and no prior registration is necessary. To participate, students should bring their resumes and any other relevant materials to the event.

Computer Exhibit

Photography by Robert Ward and Thomas Knudsen, both of the faculty of Bridgewater State College, will be on exhibit in the Heritage Room of the college. The event will run from February 6 through 12.

Attention:

Resignation of S.G.A. Senator

The S.G.A. has received a resignation notice from one of the three senators for this year. This will cause the Senate to lose a vote in the coming year. This is the first resignation of any S.G.A. senator this year.

Community Service Compulsory

Starting in the fall semester, students will be required to complete a minimum of 50 hours of community service. This new requirement is designed to promote civic engagement and responsibility among students. The university will work with local organizations to provide opportunities for students to fulfill this requirement. Those who fail to complete the required hours will not be allowed to graduate.
Conference on Voter Registration

ATTENTION SENIORS

Formal yearbooks are scheduled for February 9 throughout the day. Studio One photographers will be on campus taking pictures.

A studio will be set up in the makeup room (near UQ 4), beyond the Communications Office on the ground floor of the Student Union. With the adjacent room available for clothing changes.

A sign-up book is now available at the Comment/Yearbook office, along with sample pictures. Sign up now for a time that is convenient for you.

Don’t forget, a Yearbook will be supplied to all seniors who submit their photos by the Yearbook deadline.

NOW OPEN!!!

THE SCOOP
14 Summer Street, Bridgewater, Mass.
(Direct from Plymouth Rocks News Book)

Featuring

Sala Bar - Quiche

Daily Specials
French Onion Soup - Chips
Soup of the Day - Sandwiches
Ice cream & Desserts

Waitress Wanted!
11:30 am - 1:30 pm, Mon.-Fri.
11 am - 6 pm, Sat.
See Paula
697-9650

Food Service Available at Burrill

Beginning Monday, February 5th, limited food service will be available in the Lounge Area at Burrill Academic Center. Room Building on a limited budget. Scheme will be as follows:

9:00 am to 10:30 am: Coffee and Donuts
10:30 am to 1:30 pm: Subs and sandwiches

PRICE LIST

Roast Beef on a Bun---------- $1.25
Tuna on a Bun--------------- $1.25
Ham & American Cheese on a Bun--- $1.00
Cheese on a Bun------------ $0.75

Attention: Minority Students

On February 14, 15, and 16, 1984, CAREER EXPO '84 will be held at the Radisson. Minority students have the opportunity to meet representatives from local businesses, Government, Education, and Finance, and to sign up for no charge to participate. A complete packet of information and the pre-registration form is available now in the Career Planning and Placement Office, located next to Comment/Counter on the second floor of the Student Union.

Photography Exhibit

Photography by Robert Ward and Thomas Knudtson, both of the faculty of Bridgewater State College, will be on exhibit in the Heritage Room of the college. The exhibit runs from February 5 through 29. The exhibit's formal opening will take place at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, February 8, at a reception featuring speakers Richard Deats, chair of the department of history and Hamilton Laboratory, and a daughter, Alain. Dr. Deats is also a board member of the Rhode Island Historical Society and a member of the National Organization of Professional Photographers of America.

Dr. Ward, associate professor of media studies at Bridgewater State College and Bridgewater's photography editor of the Bridgewater Record, is a noted professional photographer and judges camera shows in the Greater Boston area.

Dr. Knudtson, associate professor of mountaineering and orienteer and an expert in mountain photography, has been taking pictures and making slides for many years. He has made films and slide shows in Europe, Africa and New Zealand.

TOWN WRIGHT IN PLYMOUTH

The wharf is just north of the historic area where the Mayflower and the small town are located. There is ample parking in the area adjacent to the wharf. If you require more detailed directions or further information about either trip, you will be glad to provide it upon your request.

J. C. Jobides, Professor of Zoology

FRESHMEN...SOPHOMORES

Want to move up quickly?

Perhaps you can't wait to....

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL 451-3011.

"RIGHT STUFF"?

"Looking for the "right stuff"? Look into our "RIGHT STUFF" programs.

