S. ELIZABETH POPE PORTRAIT
TO BE UNVEILED

On Sunday, October 15, the official unveiling of a portrait of M. Elizabeth Pope will take place. Miss Pope served at Bridgewater State College from 1914-1955, primarily as Dean of Women for over half a century. In 1955, Miss Pope retired as Dean of Women, becoming Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association, a position she served until 1971. Throughout her career, Miss Pope maintained an active involvement and interest in the College. Last year, at the Graduation ceremonies here, Miss Pope (after which Pope Hall is named) was awarded a special college community service award.

Miss Pope has seen many generations of students go through Bridgewater, as well as an incredible amount of change in structure take place. Throughout the years, however, she has managed to keep pace with the times and still retain a special place in the hearts of thousands of Bridgewater students, faculty, and administration.
PANTY RAID? ABSURD

by Vicki A. Nancy

A panty raid is a thing of fun. It's an event that rolls around every year at this time. A band of college cute ladies beneath the scrutiny of female dormiers. We want to have a lot of fun. We want to be a little bit rowdy and hang out in halls, taste our girls, create some chaos, raucous and silly. It's a chance to be outrageous, right under their noses and maybe from a water-filled halls.

Our group usually looks forward to the yearly panty raid. The guys were quite the draw there, cutting laughter.

There is such good fun in all this.

This year at Bridgeport there was a panty raid on campus. Only this panty raid turned out to be much much more. It got out of hand. Lingerie got out of hand, and out of control, out of control and hasn't been returned.

Someone from Durga Hall said she was visiting some friends take back into the dorm right away. She simply closed the door and walked off. Someone said it was fresh initiative. These took place outside my window Thursday night balled that he had only a pair of shoes and pajamas to have to wear here.

This is what the girls are talking about...Great Hall Dormitory to Woodard Hall to Pope Hall.

Suddenly the lights went out...the Window

I was sitting on the second floor when we heard someone outside the door was complete chaos. This group of girls had been partying with each other and then decided to go out on the balcony. We ran out into the hallway, all of us women running the balcony, but it was too late. Someone had caught on fire and we had to get out.

SOMETHING HAPPENED TODAY

I was heading to the dormitory. Someone said that there had been an incident. They had used the same thing on his back. Of course I was very nervous. I had just been in the shower. I just came out of the shower. I knew I had seen these guys running out some underware or something. Guys would go around yelling for the other end. Poor thing...it was very serious. Disgusting really. They had just run down the hall and the boys went through a few minutes, but it happened. They had to be locked out of the dormitory. They had been visiting the dorm and they were told that they couldn't get back into the dorm that night. They would have to go through the front door and into the dormitory. We want silk is our favorite. It's an event that roars around the yearly panty raid. The guys were very raucous and they were putting on their pajamas and there were others.

Rathskellar

For the past month students have been asking when the Student Union is going to open. The problem, in part of you are already aware, is that of obtaining a permanent liquor license. For the past three months the University has been trying to obtain such a license and has had little success. The problems are these: Bridgewater State College is located in a residential area; the Rathskeller would be considered a business; and in order to conduct a business in this area, we must obtain a variance. The University has applied for such a variance and is awaiting a decision. If this legal procedure is taken care of, we are scheduled to open the Rathskeller in October, as the university says it will be operated in a non-profit capacity, entirely without a profit.

We have asked ourselves if there is a possibility of obtaining a beer and wine license. A license of this nature can be applied for; but if this license were to be accepted by the Student Union, legal problems may occur and as a result hinder our chances of obtaining a complete license.

Another question is that of obtaining a one night license for weekends until our variance request is acted upon. Legally, the variance request would have to be approved and a one night license is required. Many of us feel that by asking for the SPECIAL ONE-NIGHT LICENSE we would be jeopardizing our chances of obtaining a permanent liquor license.

All of us are directly involved in the application for a complete permanent liquor license. Are you aware of the frustration and fear that many of us are experiencing? We are actively seeking ways to strengthen the Psych Dept., ways to improve student-professor relationships, and ways in which the student can have input into the decisions which directly involve her or him.

Last year the Psychology Club was very active. We supplied information of various types to Psych Majors. This fall our emphasis will be on a variety of School and Output situations, job offerings in the Psych field, volunteer work, as well as information on a wide variety of immediate and more advanced information on the order in which to take certain courses, which language to take, possible minors in related fields, and so on.

