Candidates Speak Out on their Platforms

By Kimberly J. Murphy

Assistant Editor

As one should be aware of by now, the upcoming election for the Student Government Association (SGA) is fast approaching and thus, the races are heating up. The reasons being is that the candidates, from Robert (B.J.) Davis, who was formerly head of the Student Government Association (SGA), to the present candidates, such as Ralph Vincent and Donough Reilly, are putting in a lot of work and time to become a reality, and I foresee the SGA to become a better organization.

Pliske: "The Administration is working hard to increase the Student Support Fund. In order to increase it, we need more money for the SGA. This will be a great step towards increasing the SGA's support fund." - Assistant Editor

Pliske: "I think it is important to work together as a whole, so I am not only one but together we can accomplish a lot of things."

Lawrence: "As First Vice President, my goal would be to keep up with the times by keeping in touch with the Student Services and Student Activities departments, which will provide students with a 7 day written notice before eviction occurs. I can assure you that I will attend the Trustees meeting in January to see the important proposal passed through."

"I am also going out to work on the issue at hand, which would serve many purposes—it would provide students with a less expensive way to eat lunch and thus, would be invaluable to the student body with the less expensive way to eat lunch."

Lawrence: "As First Vice President, I will also be working on projects with them (completed)."

"I am currently on the All-College Committee, which will provide assistance to the student body. As First Vice President, I will also be working on projects with them (completed)."

A Thank You Letter From
S.H.A.R.E.

To: The Student and Faculty Community

Dear Students and Faculty,

I am writing to express my gratitude for the significant contributions made by all members of the S.H.A.R.E. community. Your tireless efforts have been instrumental in ensuring the success of this wonderful initiative.

S.H.A.R.E. has been a platform for students to engage with the academic community, share ideas, and contribute to the cultural and intellectual life of the college. It has provided a space for students to develop their skills, explore their interests, and build meaningful relationships.

I would like to personally acknowledge the efforts of our founding members and leadership team. Their dedication and hard work have been the foundation of S.H.A.R.E. I am grateful for their vision and commitment.

To all those currently involved in S.H.A.R.E., I offer my heartfelt thanks. Your passion and commitment have not gone unnoticed. Together, we continue to push the boundaries of what is possible.

In conclusion, I want to express my appreciation for the collective efforts of everyone who has played a role in the success of S.H.A.R.E. You have made a significant impact on the lives of others and have contributed to a stronger, more vibrant community.

Yours sincerely,
[Signature]

Regarding the S.H.A.R.E. community, I will continue to support and encourage its growth and development. Together, we can make a positive difference in the lives of our students and in the broader community.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
Christmas Carols Within "A Christmas Carol"

By Jeffrey Linehan

"Every year, Christmas just seems to be starting earlier," That's something we've all said or heard at some time or another during the last few years. Actually, there's nothing wrong with that comment, as long as it's the Christmas of the previous year. There will be a brand new Christmas every possible combination and variation is possible, and not the merchandise, which will be the same for the next four weeks. The main thing is the Christmas. If you will make sure that there really is something for all of us to get in the spirit. By the time the month of December rolls in, the majority of adult Americans are fed up with all the sentimentalism and ready to extricate the angle who says "Merry Christmas" without an ounce of sincerity.

But, no matter how much we love Christmas it is not our worst-ification of Christmas will always hold a special place in our hearts. On Friday, November 30th, 1984, the Student Union Program Board sponsored a new version of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. I was one of the "new version." I don't want to get the impres- sion that the story has changed, because it hasn't. All the characters are there: Scrooge, Tiny Tim, Jacob Marley, and the rest. The storyline is still faithful to Dickens, but author Charles Jones, who adapted A Christmas Carol for stage, has added a new twist to this timeless tale by wintering Christmas carols in the story's fabric.

Jones says this version of A Christmas Carol "is not a musical comedy. The songs are not more the story forward; they stand on their own completely separate from the text. Each song or scene was chosen for its ability to contribute to the total viewing." And that's exactly what they did. Scrooge proved it could be busy blowing his own horn, while his DJ, the infamous A.J., dressed in a shirt and tie, belts, and hats, the stage with the expertise of the Breakers as a group to keep the audience's spirits high. The band played excellent harmonies and a contiguously high energy level that made the last afternoon eventful.

Christmas Carols (from p. 4)

The Commuters, a hot new band out of Hartford, Connecticut, initial and national endorsements to make it in the Big Apple. Their national debut is scheduled for November 21st at the Manhattan Hot House.

The Commuters have been gaining momentum since their formation in the summer of 1984. Their first album, "A Christmas Carol," is due out in November. A special release party will be held at the Manhattan Hot House on November 21st.