THANK YOU HAVE THE "RIGHT STUFF"? LOOK INTO OUR UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS. FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL 451-3011.

APPLY IMMEDIATELY FOR THE SPRING TERM. SEE THE BOOKLET FOR DATA.

Europe, Quebec, East Coast, West Coast, Florida, the West Indies. There is ample parking in the area adjacent to the wharf.

If you think you have the stuff, we'll be glad to provide you with further information about either trip. On February 14, 15, and 16, 1984, the "RIGHT STUFF" programs will be on exhibit in the Heritage Room of the college.

A college freshman, who was currently on a trip in Europe, was ready for a new adventure, contact Professor John Myers, in the Office, located next to the wharf.

If you think you have the stuff, we'll be glad to provide you with further information about either trip.
Bear Hunt Continues

By Joe Gouere

Once again, the BSC Women's Basketball team came up winners! At their second annual Lady Bear Night, BSC best SMU by a score of 85-77. The team is now games away from an undefeated season and are still ranked 7th in the nation. However, for the girls, the first half of the game was anything but easy. In the first half, BSC was down by as much as 13 points. The girls were making sloppy passes and just couldn't seem to get the ball to work well. They had a few breaks, as SMU had and didn't know what to do. As BSC began to come back, and with 17 seconds left in the half they took the lead by a point. By the end of the game, it was 85-77.

BSC Gymnastics

Swing Into Action

By Susan Flynn

Have you ever wondered what it's like to do a four inch wide piece of gymnastics on a seven foot high balance beam? This is part of the everyday life of a 1983-84 Women's Gymnastics team. Hopefully, the pain and hard work the gymnasts go through will be worth it in the end.

For the first two weeks of the season, the girls have been working hard. The girls are working on their scores and trying to obtain a successful championship team. So far the final results of the season have proved just that. The girls' opening season was a bit of a struggle, but they are working hard to improve every day.

Collicut Does It All

By Liz Cahill

Jody Collicutt plays basketball for Bridgewater College's Women's Team. The senior player not only claims the title of leading scorer on the team, but also holds her talents to one of Bridgewater's best feats. She maintains a 3.8 grade point average and holds a job outside of school as the facilities assistant. Collicutt calls sophomore year her turning point. It was then that she began to think of her studies over other things and decided to pursue a career in physical education.

B.S.C. Women's Basketball

TICKET-ONALE

Bridgewater State Takes on Plymouth State at the Kelly March 15

Tip-off is at 7:00 p.m.

Watch The Bear Hunt Continuе

Gymnastics (continued)

Now that the season is full swing, get out and support your team! The first home meet will be against Brown University, February 8 at 7:00 p.m. The meet is guaranteed to be an awesome one, so don't miss it!
By Joe Gourette

Once again, the BSC women's basketball team came up winners! At their second annual Senior Night, BSC bested SMU by a score of 63-61. The team ran away from an undeniably talented SMU team and scored a 32-16 halftime lead. In the first half, the BSC team dominated the game, with good shooting and defense. The final score was 63-61, giving the BSC team a winning record for the season.

BSC Gymnastics

Swing Into Action

by June Cline

Have you ever wondered how your favorite team became a force in the world of gymnastics? It all started with a four-inch-wide piece of wood known as the low beam. In 1937, John H. King, Sr. of the Boston/Cambridge area, began designing and building these apparatuses, which today are known as the balance beam, the vault, and the uneven bars. The popularity of gymnastics grew rapidly, and by 1945, Boston College was the first college to establish a gymnastics team specifically for women.

The team consists of approximately 20 members, who train for three hours a day, five days a week. The season begins in January and ends in May, with competitions held throughout the country. BSC's main competition is the Atlantic 10 Conference, which includes schools such as Fordham, St. John's, and Providence.

Collicutt Does It All

by Liz Cahill

Jody Collicutt plays basketball for Bridgewater Women's Team. The senior player not only has talent, but also has the heart of a champion. Her dedication to her studies has been impressive, as she has earned a 3.8 GPA while maintaining a 1.0 GPA in her first two years. This year, she is a member of the senior class, and her presence on the team has been invaluable.

