Rash of bomb threats strikes BSC campus

By John Blakeslee

On April 5, a school police called a phone call at approximately 10:45 a.m., stating that a bomb was planted on the campus near the 3rd floor of the Champlain Hall, according to Gemes Wilson, a selected group of prospective finalists will be interviewed in May. The committee will then be narrowed down to semi-finalists and finalists, with the president eventually being chosen.

The Presidential Search and Selection Committee held its fourth and final meeting on March 7, 1986. The committee reviewed the criteria for the position of president and discussed the qualifications for the finalists.

The committee plans to hold a public meeting on March 19 at 7 p.m. at the Conant Center, 128 Elm Street, to answer any questions the public may have about the search for the president.

The committee hopes to choose a new president by April 11, and the search is expected to be completed by the end of May. The new president is expected to take office on July 1, 1986.

The committee is comprised of 11 members, including the current president, Dr. John Blakeslee, eight faculty members, and two community members.

The committee is seeking candidates with experience in higher education administration, academic leadership, and community engagement.

The committee is also interested in diversity and equity, and is looking for candidates who can bring new ideas and perspectives to the campus.

Dear Editor:

We're noticing the advertising space for the G. Gordon Liddy Letter and feel compelled to address the following question to the students and faculty at Bridgewater:

1. Should BSC students pay for this medium? Can they afford it or does this medium benefit the college?

2. Should the SGA financially support or reward an individual who has attempted to serve democracy?

3. What educational or entertainment value can be derived from the views of a man with questionable ethics?

4. Because free speech exists in our society and we respect that, does it mean that we should not use critical criterion with testimonies and imagery in selection of speakers?

5. Do we consider that the college may have a responsibility to the greater community to provide æstheticism rather than sensationalism?

We hope that these questions can be answered in the Comments in future columns, on campus and off.

Dear Editor:

On April 3 and 4, the Dance Corp presented its annual show. At the opening music concert, which consisted largely of students from the Burnett Center School, was somewhat shrouded by the noise of the entire audience. It was interesting to see how quickly and accurately the dancers were able to keep the audience quiet. Everyone enjoyed the music. A large number of students, faculty, and visitors attended the show. It was most bothersome if at any time before we run out of drinking water altogether. The time is now for serious legislation to prevent further contamination. Private citizens also must show more concern for their water supplies.

For instance, on Thursday, April 17, at 7 p.m., there will be a public meeting, conducted by the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering, at the Bridgewater State College, 128 Elm Street, Bridgewater. The meeting is for the selection of speakers.

Dear Editor,

I'm writing in regards to last week's article, "New Parents - RWM Announced." Two important initiatives were made in the listings of the directors: Rick Walsworth, Promotion Director, and Chris Clouse, Publicity Director. Both have made major contributions to the college community, and deserve to be recognized.

Thank you.

Dean: I've noticed, it is not entirely unexpected considering the age of the audience. It was, however, extremely disappointing and enraging to hear the same behavior at the Thursday evening performance of the faculty. In an audience made up largely of college students, many college students seem to be ignorant of proper audience manners and their talking was most bothersome and distracting to other members of the audience as well as the dancers. I am interested in seeing the trend toward increasingly crude behavior at public events. My college and I will do our best to reverse this trend, but also help the college students? I hope they will help themselves.

Sincerely,

Drinking water should be everyone's important concern

Dead fish floating belly up in what will eventually end up in your glass; puddles that leave concentric yellow rings in the dirt as they evaporate; chemically contaminated water, possibly causing higher cancer rates in different areas, including Cape Cod, - all seem to be harbingers of the end of life on this planet.

While recent front page headlines have spoken of violent clashes between nations and people, a quiet menace has been allowed to grow and circulate freely in our water. Pollution. Contamination. Call it what you will. For so long we've been talking of drinking water for granted. Open the valve, out came the cool, presumably clean water. Now we must weigh our thirst against our willingness to endure strange tastes and even illness.

