Emlyn Williams, world-renowned actor, director, author, and playwright, will open the Autumn Celebrity Series on the evening of October 16, 1967. Mr. Williams will present his highly successful "Oyden Thomas More," which has been acclaimed on three continents. Many students will remember Mr. Williams for his brilliant appearance as Charles Dickens in last season's television series. This will be Mr. Williams second visit to the Bridgewater campus. His comment in 1965 after presenting his Charles Dickens Program was, "If I had it to do over, your students are warm and hospitable human beings."

As an actor on Broadway and in London, besides his visits with his solo performance as Charles Dickens, which made a tremendous impression everywhere, Mr. Williams has appeared in London's Hallmark MONTSEURS, Morris West's DAUGHTER OF THE DEPOT, BOLOY'S MAN FOR ALL SEASONS, and the Chase's blockbuster THE DEPOT. In Dublin, he played Richard III in the Old Vic, led the Stratford company at Togo and Berkeley, created the role of Sir Robert Morison in Ninian's THE WINDSLOW BOY, and appeared in London last season in THE MIDNIGHT IN THE COUNTRY.

Hippies Happen At Chameleon

When hippies happen at Bridgewater you can be sure that the Chameleon Conversation Coffee House is opening again for a lively season. You've heard and read of Flower Power and the Geronimo Generation of poet and playwright, but have you ever met and talked with a real, live, honest-to-goodness hippy? Well the Chameleon is again changing colors and will present Toby and Collect, two West Coast originals from L.A. on Friday, October 6 at 8:00 p.m. This is just one of the many features of programs that the Chameleon will present this coming season.

The Chameleon Conversation Coffee House originated last spring, dedicated for the purpose of providing an outlet for student creativity. The coffee house enjoyed tremendous support and success. It was started, organized, continued, and operated by Bridgewater students.

This year's host of performers includes a full-stringing former Miss Massachusetts, The Tanglewood Trio a reper group, the Changling Celibers, and many, many entertainers that B.S.C. has not heard the likes of. It's not seen the likes of. It's the coffee house that Professor Olson, one of its Advisors, comments: "Besides having outside entertainers, it is a sounding board for student creativity in the performing arts. Some of the select audience more experimental things can be done. Every college needs such an outlet."

Who are the workers behind the Lisa?, as the regulars have come to know it? Karl Netzel, Executive Chairman, is the organization man. Secretary Susan Biggart, Program Director Lucy M. Thayer, Treasurer Mary Ann Wettedt, Publicity Director Bruce Taylor are in charge of the busy work. Professor Danzen and Mr. Cole serve as Program and Financial Advisor respectively.

The time has come, Bridgewater is finally in gear. The Chameleon Conversation Coffee House has more than "a little bit of love." It's got soul, flower power, and a lot of fun, not to mention the original and different entertainment coming to B.S.C.

Follow the rose petals to the Old Parish Hall (the old Parish Hall behind Boydton Hall). If every department now has at least one member who has a Chameleon membership card there must be something about the place. Imagine a faculty member saying, "Abishalom." And organized coffee house: "The Coffee House is one of the few institutions that students have done on their own. It's satisfactory to the students, no willing to try experimental and innovative things for art's sake."

Blessed be those black-eyed geniuses! The Chameleon Conversation Coffee House is Bridgewater's answer to psychedelia.

Looking For Someone? B. S. C.

by Maureen Condon

All the soul of the day, are you exhausted?
Do you have a cramp in your neck from embracing the phone, while your fingers race frantically from phone number to phone number? Do you have laryngitis and sore feet after the longest day of calling up and down the corridor?

Any other aches and pains?
Well, if you haven’t mastered the art of the African drummers, or if you can’t play like a Swiss Montageur - in Swiss Code, or if you can’t run up and down the stairs with the speed and dexterity of a mountain goat, or if you have not yet learned to wrangle with books with success -

THEN - You may be one of the BSC Family who would appreciate the installation of an intercom system in Boyten.

While working in the English Office this past summer, I was asked to check a list of books "missing from the library in June." Missing - Ho-Ho. The majority, sorry to say, were SWIPED. Granted, everyone really wants a book labelled State College Library? Maybe someone has a reason. For example, every year monetary awards are given to five or six students in the country for unusual personal libraries. Perhaps we have a concert here at Bridgewater - the student with the greatest amount of stolen BSC Library books. So far as I can tell, an evil lot of books seemed to grow legs and walk off the shelves. For example, 84 literature books were not present when roll was called. Multiply this 84 by an average of $6.00 per book, and you can see how much these books mean to the school.