The women's basketball team is currently ranked #5 in the country, and has won 10 of their last 11 games. They are one of the top teams in the nation, and are poised to make a deep run in the NCAA tournament.

The Bear Hunt Continues

by Mike Solts

Big story things were happening at Hampshire College the other night. The joint was jampacked with people, and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. The atmosphere was electric, and everyone was talking about the upcoming events.

It was a special evening for the women's basketball team, as they were being honored for their hard work and dedication throughout the season. The team has been working hard all year, and their efforts have paid off.

The BSC team will be looking to continue their winning streak when they face off against WPI this weekend. The game is set for 7:00 PM, and it promises to be a exciting game.

Tickets are available for the upcoming games, so be sure to get yours today. This is your chance to see some of the best women's basketball in the country!

To Ski!

by Steve O'Brien

This past weekend I went skiing in New Hampshire. It was my only second time skiing, but I was very excited about it. The weather was cold and the slopes were covered in fresh snow.

I was able to ski for about three hours before taking a break. At the top of the mountain, I looked down and saw the beautiful views of the surrounding ski resorts. It was an amazing experience, and I can't wait to go skiing again.

B.S.C. Women's Basketball TONIGHT

Bridgewater State takes on Plymouth State at the Kelly Gym

Tickets are available at the Bridgewater Box Office, or online at www.bsc.edu/tickets. For more information, please visit the Bridgewater Athletics website.

Watch The Bear Hunt Continue

Collicutt (continued)

Now that the season is in full swing, the Bear Hunt is in full swing! The first home meet will be against Brown University on Wednesday, February 8 at 7:00 PM. The meet is guaranteed to be an awesome one, so don't miss it!

The Bear Hunt team consists of 12 women, who work together to create an exciting and enjoyable atmosphere for each meet. They are all dedicated to their craft, and their hard work has paid off.

Tickets are available at the Bridgewater Box Office, or online at www.bsc.edu/tickets. For more information, please visit the Bridgewater Athletics website.

Sports

BSC Gymnastics

Swing Into Action

by June Cline

Have you ever wondered how your favorite team became a force in the world of gymnastics? It all started with a four-inch-wide piece of wood known as the low beam. In 1937, John H. King, Sr. of the Boston/Cambridge area, began designing and building these apparatuses, which today are known as the balance beam, the vault, and the uneven bars. The popularity of gymnastics grew rapidly, and by 1945, Boston College was the first college to establish a gymnastics team specifically for women.

The team consists of approximately 20 members, who train for three hours a day, five days a week. The season begins in January and ends in May, with competitions held throughout the country. BSC's main competition is the Atlantic 10 Conference, which includes schools such as Fordham, St. John's, and Providence.

Collicutt Does It All

by Liz Cahill

Jody Collicutt plays basketball for Bridgewater Women's Team. The senior player not only has talent, but also has the heart of a champion. Her dedication to her studies has been impressive, as she has earned a 3.8 GPA while maintaining a 1.0 GPA in her first two years. This year, she is a member of the senior class, and her presence on the team has been invaluable.

The women's basketball team is currently ranked #5 in the country, and has won 10 of their last 11 games. They are one of the top teams in the nation, and are poised to make a deep run in the NCAA tournament.

The Bear Hunt Continues

by Mike Solts

Big story things were happening at Hampshire College the other night. The joint was jampacked with people, and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. The atmosphere was electric, and everyone was talking about the upcoming events.

It was a special evening for the women's basketball team, as they were being honored for their hard work and dedication throughout the season. The team has been working hard all year, and their efforts have paid off.

The BSC team will be looking to continue their winning streak when they face off against WPI this weekend. The game is set for 7:00 PM, and it promises to be a exciting game.

Tickets are available for the upcoming games, so be sure to get yours today. This is your chance to see some of the best women's basketball in the country!

To Ski!

by Steve O'Brien

This past weekend I went skiing in New Hampshire. It was my only second time skiing, but I was very excited about it. The weather was cold and the slopes were covered in fresh snow.

