$100,000

Lot, March, a group of interested citizens, leaders, and friends of the College met over breakfast to discuss a fund raiser to raise $100,000.00 in honor of the 10th anniversary of the College. Dr. Gerald I. Tischler, Dean of the School of Business, explained the concept of the campaign and asked for input from those present. Through the leadership of Dr.
Tischler, the campaign raised funds for a variety of projects.

The center of the campaign was to be accomplished this year in the following manner: $50,000.00 has been allocated to increase scholarships and internships. $25,000.00 has been made available in the College in order to assist in the cost of books or tuition.

In addition, the Executive Board of the Bridgewater Alumni Association has established a $25,000.00 Endowment Fund which is to be administered by the College.

The net total is $100,000.00.

Letters to the Editor

An open letter to the President

I am writing to inform you of a situation which threatens the welfare of our students and the reputation of the Bridgewater College student body.

The situation concerns the theft of funds from the SGA account. It has been reported to the local police and has been under investigation by the FBI.

I am writing to you in order to inform you of this serious problem.

The thief is a student at Bridgewater State University and is currently being investigated for theft.

I am writing to you to ask for assistance in locating and apprehending this student.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Yours sincerely,

President of Bridgewater State University

Endorsement Letter

I want to thank the campus community for their support in the campaign to raise $100,000.00 for the College. I am proud to be a part of this campaign and to see the dedication and hard work of all those involved.

The College has a long history of providing quality education to students in the area. It is important that we continue to support this institution and ensure its success.

Thank you for your support.

Sincerely,

Student Body President

Parking Problems

I do not know if this information is true, but according to someone I spoke with, the parking lot is becoming a dangerous place.

There are reports of cars being broken into and items being stolen. It is a concern to me and I believe it is a concern to others as well.

I would like to see action taken to address this issue. There should be better lighting in the area and more police presence.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Student Body President

Recreation Minor

The Recreation Minor is open to any student who wishes to pursue a career in the field of recreation. It is a great option for those who enjoy working with people and helping them to lead healthy and active lifestyles.

The minor includes courses such as: Programming and Planning, Leadership, and Safety in Recreation.

I would encourage any student who is interested in this field to look into the Recreation Minor.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Student Body President

PARKING PROBLEMS

I don’t know if this information is true, but someone on campus said that if you park in the dirt past the parking lot, the campus police can give you a ticket.

Since people are parking in this area, it should be allowed.

What about parking in the area past the student center? It appears that there is no problem with parking in this area.

The student should not be considered for this survey.

I hope this information will be useful to others who are interested in parking on campus.

Endorsement Letter

Dear [Editor's Name],

I was asked to make this endorsement of the Recreation Minor at Bridgewater State College for their March 4th article in the Comment. I have been a member of the Board of Trustees, and to the students, this minor is a great addition to the College. I believe that this minor has the potential to benefit many students.

The position of Trustee is one that requires a commitment to the welfare of the student body. As a Trustee, I believe that the Recreation Minor is a valuable addition to the College.

I would like to endorse the Recreation Minor and recommend its approval to the Board of Trustees. I believe that this minor will provide an opportunity for students to explore their interests and develop valuable skills.

Thank you for considering this endorsement.

Sincerely,

SGA Report for February 26, 1985 Senate meeting.

No one was absent. (Gender equality and transparency) Projects filled in for Senate and Passaic.

Yesterday, the Senate was informed that the committee for the Student Association of Mathematics and Science voted to change the name from "Math and Science" to "Math, Science, and Engineering" because of possible gender bias. The committee would then change the name back to "Math, Science, and Engineering." A motion to change the name was passed with three votes against and 12 for.

Next, President Lawrence presented the Senate with a new directory of books, newspapers, and journals. He encouraged the use of the new directory as a way to promote reading among students. The directory was opened, and students were welcomed to browse through it. The meeting then adjourned.

Senator Tom Fitzgerald was introduced as the new Senate President for the current semester.

The Senate then moved on to consider the appointment of new Senators. Tom Fitzgerald was appointed as Senator of W, Greg Mathis as Senator of E, and Mike Romano as Senator of S.A.M.S.

The SGA Notebook section will be held on the third floor of the Union, 679-2009.
Women's Center

Monday, March 4, 1985

This is an issue about you and your life. As you read this, your women's studies class may be going shopping for the new campus that is dealing with these issues.

