LINDY BERGIN

Lindy Bergin, candidate for SCA president, has had two years of council experience, one quarter of which she was vice-president pro tem. She served as a delegate to her high school government for three years and as president in her senior year. She states, "I know how SCA functions; more important, I know its potential."

For a platform she lists major objectives: 1. "Major Objectives. Ignorant goals: 1. To make SCA into a student-sensitive organization, which represents all student thought, not just the opinions of the 21 students who compose it. 2. To make SCA an innovator of new ideas; an organization which is constantly looking for new ways to serve the students and the college community; to make it a dynamic, not a static force.

Specific methods of accomplishing goals: 1. Weekly meetings; 2. Better communication between students and this organization by mimeographed minutes, distributed by division representatives, and a column in Campus Comment; 3. Reorganization of now defunct or inactive SCA standing committees, for ex. Handbook and Guidance; 4. Setting up of a Public Relations Board to "Secondly: A clearer definition of the power and jurisdiction of S.C.A. minutes, distributed by division representatives, and a column in Campus a platform at election time and "The Student Cooperation Organization at Bridgewater can speak for you and act according to your needs and wants. It is up to you to see that it does."

BARBARA INDELICATO

Barbara Indelicato, junior elementary major and candidate for SCA vice-president, is a senior photography editor of ALPHA and an active member of Drama Club. She states,

"I am very interested in the work of the SCA Vice-President. If elected, I will work to the best of my ability with members of the social community to provide a more varied program of social activities for the student body -- activities which will be available for commuters. I think it most important to extend the interests of the students. Perhaps allowing more students to participate in the actual planning of the social functions would increase interest.

"To elected to SCA, I will earnestly work to represent the ideas and problems of the student body."
REBELLION, RESPONSIBILITY, RIGHTS

At the national convention of the Associated Student Government five months ago, Dean of Student Affairs at Rutgers University, Earle W. Clifford, delivered a speech entitled "The Right to Be Responsible." He proposed three r's of student life on campus -- rebellion, responsibility and rights. These three can be used as a yardstick in the upcoming BSC elections by which the voters can judge the candidates.

Dean Clifford wholeheartedly supported rebellion as a strength of the university, but he differentiated between constructive and destructive rebellion. The constructive rebel or non-conformist is an innovator; he uses channels within the university, thereby leaving something concrete, rather than the chaos often effected by the destructive non-conformist. Dean Clifford said, "We have too few students rebellion, responsibility and rights. These three can be used as a yardstick in the upcoming BSC elections by which the voters can judge the candidates.

Bridgewater can afford neither conformity nor destructive rebellion now, as it is experiencing the growing pains of transition from a teacher-training to a liberal arts institution.

Responsibility on a campus must be given to the students, it can not be taken by them. Perhaps the degree of responsibility assumed by the students is proportional to the maturity they show. But, as Dean Clifford said, "... when the level of expectation is high, students deliver." If the voters expect the best, the most responsible government, from the candidates, the candidates should "deliver." And the responsibility works both ways. It is very likely that responsible voting will bring responsible leadership.

The third r, rights, is one which Dean Clifford felt students do not use enough. This is where the cycle comes full circle; each responsibility, rights and rebellions are interdependent. If BSC students demand their rights as students, as Dean Clifford said, "the right to the best education, the right to be responsible, the right to dream" - they can begin with the coming elections.

You have the right to rebel, to conform, to expect a good education. But you also have the right to be responsible -- to vote, to vote after careful consideration.

SECRETARY

MARGARET CABECEIRAS

Candidate for S.C.A. secretary, Margaret Cabeceiras, served as junior class president this past year, as well as council member. Maggie is running for secretary "to again participate in government, and also render clerical and representative services as well as function on the executive board." She thinks that her experience as class president will be beneficial in executive board matters.

Maggie is a CAMPUS COMMENT reporter, a member of Visual Arts Club and Kappa Delta Pi and has been on the Dean's List for three years.

MARGARET DOOLEY

Another candidate for S.C.A. secretary is Peggy Dooley, junior elementary major.

