1966

Campus Comment, February 17, 1966

State College at Bridgewater

Volume 40
Number 8

Recommended Citation
Retrieved from: http://vc.bridgew.edu/comment/199

This item is available as part of Virtual Commons, the open-access institutional repository of Bridgewater State University, Bridgewater, Massachusetts.
Students and Faculty

Bleed-In for Viet Nam Troops

One hundred and eighty-seven piles of blood were delivered by Bridgevillians faculty and students for the boys in Viet Nam, as "bleed-in" sponsored by Freshman, Jim Accomando and Joe McDonell, on Feb. 9, at Hillyard Hall.

Mr. Brad Richarda, a local Red Cross officer, commented with the Boston Chapter of the American Red Cross for the bloodmobile truck and crew: eight Red Cross nurses, a doctor, and two technicians. The local volunteers did the paperwork, Accomando and McDonell initiated the "bleed-in" completely on their own, and they actually fell it in its small thing that might help reverse the trend toward devastation of American soldiers in South Viet Nam. The outcome was certainly encouraging. Said Jim Accomando after the "bleed-in"; "We are very grateful to all who were available enough to come down and give their blood."

To donate another "bleed-in" periodically, for 100 students whose class schedules or commuting arrangements prevented their staying to donate later in the afternoon had been set for the March 12.

DUTCHMAN FAVORS WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS FROM VIET NAM

In Vietnam, the United States is engaged in an "insane war," which "nobody can win," said Dutch Journalist, Villam Oltmans, in his address to the students and faculty of Bridgewater State College, on Feb. 9, in the Horace Mann Auditorium

Mr. Oltmans said that he believed "they would send President Johnson a helicopter to get shot at" over some field in Vietnam, "he would remember what is going on in Asia." Mr. Oltmans compared Asia to that slogan that will always, in death, guilty young American soldiers, unless the Vietnamese leaders "get the message," that Asia will not do without more influences in their government.

To support his position, Mr. Oltmans reviewed and interpreted for his audience his country's experience in Indochina. "In 1945, we went to Indochina, not as Peace Corps volunteers, not as highway robbers and we took what we could," he said. Mr. Oltmans pointed out that while the Dutch did improve the economic condition of the Indochinese, the Dutch "never bothered to find out what the Indochinese were thinking," and so, when the Dutch tried to re-establish their control over Indochina in 1946, after being ousted by the Japanese in World War II, the French were surprised to be flanked by not only the American soldiers who had ravaged a few years ago, but also by the indigenous people who had given us a similar message to stay out of the country. The Dutch saw this as a new form of Asian countries. He said, "These people (the Vietnamese) have a damn scalder that they are ruled by Communist or not, they won't lie alone,"

But, Mr. Oltmans said that the United States was "setting on the wrong horses," that the Peace Corps and student teachers in India, "encourage class participation." But already some disenchantment has been raised by BSC's own Ed Couto and his staff system for making use of the cut discussion on the students and faculty of Bridgewater.

MTA RILES NANTUCKET TEACHERS

Last month, a widely publicized and well-publicized action by Massachusetts teachers not to take teaching positions in Nantucket. The Massachusetts Teachers Association said that the action was "one of the most significant events in the history of the Massachusetts Teachers Association is nothing short of a milestone," said an executive officer of the teachers association.

According to the January 27, 1966 issue of the Boston Globe, Mirror the Massachusetts Teachers Association claims that the Nantucket school system has and not acted on recommendation of the Massachusetts Teachers Association, which investigated the Island's schools in 1965. The MTA found that the Island's schools are in need of attention. Kelley stated in that paper in the last few months, Karl T. T. N. T. for every person in Red China.

COMING EVENTS

February 17, 1966

STATE COLLEGE AT BRIDGEWATER

CAMPUS COMMENT

Vol. XI No. 8

Students and Faculty

Bleed-In for Viet Nam Troops

One hundred and eighty-seven piles of blood were delivered by Bridgevillians faculty and students for the boys in Viet Nam, as "bleed-in" sponsored by Freshman, Jim Accomando and Joe McDonell, on Feb. 9, at Hillyard Hall.

Mr. Brad Richarda, a local Red Cross officer, commented with the Boston Chapter of the American Red Cross for the bloodmobile truck and crew: eight Red Cross nurses, a doctor, and two technicians. The local volunteers did the paperwork, Accomando and McDonell initiated the "bleed-in" completely on their own, and they actually fell it in its small thing that might help reverse the trend toward devastation of American soldiers in South Viet Nam. The outcome was certainly encouraging. Said Jim Accomando after the "bleed-in"; "We are very grateful to all who were available enough to come down and give their blood."