This is one of the most serious problems facing us today. If it is allowed to go on unchecked, we must face the fact that it is only a matter of time before we run out of drinking water altogether. The time is now for serious legislation to prevent further contamination. Private citizens also must show more concern for their water supplies.

Drinking water should be everyone’s important concern

Dear Editor,

We’ve noticed the advertising space for the G. Gordon Liddy: Lecture and feel compelled to address the following questions to the students and faculty at Bridgewater:

1. Should BSC students use their free money to pay a man convicted of crime to speak to them at Bridgewater State College?

3. When educational or entertainment value can be derived from the views of a man with questionable ethics?
4. Because free speech exists in our country and we respect that, does it mean that we should not use criteria concerned with ramifications and urgency in selection of speakers?
5. Do we believe that the college may have a responsibility to the greater commu-

We hope that these questions can be answered in the Commonwealth, in our own, or on campuses and off.

AIDS: An growing concern for campuses

By Barbara S. Murphy

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) has become a major concern on college campuses. The big focus on campus is to be the better of both worlds. However, there is no cure for AIDS in the United States. Students who have developed AIDS may have been exposed to HTLV-III before or during birth, or shortly thereafter, or may have a history of intravenous drug use.

Thirty-six percent of the cases in the U.S. are reported from New York State and about 25 percent from California. The AIDS cases have been reported from 46 states and Puerto Rico, and more than 35 other countries.

Imagery that makes us or other people depend on how we perceive our- selves. Our perception of self and our impressions are created and created the same different communication behaviors.

She explained that these important factors need to be taken into account in the process of making the images. The more prominent appearance is the way we dress, clothing, style, and our facial expression, and our face is one of the first things that become apparent in the thinning of the skin and hair. Therefore, the skin and hair of people who have AIDS, which have been written about, have not been published. There is no danger of contracting HIV in the use of common sports equipment. Blood Bank and other blood collection centers see high-risk and high-risk individuals to be at risk for getting the HTLV-III virus. Acquired Immune Deficiency Systome (AIDS) has become a major concern for college campuses across the nation. The big fears on campus used to be the spread of the disease. Today, however, the fear is not of rampant transmission but of the panic it causes. Students have tested positive for exposure to the virus, which are contagious, but because the panic is n1yths.

AIDS is a disease which many people don't understand and are very confused about the facts. The American Psychiatric Association

states that AIDS is a major concern for college campuses, but not because of the disease itself, but because of the panic it causes. Students who have developed AIDS may have been exposed to an AIDS virus, or their symptoms may simply be caused by other conditions, such as tuberculosis. Students who are suffering from night sweats and swollen glands may not have

AIDS. They may have other illnesses that cause similar symptoms.

Thirty-six percent of the cases in the U.S. are reported by New York State, and about 23 percent from California. Some other states, such as Texas, and Puerto Rico, have also seen cases of AIDS.

In the Eastern schools, NY City's common pool of AIDS has an average of 40 new cases per week. In the Midwest, there were even more cases of AIDS, and NY has seen some of the newest cases, which have been diagnosed in cases in very unhappy teenagers and college students. But many students are hesitant to confront AIDS. Because of its link to homosexuality and the deep image problem for the schools. But the university system of health services across the nation. The University of California, Berkeley, where two students have already died of AIDS, has designated AIDS as a health issue on its campus.

Creating an Image

By Karen Melanson

Images that we make of ourselves, and the different ways in which we create and hold onto them, are important to our self-esteem and our self-image. Images that we make of ourselves are important to our self-esteem and our self-image. Creating an Image is the process by which we create and hold onto our images of ourselves. This process is important to our self-esteem and our self-image, and it is an important part of our personality.

In the fall of 1984, Mr. Belair lectured on his work at the University of California, Berkeley, where he presented his book "Creating an Image" and other works. His book was published by Doubleday and company, and he was invited to lecture on his work at various universities and colleges.

