To the Class of ’45

In this, the era of the radio, the news commentator and propaganda agents, too many people accept as fact the opinions which are so carelessly and casually sent forth upon the air waves. There is not enough discernment, not enough careful distinction.

Common sense dictates that we do our own thinking; common sense requires that we look at issues objectively. Observation and knowledge of common things, understanding of human nature, human sympathy, self-control, a sense of proportion, penetrating insight and mental agility, these are the elements of straight thinking. Common sense is developed in men’s minds by observation and the habit of learning from observation and experience.

This common sense cannot be taught directly, nor as part of a school curriculum; it must be acquired.

In your preparation for teaching the opportunities that have been yours to observe, to think, to analyze, to compare should serve you well as you develop in the minds and hearts of your pupils a common sense attitude toward life and their fellow men.

May your success and happiness be measured only by your unselfish service to those whom you teach.

In Appreciation

In June, 1944, three beloved members of our faculty achieved the goal of all teachers, leisure time to reflect upon a life of service and to spend doing the things they have always dreamed of doing.

Our three years of association with Miss Lockwood, Mr. Hunt, and Mr. Stearns have left happy memories of their many kindnesses and the sense of gratitude which the student must always feel for the unselfish master.

Now that they have been relieved of the arduous duties of the classroom, may they long enjoy the fruits of their labors. We shall look forward to Alumni gatherings of the future with the hope of renewing treasured friendships.

E began our college life with a transformation into Angels. Who could ever forget that first grueling day in the Gym? However, it wasn’t long before we were labelled as something entirely different. Yes, we were the typical green Freshmen. Do you remember getting up at least a half hour early to put up your hair in rags, tie on a lampshade chapeau, and comply with a dozen other annoying requirements?

We also possessed seventeen of that rare species of Homo Sapiens known as MAN! Praying for rain, soap-box orations, find-your-own-way-back walks were only a few of the hardships they endured. But a truce was made with our former enemies, the Sophs, at the Freshman Party when we took the Bridgewater Oath and became a real part of B.T.C.

Remember the Barn Dances, Frat Dances, and dancing in the Gym Wednesday nights (where three Freshmen could always be found trumping Miss Henderson’s ace)?

We ushered in the Xmas season with a formal—the Poinsettia Prom, other Yuletide activities included a night of magic, carolling, and a sleighride. These culminated in one of our most treasured memories—the Xmas Banquet.

We loaded our suitcases with books and immediately forgot about them until our return from the Xmas Vacation, when the Gremlin of Midyears reared his ugly head and studying changed from an avocation into a necessity.

With the help of an understanding Big Sister’s reassurances, we endured the Midyear ordeal. Once this milestone was passed, the time flew by. An outstanding event was the trip the Glee Club made to Pops on Bridgewater Night to sing in Symphony Hall.

Many of us said goodbye to our Big Sisters in June, but only after the thrilling Commencement exercises. Who can forget the furtive glances at the Oak Boughs to determine what member of the insect family might fall?

Thus came to a close our first year at B.T.C.

The sophistication we had acquired as Freshmen was fully brought to bear on the unsuspecting Freshman Class of ’46. They emerged unscathed, but slightly humbled, after a week of wrecked rooms, nightly entertainments, and Truth Society. We realized then that they were pretty good kids after all.

This brought more responsibilities, deeper friendships, and memorable experiences. Many lasting associations were formed at the Soph-Junior Social in Tillie when the sailors from the Weymouth Base were our guests. A return invitation to attend a formal at the Base was eagerly accepted and not soon forgotten.

Xmas Banquet had become a treasured tradition and was enjoyed even more than the previous year. Remember singing carols in the Gym afterward in the dark, due to a blackout?

The shadow of war was darkening, and in April it stretched out a cold hand to clutch the popular leader of our class, Dick Dorey, and many of the other fellows. No longer could we watch Dick Grimley and Dorey performing their inimitable antics on the basketball floor.

By June we had almost ceased to be a co-ed college in anything but name. We raised our Oak Boughs for the last time and said goodbye to another class and another year.

This September brought a challenge. Could we “Do Unto Others” and become helpful Big Sisters to the bewildered Freshmen? We could and did, and it was a very satisfying experience to feel that we were carrying on one of the traditions of B.T.C.

By this time we had really become “the girls they left behind” and the post office was besieged with an increased supply both of incoming and outgoing mail.

This was the year when we tried our wings for an eight-week stretch at the “T. S.” It proved very enjoyable to some and to others an endless term of Luxing stockings nightly. We all survived, however, and came out feeling we had experienced our “trial by fire” and were now well on the road to becoming professionals.

In January we enjoyed our second Mardi Gras. Beautiful costumes, ingenuous floats, and imported men all contributed to its success.

Other successful affairs were the Glee Club and Orchestra Concerts, Sophomore Sophistries (a bird’s-eye view of the Faculty), and the Dramatic Club Spring Play.