To donate another "bleed-in" periodically, for 100 students whose class schedules or commuting arrangements prevented their staying to donate later in the afternoon had been set for the March 12.

Mr. Oltmans ended his speech with an exhortation to the students to "think of the students and blue jeans face of America to the world," through the Peace Corps and student exchanges. He said, "If the youths of Asia and America could get together, they'd love each other... and the youths of tomorrow would surely rationalise their political beliefs."

Way Down Yonder

Miss Peggy Dooley and Tom Stadtor, who are a rather unique band, Singers, and a rather unusual music teacher for making use of the cut discussion on the students and faculty of Bridgewater.

President Bonnello and Dean Slow crowed Millie Gros King Tom Stadtor and Queen Peggy Dooley.

DUTCHMAN FAVORS WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS FROM VIET NAM

In Vietnam, the United States is engaged in an "insane war," which "nobody can win," said Dutch Journalist, Villam Oltmans, in his address to the students and faculty of Bridgewater State College, on Feb. 9, in the Horace Mann Auditorium

Mr. Oltmans said that he believed "they would send President Johnson a helicopter to get shot at" over some field in Vietnam, "he would remember what is going on in Asia." Mr. Oltmans compared Asia to that slogan that will always, in death, guilty young American soldiers, unless the Vietnamese leaders "get the message," that Asia will not do without more influences in their government.

To support his position, Mr. Oltmans reviewed and interpreted for his audience his country's experience in Indochina. "In 1945, we went to Indochina, not as Peace Corps volunteers, not as highway robbers and we took what we could," he said. Mr. Oltmans pointed out that while the Dutch did improve the economic condition of the Indochinese, the Dutch "never bothered to find out what the Indochinese were thinking," and so, when the Dutch tried to re-establish their control over Indochina in 1946, after being ousted by the Japanese in World War II, the French were surprised to be flanked by not only the American soldiers who had ravaged a few years ago, but also by the indigenous people who had given us a similar message to stay out of the country. The Dutch saw this as a new form of Asian countries. He said, "These people (the Vietnamese) have a damn scalder that they are ruled by Communist or not, they won't lie alone,"

But, Mr. Oltmans said that the United States was "setting on the wrong horses," that the Peace Corps and student teachers in India, "encourage class participation." But already some disenchantment has been raised by BSC's own Ed Couto and his staff system for making use of the cut discussion on the students and faculty of Bridgewater.

MTA RILES NANTUCKET TEACHERS

Last month, a widely publicized and well-publicized action by Massachusetts teachers not to take teaching positions in Nantucket. The Massachusetts Teachers Association said that the action was "one of the most significant events in the history of the Massachusetts Teachers Association is nothing short of a milestone," said an executive officer of the teachers association.

According to the January 27, 1966 issue of the Boston Globe, Mirror the Massachusetts Teachers Association claims that the Nantucket school system has and not acted on recommendation of the Massachusetts Teachers Association, which investigated the Island's schools in 1965. The MTA found that the Island's schools are in need of attention. Kelley stated in that paper in the last few months, Karl T. T. N. T. for every person in Red China.

COMING EVENTS

February 17, 1966

STATE COLLEGE AT BRIDGEWATER

CAMPUS COMMENT

Vol. XI No. 8

Students and Faculty

Bleed-In for Viet Nam Troops

One hundred and eighty-seven piles of blood were delivered by Bridgevillians faculty and students for the boys in Viet Nam, as "bleed-in" sponsored by Freshman, Jim Accomando and Joe McDonell, on Feb. 9, at Hillyard Hall.

Mr. Brad Richarda, a local Red Cross officer, commented with the Boston Chapter of the American Red Cross for the bloodmobile truck and crew: eight Red Cross nurses, a doctor, and two technicians. The local volunteers did the paperwork, Accomando and McDonell initiated the "bleed-in" completely on their own, and they actually fell it in its small thing that might help reverse the trend toward devastation of American soldiers in South Viet Nam. The outcome was certainly encouraging. Said Jim Accomando after the "bleed-in"; "We are very grateful to all who were available enough to come down and give their blood."