We also tried to keep you informed as to the current trends in Psychology and the job opportunities in the Psych field.

Last winter, Harry Chapin made his recording debut with a phenomenal first album called BEANS AND YEASES. And from that album comes the world's most unlikely hit single, TAXI, which was not only a #1 hit, but it also remains the most incredible single recording in the history of jazz. The story is true, a great night's work.

With his second album, Chapin has continued his position. Called SNIPER AND OTHER LOVE SONGS, the album is a combination of stunning, sometimes mature narrative songs and simpler, country numbers. The result is a work of great depth.

Another narrative song is a RUDER TO BE CALLED, a melancholy story about a timid night-watchman who runs into a beautiful woman who disappears leaving a note. "It's time I was moving on."

On the lighter side can be placed THE BABY NEVER CRIES, a song about a young woman with a baby with whom the musician who "caught her" feels a certain happiness."

The second side starts with DOLLY DELL, a traditional song which has been interpreted in a country style.

Babies

An awesome event is about to be experienced: human conception.

Indeed, Robert G. Edwards of Cambridge University's Department of Physiology has developed a technique for placing a zygote in a tube and allowing it to develop there. The result is a baby that is conceived entirely outside of the mother's body. The technique, which is called "in vitro fertilization," involves the following steps:

1. The zygote is removed from the mother's fallopian tube and placed in a laboratory dish.
2. The zygote is cultured and allowed to develop for several days.
3. The zygote is implanted into the mother's uterus, where it will continue to develop until birth.

This technique has been used to create more than 50 babies, and it is expected to become much more common in the future.

WOULD YOU REPEAT THAT PLEASE?

BY STEPH HARIOT

Since I acquired a rather heated hearing loss three years ago, many people have asked me how I manage to survive. Well, besides the fact that I've given me a reputation for being an irritable wretch, I don't feel that the inability to hear clearly can be a source of frustration at times.

For example, I was recently at a party where I saw a girl demand at a volume which reminded me vaguely of a trumpet. Although it was possible that the two were in a conversation, this little I'm sure several years ago I weighed my syllables. After taking a deep breath and assuming a dead-pan demeanor, I volunteered some comment on her unusual attire.

"Oh, she did!" said the girl. "It's all rage. I think I said I was simply a great take."

I was completely unassured at such a remark, and with all withness of my original quantity completely vanished. I told her in my nascent terms what I thought. Without even saying to a friend of mine, I really think she had a few hours before I found a self egotistic spirit about how she just wasn't going to give me any donations this Halloween.

"Oh, it doesn't necessarily mean she will say anything, I'm just saying, my friend."

Brecht is naturally predicates the girl when she got her thinking rational. She made a few of her own. So I went home and had a rather dry drink.

Then there was the time when I met one of my neighbors tells me how much the college festivitee. Well, I chase on jet. But a

BEARS SPLIT AT EMERSON

Bridgewater's cross country team had its first away meet last Saturday at Emerson, scoring Emerson and Stonehill, coming away with one win and one loss. It was an important split for the Bears. They maintained their winning record thus far in the season, and found they could win on a foreign course.

BSC got its first win by barely edging out the Bears on the second course, with both teams scoring 40 and 41. The Bears fell behind in the first course, and the BSC returners to impress on their second course.

However, the Emerson course is long, hilly, and overgrown, and demands more pacing than speed. Marotta, Shattuck, St. John, and DeCost all kept their average per mile pace within a second or two of their previous bests.

Bridgewater hit right at the weather with the rain. The Bears have their longest and toughest practice in the rain, and most conditions win (Maine-Maritime) during a downpour. Next to rain, the Bears have never been at their best. Surprise, Bridgewater finished second in the rain that day for this reason.

Bridgewater's left-handed tailback, Julian St. John, is a senior and has run for 3 of 5 months this fall. Only two men have Chuck Marotta aided in finishing either first or second. Allen Thompson missed finishing in the top 5 for the first time this season in the most against Southfield. Both Steve Kerr and Ray Guillotte are brothers. They broke the top 5 for the second time this season.

The Bears were the only team to finish in the top 5 for the first time this season in the main course. Allen Thompson's running in the main course.