The Women's Center is a collection of Rochester residents who are concerned with these issues. We provide support and education, and referral services to our community. In addition to extensive lists on many issues, we have a lending library, women's literature, women's issues, and books and videos.

These issues affect us in every way we can imagine. We are here to help you find out more about these issues, and to be able to join the conversation. We are concerned about what you need, and we encourage you to participate in our discussions. We hope you enjoy our work on this campus and in your life.

USA for Africa 46 Superstars Band Together

By Greg Myers
Staff Writer

The recording sessions occurred between January 24th and 25th, and 30th and 31st in a full-length studio in Britain. The recording sessions were directed and produced by Jeff Lynne, the former lead singer of the band Electric Light Orchestra. His use of the ELO's customary synthesizer and a retuned double bass was key to creating the sound that has been described as both majestic and eerie. The list of the 46 performers is extensive and includes a range of internationally recognized artists from different genres, including rock, reggae, pop, and soul. Two of the biggest names that have contributed are Bob Marley and David Bowie.

The recording sessions were also notable for the speed with which they were completed. The entire production was recorded, mixed, and mastered within a few days, a remarkable feat given the large number of artists involved. The recording sessions were conducted in a relaxed and friendly atmosphere, allowing the artists to work together as a team.

The music was released on 26th February 1984 on the label EMI. The album's initial release was on a seven-inch and later followed by the release of a limited edition twelve-inch pressing. It was distributed worldwide by Parlophone Records and achieved instant success. Within a week, it sold 1 million copies in the UK and 4 million copies worldwide. Within six months, it sold over 60 million copies worldwide. It was the fastest-selling single in history, and it has since been certified as the best-selling single of all time.

In the summer of 1984, the artwork for the single was created by the graphic designer Peter Saville. The artwork was based on a line drawing by David Hockney and featured images of each artist. The cover has been described as a visual representation of the unity and spirit of the project.

The success of the single led to the organization of a series of concerts to support the cause. The first of these was held in London on 26th September 1984, and it was attended by over 70,000 people. The concerts were sponsored by A&M Records, and the lineup included big names like Bruce Springsteen, Ozzy Osbourne, and Def Leppard.

The Money Season

The Money Season starts out like any other mystery story, with a foreigner in town and a rash of murders. But, unlike most murder mysteries, the killer is not revealed until the last few pages of the book. The murder scenes are described in such detail that the reader is left with no doubt about the identity of the murderer. At the end, the murderer is revealed as a character who was introduced early in the book, and the twist is so unexpected that it leaves the reader with a feeling of surprise.

The Money Season is the first book in a series of three, and it is followed by Two Cents for the Dead and The Last, Best Money. The series is set in a fictional town called New England, and it is filled with twists and turns that keep the reader guessing until the very end.

The characters are complex and well-developed, with each one having their own agenda and secrets. The setting is also a key element of the story, with the town being described as a place where everyone knows everyone else's business.

The author, Malcolm Anderson, is known for his ability to create a vivid and compelling world. His previous books have been praised for their richly imagined settings and complex characters. The Money Season is no exception, with the author creating a world that is both familiar and陌生.

The recording session occurred on January 28, 1985, in London and New York City. While the project was initially greeted with some skepticism by many artists, it proved to be a massive success, raising funds for famine relief.

The list of the 46 performers who performed at the session is as follows:.

- David Bowie
- Elton John
- George Michael
- Michael Jackson
- Paul McCartney
- Bruce Springsteen
- Lionel Richie
- Stevie Wonder

The list includes a diverse range of artists, from pop and rock to soul and R&B. The project was organized by Bob Geldof and Midge Ure, who aimed to raise awareness and funds for famine relief in Africa.

The project is being organized by Ken Kragen and it is estimated that this effort will bring together some of the best-known artists of the entire world to help the people of Africa, as well as to show the importance of America.

Manager's Desk

It's Tuesday at the Bridge- water State College women's basketball office in the Manager's Desk. Assistant Coach Steve Waterston sits behind his desk, a stack of papers in front of him, looking over some important matters. He is preparing for the upcoming NCAA Division III tournament, which is just around the corner.

The women's basketball team finished the regular season with a record of 25-1, winning the New England Conference title for the first time in school history. The team is now preparing for the NCAA tournament, where they hope to make a deep run and bring home a national championship.

As Steve looks over the papers, he reflects on the season so far. The team has been working hard and playing well, and he is confident that they can compete at the highest level.