To donate another "bleed-in" periodically, for 100 students whose class schedules or commuting arrangements prevented their staying to donate later in the afternoon had been set for the March 12.

Mr. Oltmans ended his speech with an exhortation to the students to "think of the students and blue jeans face of America to the world," through the Peace Corps and student exchanges. He said, "If the youths of Asia and America could get together, they'd love each other... and the youths of tomorrow would surely rationalise their political beliefs."

Way Down Yonder

Miss Peggy Dooley and Tom Stadtor, who are a rather unique band, Singers, and a rather unusual music teacher for making use of the cut discussion on the students and faculty of Bridgewater.

President Bonnello and Dean Slow crowed Millie Gros King Tom Stadtor and Queen Peggy Dooley.
OPEN FORUM

Sex and the Playboy Philosophy
by Reverend Howard Sterling

In this age of Freudian analysis let me clear the account from the history of sex. When the deep subconscious moral ground motives in my psyche which I have worked so hard to keep out of my mind, I mean that it means to flunk out; to flunk out and return to flunk out, return and flunk out again. What do students think of the Faculty Committee on Academic Standing and what do they think of Bridgewater's probation policy in general?

What is truly outstanding about the students is their desire to interview and ask those questions of our students who have experienced these struggles found in the 1-75 QF.

A veteran of probation (three consecutive semesters) believes that probation has done three things for him: "It has scarred me," "made me study," and "helped me stay here." He is grateful for his experience because it has given him "an insight to give of oneself, so that I can participate more." (extra-curricularly.) Asked how he felt the Board of Probation he said, "we weren't 'helpful' towards me." (mostly more sympathetic.)

A Special who flunked out as a freshman (first semester), and returned to do above average work the following year, says, "I became more aggressive of education when I flunked out because it was the first time anyone said I couldn't go to school." Asked what caused such a radical change from a falling standing to an above average standing, the student said that his parents were "driving me harder," and "there was no way I was going to fail this time," which was the last time he was flunked out. He then said that he appreciated this change of behavior because it takes into consideration existing circumstances that are not held to the student to fail. However, it is "too easy to deceive the board on the scratch paper." He said he appreciates the board because it has given him a good life. He also said that he et al. Family have won many, many dollars to the holistic family for the choice he made. The student said it was his own experience that was the best thing that happened to him.

Of course it's all good clean fun. The administration has made a few votes for the honor only in hopes of the honor only. However, "it would be a great sin," to say.

The student said he appreciates the board because it has given him a good life. He also said that he et al. Family have won many, many dollars to the holistic family for the choice he made. The student said it was his own experience that was the best thing that happened to him.

Dear Sir,

I am writing today to express my full support of the M.T.A. in their appeal to the National Board of Education to end the injustice of the current situation in our school system. I believe that the M.T.A. is doing a great job in representing the students and their concerns.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Barbara Chelis

Dear Editor:

I want to address the issue of the proposed cuts to the college's budget. As a student, I believe that these cuts are not only unfair but also detrimental to the quality of education we receive.

First of all, the cuts threaten to eliminate many of the courses that I have enjoyed and benefited from. Moreover, the cuts are likely to result in larger class sizes, which can negatively impact the learning experience. It is crucial that we maintain the current level of resources to ensure that students can continue to receive a high-quality education.

Secondly, the cuts are unjust. They do not take into account the impact that they will have on different student populations. For instance, the cuts are likely to disproportionately affect marginalized groups who may already face barriers to accessing education.

Finally, the cuts are unnecessary. The school has the financial resources to maintain current levels of support without cutting programs and services.

In conclusion, I urge the administration to reconsider the proposed cuts and instead find ways to increase revenue and reduce costs. The students' well-being and the quality of education they receive are at stake.

Sincerely,
[Signature]

Alice Smith

Page 2

STATE COLLEGE AT BRIDGEWATER
February 17, 1966

STATE COLLEGE AT BRIDGEWATER

PAGE 3

Mephistopheles

Al, it's time to take stock, as they say, and give yourself a long spring. A few freshmen have gone to graduated college and the rest of us are growing until graduation. We are making arrangements for our first undergraduate Masquerade Ball and we're looking forward to it.

