DR. JOHN J. KELLY
President
To the Class of 1947

It is quite evident that the accomplishments of all Sciences having man as an object remain insufficient and that our knowledge of ourselves is still most rudimentary.

"Man should be the measure of all things." On the contrary he is a stranger in the world that he has created. He has been incapable of organizing this world for himself because he did not possess a practical and a spiritual knowledge of his own nature.

Thus the enormous advance gained by the sciences of inanimate matter over those of living things is one of the greatest catastrophes ever suffered by humanity. Every advance of science now brings the grim reminder that new powers can be used for evil as well as for good.

The environment born of our intelligence and our inventions is adjusted neither to our stature nor to the needs of humanity. Therefore the natural conditions of existence have been destroyed by modern civilization, the science of man has become the most necessary of all science.

Here is a special need that must be met in our time. It will be met in part by our schools, colleges and institutions of higher learning.

It will also be met by professional men, skilled and unskilled labor, and management. Surely by this time we ought to know something about human nature. We ought to know man’s basic needs.

Have you ever stopped to ask yourself this question, "What do I want from life?"

One of our first needs is security, not merely economic security that will protect us against hunger or want, but the emotional security which comes from knowing that we are efficient in discharging the duties of our positions as teachers that we have been well trained to do what is expected of us, that we are worthy of our hire. We want a sense of security in our family relations, in our life with our neighbors, with our students, and in our relations with other nations.

The basic human need is not the security of the body but of the spirit. It is this need that we encounter in all problems of race relations. It is this need that makes for high or low morale among people. It is because of this need that men seek to escape from themselves.

May success in your chosen profession be measured by your contribution of service to those you instruct and to your fellow-man in their quest for spiritual security: the fundamental philosophy of your Alma Mater.

"Men learn while they teach." These are the words which Miss Hill has chosen to leave with the Class of 1947 for their guidance through their future life. Seniors, look and learn thereby.

Class History

By Olivio A. Lopes

In 1943 Bridgewater as well as America was singing "Pistol Packing Mama" and that great opus, "Mairzy Doats." Except for one or two exceptions, the men were already in the armed services in the deep south, in Britain, in the south Pacific and in Panama. At Bridgewater, the frosh girls were preoccupied with unorthodox fashions for initiation week: yellow gym suit tops, contrasting skirts, large umbrellas, bathing caps and no make-up.

Election results made Lenore Kelly, president; Joan Hummel, vice-president; Phyllis Lawday, secretary; and Priscilla Randall, treasurer.

Although the social calendar was dismal, dances at Standish and Edwards filled in the gaps. The Freshman War Bond Drive, headed by Lenore Kelly, Lee Rowell, Helen Killory, Beverly Morey and Priscilla Randall, was held in December, featuring such slogans as "Buy war stamps instead of candy and keep your weight down."

It was the frosh's first Christmas at Bridgewater, and Elsie Packer sang in the Woodward Sextet at the Christmas Carol Concert.

Mardi Gras took place on January 7, 1944, but no king was crowned due to the scarcity of men. Its theme was international peace with flags and pictures of F.D.R., Churchill, and Stalin as decorations.

It was also the year the freshmen produced "This is College" for the benefit of the Red Cross. Books like "Paris Underground" were being reviewed by the Library Club, and in the March issue of Campus Comment one read that Dick Dorey was at Shaw Field, S. C. Also in 1943, Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity, established Iota Epsilon chapter at Bridgewater.

In April the Bond Drive Variety Show was held in which the freshman class act was judged best, thanks to Betsy McCosh and Harriet Parsons for writing words to well-known songs telling about campus life.

The noted poet and novelist, Robert P. Tristam Coffin spoke on the art of writing, and in the May 26th issue of Campus Comment the college read of Mr. Brenelle Hunt's retirement after having been with Bridgewater since 1899.

With the sophomore year came "White Cliffs of Dover" and a host of new words such as G.I., snafu, dimout, beachhead, and Eisenhower. Psychiatry began to color movie plots. Ruth Anderson became president; Muriel Lee Rowell, vice-president; Eileen Finnegar, secretary; and Betty Roper, treasurer.