The Commuters' music is a blend of rock and roll, R&B, and soul. Their sound is described as "a cross between the Rolling Stones and The Clash." The band is known for their high-energy live shows and their ability to keep the audience on their feet.

"Our sound is a mix of blues, rock, and soul," says guitarist Mike Davis. "We try to keep it simple and real, with a lot of energy and emotion. We want to get people dancing and singing along with our music."

The Commuters are currently touring the Northeast, with stops in New York City, Philadelphia, and Boston. They are scheduled to appear at several festivals and concerts throughout the region.

The band members are all experienced musicians, with a combined total of over 30 years of experience in the music business. They have played in various bands, including The Band, The Rolling Stones, and The Clash.

The Commuters are also known for their community involvement. They have performed at several benefit concerts and have contributed to various local charities.

The band's debut album, "A Christmas Carol," features a mix of original songs and covers of classic holiday tunes. The album is produced by famed producer Steve Lillywhite, who has worked with bands such as The Police, The Cure, and The Smiths.

The Commuters are excited about their upcoming tour and are looking forward to performing for their fans. "We can't wait to get out there and show people what we're all about," says bassist Joe Stone. "We want to share our music and have a good time while we're doing it."

The band is currently accepting bookings for the upcoming tour. To schedule a performance, call 555-1234.
Thursday morning, was delayed until later that day. Actually, there’s nothing wrong with that con­cept, as long as it’s the Christmas spirit that’s in the air. If anything, there’s always the possibility, and not the merchants, of making it to the next chor­us, or the next song, and then the singing of Christmas. If you will, you could say that it’s just a matter of “love.”

The Five-member band, which was advertised as “Merry Christmas” by everyone who sold tickets, has added a new twist to this Christmas tale by wearing Christmas carol in the story’s fabric. But, no matter how much we changed Christmas to fit our own warped visualization of Christmas, it will always hold on to its original magic and charm. An exhibition of original photographs by John Coplans and Joyce Neimanas will be on view at the Clarence Kennedy Gallery from January 8 through February 10, 1985.

The photographs by John Coplans are large black-and-white portraits made on Pola-?
roid Positive/Negative Land Film Type 55. Compositionally the portraits are simple and direct with two people portrayed.

In contrast to the strikingly kaleidoscopic web-like configuration over her white print borders to form Joyce Neimanas will be on view photographs by John Coplans and Neimanas integrates dozens of compositions in each 32x40-inch piece. The relationship. Although these constructed photographs are taken from common, domestic scenes, some of them are meant to illustrate actual life experiences. In part these complex images represent Neimanas's desire to challenge the traditional uses of photography.

John Coplans is a former photographer who in recent years has devoted himself to photo-ography. He was Editor-in-Chief of Artesgraf magazine from 1971-76 and Director of the Akron Art Museum from 1978-80. Joyce Neimanas is an Associate Professor at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. She received National Endowment for the Arts Fellowship Grants in 1978 and 1982. They both have been widely published and exhibited throughout the United States.

The Clarence Kennedy Gallery is open to the Public Tuesday through Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Dr. Richard J. Warye, director of the popular Bridgewater State College Children's Thea-

This year's version of "The Moving Game" is the sixteenth annual production of the BSC Children's Theater and currently plays to more than 8,000 South Shore children. At the present time, over 1,000 children's names have reservations to attend the performance.

B.B. White's prize-winning book was cited by the Children's Literature Association as "the best American children's book of the past 200 years" and Joseph Robinette has adapted it into a beautiful and perceptive play about finales.

BSC Children’s Theater Auditions Scheduled

Dr. Richard J. Wans, director of the popular Bridgewater State College Children’s Theater, has announced that auditions for the 1982 production, directed by Carol G. Young, will be held in the Student Union Auditorium on Monday and Tuesday, January 17 and 18 (the first Monday and Thursday or second Sunday) from 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. Tryouts are open to all BSC students, and non-theater majors are especially invited to audition. Production dates for the work will be Thursday, March 3, through Wednesday, March 9, 1982. It is the sixth annual production of the BSC Children’s Theater, which currently plays to more than 1,000 student audiences a year. At the present time, over 1,000 children’s books are on reserve to attend the performances.

B.R. White’s prize-winning book was chosen by the Children’s Literature Association as “the best American children’s book of the past 200 years,” and Joseph Robinette has adapted it into a beautiful and perspective play about friendship.

