“Spirit” Splits "Rascals” to perform at Homecoming Concert

B of G sets criteria

BRIDGEWATER - Last Thursday the Student Union Program Committee learned that the rock band "Spirit" had canceled all its concert dates and disbanded due to a rift among the members of the group. Following the priority list that had been set up by the Program Committee at their September 21 meeting, "The Rascals" have been contracted for the October 15, Homecoming Concert. "The Rascals" were the second choice on the limited list. The Program Committee only accepted the responsibility for the concert last week from the Social Activities Committee of the Student Government Association because of that group's unorganized state due to the resignation of its chairman. The Program Committee was hoping, even at this late date, to contract a hard rock group for the "trial" rock concert on October 15. The Program Committee's agent, Ludy and Davis, WAS ABLE TO COME UP WITH ONLY THREE NAMES: "Spirit", "The Rascals", and "The Grass Roots." "The Rascals" were designated as second choice of the Committee because of the tremendous popularity they ("The Rascals") have had over the years. Almost every concert "The Rascals" have played has been a sell-out.

In related news, the Student Union Board of Governors established a list of rules and suggestions to be followed at the trial rock concert on October 15.

Mr. Edward J. Meaney, Director of the Student Union, told the "The COMMENT" that these rules are basically the rules which now exist for the Student Union Auditorium. These rules will be used to evaluate the coming rock concert and will influence any policies made regarding future rock concerts in the Student Union Auditorium.

The rules passed by the Student Union Board of Governors and approved by the President of the College for the October 15, 1971 rock concert are as follows:

1. No smoking allowed in the Auditorium itself. Smoking is not allowed in the lobby.
2. No blocking fire exits or aisles.
3. No food or drink is to be taken into the auditorium.
4. No member of the audience is allowed on stage.

Leon Volkov, a former Lt. colonel in the Soviet Air Force, and present expert on Communist affairs, spoke Thursday at 8:00 p.m. in the U.S. Auditorium. His topic was the Chinese-Russian conflict and the present role of the U.S.S.R. in that conflict.

Volkov gave some basic background for his topic, which is the conflict between Russia and China. He spoke of a Chinese claim to a large amount of Siberian land that the Chinese had occupied for a couple of thousand of years. Volkov also stated that former Premier Khrushchev once warned the Communist Central Committee that China could hardly be happy as a third power, as a Russian satellite. The committee ignored his warning and sacrificed U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations in order to appease China and maintain a united/Communist party. The land conflict and the U.S.S.R. loss of land to China eleven years ago are two causes of friction.

In spite of the U.S.S.R.'s concession to China, there are today two basic communist centers, one at Peking and one at Moscow. Volkov pointed out one difference between the two: Peking has an appeal to the underdeveloped countries such as Africa, Asia, and South America, whereas Moscow, an economic and industrial success, last its appeal to the have not countries.

Volkov went on to explain the increasing U.S. and Chinese relations. He mentioned that the Chinese invitation to Kissinger and Nixon planned trip to Peking. Basically, Volkov stated, there were only three hindrances to good U.S.-Chinese relations and reconciliation: he listed these as (1) the presence of U.S. forces in Taiwan, (2) the U.N. conflict over China's admittance and (3) China's fear of the resurgence of Japan with a nuclear force. China, Volkov said, needs good U.S. relations; the Chinese need fifteen to twenty years to build a nuclear power strong enough to defend their territory and they need the U.S. to act as some type of buffer against U.S.S.R. intervention.

In regard to USSR action in view of the U.S.-China reconciliation, Volkov sees two possibilities. First Russia could wage a preventative war against China to keep her weak. Such a war would prevent the possibility of an International Communist Party that would likely not involve other nations. Another choice would be Russia moves to Washington to offer the U.S. a joint arms limitation agreement. Such an agreement would save both nations valuable funds. This second possibility however, would cost the USSR its states in Eastern Europe.

Volkov indicated that a new leadership is rising in Russia; a generation; an attitude free of Communist ambition and more concerned with Russian national interests.

Mass. State Lottery Passes

The Massachusetts State Senate yesterday overrode the veto of Governor Francis Sargent and passed a bill providing for a Massachusetts lottery. Leading the way for passage of the bill was Senate president Kevin Harrington (D-Salem).

It is expected that it will be sometime next year before the lottery goes into effect. The system will be patterned after the one now in operation in New Jersey, which raises approximately $3.3 million a month.

The bill gives control over the lottery to the office of the state treasurer, a position now held by Robert R. Grau, who is also chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

The bill was 26-13, which was exactly the 2/3 majority needed to override the veto.

With the veto at 26-13, the deciding vote was left up to Sen. James Burke (D-Brockton), who up until last week had threatened to vote against the measure. It had been rumored that Burke had been offered a job here at Bridgewater if he voted to uphold the veto, however, both Burke and Gov. Sargent denied this was true.

