NBC's Sander Vanocouer
next to Lecture
in the Student Union

The Student Union Lecture Committee will present Sander Vanocouer, a veteran broadcast journalist, in a mid-week appearance at the University Student Union which is scheduled for Monday, November 15. Vanocouer has been a member of NBC's４:30 news organization since early this year and has worked in positions in London, London, and New York. He has been a correspondent for NBC News in London, New York, and Washington, D.C., and has served as the staff of the Washington Post.

In his capacity as a journalist, Vanocouer has written about the state of the student press and the university, as well as the university's recent experience in dealing with student publications. The university president has been embroiled in a phase-out plan, and recent experience in dealing with student publications has been discussed.

The best way for a student news organization to survive, Vanocouer believes, is to establish a legal status separate from the university, thus ensuring financial independence and freedom from administrative censorship. The legal status of student publications, Vanocouer argues, is analogous to the status of other organizations on campus, such as the alumni association and the student government. The decision of many state-college administrators to impose financial restrictions on student publications is based on a misunderstanding of the legal status of student publications.

Vanocouer has written extensively about the legal status of student publications. His recent article, "New Proposal Raises Questions" published in the New York Times, discusses the recent decision of the Florida State University to grant student newspapers the status of independent organizations. Vanocouer argues that the decision is a landmark case and that such a status is necessary for the survival of student publications.

In conclusion, Vanocouer states that the legal status of student publications is essential for their survival and their ability to report the news freely and objectively. The university should grant student newspapers the status of independent organizations to ensure their survival and freedom from administrative censorship.
On your stereo, do cymbals still sound like cymbals?

Just bring in your amplifier, preamp, or receiver—regardless of age, make, or where you bought it. The Music or Audio Arts Program will find out for you.

And it won’t cost you a cent!

First, the expert program director will본 the stereo section of your receiver or $76 worth of precision sound equipment, “Do I know?” If you’re getting all the sound performance you paid for.

Then, the results will be plotted on a graph you can keep. You’ll also get an introduction to the exciting new field of professional sound analysis.

Your crosses-country record, if it’s only because I’m out of them.

The COMMENT

Harper Film’s hasn’t carned the Warrens for a film. I’m sure the picture would go down as one of the most fantastic and, perhaps, of the century.

Black Magic is very popular, in its many areas. But in New England, there is even a registered religion in America known to most as The Church of Satan. Most good fortune carries the name of the Church of Satan, allegedly the Church’s founder, Anton LaVey, had a plan that the Warrens could do so well to stay on.” I wonder if the seminary that the Warrens allegedly have, really are at LaVey, or von, as some sort of actor portraying the Leader. This surely is a very common amongst a thriving search which matters to me the most. It would be so difficult for any student to read this book first before taking the proposed S.G.A. Constitution. What is the recognition they get; but if you can walk that distance let my people know that.

I believe that a person who says, “I read something,” is far better than someone who says, “I read something.”

Anybody can do something for his or her class without really caring.

I think it is about time that someone represents the class instead of being the claim.

WHAT IS A PRESIDENT?

I do not believe that a President should be someone who works for the class, not against it. A President should be in one way who says “I read something.”

The football team deserves all the recognition they get; but if they think it’s rough to be a football player at B.S.C., stop and think of the average football team.

OBJECTIVISM
THE PHILOSOPHY OF AYN RAND
by David H. Coxin

The Objectivist concept of independence and individual freedom is the core of the philosophy of Ayn Rand. Rand's philosophy, known as Objectivism, is a form of individualism that emphasizes the importance of personal autonomy and the pursuit of one's own self-interest. The Objectivist movement, founded by Rand, aims to promote a value system that values individual liberty, rational self-interest, and the pursuit of one's own happiness. The philosophy is characterized by its strong emphasis on the importance of individual rights and the rejection of collectivism. Rand's works, including "The Fountainhead" and "Atlas Shrugged," are central texts of the Objectivist movement and have had a significant impact on contemporary thought and culture. The Objectivist approach to ethics is based on the idea that moral duties are derived from one's own self-interest and the pursuit of one's own happiness. The philosophy has been influential in a variety of fields, including economics, politics, and philosophy. However, it has also been a subject of controversy and criticism, and its impact on society and culture remains a topic of debate. The philosophy of Ayn Rand continues to be studied and debated by scholars and intellectuals alike, and its influence can still be seen in contemporary political and cultural discourse.

Bears Overwhelmed at Worcester

Bridgewater State College dropped its final cross country meet this fall for the HHC season to Worcester State by a score of 25-60. The combined time of the top Bear and the second Bear was shorter than the top Worcester State runner's time by just two seconds.

The meet, which saw Bridgewater's record fall against 5 teams, comprised a record of 20:41. Coach Stan baño was impressed by the top Bear, additional talent lacking last year's event, and a hometown crowd setting the volume of boisterous cheers from the runners. The Worcester course is tough.

The one-mile hill in the course begins just short of the mile mark and continues for nearly 2 miles, providing opposite the Worcester Bear's opening, however, it wasn't enough to win the event. The longest the Worcester State runners fell in the afternoon, the nearest runner fell in the afternoon, the nearest runner fell in the afternoon, the nearest runner fell in the afternoon.

The Bears were simply "panting out" at the prospect of having to make such long strides. The Bears were simply "panting out" at the prospect of having to make such long strides.
