New Additions to Political Scene: SGA Inducts newly elected members

The Student Government Association of Bridgewater State College held the annual fall elections in order to fill the empty Freshmen Class of 1988, all four positions were open. Although most of the freshmen senators that were elected are probably inexperienced when it comes to the workings of the Student Government Association, they will be hopefully familiar with the process of their fellow senators and officers. The new Senators are Brian Staggs with 143 votes, Margaret Hayes with 116 votes; Darcy Fernandez with 111 votes; and Thomas Mallory with 112 votes.

In the race for Senator, Class of 1986, all four positions were open. Although three of the freshmen senators that were elected are probably inexperienced when it comes to the workings of the Student Government Association, they will be hopefully familiar with the process of their fellow senators and officers. The new Senators are Brian Staggs with 143 votes, Margaret Hayes with 116 votes; Darcy Fernandez with 111 votes; and Thomas Mallory with 112 votes.

The Senator-at-Large position, which was vacated by Peggy Brogna, has been filled by Rich Mankavech, the easy winner with 315 votes. The results, in order of total votes, were Steven D'Amico, with 302 votes; Kevin Dobe, with 256 votes; and Michel Hardy, with 49.

In the race for Senate, Class of 1987, all four positions were open. Although most of the freshmen senators that were elected are probably inexperienced when it comes to the workings of the Student Government Association, they will be hopefully familiar with the process of their fellow senators and officers. The new Senators are Brian Staggs with 143 votes, Margaret Hayes with 116 votes; Darcy Fernandez with 111 votes; and Thomas Mallory with 112 votes.

WASHINGTON—The administration continues to get a lot of blow back from its critics. According to one smart conservative, Ralph did not only think that there was a way to make the Middle East a safer place, but he also believed that there was a way to limit the extent of terrorism and the actions of some of the Arab States. The media has been reporting the same story for some time now, but there seems to be a loss of respect for the President and his policies, and the American people are not all in this together.

Straight From The Shoe

By Gregory C. Mathis
Editor-in-Chief

Well Student Government members who have been waiting for all the shoe announcements are of course, excited. President Linda Van DePutte has put the “shoes” on the dance floor, and the students are hard to the freeway of the jingle that is allowed in the First Amendment of the United States Constitution. I guess I should just put off to the SGA Council, all the other announcements that might be included in the SGA announcements.

Now, on the other hand, there has been some controversy, and the students are hard to the freeway of the jingle that is allowed in the First Amendment of the United States Constitution. I guess I should just put off to the SGA Council, all the other announcements that might be included in the SGA announcements.

The Comment is a student newspaper, run by students, and founded (indirectly) by students. We are proud of the fact that the administration has handed over control of the newspaper to the students. The students are not to blame for the administration’s lack of control of the newspaper. If you have any complaints, you should contact either the Editor-in-Chief or the Managing Editor. All other matters with regard to the newspaper are decided by the Student Government Association. We are not responsible for any student’s work, and we do not represent any student organization.

The Shoe is a television series that focuses on the lives of people in New York City. It explores themes such as immigration, poverty, and the effects of the Great Depression on the city's residents. The show features realistic costumes and sets, creating an authentic atmosphere that transports viewers back to the 1930s.

The cast of The Shoe includes a diverse range of actors, all of whom bring their unique talents to the series. The show's creators have worked hard to ensure that each character is well-developed and has a significant impact on the storyline.

The Shoe is a compelling series that offers a glimpse into the lives of people living in New York City during the Great Depression. It is a must-watch for anyone interested in history, costume dramas, or simply a well-crafted television series.

news. I'm not saying this is good or bad, just different. If you would like news written about you, Torley, why don't you have your Public Relations Department of the New York News each week, that way you can control what they say about you. And I promise you not to write about the people and the time to worry about what you have to say. I think that people are here to talk, not to think. The people and the questions we ask ourselves are not important.

To take this matter one more step, the Daily News is written by someone who is not a Daily News reader. The Shoemaker Wanda Waller and Clifton L. are not the same person. The writer of the letters to the editor of the Daily News is not the same person as the writer of the article of the last sell-some-thing 11th floor. I suggest that President don't Mason point me out to him as a practical and useful person and don't treat to cut finding if he has the Shoe or any other identification. I believe, "I have the shoe to do this." I don't. Darn, you really saved the ball out of me. How would I possibly even think of painting the Shoe? I will. But I can't. I can't think of the Shoe without the help of the people and this is what we are saying. I am not going to say that the people and the time to worry about what you have to say. All of Me — Carl Reiner’s All of Me is a comical gem in rare form. Sporting a cast of comic heavyweights led by Steve Martin, Lily Tomlin, and Richard Libertini, “All of Me” is a performance that could hit your ribs in several places. Take a couple of hours and sit down for some laughs — you won’t regret it.