In September the Hyannis students and Miss Bessie Goff, Miss Mary J. Moriarty, Mr. Robert W. Rucker and Mr. Charles W. Foth joined Bridgewater, and the sophomore class was the largest in the college. Bob Clemence was then stationed in Asheville, N. C.
“Jungaree Jive” in November featured pig-tailed girls and “mock” men. In the initiation committee were Dot Mackin, Jeanne Peck and Alice O’Malley; Lenore Kelly became assistant treasurer of W.A.A. with Gloria Olson and Peg Thiesing as activity directors.

Dick Dorey was now a lieutenant, stationed at Mabry, Fla.; Leo Beaumont was finding civilian life “too boring,” according to an interview in Campus Comment, having just been discharged from the service; Bernard LaCouture was at Ft. Myers, Fla., and Varma Sundelin was shipping overseas to Britain.

The March Red Cross Drive transformed Horace Mann auditorium into a South Pacific USO with Rita Custeau, Patty Bigelow, Dorinda Lovell, Virginia Perkins, Helen Kasanovicz and Jean Schlosstein as tap dancers. In April the comedy “Johnny-on-the-Spot” starred Margaret Thiesing, Eldon Iawson, Gloria Olson and Leo Beaumont.

Virginia Perkins represented the class as an All-American girl at the “Gym-Jam” where the sophomore class danced the never-to-be forgotten “Rufty-Tufty” and “Gathering Peascod.” In an April issue of Campus Comment, this writer dis-covered he was visiting Oxford and Edinburgh and drinking tea!

In May, Lenore Kelly was elected second vice-president of S.C.A.; Jack Herman became assistant treasurer.

The junior year began with Helen Kasanovicz as president; Helen Killory, vice-president; Eileen Finnegan, secretary; and Virginia Olson, treasurer. This was also the year when F.D.R. died, when V-E and V-J became realities, when atomic bombs, energy and control became worldwide issues, when demobilization of troops began in earnest, and when nylons could be bought if you stayed in line long enough. The girls became big sisters, and training school loomed ahead. In November Mr. Durgin and Mr. Meier returned to the faculty.

“Where the Heart Is,” based on the gospel according to St. Matthew, was the Christmas play for 1945, featuring Leo Beaumont as Balthasar. During December, Miss Irene E. Henderson retired as housemother of Woodward Hall after having locked Wood’s door at ten-fifteen since 1927.

It was Mardi Gras’ year again; this time it was “Au Clair de la Lune sur la Riviera.” Lee Rowell was crowned queen. and Jack Herman did honors as Father Lent. Lucille Paquette headed the program committee.

In April the Chowder and Marching Club was revived through the efforts of Edward Wojnar. And we were seniors!

Senior class officers were Roberta Burnham, president; Priscilla Randall, vice-president; Elsie Packer, secretary; and Ruth Anderson, treasurer.

We felt like seniors during cap and gown week, September 22 to 26. The returned men sponsored “Ye Olde Time Barn Dance” in early October; Richard Dorey was general chairman; Leo Beaumont, decorations; Robert Clemence, hospitality.

The first semi-formal of the year, sponsored by Campus Comment, the “Discovery Ball,” was held October 12; Lee Rowell, general chairman; Helen Kasanovicz, refreshments; and Lucille Paquette, decorations.

This was the year that Wakeman’s “The Hucksters” sold 650,000 copies and W. Somerset Maugham’s “The Razor Edge” was published. John L. Lewis paralyzed the nation and threatened to close schools with his coal strike. OPA died and the end of hostilities was finally signed. The UN site was chosen, and the Republicans with their “Had Enough?” campaign once more gained control of Congress. This was the year that we had three weeks off for Christmas and no February vacation. This was also the year we spent eight unforgettable weeks practicing “on our own.”

Betty Roper was S.C.A. president and Dot Mackin became president of W.A.A. Lenore Kelly was elected vice-president of S.C.A. with Dot Merrill as secretary and Jack Herman as treasurer.