Six students in the country for unusual personal libraries. Perhaps we have a student here at Bridgewater. The student with the greatest amount of stolen BSC Library books! Kappa Delta Pi, Honor Society in Education, will be sending some upper-classmen to an informal pre-initiation coffee hour. The coffee hour will be held from 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on the large deck, Room in Boyten Hall, on October 3, Kappa's social activities and educational projects for the year, and plans for initiation (Tuesday, November 28, from 9:30 p.m. to 11:00 p.m.) in the auditorium will be discussed with the perspectives of the members.

This year, Kappa Delta Pi should be inducting more new members (last year approx. twenty upper-classmen were inducted). In addition, the activities will be in accordance with the latest practices of many of the other sister clubs. Invitations will be sent on October 4 to the seniors and will be posted on the main bulletin board in Boyten for consultants.

The Editorial Office is now located on the first floor of Boyten Hall and the director of guidance is fully engaged in the process of moving out of this office, but Mr. Dough Donley's work still goes on.

The Editorial Office has uncovered the applications for the undergraduate and graduate schools. Mr. Dough Donley strongly recommends that all students who plan on going to school should obtain the guidance office immediately.

IMPORTANT

Professor Donley has sent introduction cards to every freshman in the country for unusual personal libraries. Perhaps we have a student here at Bridgewater. Football '67 at BSC

by Chris Brady

On Saturday, September 23, Bridgewater State College opened this year’s football season. This year the big question mark is the offensive line, particularly with the loss of Jeff Fanning. Junior Jim Accamundo and freshman Tom Incotto are vying for the opening. Three other freshmen in the offensive line, the offensive guard, and the offensive tackle, all freshmen with little or no experience. Captain Bruce Nelson, sophomore Vic De Felice, and senior Cali Salabene should be hopeul to be among the top three.

Defensively speaking, if the scrimmage against Dean Junior College can be used as a guide, things look very solid. Bridgewater State’s defense force up any0ne’s business. Del Grosseto and the line jells, the effectiveness of the backfield returns.

"You All Come Back Now!"

"Texas hospitality is ten feet tall," testified the Editors of ’68, on their return from Dallas, Texas. None of the Toilers, who will publish the ’68 yearbook, has a chance of being a Texan. The Editors (Elaine Ticchi, Associate Editor-in-Chief; Diane Perron, Layout Editor; Donna Daley, Literary Editor, and Mary Zopf, Secretary) left for Texas on Thursday, September 14. They had been brought to the New Englanders, along with them to the Sherry Hotel, but that’s a tall story. It hadn’t rained in Dallas all summer.

On Thursday the girls toured the 8 acre publishing plant and were taken out to dinner in the evening by Mr. Karp, the company artist and special host for the BSC delegation. The Editors spent Friday at the publishing plant working with Mr. Karp on the design for the cover of the yearbook, and ideas for the theme: they also chose the print style, and learned more layout techniques.

Verse Choir Holds Tryouts

The Verse Choir will hold tryouts during the week of October 2. Notices will be posted on the bulletin boards in Boyden Hall. Verse Choir is a club that puts on programs similar to programs of singing choirs, but only special voices are used.

The Choir’s first program of poetry, called “Winter Festival” will be presented at third hour in the auditorium, on Thursday, December 17. The program will consist of both famous and original verse numbers and will culminate in a celebration of Christmas.

Intramurals Begin

Coach Pete Massanaro announces the formation of Intramural Flag football teams. Anyone interested in participating in this program should have his team roster turned in to Mr. Massanaro by this afternoon. These teams consist of eight players on the field, but it is advisable to have more players to assure a full team for each game. Teams can be drawn from the dorm students, commuters, or from any other group interested in playing. All games will be played from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily on the field behind the Kelley Gymnasium Parking Facilities.

Freshman Follies

By Peggy Pratt

On Thursday evening, October 21, WFA once again sponsored the “FRESHMAN FOLLIES." This year the freshman women who live on the various floors of the new Great Hill dorm competed against each other for the freshman spirit award.

The Fourth Floor Freshmen, led by Kathy Nneam, won the award for their skill which showed how initiations might have looked in previous years. One of their segments showed a Roaring 20's imitation in which the bootlegging freshmen approached their Big Sisters by offering them bottles of rum.

All in all, Freshman Follies was indicative of the great spirit of this year’s initiation. Everyone participated in the spirit in which it was intended and good sportsmanship was evident throughout the evening.