Then came the great day—Graduation. Many of us experienced an annoying lump in our throats as we held the Daisy Chain in tribute to the Seniors. No one could tell us they weren’t the finest group of girls anywhere, and we knew we were going to miss them in many ways in the year ahead.

September rolled around again bringing a few changes of station-marriage and its intermediate steps. Our class had dwindled, but we were determined to make it one of our best years at B.T.C.

Our sister College on the Cape contributed new blood to college activities with the advent of Physical Education Majors and other interesting people.

All the tradition which we had been storing up flashed upon us. Symbolically the Tower Light, which had been dimmed for military purposes, shone out with all its meaning. The realization came to us that we must cling to each event and store it up in our Treasure Chest of Memory.

The Supper Hike was reminiscent of former years, and all the funny, friendly, spirited times this tradition has occasioned. “Goin’ to Kentucky,” George Washington, and the sand pit are only a few expressions which bring a smile of remembrance.

November was a busy month with Big and Little Sister Party, Open House Week-end, the Barn Dance (sponsored by Newman Club, Menorah and Student Fellowship), Book Week Tea, and the most welcomed Thanksgiving Recess.

After this breathing spell we returned for S. C. A. Social, Day Students Social, Christmas Concert, and best of all—Christmas Banquet. The glamour of evening gowns and the attractively decorated dining hall contributed to the success of the Banquet. This was surpassed only by the Faculty Reception which followed in the Gym. Miss Decker and Miss Caldwell jitterbugging, Mr. Tyndall, the lonesome sailor, looking for a date with a redhead, and Mr. Foth’s reading from "Hyman Kaplan" were only a few of the highlights.

Then home again for the Christmas Recess, back to the spectre of midyears thrown aside for a successful Alumni Week-end, including Play Night, conferences, luncheon and a tea, to say nothing of bull sessions until the wee small hours.

This year brought a challenge. After three years of preparation, were we capable of assuming the role for which we had studied? With trembling hearts and knocking knees we ventured forth. With the co-operation of sympathetic room teachers and the understanding of most of the pupils, we passed a more enjoyable eight weeks than we had dreamed possible.

The production of a second Gym-Jam to equal and if possible surpass the first, of two years ago, was a responsibility thrust upon the more athletic-minded members of our class. Needless to say the experience gained at the WACMSTC in October and the addition of the Physical Education Majors to our enrollment were two of the factors which assured a successful affair.

With other exciting events—house parties, concerts, plays, class productions, rushing parties, etc., the year drew to a close. Before we knew it, Graduation Day was here! This time we donned our Caps and Gowns with assurance and participated in Ivy March for the last time.

These are our memories of four years at B.T.C. These and many more personal ones that Time can never erase. May each member of the Class of ’45 go forth to meet the problems of life strengthened through his associations and experiences at B.T.C.

Class Ode

Within your sheltering walls we've labored long,
O Alma Mater, guide to knowledge rare;
And now to minister to mankind
We venture forth into a world to dare.

We pause to wonder what the future holds
For us who stand upon its shadowed sill.
So much there is of darkness and of doubt,
Of plans that seem so hopeless to fulfill.

The myriad trials we've shared but charge us now
To climb the heights and search for truth so pure
That war nor tempest, hate nor greed
May hurt the faith that we have built secure.

Dorothy E. Morton '45
Dormitory

Life in the dormitory is one long orgy of eating, completely surrounded by women and rules. This theory of continual nourishment is based upon the Epicurean philosophy: that is, “Eat, drink and be merry” today, for every tomorrow is jeopardized by the possibility of a violent end, caused by an explosion in the ironing room or a fire in the smoking room.

One’s associates consist of the usual extroverts and introverts; the latter are characterized by regular periods of hibernation directly preceding every exam, while the former are typified by spasmodic intervals of “rec” room worry, occurring at about the same times.

The selection of an appropriate roommate is vital to the durability of every individual. The ideal roommate should be generous, tactful, altruistic, industrious, domestic, intelligent, loyal, courageous, and cold-blooded. The last qualification is perhaps the most essential, since it is necessary to raise the temperature of one’s room to at least 32 degrees on dark winter mornings, and, if one’s roomie is sufficiently hardy to brave the elements, it is really a great boon. The most desirable roommate is well-stocked with sewing equipment, stamps, Kleenex, and food.

Mornings in the dormitory are varied. If you desire to sleep late, you are certain to be awakened at the crack of dawn by considerate friends who insist that brisk, morning air, frigid rays of refracted sunlight, and an overturned bed are just what Miss Haggart has ordered. If you would like to rise early, to cram for that *!!? exam, you are sure to sleep through everyone’s alarm-clock, and, despite all subsequent rushing, arrive at the dining-hall just one second too late for breakfast.

The life of the dorm student is made tolerable just by that continual hope for mail; the proper letter has been known to sustain girls for weeks at a time.