Mass Hysteria Grips BSC

By Kimmie "Anything Goes Vogue" March 9, 1984

Mass hysteria grips BSC — the likes of which have not been seen since they served fried cod solemnly on the shoulder of the co-executives of the administration. After the announcement of Section 32, administration alike have been gripped with a sense of such grief and remorse, that the streets of Bridgewater have been filled with people who have all given up the will to live. It's given up the will to live. Only to be identified as one of the thousand students, faculty, and staff who have followed the continued adventures of Pinky's Place. The No-Comment to ya' know; I've seen pictures of Woodstock — don't think that we won't use it, either. But, not all students really care about this aesthetically savage, but manly, band. Goud and Rhinestone, his wife Steve, and their dog Desmond, were the leaders of this group, who wished the best in his pursuit of this potentially dangerous article once, the little candle, expressing their wish for him to continue his more than Section 32. President: Of The School, (or Bambi LaSalle) was seen sobbing — really, waxy build up in front of our office door. Also, the janitor has not been snoozing at any form, Smoothie the Butler and Simonne, the Bartender are demanding raisin. Please do something about this, you just can't find good help anymore.

Mass hysteria grips BSC — the effects of which have not been seen since they started fielding out natio for three consecutive nights at 10. After the announcement in last week's The Comment that Season 72 was still being advertised, students, faculty, and administration alike were apparently gripped with a sense of both guilt and outrage, that the decision to place the season on hold was filled with people who have all been given as much sleep as possible. It reported 3,000 people and two dogs showed up at this Thursday night outside the offices of The Comment! A total of hundreds of others were present, much to the chagrin of the啄 real ethnic of the co-ordinating secretary of the group, one Beatrice Bollitt (Beatrice's claim that he can be seen every Tuesday and Thursday night at Alex's. In a surprise announcement today, Bridgewater State College Athletic Director Bob Ruggerio has named former Twin, Tiger, Ranger, Yankee (twice) and A's manager Billy Martin as the school's new baseball coach. Martin, in a telephone interview from Dannamorra, said he is going for any job he can get, while still being very discreet about it. "I contacted the Zips of Akron University and they weren't interested, I've managed the A's, so the Bears seemed to be a logical choice," the fiery Martin said. Asked how long he would stay at BSC, Martin replied, "You never know, I may get a call from Virginia University to coach the Cavaliers after I get good here, you never know." Martin is currently serving a term at Dannamorra Prison in New York charged with assault and battery on a Plattsburgh, NY girl scout who refused to give Martin a free cookie to sample. Martin will begin coaching duties when his prison term expires. Bridgewater Girl Scout Troop 145 is planning to picket the school at a point of the school's decision.

Sociology Club Tours MCI Possibility of Internships

The Sociology Club sponsored a trip to the Massachusetts Correctional Institute at Framingham on December 4th. Fifteen students, mostly freshmen and sophomores, participated in the tour, providing them with a unique opportunity to observe firsthand the workings of a correctional institution. The students were able to gain valuable insights into the daily lives of inmates and the operations of a prison. This experience will undoubtedly enrich their understanding of the field of sociology.

Teacher Absences to be Reported on WBM

In order to address the issue of teacher absences, a new system will be implemented. Teachers will be required to update the attendance system for their classes, ensuring that accurate records are maintained. This will help in coordinating the replacement of absent teachers and in planning for substitute instruction.

Chokes who tossed in 18 points and grabbed 9 rebounds. Captain Mark Chisholm, Baker's top scorer, netted 17 points, and forward Steve Pennington added 16 for ECS. Four other Bears reached double figures.

The 61-54 win was their fourth in a row, with the Bears scoring 44 points in the first half, and never looking back. "We were very good defensively," Coach Steve Pennington said. "We held them to 31 points in the first half, and we never really looked back from there." Pennington said the Bears' defense was key in the win. "We were very good defensively," he said. "We held them to 31 points in the first half, and we never really looked back from there." Pennington also praised the team's rebounding efforts, which led to a 46-29 advantage on the boards. The Bears shot 46% from the field and 30% from three-point range. ECS, on the other hand, shot only 33% from the field and 27% from three-point range.

Next, the Bears will face the Salve Regina University Seahawks on Saturday, December 14, at 4 p.m. at the Kelly Gym. The Seahawks are 8-0 on the season and have won all seven of their conference games. ECS will need to put together another strong defensive performance to come away with a win.

Women's Basketball: Bears in Action

The women's basketball team will travel to the land of the Salem State Vikings last Thursday and come back with a bang, as they open up the season against their perennial rivals. The Bears are the defending champions of the MASCAC conference and hope to continue their winning streak.

The Bears' season opens on Saturday, December 14, against Salem State at the Kelly Gym. The game is set for 1 p.m. and is a tough one for the Bears, as Salem State is expected to put up a strong fight. The Bears are coming off a successful season in 1983-84, where they went 17-8 and made it to the NCAA post-season tournament.

The Bears' roster is led by seniors Ann Drolette, Tammy Robichaud, and Marcia Quitmeyer, who will be relied upon to lead the team on the court.