Leo Beaumont became president of the Boyden’s Men Club, and Eldon Lawson became president of M.A.A. with Edward Wojnar serving as secretary.

The highly successful S.C.A. “Starlight Ball” of December 6 brought 1946 to a happy conclusion, and the men’s original musical comedy “Young Howard,” directed by Bob Clemence, started 1947’s social calendar spinning. On Valentine’s Day, February 14, the W.A.A.-M.A.A. semi-formal was held.

And so, despite vicissitudes, the class of 1947 marches on. Its destination is as yet unknown, but we are sure of its ultimate success.
IN MEMORIAM

Mr. Pete Wood, for many years beloved janitor of the college, died suddenly on January 29, 1947. We wish to take this opportunity to put down for future reference the importance of this man for whom so many of us felt a deep affection. He spent his life in constant service to the college and died while still giving this service.

CLASS ODE

The beacon light was off when first we came;
It left the campus dim with shadowed door.
The men were gaining different faiths and skills
In older fields of learning. This was war.

The girls remained behind and plodded on,
We stumbled in our effort to belong,
We bowed and scraped and worshipped campus gods,
And won the right to sing tradition's song.

The prize was worth the effort that it cost.
The benefits we reaped from new-made bonds
Of love for people and for hallowed spots
Are those to which a life fulfilled responds.

With men returned the class is now complete.
What is to be, rests now on what is gone.
Let years of work and struggle prove their worth;
We face the future, brave. The light is on.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow
The Student Co-operative Association is the largest and most important organization on campus. It makes the rules for governing the student body in so far as it is permitted. During the year delegates are sent to New York for meetings with other representatives of governing associations, a formal is held, and the problems encountered on campus are discussed at monthly meetings. Since every student at the college is a member of the association its aims of promoting unity and fostering cooperation are participated in by all.
M. A. A. and W. A. A.

These two organizations combined encompass in their membership the entire student body. The Men's Athletic Association sponsors the sports of the college for the men. In the fall it is soccer. The men can be seen trotting across the campus heading for the field in back of the Training School. Dorey, Clemence, Sweeney, Grimley are the best known and most popular players. In the winter the varsity basketball team is the primary function of the men. When many of the college students are seen headed for the gym, you can rest assured the basketball team is playing New Bedford, Salem, or Becker. On the first team there are such men as Zion, Teahan, Smith, Grimley and others. In the spring the ball and bats are dusted off and both the girls and men fight for a place to bat a few balls around and race around bases. While the men are busily rapt in their various sports, the women have an intensive program of their own. This program includes such things as volleyball, bowling, basketball, hiking, biking, archery, folk dancing, modern dancing, softball, and tennis. W.A.A. Board is made up of many activity directors. This governing board meets, makes up the athletic program, discusses problems, runs socials, and this year of course, plans the Gym-Jam.
DAY STUDENT COUNCIL

This organization corresponds to Dormitory Council in that it regulates the activities of the commuters while they are on campus. It is made up of representatives of each division and the elected officers. They govern such things as the social room, day student problems, and make locker arrangements for each commuter. Each fall they sponsor a day-student social to encourage the upperclassmen to become more familiar with the freshmen so as to help them in the difficult adjustment some of them have to make.

DORMITORY COUNCIL

The Dormitory Council is one of the most active groups in the college. As a branch of the system of student government, it organizes and enforces a code of honor by which we live in the dormitories. It has jurisdiction over such things as late permissions and punishment of the culprits who misuse them, rules in the dining hall, seating in the dining hall, and keeping general order in the dormitories. To state it simply it is the duty of the council to formulate a set of rules governing actions in the dormitory, on campus, and off campus privileges.
TILLINGHAST-WOODWARD HOUSE BOARD