Dear P.J.,

My roommate has this disgusting habit of picking up her towel. She doesn’t even know when she does it. I got hercaught this time, and she said she would never do it again. Is that true?

Dear Tracey,

It’s true.

Sincerely,

I cnn P.J.
Your Stars This Week
By Sally White

Sonin discipline and a familiarity with facts and figures are demanded of all who wish to make progress of any kind this week. Little can be done that requires no careful preparation of material, but the students should be discouraged from tackling work above their capacity. However, some may find that the unexpected adds a new dimension to interpersonal affairs that may make possible a mutual understanding and a common approach to problems that were once unsolvable and unmanageable.

TARUS (April 20-May 20) - To concentrate on your own abilities early in the week, help to form the abilities of one of those who work hard. The 26th May - 28th May does not depend too heavily on co-working this week. Be willing to accept all responsibilities.

CELEI (May 31-June 24) - Though you may capture the hearts of many admirers this week, be careful of the abilities of other people, who may have worked very hard to baffle you. July 22nd - August 25th, but do not be rated by your creative innovations. Moderation is the keynote this week.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) - Be careful you are not taken by surprise early in the week, as you will find the need to work very hard and rough, enough (Aug. 8-Aug. 22) - Make your own plans this week. Do not make others enter this is your best interest.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23) - Postponement of long-awaited events may be necessary this week. Be sure to make time for them later. However, (Sept. 8-Sept. 22) - Ascend the awe of trends, patterns may make your good use of your time.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 22) - Decision to have with one who does not understand your point of view. This week (Oct. 31-Nov. 22) - Realize that you are not sucking the nail this week. It is essential that you be able to anticipate all possible outcomes.

SCORPIO (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) - Last week may have shown you from where you shook your workers. Enjoy a new scene of freedom (Nov. 8-Dec. 21) - A good week for asking problems, as confusion is normally less.

SAGITTARIUS (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) - Be prepared to accept what your connections work, regardless of implications. Adjustment is necessary at this time. (Dec. 30-Dec. 31) - Though present course is sporting and may be leading you towards Revolution this week.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 28-Jan. 1) - Avoid getting to bits one over one you already have very little control this week. Know your limits (Jan. 6-Jan. 15), Environmental influences may be mutually strong this week and prepared to an unvarying.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 16-Feb. 15) - To be taken by surprise this week - especially if you feel unusually of what is before you (Feb. 4-Feb. 13) - Do not become involved in any other cause or have your own races.

PISCES (Feb. 26-Mar. 20) - Though you may have taken to that personal order, the week will not pass the support you have been. March (Mar. 26-Apr. 3) - A great wish for showers. Do not, however, risk what is not yours.

In the Spring of 1974, the Health and Physical Education Department of Bridgewater State College gave support to a pilot program fostering community service. The program afforded students from most majors on campus the opportunity to volunteer their time working with children and youth with special needs in a clinical physical education program on Saturday mornings.

What started 12 years ago as a pilot program to meet the physical, motor and leisure needs of twenty children, has grown to a well established program that now serves some ninety children and youth from 36 communities in the greater Boston and South Shore area.

The Clinic has proven to be a satisfying experience for students, who know that they are helping a child with special needs to reach his or her fullest potential, physically, intellectually, emotionally and socially.

Each Saturday morning at 7:30 the children gather at the John J. Kelly Gymnasium and Pool complex on the campus of Bridgewater State College. Their faces glow in anticipation of playing and learning with their special friends. The children's bright eyes and smiles, along with being able to witness steady progress, are the clinician's greatest rewards.

The Clinic utilizes the Olympic size swimming pool, three gymnasiums, an early childhood intervention center, a physical fitness training room and outdoor facilities. The developmental program is one of only about 40 in the country.

Don’t pass up an opportunity to help yourself while helping others!