Concerning the position of S.C.A. secretary, she says, "The position of S.C.A. secretary is a very important one because it is only through the Secretary's minutes that the official word of the S.C.A. meetings is conveyed to the College.

"Personally serving as Secretary of Woodward Hall, this experience has acquainted me with the duties and responsibilities of the S.C.A. meetings as well as function on the executive board."

"As Secretary of Woodward, I am thereby a member of the Dormitory Council and familiar with such things as parliamentary procedures and constitutional rulings. This knowledge is very important for these are always an integral part of all S.C.A. meetings."

SECRETARY...

"It is my desire in running for SCA secretary to help the students become more aware of the current problems and issues concerning them by acting as liaison between SCA and the student body."

PHYLLIS PYTEL

Pryllis Pytel is a French major seeking the office of SCA secretary. She was valedictorian of her high school class, has been on the Dean's List for the past three semesters and has served on DSC committees.

"I am interested in the student government here at BSC. Being a commentator, I would like to take a more active part in student government through seeking the office of SCA secretary. If elected, I will take minutes as accurately as possible and will do my best to inform the student body of the decisions of the SCA meetings as soon as possible. I think it's very important to let the students know, immediately after the meetings, what is going on, and won't become apathetic due to lack of news. In short, if elected, I hope to serve the students and the SCA as best I can, in the capacity of secretary, because I'm interested in the students and student government."

Treasurer...

Junior math major Bob Commins, candidate for SCA treasurer, is running out of a "sincere desire to serve my college and the students through student government."

"My knowledge of finance has been extended by summer employment with the Certified Boston Accounting firm of Meahl, McNamara & Company. This year I have had the privilege of serving as Treasurer for Drama Club and the newly formed Math Club. If elected, I am ready to assume the responsibilities of the office of Treasurer and represent the students of Bridgewater State."

ROBERT COMMINS

James Johnson, junior history major, has announced his candidacy for Treasurer of SCA. "I feel that I am qualified to hold office because I care what happens to this school, and also because I have handled the books for my own business for several years. I have never held an elective office at Bridgewater but my attendance at SCA meetings these last few years as an alternate delegate and observer has been quite regular.

"I have worked on several SCA committees and have tried to serve my school and my fellow students to the best of my ability. Now I want the mandate of these students so that I may better serve them and my school more effectively."

ARMAND MARCHAND

B.S. Junior English major, Armand Marchand, is running for Treasurer of SCA. Armand has served on Campus Comment, Day Student Council, and Drama Club. He is running for SCA office because "I want to serve my college, and in my opinion being on the council as an officer would be the best way to accomplish this goal."

"If elected to the office of treasurer, I will do my utmost to carry out the heavy responsibilities associated with the office, including the allocation of SCA funds in conjunction with the Finance Committee."

ASSISTANT TREASURER

Junior English major Armand Marchand lists the satisfaction of serving in this office as his major reason for running for the office of Assistant Treasurer. He notes he has served on several SCA committees and has tries to serve the students of Bridgewater State.

WILLIAM COTTLE

Sophomore history major William Cottle lists the satisfaction of serving in the college and the students as his major reason for running for the office of Assistant Treasurer. Bill, who is a member of Alpha Upsilon and a Dean's List student, hopes to continue to build up the office of Assistant Treasurer to a responsible position. In this way, students will be guaranteed an efficient, capable Treasurer who will always keep in mind the trust placed in him.

ROBERT CROUCH

Robert Crouch, sophomore history major from Dorchester announces his candidacy for Assistant Treasurer because "I think the office is one of the most important and requires a high sense of responsibility since it is a stepping stone to the office of Treasurer. The Assistant Treasurer must go through an apprenticeship in which he will learn the responsibilities and duties of his present and future office. Since the SCA has so much power in determining the budget and distribution of funds, the assistant must be active and alert. Every cent must be accounted for. If I am elected, I will conscientiously and seriously try to fulfill the duties of the office of Assistant Treasurer."

