New Salary System Under Study For Teachers

A new salary system for teachers is under study by the Massachusetts Association of School Committees, Inc., it was disclosed last Friday, June 1.

The committee is studying a preliminary report which calls for a minimum of $3400 to be paid to starting teachers with a possible $3800 after 18 years of service. The New England School Development Council will release a final report on the system July 1.

“Saturday Review” Editor Speaks

Speaking at a student assembly in April, Norman Cousins, editor of the “Saturday Review”, outlined the difference between Democracy and Communism for control in Asia and Africa. In order to complete this study, he will be in India and Burma for several weeks, where he will be able to study the conditions of democracy in India and Burma.

Mr. Cousins pointed to “a showdown on the battlefield of public opinion,” in which the U. S. is handicapped by the lack of an informed public opinion and a responsible press. He feels that this information crisis is caused, to a great extent, by “diseases and disorders” of the press.

Singling out the nation’s largest magazine, “Collier’s” attacked its “passion for the deadline” which resulted in the publication of an article in the Afro-American Conference, held last year in Boxing, Indonesia, three and one-half days before the conference ended. As a result of this incompleteness in coverage, the larger_losses of the conference were not given proper recognition.

American journalism’s ”craving for a daw” was exemplified by this same new story which cast India’s Nehru as an apostle for Red China and Goering’s defector as a defender of the west. The conference actually ended in independent agreement favorable to the west. The obsession with “the instant story,” Mr. Cousins maintained, caused many American newspapers and magazines to miss the obvious conclusions and agreements of the conference.

“Can we lose the world if we lose Asia and Africa?” he said, adding that our line of defense should be based on an understanding of Eastern thought, culture and media rather than dollars and guns. He placed the responsibility for understanding on the American public which should seek information and upon the American press which should print this information totally and accurately.

Library Committee Sets Goal at $25,000

The Alumni Association has named Dr. Flori chairman of its newly created Library Committee. The committee was set up to raise $25,000 for the purchase of books for the new Library. Dr. Hilferty has been named treasurer of the committee.

In the process of relocating the library in the old gym building, some books must be discarded. The loss of these worn out books will shrink the number of volumes owned by the school to about 25,000 or about half the number that is a basic essential for teachers colleges.

Although the State will purchase books for the college, it will not purchase out-of-print books; several thousand of these are needed to fulfill basic library requirements.

The Library Committee has, therefore, set up a fund for the purchase of books. The fund is to be raised in three areas:

1. The six thousand alumni, with regional chapters in charge of collections,
2. The faculty,
3. The student body.

It is the hope of the committee that it will have 100% cooperation over a year’s time.

216 Expected to Graduate Sunday

131 Undergraduate and 83 Graduate Degree Aspirants Await Commencement Exercises

Commencement exercises will be held at the college on Sunday, June 10 at 4 P.M. Taking part in the ceremonies will be the largest group of candidates to be awarded degrees in the history of BTC. According to Miss Iva V. Lutz, Director of Extension Studies, and Miss Ellen M. Shea, Dean of Women, there are two hundred and sixteen aspirants for degrees this year.

Faculty Members To Retire

Three well-known BTC faculty members will retire this month. They are: Miss Charlotte H. Thompson, critic-teacher in the Burnell School (training school), Miss Lois L. Decker, Director of Health and Physical Education for Women and Miss Julia C. Carter, Librarian.

Julia C. Carter

Miss Carter, born and educated in Vermont, obtained her BA from Middlebury College. After several years of teaching languages, she entered the field of library science. She studied at New York Public Library School where she received a certificate. She came to Bridgewater in 1923 as librarian and instructor in library science and children’s literature. With the encouragement of President Arthur C. Boyles, Miss Carter initiated in 1927 the major course in school librarianship from which a number of students have graduated. Miss Carter has the distinction of being a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the highest academic honor society in America.

Lois L. Decker

Miss Decker graduated from Bridgewater in 1926 as Director of Physical Education for Women and Supervisor of Physical Education. For ten years, she was an instructor at the University of Illinois. Miss Decker graduated from Western State Normal School at Kalamazoo, Michigan. She received her master’s degree from the University of Wisconsin and her master’s degree from New York University.

One of Miss Decker’s major contributions to the cultural life of the college has been her guidance of the Modern Dance Club.

Charlotte H. Thompson

Miss Thompson graduated from Pitchford State Teachers College and Boston University. Before coming to the Burnell School in 1935, she taught in Norwood. She has served as critic-teacher in both second and third grades.