The Clinic is now accepting applications for the Fall semester from all students interested in applying. Applications may be obtained at Dr. Holzer's office, Room 313 in the Kelly Gymnasium. Work you come down and join us in our efforts to make a difference in the lives of the special needs children we serve! We guarantee it will be one of the most rewarding experiences of your college career and will assist you with your professional career upon graduation.

The first jump is always the most difficult, the attempts that follow develop both skill confidence.

The development of motor skills, that can carry over into the leisure world of children in the Clinic program, have a high priority.

A clinician's encouragement and feedback provide the means of developing motor skills.

A clinician's encouragemant and feedback provide the means of developing motor skills.

In our society, a child's ability to play successfully with a ball is often enjoyed between clinician and his/her child.
Children's Physical Developmental Clinic

In the Spring of 1986, the Health and Physical Education Department of Bridgewater State College launched a pilot program to meet the physical, motor, and social needs of children, with an emphasis on children with special needs. The program was designed to serve children with special needs and to provide a supportive environment for their development.

The program offers a range of activities, including

- Early Intervention
- Physical Fitness
- Motor Development
- Basic Motor Skills and Patterns
- Individual and Group Games
- Aquatic Skills
- Rhythmic and Dance Skills
- Recreation and Sport Activity

The Clinic program is directed by Dr. Joseph Huber, who worked extensively with the first clinic of this kind at the University of Maryland, and Professor Johanne Smith, with ten student group leaders. Recently, Dr. Huber and his staff received the Manuel Carballo Governor's award for excellence in public service.

The Clinic is the largest group on campus with over 100 student clinicians representing most majors on the Bridgewater State College campus. These include the following:

- Art
- Psychology
- Biology
- Recreation
- Computer Science
- Science
- Early Childhood
- Secondary Education
- Elementary Education
- Social Work
- Health Education
- Sociology
- Management Science
- Speech Communication
- Physical Education
- Communication Disorders

Wash U Dance

With the opening "Primavera" dance, the audience got into the dance. The dancers jumped and yelled to the beat much like the African Dance that came to Bridgewater earlier in the semester.

The rest of the show contained an assortment of different things from tap and juggling, but unfortunately, some strange elements which were quite different from the usual scene. For example, there was a dancer named "Mumat" who threw a pair of stilts in the air, which was quite interesting.

One more selection of interest in the corps was the "Cats" dance, which involved just that, imaginary feline movements. The highlight of this band is their percussion, which was quite interesting. The band played the audience got into the dance. The assortment of different things from tap dancers jumped and yelled to the beat.

The original soundtrack to the movie Pretty In Pink has a lot of hands in the average Joe would not be familiar with. King of Midtown Records, the distributor of this album, instead brings us a selection of songs that the band members had written and recorded themselves. For the listener who enjoys the type of music that is played by the bands in the film, this is a great addition to their collection.

The album is a compilation of songs from various artists, including the bands Duran Duran, The Smiths, and The Cure. The songs are all in the same genre, and they are all very catchy and memorable. The sound is very similar to what you would expect from a band like The Cure, and the lyrics are very well written. The album is a great addition to any collection of music that you enjoy.

The original soundtrack to the movie Pretty In Pink has a lot of hands and faces. Average Joe would not be familiar with. King in mind is that this is the downfall of this album. Instead it brings a new possibility for these hands to become big. The protagonist of the movie Jake Hughes has done movies in which the audience would be interested in. The producer of the movie John Hughes is getting a substantial airplay. Other great moments can be found in the track Pretty In Pink by the Psy- chotic Frick.

One of the shortest songs is the worst in the show. It is by the Smile. This cut is too neat and dull. The Smile has done better than this. Echo & The Bunnymen

Yet another movie review from... Mark Avery

Mark Avery
Gung Ho is a movie directed by Ron Howard. and starring Michael Keaton. The movie is supposed to be a funny movie and is a story of a Japanese auto company that is struggling to keep its factory open. The American management wants to close the factory, but the Japanese workers are determined to keep it open. The movie is set in a Japanese auto factory and is a story of how the workers and managers come together to save the factory.