Paul Allen

Frequently a dorm student, Paul Allen, candidate for sophomore delegate to SCA, has been involved with the SCA since last semester, Paul says of SCA, "Through the SCA I would like to bring about a better understanding between the student and administration. Because of the common committee status, I realize the need for responsible SCA delegates that would try to help the dorm students, as well as the freshmen. If I am given the opportunity, I would like to try to foster this goal."

Lupe Hannon

A BSC freshman from Innoville, Lupe Hannon served as president of student council in high school. She is running for SCA delegate.

"If I were elected you would see, "to bring the problems of our class to the attention of the administration, thereby creating a social regulations. Especially true regarding certain matters. I am not against the traditions of the college, but some things thirty years ago are done everyday in our modern colleges. This is the reason why students get out and vote, if not for me then for the candidate of his choice."

Wendy Jenkins

Seeking a position on the council is Wendy Jenkins, freshman Health and Physical Education major. She wants to be a sophomore delegate because "I have always been interested in Student government and have had former experience as a class officer and member of a student council. I would like an active part in the student government at Bridgewater by representing my class as an SCA representative, and contributing as well as I can to my fellow students and the school."

Paula Stadelmann

Another contestant for sophomore delegate is Paula Stadelmann, freshman math major, who is "an old-time member of the Student Council. I feel that because of having two years of BSC is growing and impossible for clubs or school organizations, including sports, to exist."

JUNIOR

Frank DeMello

Frank DeMello, candidate for junior delegate to SCA, "is running for SCA because I feel the obligation to be more than just a name on a file card or a face in a class picture. The student body of BSC is growing and I want to take an active part in that growth." In these words Frank DeMello, sophomore chemistry major, states his reasons for running for junior delegate to SCA.

Frank hopes to initiate a safe-sex system at Bridgewater, thus alleviating the present deplorable existing conditions. He feels that the SCA should be increased by five dollars, give the council an additional $600 to work with. The present $85 fee makes it next-to-impossible for clubs or school organizations, including sports, to expands."

Bill Ekstrom

Bill Ekstrom, candidate for junior delegate, is a B.A. history major and presently a delegate to the SCA. "I feel that because of having a four-year experience on the SCA I will be able to contribute more to the junior class as their representative."

Phyllis Garder

If elected Phyllis Garder, candidate for junior delegate, would "like to see student-faculty relations improved." "Among other things I would like to see the student-sponsor cultural events, such as plays and various speakers."

Phyllis was vice president of her high school student council and a candidate for class treasurer at BSC. Running because she would like to "take an active part in student affairs, and I feel I could well represent the student body.""

Gail Galstan

Gail Galstan, presently a SCA member, is running again for junior delegate. Serving on various committees, including the Library Committee, she feels that an active SCA can bring good results to the problems of the student. She has been active in raising $500,000 for a parking authority and assisting in making the student body more self-sufficient.

A physical education major, Gail is an active member of aquabrytes, WRA and Christian Fellowship, as well as a participant in the activities of Woodlawn Dorms.

Paul Means

Football letterman and a past class president, Paul Means is presently the chairman of the elections committee and sophomore delegate to SCA. A history and political science major, he was a candidate for class treasurer last semester. He is a candidate for junior SCA delegate because "I have always been actively involved in student government, I feel that the Student Government should be active in helping to solve student problems and for themselves."

SENIOR

Frank DeMello

Mary Nordberg

Ed O’Neil

Jack Haywood

Pat Bailey

Judy Connor

Richard Emerson

Joyce Weglicki

As manager of the football team for the past three years, Richard Emerson, senior candidate for delegate, has been involved with the college, in the liberal arts program, majoring in history. He feels that history "has given me insight into how different forms of government should operate." He states, "Our growing college needs an effective student governing body. If elected junior delegate I will work to make the SCA, what it should be - the voice of the students."

NOTICES

Students interested in obtaining any information are invited to discuss the various available examinations with the Officer Selection Officer during his visit on campus.

The Union Leaders Class Program (Air or Ground) is open to freshmen, sophomores, and seniors. This program is accomplished with out military classes, NROTC or other interruptions during the regular school year. Candidates attend two six-week summer training courses at Quantico, Virginia, and graduation from college are commissioned Second Lieutenants.