I was able to ski for about three hours before taking a break. At the top of the mountain, I looked down and saw the beautiful views of the surrounding ski resorts. It was an amazing experience, and I can't wait to go skiing again.

B.S.C. Women's Basketball TONIGHT

Bridgewater State takes on Plymouth State at the Kelly Gym

Tickets are available at the Bridgewater Box Office, or online at www.bsc.edu/tickets. For more information, please visit the Bridgewater Athletics website.

Watch The Bear Hunt Continue

Collicutt (continued)

Now that the season is in full swing, the Bear Hunt is in full swing! The first home meet will be against Brown University on Wednesday, February 8 at 7:00 PM. The meet is guaranteed to be an awesome one, so don't miss it!

The Bear Hunt team consists of 12 women, who work together to create an exciting and enjoyable atmosphere for each meet. They are all dedicated to their craft, and their hard work has paid off.

Tickets are available at the Bridgewater Box Office, or online at www.bsc.edu/tickets. For more information, please visit the Bridgewater Athletics website.

Sports

BSC Gymnastics

Swing Into Action

by June Cline

Have you ever wondered how your favorite team became a force in the world of gymnastics? It all started with a four-inch-wide piece of wood known as the low beam. In 1937, John H. King, Sr. of the Boston/Cambridge area, began designing and building these apparatuses, which today are known as the balance beam, the vault, and the uneven bars. The popularity of gymnastics grew rapidly, and by 1945, Boston College was the first college to establish a gymnastics team specifically for women.

The team consists of approximately 20 members, who train for three hours a day, five days a week. The season begins in January and ends in May, with competitions held throughout the country. BSC's main competition is the Atlantic 10 Conference, which includes schools such as Fordham, St. John's, and Providence.

Collicutt Does It All

by Liz Cahill

Jody Collicutt plays basketball for Bridgewater Women's Team. The senior player not only has talent, but also has the heart of a champion. Her dedication to her studies has been impressive, as she has earned a 3.8 GPA while maintaining a 1.0 GPA in her first two years. This year, she is a member of the senior class, and her presence on the team has been invaluable.

The women's basketball team is currently ranked #5 in the country, and has won 10 of their last 11 games. They are one of the top teams in the nation, and are poised to make a deep run in the NCAA tournament.

The Bear Hunt Continues

by Mike Solts

Big story things were happening at Hampshire College the other night. The joint was jampacked with people, and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves. The atmosphere was electric, and everyone was talking about the upcoming events.

It was a special evening for the women's basketball team, as they were being honored for their hard work and dedication throughout the season. The team has been working hard all year, and their efforts have paid off.

The BSC team will be looking to continue their winning streak when they face off against WPI this weekend. The game is set for 7:00 PM, and it promises to be a exciting game.

Tickets are available for the upcoming games, so be sure to get yours today. This is your chance to see some of the best women's basketball in the country!

To Ski!

by Steve O'Brien

This past weekend I went skiing in New Hampshire. It was my only second time skiing, but I was very excited about it. The weather was cold and the slopes were covered in fresh snow.

I was able to ski for about three hours before taking a break. At the top of the mountain, I looked down and saw the beautiful views of the surrounding ski resorts. It was an amazing experience, and I can't wait to go skiing again.

B.S.C. Women's Basketball TONIGHT

Bridgewater State takes on Plymouth State at the Kelly Gym

Tickets are available at the Bridgewater Box Office, or online at www.bsc.edu/tickets. For more information, please visit the Bridgewater Athletics website.

Watch The Bear Hunt Continue

Collicutt (continued)

Now that the season is in full swing, the Bear Hunt is in full swing! The first home meet will be against Brown University on Wednesday, February 8 at 7:00 PM. The meet is guaranteed to be an awesome one, so don't miss it!

The Bear Hunt team consists of 12 women, who work together to create an exciting and enjoyable atmosphere for each meet. They are all dedicated to their craft, and their hard work has paid off.

Tickets are available at the Bridgewater Box Office, or online at www.bsc.edu/tickets. For more information, please visit the Bridgewater Athletics website.
We took a crash course in wine & cheese, beer, cold cuts, salad bar, and hot-take-outs!

And we graduated with honors!