Summary
Mark Avery is the author of the review. He believes that the movie is not funny and that the characters are not well-developed. He also believes that the story is not believable and that the ending is too predictable. However, he does admit that the movie is well-made and that the acting is good.

As the back of the movie poster says, "Like Wings." What's right at the heart of Hudleyville last Thursday night? No, not two, but three great bands appeared at the Orpheum. In common, they have their own, unique band arrangements. It's been an exciting year for Hudleyville. The last concert was especially good and employed a variety of techniques to fully maximize the potential of their crew. The only thing I regretted about The Souls was that they didn't sound as good as I had expected.

Modern English

The movie has already become a classic. The song itself has a pop-art composition style. It is similar to last year's Hot Gossip Show and Simple Minds' Air and Kiss. The movie is a comedy with a serious theme, and it's about an American company trying to save a Japanese factory from closing. The movie is about the relationship between the American and Japanese workers and how they come together to save the factory.

By Bob Lang

The long awaited Van Halen album is finally here. Everyone wants to have it, but even the panties admit to liking a couple of tracks. I'm one of the few who named it Van Halen's backwoods studio, is a mix of references and power pop and typical Van Halen. I've received many phone calls and email messages, but I'm still not convinced. The hard rock sound is the same, but the songs are different. I still like their old music better.

Yet another movie review from... Mark Avery

By Mark Avery

Gung Ho is a movie directed by Ken Howard, and starring Michael Keaton. I believe it is supposed to be a funny movie about an assembly line of bumbling factory workers put back into business by a Japanese company. Without this added fact, the audience is left to enjoy the horrors of American malaise. But if there is a country that needs to see the movie, it is the U.S.A. Indeed, it is a strange and humorous experience. The cast is one of the highest in the history of American cinema. It is a shame that the film was not well received because the audience missed out on a great movie. The story is about a group of workers who are ordered to improve the efficiency of the factory. The工厂 workers are encouraged to come up with new ideas and improve the production process. The movie is a lesson in the power of teamwork and the importance of innovation.

As the back cover of the Record Guide contains the phrase "Like Water," what is the name of the band? The band is called "The Bangles." The Bangles were on a long tour, but I believe they are currently in the studio recording a new album. I am not sure if they will come back to the U.S. for a tour. It is possible that they will come back to the U.S. for a tour in the future. The band's sound is a mix of pop and rock, with a touch of 70s and 80s influences. The band's lead singer is a talented female singer, and the band's instrumentation is unique and interesting. The band's sound is a mix of pop and rock, with a touch of 70s and 80s influences. The long awaited Van Halen album is finally here. Everyone wants it, but is the album as good as everyone said it would be? I listened to the new album, and I must say, it is a definite improvement from the past. Van Halen has been the most powerful rock band in the world for the past few years. They have been working on their new album for a long time, and it has been worth the wait. The album features some of their best songs yet, including "Jump," "Neon Griffith," and "5150." The album is a definite improvement over their past efforts, and it is a must-listen for fans of rock and roll.

American League Preview

With the NHL and NBA winding down their seasons and the playoffs around the corner, it is time again for baseball, box office, apple pie, and a certain brand of automobile to again take the major stage here in New England. After an 8-1 record, the teams, and the managers we have for Johnny MacNamara, the Red Sox are again entering Fenway Park with the same problems: pitching, fielding problems, and goals not checked at the door. With that in mind, looking at the Sox head, it is time to ponder about baseball for a moment.

American League East

1. Toronto Blue Jays

This want from Canada, despite poor attendance records is a squad built for fastball, have gone Torontoensis something to cheer about having to deal with another American league. Their, the Blue Jays, number one man, and their hitting sensation J.C. Doggett, will have new leaders this season in their lead manager, but most remain some main leaders, especially playing Boston, Kansas City, New York, and California. Look for this season end of season battle rivalry with the Tigers for first.

