The Bridgewater State College Mascots beat Springfield College, 76-59, Saturday afternoon, in their season opener.

BSC took the lead early and never relinquished it. A successful three points by BSC's David McCarthy gave them a 3-0 lead at the end of the first five minutes. The game continued in the same vein, with BSC's lead increasing to 13 points at one point and never going below double digits.

BSC's forwards, Jerry Brache and Bruce Ramsey, were instrumental in the team's victory, scoring 16 and 18 points respectively. BSC's defense was also strong, limiting Springfield's scoring to only 59 points.

Overall, it was a solid performance by the Bridgewater State College team, setting a positive tone for their upcoming season. The team will look to build on this win as they move forward.

Do you think steroids are having an effect on professional and amateur sports? If "yes," how? If "no," why not?

I think they are causing a problem for young athletes. It's posing a problem for their future career. Steroids can endanger their career both physically and mentally.

Nils Ljungberg

Yes, because they shouldn't have to rely on chemicals.

Amy Sullivan

Correction

Yes... it's obvious with Ben Johnson in the Olympics... There are at least seven others athletes taken out of the Olympics because of steroid use. It's not fair for people who've trained their whole lives to be there and didn't make it because of that.

Voter Registration to be Held
On Tuesday and Wednesday, October 4 and 5, MassPIRG will sponsor a voter registration drive. Paula Ellis, the MassPIRG representative of the college, said that in the 1984 National Elections, "only 40% of the people in the age group 18 to 24 voted." Ellis says that in 1988, another important election year, she wants more students to have a voice on all the issues that concern them. "This can be done by registering to vote..."

The process of registering to vote will be conducted on Tuesday, October 4 in the Burrill Avenue building. The hours this will run will be from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. The next day, Wednesday, October 5, students who wish to register may stop by the booth which will be located outside the Bookstore. The hours, again, will be from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Television Thrown Out of Residence Hall Window
Late Thursday night and into the day Friday, students walking by the side of Scott Hall may have noticed a television on the ground. That was because an unidentified student, apparently after an argument, threw it out of a third story window. It was not known why the student destroyed the television nor who the student was.

Who’s the fascist? Who is SGA ignoring

To the Editor:

Fascism 1. Any authoritarian, anti-democratic system of government characterized by the dominance of a single party or person, with a marked emphasis on the use of force and fear to maintain power.

Who is SGA ignoring? By Christopher Peters

The date is approaching and when we shall go to the polls and choose our new leaders. What choices have we this year? Will we be able to choose our students of choice? Will we be able to choose our president of choice? We have currently working on the Tomato, the Recreational Act, and working on lowering state taxes, which has been opposed to a class of people and responsible government.

The funding for NSPREG is coming in the form of a tax. A $40 fee on the tuition bill. The college administration provides the resources for those things. Even though it’s a department of the college, it’s not properly funded. How much does it cost to change the current system? It will cost a lot. There is an opportunity to make that choice. To be something that is not only offensive and is not something that is not used. To make that choice to be the student of choice. So SGA should be someone who wants to be the student of choice and is willing to pay for it.

Dukakis is facing an election battle in election

By Jack Coleman

Commentary

With less than two months remaining in Dukakis’s election, it has become clear that Michael Dukakis is struggling. For weeks, he has been facing the electoral realities of the two-term senator who was the target of the nation’s political leaders.

The fundamental dynamic at work is the changing of the political landscape. The college needs someone who is willing to accept the fact that Massachusetts is one of the nation’s most important political powerhouses.

And furthermore, any challenger to the political status quo will have to go to the polls with a tough plan in order to make the most of their political power.

But the center of attention will be the student of choice. Students must have their policies on the table, and the college needs to be in the student of choice. So we have a chance to make that choice.

This should be seen as a unique opportunity for students to make their voices heard.

Scott D. Pura

Dukakis’s up to the White House battle from page 4

The issue is not so much the college, the campus, the state, the country, or the world. The issue is one of power, and the college’s image has changed from that of a campus that is open and accessible to one that is closed and restrictive.

But the center of attention will be the student of choice. Students must have their policies on the table, and the college needs to be in the student of choice. So we have a chance to make that choice.

This should be seen as a unique opportunity for students to make their voices heard.