Evenings in the dorm are indicative of the personality of each of the inhabitants. If one is a plug, her door is barred with a “Quarantine” notice and a “lite cut” sign. The tattoo of a typewriter may frequently be heard, and the midnight oil is always burning. The really versatile student is the one most deserving of attention. This creature is simultaneously able to study, play bridge, listen to the radio, gossip, knit, eat, advise, and write letters to at least three different persons (keeping them all straight; it would never do to send to one's parents a letter intended for an entirely different recipient! Evenings are always highlighted by the opportunity to dash downtown for a hamburger!

The dormitory is notorious for its most infamous features. At the very time when one discovers several weeks' laundry waiting scandalously in one's closet, the hot water is sure to be turned off for the evening. When one finds that unless she irons something toute de suite she will have to wear pajamas to class tomorrow, the irons are all mysteriously out of order. Just when one is dog-tired, and aching to fall into her warm, cozy, and hard-as-a-board cot, she will positively find turtles, maggots, grasshoppers, cracker-crumbs, and decaying vegetation between the sheets.

When one chooses to live in the dormitory, she irrevocably relinquishes all privacy for four long years. Her room is treated to periodical, unannounced visitations at the very times that it is in its most disreputable condition. Articles of clothing have a way of disappearing and later turning up on the persons of one's best friends.

One's entire life is dedicated to the "records"—incriminating evidence regarding one's social life that may readily be used for blackmailing purposes by posterity. (There are a few items that have not yet found their way to the "records," but to say more would be to disclose trade secrets and to cheat our successors of their due.)

If one has been so sufficiently fortunate as to ensnare one of the rarer sex, dorm life makes his complete capture a miracle indeed! Perhaps there is no kid brother to strip one of heavily applied sophistication, but certain individuals in positions of guardian angelship can do a great deal to obstruct progress.

Dormitory life is awful! It is a deliberate cramping of the style of youth; it promotes feelings of frustration, melancholy, and dissipation; it makes home look like heaven. Yet, nothing in the whole, wide world would ever make us voluntarily commute!

Berniss Mazer '46
Commuters

At about 8:15 a.m. from Monday to Friday a large group of people can be seen headed eastward on School Street. Who are they? They are commuters of B.T.C. After having traveled five, ten, or twenty-five miles by Eastern Mass. Railway buses with bags of books slung over their shoulders, faces red, they make their way through the snow finally to reach the campus. Some of them may have burned the midnight oil the night before, but it is scarcely noticeable for they look so alive and invigorated. No matter how sleepy they may have felt when they left their homes an hour or more before, the sharp early-morning winter air succeeded in counteracting that feeling of drowsiness. Whatever may have been the cause of full awakening, the lively and spirited conversation which is carried on by the “trotters” to the time Boyden Hall is reached, and usually after, indicates the fact that they are completely awake.

Rains pour. Snowstorms blind and impair travel. Streets are ice-covered. Strong winds cut. Yet the commuters still come to B.T.C. They have oceans of fun in their travel and their study, a “gripe” here and a “groan” there being only two small drops in those oceans. Winter weather remains a challenge to the commuters, but it cannot defeat them. For most of the commuters, it remains an outlet for fun and jovial conversation.

Shortly before 9:00 a.m., infrequently after, groups of several beaming-faced individuals are to be seen entering any of the portals of Boyden Hall. They are more commuters, having been chauffeured to Bridgewater by fellow students who unerringly bear the risks and responsibilities of driving the family car, or their own, in nearly every type of hard New England weather.

All of these are the people that meet in the Day Students’ Social Room or Lunch Room before classes begin.
every morning. Particular pride is shared in the Social Room this year since they have made renovations. In this room everyone feels as though he belongs.

Reading the current magazines in this room has become a habit with most of the girls. Groups of them often can be seen discreetly observing the pictures in Life, or discussing articles appearing in Times. At the beginning of every month comes that familiar question, “Has the new Mademoiselle come in yet?” The newly-added bookcase offers reading for those who have already read the most recent magazines. Every so often the girls congregate and get a great deal of enjoyment from the Trotters' Bits, a newspaper put out by the Day Students. Topics of conversation vary widely in this room, but one that is being constantly brought up is the subject of those good old days when the fellows were with us on the campus.

After morning classes there is a mad dash to the coke machine, “the pause that refreshes” somehow seeming to have the ability of changing a dry sandwich into a highly appetizing victual. Pending the end of the war when the commuters hope to manage a small cafeteria in their Lunch Room, the coke machine remains an object of deep value to them.

More classes are attended before the basement corridor becomes cluttered with girls hurrying this way and that. The sound of lockers opening and closing can be heard above the clattering of the girls about what they must take home, who will meet whom where, who is going to have her bus ticket punched for whom, and any number of other questions. Warm clothes are adorned, galoshes and boots are put on, and the commuters are on their way home, five, ten, or twenty-five miles away.