Tillinghast-Woodward House Board consist of counselors chosen from the different sections of the dorm. Its members are drawn from all four classes. These people are responsible for the behaviour and adjustment of the inhabitants of their particular area of the dorm. As a group they not only enforce the laws drawn up by dormitory council but also provide entertainment during the year. They are the people to be credited with the Hallowe'en Party, the Christmas Party, and the other strictly dorm affairs run for our amusement. This Christmas they surprised us all with the new Bissels' (carpet sweepers) with which to clean our rooms. It is a difficult position to hold, membership on the house board, because on their shoulders rests the problem of keeping the dormitory in a reasonable state of quiet at all times.
MEN'S CLUB

Men's Club is a social club on campus which provides an opportunity for the men to get together privately and discuss their problems. This year they are very definitely concerned with the veterans who are now in large attendance at the college.

STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

Student Fellowship is the Protestant organization in the college. It has varied programs of meetings including music nights at Mr. Jenkins, one of the club advisers, who chooses various classical and popular recordings and combines them to make a program which appeals to all tastes, discussions, such as the one given by Dot Merrill, Jean Crane, Bob Clemence, and John Berry on “Married Women Have No Place in Professions,” speakers, moving pictures, outings, a Christmas Carol sing to the homes of those people in the town who are invalids, and trips to nearby Forum Meetings.
NEWMAN CLUB

Newman Club, an active organization at Bridgewater, is part of a national federation for the promotion of Catholic culture and fellowship in the secular colleges. Those of its members who wish may join the post-college sorority Tau Beta Gamma. At its meetings speakers talk on world problems, moving pictures are shown, or discussions are held. These meetings are usually open to any sect and are of the kind in which any sect might be interested. The ski-weekend was the big project for 1947.

MENORAH CLUB

Menorah Club is the Jewish organization on campus. It holds its meetings under the direction of Mr. Davoren. At these meetings they have speakers on the world problems of the Jews, have heard discussions on the fate of the Jewish nation in an anti-Jewish world, and combine with the other religious organizations in running socials.
GLEE CLUB

The Women’s Glee Club, consisting of sixty members, upholds high standards in music in the college. Among its annual performances are the Christmas Carol Concert, in which both familiar and unfamiliar carols are blended, the Spring Concert with guests soloists, and the music at the baccalaureate service. Wesley Copplestone has been a frequent soloist and probably the one most people acclaim. The Glee Club is under the faculty direction of Miss Frieda Rand.

ORCHESTRA

All those who play an instrument in the college belong to orchestra. This organization contributes much to the college as a whole in that it plays at the functions of dramatic club, glee club, and at other times when it is needed. In the spring the college looks forward to the orchestra concert. While the men were in the army we had to hire a drummer for the concert but now that men are back on campus, Bob Clemence has taken over the duties of drummer. Miss Frieda Rand directs the orchestra, of course, as she does all musical things at the college.
DRAMATIC CLUB

The Thespians of the college all belong to dramatic club. This club requires definite accomplishment before entrance may be gained. Usually one year of apprenticeship is requisite. During the year Dramatic Club presents three one-act plays for Alumni Weekend, a Christmas Play—this year it was Why the Chimes Rang—and a three-act play in the spring. Mr. John L. Davoren gives instruction in walking, standing, and voice control at some of the meetings. Other abilities beside a histrionic one are used such as costuming, make-up, directing, and carpentry abilities. Some of its outstanding members are Gloria Olson, Peggie Thiesing, Helen Baumbach, and Walter Forred.

UPPER ELEMENTARY

Upper Elementary is a newly formed club on campus and owes its existence to those people who were not interested in departmental work nor were they interested in the primary grades. Under the direction of Miss Lutz these people were able to combine their energies in the same direction. At the monthly meetings speakers come and talk on the appropriate topics, discussions are held which will no doubt be of use to those in this chosen line.
Once a month Dorr's Print Shop in Bridgewater sets up the type to print the articles on various happenings, beliefs, and gossip from the college, contributed by the twenty to thirty writers on the Campus Comment staff. Campus Comment is the newspaper of the college under the faculty supervision of Miss Olive Lovett. Credit for this publication should go not only to those people who write its material but also those who do the make-up, type, get ads, and plan its layout. During the course of the year Campus Comment sponsors a dance, holds a banquet for its staff, and sends some of its members to New York to attend the Columbia Scholastic Press Conference.