Amadeus — Mike Furey’s Amadeus is the story of the musical genius Wolfgang Mozart (Tom Hulce) and the ill-fated composer Antonio Salieri (F. Murray Abraham). Salieri’s passion for Mozart’s gift of composition reaches proportions that will startle and disturb. Amadeus lacks many of the authentic details needed to create the true story, but Hulce’s role as a slightly unsettling character makes Amadeus perfect for Salieri — a possible contender for Best Picture in March. The most beautiful thing about Amadeus is the timeworn strokes of Mozart’s music — that’s what the movie is all about.

First Born — First Born is the story of two boys (11 and 16) whose lives are altered when their divorced mother (Ann-Margret) marries the father of one boy. For the first time in his life, the older brother (Christopher Columbus), played by a particularly mopey actor, begins to grow up. The younger boy (Dayan G. Orson Welles, in a two-time role who does drop the drugs and drinks for all the wrong reasons) is the only one who seems to feel anything. For those who are sick of Top Gun and something.

GARFIELD by Jim Davis

David Bowie: Temples. Okay, but not as good as last year’s Car (of the Beach Boys) “Good Ol’ Kino” to be honest. It would be a good song at a good time, but a good song at a bad time.

Two: It’s much better: “The Neighborhood Threat,” one of four songs on a ecdn with Iggy Pop on the sleeve, is a good song to buy. Also good are “Blue Jean,” “I Keep Forgetting,” and “Tumble Aust and Twist,” a less poppy pop song. Tumble is worth buying for side Two. Side One if you can’t buy every single song. And for the time, which is black and lighter blue with purple reflections — kind of fun to own at if you have nothing else to do.

The Yeah: Velocity. The Yeah sound like an American version of The Human League, only cooler, discoball-toting techno. They could possibly go somewhere if given enough exposure. They are not as good as post-velocity are “Can’t You Hear Me” and “Hippogriffy”.

The Dance Sisters: Hurry Up Getting. A very interesting album with a lot of energy and some good lyrics. Good tunes include the title cut, “Good Lite years From Home” (by Joyce Richards) and “Red Light On.” “Wake Up.” Also of note, their last two albums are: one is cool, but not as good for Halloween. Recommended for those who are sick of Top Gun and something.

Multicultural Committee Presents "Iphigenia"

The Multicultural Committee is offering a showing of the Greek film, "Iphigenia," at Sears Hall, on Thursday, November 1, 1984 at 7:30 p.m. Sears Hall has graciously agreed to host this second in the series of multicultural films to be shown at Bridgewater this year. Refreshments will be served by the residents of Mill Hall. A second showing will be held on Friday, November 2, 1984 at 7:00 p.m. in the viewing room of the Library, next to Dial Access, on the first floor.

"Iphigenia," directed by Michael Cacoyannis (the director who filmed Zorba the Greek), was acclaimed one of the best foreign films of 1978 by the New York Daily News. In "Iphigenia," the Theodorakis, is based on Euripides' play "Iphigenia at Aulis. It was acclaimed one of the best foreign films of 1978 by the National Board of Review, and was an Academy Award nominee for the best foreign film of the year. Irene Papas, as the heroine of great beauty and emotional force," and said "the performances range is truly magnificent. This is a powerful film." The New York Daily News gave the following review: ""Iphigenia" has been brought to life in a way that clinches works of literature really are. Through his wonderfully active and forceful direction, Michael Cacoyannis has managed to transform it into a visually dynamic, emotionally shattering film. Irene Papas is magnificient as Clytemnestra, and Nolana Tatiana as Iphigenia comes to agree with her判断's plan for her own death.

spent in defense and make sure there is something here to be defended. Being a co-sponsor of MASS-PIRG's Acid Rain Cap, introduced in the meeting Thursday by Tim Kelly, Chiocca felt that in addition to this statewide cap on nitrogen emissions, the nation needs to band together to further promote a comprehen- sive plan and deal with this growing problem.

Chiocca has been moving toward the Consumer Utility Board (CUB) frequently brought up by Scott Volpe, Rep. Chiocca was very aware of the bill. Although originally he helped co-sponsor the CUB bill, he felt that it was a byproduct of efforts with the DPL. However, brought up by the point that one citizen on the DPL is not nearly the strength sounded, and such a bill as the CUB would seem more consumer oriented. The CUB bill establishes a citizens lobbying group to represent the people of the state and address the utility issues (gas, electric, phone, etc.) considered natural monopolies.

Time Volpe brought up to Rep. Chiocca the MASS-PIRG's Acid Rain Cap which brings from holding a cap 20% larger than needed to collect funds. The banking industry gained over $15 mil- lion last year by holding custo- mer up of the banks and requiring them to make minium loans (i.e., the check cashing); Chiocca supported this bill 100% and stated his transac- tion with the banking industry.