The COMMENT

September 31, 1971

in the Spring of last year, an active recruitment strategy was established to bring to the University of South Carolina the new students who would be needed to support the academic programs of the faculty involved in the program. This program was designed in order to attract new students from many different sources, and to create an atmosphere of excitement and enthusiasm among the current students at the University. The program was successful in its goals, and has resulted in the enrollment of many new students who have contributed to the growth and development of the University.

The following are some of the activities that were part of the recruitment program:

1. A series of open house events were scheduled at the University, allowing potential students to visit the campus and meet with faculty and staff.

2. A variety of promotional materials were created and distributed to high schools, colleges, and universities across the country.

3. A number of on-campus recruitment events were scheduled, including information sessions and orientation programs for potential students.

4. Financial aid information sessions were held to explain the available scholarships and grants.

5. A number of outreach activities were conducted, including visits to local high schools and community colleges.

The results of the recruitment program were impressive, with the University seeing a significant increase in the number of new students enrolled. The program was well received by the students, and the University was able to attract a diverse range of new students.

In conclusion, the recruitment program was a success, and the University was able to achieve its goals. The program provided an excellent opportunity for the University to attract new students, and to create a vibrant and exciting academic environment.

President Rondileau announced that the appointment of Mr. Paul Spring and Summer of 1970 by the administration was a part of the college's efforts to actively recruit disadvantaged students from other colleges and universities. The administration also planned to conduct seminars and workshops to improve educational and vocational opportunities for students from all ethnic groups.

Many of the Black upperclassmen were active in the college's student government, and the administration had appointed them to key positions. The college had also retained the services of special students who had graduated in the class of '71 to help in the recruitment of Black Students. The administration was also working with the Roxbury, Mass., area to establish a community college in the area.

The administration was concerned with the financial difficulties faced by the disadvantaged students. The administration was working with the financial aid officer to provide scholarships and other forms of financial assistance to the students. The administration had also arranged for a seminar on financial planning for disadvantaged students.

The administration was also working with the state, and the state government had provided financial assistance to the college to assist the students. The administration was also working with the local banks to provide loans to the students. The administration was also working with the local businesses to provide jobs to the students.

The administration was also working with the African Studies program to provide educational and vocational opportunities for students from all ethnic groups. The administration was also working with the local community colleges to provide educational and vocational opportunities for students from all ethnic groups.

The Cultural Center offers a coordinated program of multimedia materials for the study of Afro-American history, culture, politics, sociology, education, biographies, literature, and two African languages, and Black Power. The core of the program is "Black History," a sound and filmstrip course, which covers the history of black people and their language in Africa and the United States. African culture and history courses will be offered, a black writers course, and black history.

As Director of the Cultural Center, I feel that the activities of the Center will be beneficial to the College Community. This is a chance to bridge the gap between black and white. The Center will make an attempt to go through the proper channels and we have suffered many difficult and absurd changes because of this red tape.

But if we act like niggers-the way some people expect us to act; if we obtain rifles and machine guns and take over the library, like they did at Cornell, we would get everything we want and more. We won't do that. We will follow proper channels and try to bring about changes in the College.

The idea is to get together as we, blacks and whites, can communicate. You don't know what we're all about. You don't understand that we need and demand a valid education. "All men are created equal," a man without a culture is like a tree without roots. Our history has been kept from us. Most black people don't know what it is to have an understanding of black culture. This is what the Cultural Center is for.

We've prayed, we've marched. We want to talk. We want to talk to people about our culture and our problems. If we can learn about each other we won't have to pray anymore, or sing anymore. We can sit down and talk. We won't have to use that gun. This is the lull before the sunlight or the storm.

There has been no response to the Cultural Center; only a few people have come and only a few have offered help. This disgusted me. There is as much apathy among blacks as among whites.

The Cultural Center is open to the entire College Community.
The COMMENT September 30, 1971

The Cultural Center offers a coordinated program of educational and cultural events. The focus is on African-American history, culture, art, religion, cooking, and literature. The Center aims to provide a platform for the exploration of African culture and history.

The director believes that the educational system hasn't contributed to the educational atmosphere. However, people accept us as human beings who are black not in spite of the fact that we are black.

The Afro-American Cultural Center is a segment of the Afro-American Society. However, the Center is not a voice for the Society nor is the Society a voice for the Center. There is a shortage of space and funds, so although the Center will not charge admission, donations are welcomed. Not only monetary donations but donations of materials and ideas also.