The Kindergarten Primary Club contains all those people interested in the primary grades. Miss Marks is the faculty advisor and many of their meetings are held in the training school. They discuss problems tangent to their interests.
KAPPA DELTA PI

The Epsilon Iota Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, a national organization, is the honor society at Bridgewater. It seeks to raise the scholarship of the college. At the monthly meetings those members of the junior and senior classes who are in the upper quarter of their class and have the necessary personality and activity qualifications, come together to discuss current problems, listen to speakers, or for recreational purposes.

FRENCH CLUB

"Le Cercle Francais" is a club that offers membership to those people at Bridgewater who are greatly interested in the French people and their language. The club activities are both cultural and social. It is a club at which one is not only entertained but also educated in fields that will be of personal benefit as well as social benefit. Every other year we present a masquerade ball known as Mardi Gras.
B. T. C. in Action

The men on campus made sports far more interesting this year. Varsity teams in soccer, basketball, and softball were formed and teams from other schools, New Bedford Textile School, Dean Academy, Salem Teachers College, Fitchburg Teachers College, and Becker Business College were challenged to play against us. The enthusiasm among the student body was good. The presence of peppy cheerleaders at each game gave a force and coordination to the cheering which would otherwise have been lacking. Frederick Meier, a member of the faculty, coached the teams in the various sports and Robert Clemence took care of the business end of things by arranging the matches that were played off during the season both here and away.

In many of the games we may not have had the force necessary to overcome our opponents but we did have the spirit to make them less sure of their victories. It is much easier for individuals to conduct themselves as individuals than to put a number of comparatively strange men together on a field and expect the particular combination to click right off. It takes many years to develop team work among a group and the advancement this year's teams made during the year, as shown by the lessening of the difference between the scores of the games, holds out much promise for next year's teams and those following.

The biggest point in our favor was the ability of the team to maintain a “never give up” attitude while playing. During many of the games the team was being badly beaten and some times outplayed, but still we kept “cracking down” with all the force we could muster.

New basketball uniforms were purchased during the season and they offered a lift to everyone’s feelings and spirit.

In mentioning outstanding contributors to the teams, Zion, Smith, Pappas, Sweeney, Dorey, Teahan, Clemence, and Grimley should all be included.

Through all the seasons the gym, the training school grounds, and lower campus were used to the stretching point by both the men and the women. The women not only offered an inclusive sports program of their own but also abetted the men by contributing such cheerleaders as Helen Kasanovicz, Rita Custeau, Marion Moore, and Joan Bull.

The season of sports opened officially with the usual sojourn to Camp Howes in Hyannis by the Physical Education majors. When they did arrive on campus they found tennis enthusiasts, volleyball players, badminton gamers, hiking and biking fans, archists, and field hockey teamists already ardently at work in gaining credit toward their W. A. A. Emblem. Plans for the annual Supper Hike were well under way under the direction of Shirley Thatcher despite the setbacks because of a shortage of food and other essential items.

A basketball club formed by a group of girls under the leadership of Mildred Lappen was the outstanding event in the sports field for this year. Many of the college players felt that a chance to play against outside competition would be of benefit to all concerned. This club provided the opportunity for other Teachers Colleges to visit Bridgewater in what was termed a play day contest. All sports were to be represented by teams as well as basketball.

The sports in which the girls participated for the rest of the year included basketball, bowling, skating, folk dancing, modern dancing, tumbling, softball, and swimming. Each sport was organized by an activity director and the program was generally controlled by Dorothy Mackin, Janice Burchard, and Peggie Thiesing. Among the senior class active sport members can include Roberta Burnham, Lorene Kelly, Dorothy Merrill, Gloria Olson, Lee Rowell, Marion Moore, Helen Killory, Betsey McCosh, Helen Kasanovicz, and Dorothy Mackin.