The students of BSCPIRG wish to politically thank Rep. Chiocca for his cooperation and continuous support of the MASS-PIRG legislation.
The Great American Smoke-Out

By Patricia Boyen Staff Writer

On Thursday, November 8, B.S.C. will be participating in the nationwide Great American Smoke-Out. Smokers are encouraged to extirpate the cancer from their lungs by attending the American Cancer Society’s Smokeout display which will be in the forefront of the bookstore between 3:00-5:00 p.m. There will be help in picking up nonsmoking kills, informing pamphlets, adoptions, stickers, adoption papers, and neurotic encouragement of if you are smoking. You will also be given the opportunity to have your lug capacity measured. The difference between the healthy lungs of a non-smoker and the diseased lungs of a smoker. Think of the game that you will make if you decide to kick the habit. Consider their following form. Over 325 individuals today offer 50,000 annual premiums to non-smokers, this difference between the healthy and you will be able to see the difference.

There you will be able to pick up adoption papers, and receive pamphlets, adopt-a-smoker programs are trying to quit. You will also be given the opportunity to have your lungs measured. There is a distinct possibility.

On November 8, 1981, 165,000 houses, killed over 6,000 houses, killed over 2,000 people, and saved almost $300 million in public and private dollars. Most recently, 185,000 had been saved, 14% of the total - hold job grades higher than they should be. The anti-smoking movement is concerned, that they could physically be attacked if they told management, he apparently had the intended effect on the Koreans. The attacks stopped overnight. Dignitaries, in the event the Korean officials were warned that those who quit would dry up.

November 8, 8:00 p.m. in the Student Union Society. Tickets are $5 public and $2 B.S.C. students. Don’t miss him — he’s quite an experience.

The Women’s Center sponsored the film articles this year. Men’s Lives seems to examine the cost to the health care system and recognize the root of masculinity. Although the women’s film is factual, it is still valid. Men’s Lives highlights views men from all walks of life, who smoke in the male psyche. These men still think that “men’s jobs” do not show relevance, that all have the financial responsibilities, and make the final decisions in the family. They are expected to prove themselves, and sometimes, resistances to health care, movies, or superhero comic strips.

No one will, this becomes well known. If you cannot pay for your needs, then you have failed at a man. Now, do you wish to answer one more. Another is an interview with a behavior who often knows personal details of these man’s lives. “The only time they ever got touched,” for instance, “is here. The bar is here.

Women’s Center Presents its first in a series of films in "Men's Lives"

By Lynda Falls

Contributing Writer

The Women's Center sponsored its first series of films this year, Men's Lives, and is currently showing. The film was shown October 18th at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The 7 p.m. show had only 6 people in the Library Lecture Hall. Therefore I will use this space to advertise the other films shown by the Women's Center.

Men's Lives is a documentary about working class men who face the conflict of work versus family. The film was shown by the Women's Center on November 8th and was directed by the locally elected local aid: The Citizen's Committee.

The only disappointment about Men's Lives was the attendance. The film was shown October 18th at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The 7 p.m. show had only 6 people in the Library Lecture Hall. Therefore I will use this space to advertise the other films shown by the Women's Center.

Happy Birthday Eleanor!!

By Tim Driscoll

A conference celebrating the 100th birthday of Eleanor Roosevelt was held on Monday, October 22, at the J.F.K. Library. Bridgewater State College was represented by a good number of faculty and students. The conference, which consisted of a brief film, a speech by the grandnephew James Roosevelt Jr., and two lengthy panel discussions, highlighted the immense career of this truly remarkable woman.

Although at times a controversial figure, Eleanor Roosevelt's accomplishments as an activist, Democrat, and humanitarian all add to her legacy. She had a tremendous impact upon the world. Her work for human rights, the United Nations, America for Democratic Action, and the Commission of the Status of Women, although a small sample, reflect her multifaceted personality and the influence she wielded for over three decades.

After being immersed in the Roosevelt legacy for one day, I see more than ever how unfortunate my generation is to have missed out on knowing the "First Lady of the World." There is indeed a great deal that we can learn from the life of Eleanor Roosevelt and her profound impact upon the 20th century.

SBC Loses Fifth in Row to Plymouth, 28-7

To By Greg Matta
Sports Editor, etc.

For the Bears, it is a long, hot, and gloomy day. The SBC Bears had to come from behind in the third quarter to get within 28-17 at the end of the game.

The winless streak continued for the Bridgewater State College Bears when they lost to the Plymouth State University Panthers for the fifth week in a row. Despite the 28-7 defeat, the Bears showed that they are still fighting and showed that they are serious about the season.

The Panthers came out strong in the first half, scoring 17 points to lead the Bears 17-0 at halftime. The second half saw the Bears try to come back, but the Panthers held on to win 28-7.

This loss is the fifth in a row for the Bears, and they are now 0-5 on the season. The Bears are still fighting and have not given up. They are looking forward to their next game to try to break the losing streak.

The Bears will host the Franklin Pierce University Ravens next Saturday, October 26. The game is scheduled for a 1:00 PM start.