SCHEDULE:
- The center will be open everyday in October 8-5.
- The self-taught language program will offer meetings with Edet Ituen for Effic and Michael Osae Okyir for Akan.
- Virginia Watson will give a lecture and slide demonstration October 6 in the Dem. room about her trip to Africa.
- Dick Gregory is planned for a lecture in November.
- Movies: every Tuesday in October
  - 'Black Roots' - Black culture in America
  - 'Lost, Stolen or Strangled' - Bill Cosby narrates a tour of Black History
  - 'Stagole' - A conversation with Bobby Seale, chairman of the Black Panther Party about poetry, music, family, and humanity.
  - 'Tribute to Malcolm X'
  - 'Pan-African Culture Film'
  - 'Hidden History'
  - 'The father of our beloved country, George Washington, sent a black slave to Barbados to be exchanged for a hogshead of molasses and a case of rum in 1776.
  - Washington wrote to Captain John Thompson from Mt. Vernon, July 2, 1776: 'Sir: With this letter comes a Negro (Tom) which I beg the favor of you to sell in any of the islands you may go to for whatever he will fetch and bring me in return for him.'
  - Beethoven, one of the world's greatest musicians, was without a doubt a dark mulatto. He was called 'The Black Spaniard.' His teacher, Joseph Haydn was a black.
  - On November 15, 218 B.C., Hannibal, a black African marched through territory in Spain and France, and performed the astounding feat of crossing the Alps. With 26,000 of his original force of 82,000 men remaining, he defeated Rome, the mightiest military power of that age.
  - A considerable proportion of Thomas Jefferson's slaves were his own children. He bequeathed freedom to five of his children and the Assembly passed a law allowing them to remain in the state.

At the end of the Civil War, every Black slave was to obtain forty acres of land and one mule to do with what he wished. This did not come about.

Dr. King's words are perhaps the most significant: 'It's a sin to be born black in America.'

Dr. King's words are perhaps the most significant: 'It's a sin to be born black in America.'
What's the attitude today?

Many People today will never know that Booker T. Washington was one of the most influential leaders of his day. He was a skilled orator with a great ability to inspire his audience. His message was focused on the importance of self-improvement, hard work, and cooperation. He believed that the key to success was education, and he worked tirelessly to promote the idea of black education. Despite the fact that he faced many obstacles, including opposition from some white leaders, he never gave up on his mission.

Washington was born in 1856 on a plantation in Virginia. He was the son of a slave and a white woman, and his mother was a slave who was sold to different owners throughout his childhood. As a result, he was often moved from one place to another, which made it difficult for him to establish a sense of stability.

Despite these challenges, Washington went on to become a successful educator and worked hard to improve the educational opportunities available to African Americans. He founded the Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, which became a center for education and research.

Washington's approach was different from that of other leaders of his time. He believed in a pragmatic approach to education, emphasizing practical skills and the importance of hard work. He was also a strong advocate for interracial cooperation, believing that working together was the key to success.

Today, Washington's legacy lives on through the work of organizations like the Tuskegee Institute and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). His message of unity and cooperation continues to be relevant, and his work has inspired countless others to work towards a better future for all.

The COMMENT September 30, 1971
What's the attitude today?

Many people believe they have never heard of the term "total control of the production" as to why minority people are in the filmmaking industry. But it's a reality. The majority of the population is not aware of the struggles and challenges faced by minority filmmakers in the industry. The term "total control" refers to the ability of filmmakers to have complete creative control over their projects, from script to screen, without interference from other parties. This is a significant issue because it affects the representation of diverse voices in the industry and the stories that are told.

Gordon Parks, a renowned filmmaker, produced the movie " SMPH" in collaboration with the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. The movie was directed by Laury Tichy and featured Estelle Evans and Dana Elcar. It was a TOUR DE FORCE in ghastliness, showcasing the life of children in Technicolor and Panavision film. The movie was a tlmelmess, featuring stars such as Kyle Johnson and Alex Clarke, and their performances were praised for their depth and authenticity.

The basketball season is almost here and the same buzz that it brought to last season is now returning. The Boston Celtics are the same team that everyone is talking about and they will be going for another championship. The team has been practicing hard and looking forward to the upcoming season. The Boston Celtics are expected to be one of the top teams in the league and are predicted to have a successful season.

Injury Jinx Hits Bears

Bridgewater - The injury jinx has hit the Bears yet again. Last year was a disaster for the team, and this year did not start any better. The team has been struggling to find success and has had to deal with injuries to key players. However, the team is determined to overcome the obstacles and play their best. The team has been working hard on their skills and is looking to have a much better season this year.

Pats Get Garden

The Patriots yesterday acquired safety Mike Gardiner to add some stability to the defensive backfield. With Gardiner, the team now has a solid depth chart in place, which will help them in their upcoming games. Gardiner is a strong safety who has played for several years in the NFL, and he will bring a lot of experience to the team. The Patriots are looking to have a strong season this year.