DO NOTHING'S TO WIN

Some of the Bridgewater folk remember when there wasn't a two-legged living thing on campus, outside of a few skunks, snakes, and mice. We didn't know. And we never knew how to attract extracurricular activities. Capitalist Ann was one of the secrets of life on campus. She was the only one who could coax the students into coming out of their dormitories to sing and dance. She was the one who always had new ideas. She was the one who always was up for a challenge. She was the one who always was able to attract students to her activities. She was the one who always was able to organize and run events successfully. She was the one who always was able to bring people together.

A wise adage and a nosy devil caught the prize for Glee Club at Millers Cross.

(SCA Cont. from Col. 3)

Larry Solfvin, first Bridgewater student

Tryouts for "Three to One" Tryouts for "Three to One" the spring musical review, will be held Monday, February 21 from 7:00 to 9:00 P.M. Student dancers are needed. Parts are available. "Three to One", which focuses on the adventures of three students, will be presented in April. About 30 students will be involved. The production is being directed by Professor Englund.

DAIKER'S FLOWERS

Two Shops Shopping Plaza

18 Central Square

Bridgewater, Mass.

West Bridgewater, Mass.

Flowers

Telegraphed

TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1966
Salem Topples BSC

By Bruce Nelson

Salem State College led by the 28 points of John Galairas defeated the Bears 66-72 at Bridgewater February 15. The first half belonged to the Salem team as they outscored Bridgewater 46-33. The Bears stayed within winning distance, though, for all of the first half.

Scoring by Dan Phelan and Ken Brennan, and the heads-up defensive play by Al Petipas and Steve Adnerson kept Salem within nine points of the top ten books being currently enrolled at the university. The verse choir is rehearsing for an upcoming performance. The debate club will participate in a regional competition in May. The examination will be used to determine the number of candidates who will be accepted for the summer program.

Bears Trounce Willimantic

Led by sharpshooting Dan Phelan, the Bears came out of the three-game suspension to trounce Willimantic 74-63. Phelan scored 34 points as he led the team in scoring. The Bears took their time to work the sphere around and waited for the openings. These tactics plus 25 of Phelan's 34 marks enabled Bridgewater to walk off in the last two quarters.

Bridgewater State University is hosting a conference on campus in extra-curricular reading. The conference will be held in the college library, and the sessions will be open to the public.

Quinnipiac Catches BSC Again

Quinnipiac College defeated Bridgewater for the second time this season by the score of 107-69. The loss marked the Bears' second consecutive loss in the conference. Quinnipiac rolled to a 44-29 half time lead and then went on to score 56-40 in the second half.

One hour dry cleaning

Deluxe Shirt Laundry Service
Quality Workmanship

Mary's STANDISH CLEANERS
99 Broad Street
Bridgewater, MA

ALL WORK DONE ON THE PREMISES

President Johnson Unable to Speak at Commencement

President Lyndon B. Johnson is unable to deliver the Bridge Water Graduation address on June 5th, writes Jack Valenti, Special Assistant to the President. "Much as he would like to be able to accept, unfortunately, it is impossible for him to do so. There are already other invitations pending for that time on which he has promised consideration, and with the heavy official demands, the number of commencement invitations he is able to accept is naturally quite limited."

Buddy's Coffee Shop

SNACKS
AND LIGHT LUNCHES

COLLEGE MEETING PLACE

Come in for "COFFEE AND ENGLISH"

Stengel's Inc.

Bridgewater Delicatessen

HOME BAKERY
PRODUCTS
Submarine Sandwiches

EXCHANGE

by Cheryl Faris

Fargo, N.D. - North Dakota State University has invited a Campus Leaders' Retreat this year, with the aim of recognizing and solving some of the campus's problems. One point brought up was the student's right to know beforehand exactly what's going on. Another concern was the regalia for a particular course. It was suggested that the department list the professors that will be teaching each course, and what the course involves.

The discussion groups of the council will be composed of the Glee Club from around 35 school clubs, including most of the campus leaders. Faculty members encouraged creativity, and asked students to set their lines. Another meeting with a self-evaluation section, is scheduled for the following spring.

President Johnson will address the students on the evening of April 30. The debate club will participate in a regional competition in May. The examination will be used to determine the number of candidates who will be accepted for the summer program.

NEWS BRIEF

Tryouts for the Children's Play will be held in Room 35 beginning the week in March. The verse choir is rehearsing for an upcoming performance. The debate club will participate in a regional competition in May. The examination will be used to determine the number of candidates who will be accepted for the summer program.

Stengel's Inc.

Bridgewater Delicatessen

HOME BAKERY
PRODUCTS
Submarine Sandwiches