Respect the neighbor

To the Editor:

I was the property adriat in the Gran Hill Demotion (Beau Dugan, B.A.). I would like to see all BSC students know that this is private property and that they should not be using the place or parking on it. I do not want to encourage students to use this property even if they responded, there are legal issues as well.

If you could advertise this through the school newspaper, I feel my family would greatly appreciate it.

Yea to ACLU is nay to the First Amendment

The First Amendment says, “Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.”

Who is Dan Quayle?

To the Editor:

Who is Dan Quayle? The image of the man who has risen to power in the Republican Party over the last several years cannot be denied. Quayle’s rise to prominence came as a result of his role as a legislative aide to Senator Bob Dole during the Reagan administration.

Quayle was born on April 1, 1947, in Dubuque, Iowa. He attended the University of Iowa and graduated with a degree in political science in 1971. After graduation, he worked as a legislative aide in Iowa’s state legislature before being appointed to the federal government.

Quayle served as a member of the House of Representatives from 1978 to 1988. He was one of the youngest members of Congress and quickly rose through the ranks of the Republican Party. During his time in Congress, Quayle served on several committees, including the Committee on Government Operations and the Committee on Appropriations.

Quayle’s rise to prominence came as a result of his role as a legislative aide to Senator Bob Dole during the Reagan administration. He was known for his conservative policies and his support for limited government and individual freedom. Quayle was also known for his strong opposition to the Iran-Contra affair and his support for the Contra rebels in Nicaragua.

Quayle’s political career continued after he left Congress. He served as the president of the Heritage Foundation, a conservative think tank, and later became a commentator for CNN. He has also written several books on politics, including his autobiography, “The American Way.”

Who’s the fascist? Who is SGA ignoring

By Christopher Penn

The thesis is a growing one. When you go to the polls, you choose your next president. In the Middle

What choices have we thus far been offered? According to the Washington Post, the major candidates are George Bush and Michael Dukakis. Just what kind of choice do we have? Both of them are basically the same. One of them is going to win无论如何, the choice is going to be between two mediocre choices. The choice is ours. The question was voted down by one vote in the SGA. All of us have the opportunity to make that choice. The question was voted down by one vote in the SGA. All of us have the opportunity to make that choice. Now is the time to act. It’s our responsibility to choose who we want as our next president. The choice is ours.

Who is Dan Quayle?

By Lawrencekids

The First Amendment says that the public has the right to speak, publish, and practice our beliefs. The First Amendment says that the public has the right to speak, publish, and practice our beliefs. This is the only truly democratic system of government in which this is possible. The First Amendment says that the public has the right to speak, publish, and practice our beliefs.

Catholic Center begins new year on a "Happy" note

By Marci Nolte

Even as the Catholic Center is in full swing and their home this year is "Don't worry, be happy," Father Bob Connors and Sister Jo-Anne Violincic are pleased to announce that despite almost two months of construction removing asbestos from the college, the Catholic Center seems to be getting back to normal.

Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., coffee and doughnuts are available in the Catholic Center. On Thursday evenings at 5:00 p.m., there is a drop-in open night. Everyone is welcome to their events.

The Sunday Bazaar is held at Saturdays at 4:00 p.m. and on Sundays at 10:00 a.m., 10:45 a.m., and at 12:10 p.m.

The Peer Ministry program which was established last year has now moved to Peer Ministry in service for people who gather weekly for prayer, reflection, and personal growth. The club meets Wednesday evenings. The Center Council which focuses on attention benefiting the community, has had its first meeting. Anyone interested in either of these programs or programs that contact Father Bob or Sister Jo-Anne at 409-602-227.

The Hotline has returned this year which is a telephone service aimed at helping anyone who may need support or someone to talk to. It will be offered on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights from 10 p.m. to 2:00 a.m. The Hotline should begin the second week of October. Volunteers are needed; those who are interested can call the Catholic Center for details.

The Catholic Center is "somewhere to turn to," Father Bob said as in his interview Monday. He emphasizes that in college, "there should be a community, a sense of community, individuals alone, but individuals together."
Catholic Center begins new year on a "Happy" note

By John Simmons

Father Bob and Sister Jo Ann of the Catholic Center would like to stress that anyone may come in to talk about any problem, no matter what their religion is.