2. Detroit Tigers

The repair is hit the Tigers squarely in the fact last season, forcing the World Champions to make a harry exit. This year, a new era begins in the case Anderson's team as the way back to the top. My view on it if Gibson could one has given the lead because of the Red Sox of opening day, then the Tigers will enter the Lime door with the Blue Jays. Either way, they will earn them their Northern neighbors difficult feat to do.

3. New York Yankees

Despite all the stories coming out of the Yankee problems with whatever King George Springer, Lauro Pinilla and his pretensions will make nothing raise this year in the A.L. East. Trading away the team's best players was not a questionable thing that N.Y. did during the Grapefruit league season. Third major problem they are not out of gas too soon, a pure contender, but not without. Why pumps.

4. Baltimore Orioles

Earl Weaver and his Bird, sounds like a 1955 rock and roll group. They Sullivan, and not the block, but then tell over and play dead.

Street Hockey

By Gill Winstead

Not even the rain could keep the Harvard hockey fans off the ice. And it was indeed the rain that forced out two more hockey teams defeated last Thursday.

Street hockey champs, the Trojans rolled over the Bulldogs. The practice paid off for some Southeast winter league members. Jim Scowcroft and his teammates from the stars with three goals against the force from Saugus. Saugus' Dave Parritt added another notch in his hockey book.

In the second game the Starmen crushed Soko-Kiwi with an eight-run score. Chris Daly strolled through with four goals. Paul Basin and Ron Carpenter split the last four. No overtime necessary to score.

While on the other court, spectators weren't sure if it was a street hockey or water polo game. In the first overtime game those Braids battled Off. Paul Rauso of the Braids was theEigner, leading his teammates with three goals, one of which eluded the gate in the G.T. Braids Beat those Braids.

So there you have it. Stay tuned for more next week.

With the NHL and NBA winding down their seasons and the playoffs around the corner, it is time again for baseball to once again take over the center stage here in New England. After a disappointing 80-82 record in 1985, the Red Sox will once again enter Fenway Park with the same problems as before; pitching, starting pitching in particular, and defense.

American League East

1.) Toronto Blue Jays

Wild Billöm has been on the injured list all season, but now he is back. The Blue Jays, who led the AL in run production in 1985, will not fall apart like the Blue Jays of years past. With George Bell, John Mayberry, and Chris Burns in the lineup, the Blue Jays will be hard to beat.

2.) Detroit Tigers

The team has been inconsistent this year, and their hitting has been lacking. With the departure of two key players, the Tigers will have a difficult year. They will struggle to make it past the AL East this year.

3.) New York Yankees

The Yankees are one of the teams that will struggle this year. With the loss of stars like Don Baylor and Dave Winfield, the Yankees will have a difficult year. They will struggle to make it past the AL East this year.

4.) Boston Red Sox

Dr. M. D. M. B. S. and The Children's Health Services Medical Division will present the 1986 American Marathon/Running Division. This year, the theme will be "the building of the bridge toward world peace." Dr. M. D. B. S. will be held at the Marriott Hotel, Copar Plaza, starting at 7:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, March 20, 1986. And, the theme is always "the circle of life." The running of this marathon is to gain the most merit and honor and decrease the possibility of injury. So, whether you're a runner, a swimmer, or a cyclist, this marathon is for you. Your support of this cause is important, especially to those in Guatemala, in the poor. For more information, call 755-6922.

DEQE MEMORIAL DAY WEEKEND
The Department of Environmental Quality Engineering will hold a memorial weekend event to honor those who have served in the Department. The event will be held at the DEQE Office, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., on Saturday, May 28, 1986. The event will include a memorial service, a picnic, and a barbeque. All DEQE employees are welcome to attend.

In the interest of your school's students and faculty,
