Table of Contents, Vol. 31, No. 2, December 2012
Bridgewater Review

2 Editor’s Notebook
Andrew C. Holman

4 Imagining what Eve would have said after Cain’s murder of Abel: rhetorical practice and Biblical interpretation in an early Byzantine homily
Kevin Kalish

8 Why Snails? How Gastropods Improve Our Understanding of Ecological Disturbance
Christopher Bloch

SPECIAL SECTION
Democracy, Islam and Development in the Arab World

14 Introduction
Shaheen Mozaffar

16 How and Why do Dictatorships Survive? Lessons for the Middle East
Erica Frantz

19 Why Some Muslim Countries Are Democracies and Some Are Not
Shaheen Mozaffar

22 Will the Arab Spring Succeed in Bringing Bread, Freedom, and Dignity?
Sandra Popiden

25 Social Media and Political Changes in Al-Alam Al-Arabi
Jabbar Al-Obaidi

29 Parsing the Mind with Homer
Jonathan B. Holmes

32 An Interview with University Archivist Orson Kingsley
Ellen Scheible

35 Remembering Charlie Angell
Ann Brunjes, Mike Kryzanek, Bill Levin and Jean Stonehouse

39 Review Essay: Foodwinked
Arthur Lizie

On the Cover: January 25, 2011 marks the start of mass pro-democracy rallies in Cairo’s Tahrir Square calling for the end of Egyptian president Hosni Mubarak’s oppressive regime.