The NCAA tournament will begin in a few weeks, and the Bears will be looking to make a statement. Steve is excited to see how the team performs and is ready for whatever challenges come their way.

Steve smiles as he looks up, knowing that the hard work is paying off. The team is ready to take the court and give it their all. They have worked too hard to let anything stand in their way.

As Steve puts the papers away, he turns to head out to the gym for practice. The team is ready to take on whatever comes their way, and Steve is ready to lead them to success.

The women's basketball team finished the regular season with a record of 25-1, winning the New England Conference title for the first time in school history. The team is now preparing for the NCAA tournament, where they hope to make a deep run and bring home a national championship.

As Steve looks over the papers, he reflects on the season so far. The team has been working hard and playing well, and he is confident that they can compete at the highest level.

The NCAA tournament will begin in a few weeks, and the Bears will be looking to make a statement. Steve is excited to see how the team performs and is ready for whatever challenges come their way.

Steve smiles as he looks up, knowing that the hard work is paying off. The team is ready to take the court and give it their all. They have worked too hard to let anything stand in their way.

As Steve puts the papers away, he turns to head out to the gym for practice. The team is ready to take on whatever comes their way, and Steve is ready to lead them to success.

Manager's Desk

It's Tuesday at the Bridge- water State College women's basketball office in the Manager's Desk. Assistant Coach Steve Waterston sits behind his desk, a stack of papers in front of him, looking over some important matters. He is preparing for the upcoming NCAA Division III tournament, which is just around the corner.

The Lady Bears of Rhode Island College are one of the most exciting teams in the nation. Their high-spirited team has been riding high in recent years, topping the NCAA Division III women’s basketball rankings. The Lady Bears have compiled a record of 18-5 this season, making them one of the top teams in the country. They are currently ranked 9th in the nation, with a winning percentage of 77.2%.

The Lady Bears’ season started strong with a record of 12-2, but they have continued to improve throughout the year. They have won their last six games, including a recent victory over New England Women’s College, 62-47. This win propelled them into the top 10 of the national rankings. The Lady Bears are led by a strong nucleus of players, including seniors R. Sinden and J. O’Connell, as well as sophomores S. Smith and G. Benson.

The Lady Bears are not only competitive on the court, but they are also known for their strong sense of community and team spirit. They have raised money for various charitable causes, including breast cancer awareness and disaster relief. Their dedication to both athletics and community service is a testament to their character and values.

The Lady Bears are also known for their high-scoring offense. They average 74 points per game, with a shooting percentage of 46.8%. Their defense is equally impressive, allowing only 61 points per game. They have a strong frontcourt of forwards and centers, including a 5’8” forward from Walpole, Mass., who is averaging 11.4 points per game. Their defense is also solid, holding opponents to only 49 points per game.

The Lady Bears are one of the most exciting teams in the country, and they are sure to make a splash in the NCAA playoffs. With their talent and determination, they are poised to make a deep run in the tournament. They are a team to watch and a name to remember in the world of college basketball.
Dear P.J.,

I am a freshman girl who has been seeing this guy for a few years now and love him very much. I think that I want to sleep with him, but I am afraid of getting pregnant. I know I am not in college because I am afraid of the consequences of not using a condom and don't have the money to go to a doctor around here:

Afraid

Dear Afraid,

First make sure that you are positive this is what you want. Sleeping with a guy is a big step. Take time to think about how he looks. If you both decide that you are ready to make love then go to Health Service, they can arrange for an appointment with the school gynecologist. If you don't want to go to Health Service there is a clinic in Brockton which can help. They have doctors that can give you a regular exam and if you can't afford to pay they can arrange for you to pay a small amount of nothing at all.

Take Care

Dear Friend,

Don't keep putting off talking to her, the longer you do the harder it will be to talk to her. Try and find a way to start a letter and explain how you feel. It is a wonderful feeling to be loved, but it can be scary too. Be honest about how you feel. If she is the kind of woman you want, then cross your heart when you say it. A double cross never wins.

Dear P.J.,

I am a freshman girl who has been using this paper for a few years and I love it very much. I think that I want to stop with it, but I am afraid of getting pregnant. I don't want to go to the doctor because I am afraid that she will say I need one and I don't have the money to go to a doctor around here.

A dear friend

Don't keep putting off giving her, the lesser you do the harder it will be to talk to her. Try to find a time and write a letter and explain how you feel. It is a small thing that really isn't worth saying. I think that you are right and whoever you are talking to.