Her teaching experience has been enriched by study at Columbia and extensive travel in Europe, Alaska, and the United States.

She is a member of the Bridgewater Teachers Association, the Massachusetts Teachers Association and the Massachusetts State Teachers Colleges Association.

A Mind in a Sound Body

"Mens sana in corpore sano." Along with the example of trinitarian God, this phrase has generated in me a fascination with the idea of a sound mind and body, and it particularly intrigued me as a student of Greek culture. My father, a professor of Greek, always encouraged me to read the classics, especially those that emphasized the importance of soundness of mind and body. He believed that by studying the ancient philosophers, we could gain insight into our own lives and the world around us.

Sometimes the world seems too much with us, truly. Around exam time, especially, we tend to tire, to pity ourselves, to affect a pensive pose and to rail at human nature. At such times human nature seems to be a beast against which we must strive. Then suddenly, unaccountably, we hear of an example of human selflessness and the words begin to climb. A case in extremely fine point, we think, is what's happening on campus in our library drive. The first student pledges are in already, and they are reported to reach $30 and $50 for individuals.

But disinterestedly the promise of these early pledges, it strikes us with little effort that such a promise is made with the unselfishness of greatest potential value to the many — is due mainly to the idea and generous spirit which came from the ceaseless efforts of a handful of faculty, students and alumni. With this outstanding example of selflessness before us, can we do less than our best?

Dr. Melville Receives Honorary Degree

Dr. Melville was awarded an honorary degree, a degree of the arts and her master's degree in Albany, N. Y., and received her honorary degree at Stonehill Bridgewater. Her latest book, published by Charles Scribner's Sons, "John Carroll of Baltimore," received high praise from the New York Times: "One of the most outstanding books of 1965, and named one of the top 250 books published in 1965." It received the award of the Thomas Moore Award; it was chosen by Dr. Melville as one of her books she picks for the summer. They may he sure that he will be amused by the following release which to tell time during lectures.

The professor explains it this way:

- "The more white eyelashes, the nearer does this system ineffective.
- "A slalom that makes the moving curve.
- "Correction with each passing barding.
- "The time that marks the hour of my death.
- "The time that marks the hour of my death. All in a sound body."

Orchids to Beverly Sullivan

Graduating senior Miss Beverly Sullivan has been awarded an assistantship by the Simmons College Club of the Science Society, the award to run for two years. During that time she will study for her Master's degree in library science. The assistantship comes as a surprise to anyone who knows this talented and active young lady. At handsome this year (June 6) she won the coveted Katharine M. Hill Award, given annually to the senior most scholastically meritorious in her appreciation of literature.

President's Message

Time and its fellow agent the calendar have moved us through August 11, 1966. We have come to the end of another academic year. I hope that for all of us it has been a year of intellectual growth, a year of insight and a quickening of professional ambitions. If this has happened to us then it has been a year of opportunity offered and open to us. If we have failed to seize the opportunity, if we cannot look back at a year without regret, inadvertently, then let us hope that the love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning. The love we can feel for English is the beginning of a new beginning.

"And it might be well if more colleges and universities, other than our own, joined in this work," Commissioner Desmond said. "We are an important factor in the solution of this social problem, and it is our responsibility to contribute at every level of our endeavor in the fight for alcoholism." Graduation time seems appropriate to review this past year. To the players and the loyal rooters has gone the reward of a truly successful year.

Our soccer team has made the name of BTC a household word to all our soccer competitors by winning 12 games and losing only one. For the second year in a row, the booters took the Teachers College Conference title and, for the first time in a number of years, the Southern New England Coastal Conference title.

The track team has also won these two titles by overwhelming scores. Worthy of special mention are the amazing running feats of John Lombard, a frosh, and Art Cuttait, a sophomore.

The baseball team also received honors by taking the S.N.E.C.C. title with a five and one record. The basketball team had a fairly eventful season winning 10 and losing 6 — its best record in years.

Gerry McVey, in his flashy red and white trunks wearing the letters AU, won the New England Amateur boxing title. Like a noble crusader, he fought for a cause — to prove that the men of BTC are really men and not boys!

Through graduation, we will lose "Doc" Blanchon, this year's outstanding athlete at BTC; Erick Benson, baseball captain; "Tucker" Cowan, tennis captain; Gerry McVey, boxing champion; Chick May, soccer star; Andy Miller, baseball, soccer and track standouts; Pete Lane of baseball fame; Walter Murphy, golfer, and Joe Fratiani, our spirited intramural-varsity star.
