Proposed Student Court System

by: Yvonne Prevost

On Tuesday evening, March 6, SGA held a hearing called to either clear or disqualify a number of people from the Student Court system. Arguments were made for and against the qualifications of students for the court, and a number of new members were added. Among those proposed for membership as judges were virtually all members of the student government, and many of the members of the House of Representatives. The majority of the judges present were students, and many of them were elected by the student body.

The main purpose for this meeting was to determine how many of the students in general feel about changes in the Student Court system. As it stands, the current system has been criticized for its lack of representation and for the way in which judges are selected. Many students feel that the system needs to be reformed, and that changes should be made to make it more inclusive and fair.

Graduated Payments

Barred By U.S. For Student Loans

By Robert L. Jacobson

WASHINGTON

Federal education officials have rejected a proposal to change the student loan program, which would have increased the number of high school graduates who could be expected to pay back their loans before the age of 25.

The proposal, introduced by Edward H. Keown, a member of the House of Representatives, was based on the idea that students should be expected to pay back their loans in a more timely manner. The proposal would have required students to make payments on their loans for at least three years after graduation, and would have given students who make payments on their loans early in their careers the chance to reduce the amount they would have to pay back. The proposal was seen as an important way to reduce the burden of student debt on the economy.

Government Funded Ad

In recent weeks, there has been a lot of talk about the government's plans to provide more financial aid to students. However, the government has also been discussing the possibility of cutting back on student loan programs.

A new report released by the Department of Education has suggested that the government could save money by reducing the amount of money it spends on student loans. The report states that the government currently spends about $100 billion a year on student loans, and that this amount could be reduced by $25 billion a year if the government were to cut back on its current student loan programs.

The report also suggests that the government could save money by changing the way in which student loans are structured. For example, the report suggests that the government could lengthen the repayment period for student loans, or it could increase the interest rate that borrowers must pay.

The report has not been well received by many students, who argue that the government's proposals are not fair or reasonable. Many students believe that the government should be doing more to help students pay for college, and that the proposals outlined in the report are not an appropriate way to achieve this goal.

Another problem that could be eliminated in the near future is that of “showing” how to do something. This problem has been pointed out to me by many of my colleagues, and it seems to be a common problem in many areas of our society.

The problem arises because people often feel pressure to prove that they can do something without actually doing it. This can be a problem in many areas, such as mathematics, where students are often asked to show that they can do something without actually doing it. It is important to remember that people need to be able to show that they can do something before they can be considered capable of doing it.

Choral Plans

Philly Tour

The Choral Society, with Clifford Chadwick, Miss Jane Morgan, and Mr. William J. Scofield, will be visiting Philadelphia on February 15, 16 and 17. The concert will be held at Philadelphia High School for Girls. The first concert will be held at 8:00 p.m., and the second at 8:00 p.m. on the 16th. The final concert will be held at 3:00 p.m., on the 17th. The concerts will be held in the school's theater and will feature the Choral Society and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

Situation:

There is a need to coordinate the scheduling of the concerts with the school district and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. The dates and times of the concerts may need to be adjusted to ensure that the school and the orchestra are available. The concerts will be held in the school's theater, which has a seating capacity of 1,000. The concerts will be open to the public and will be free of charge. The concerts will be broadcast live on local radio stations.

Support:

The concerts will be supported by the school district, the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, and the local community. The concerts will feature the Choral Society and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, and will be led by the school's choral director. The concerts will be broadcast live on local radio stations.

Conclusion:

The concerts will be a great opportunity for the school and the community to come together and enjoy a high-quality musical performance. The concerts will be held in the school's theater, which has a seating capacity of 1,000. The concerts will be open to the public and will be free of charge. The concerts will be broadcast live on local radio stations.

Volunteers Needed for Halfway House

ThePhoenix Center at 666 North State, Brockton, is a halfway house for drug rehabilitation. There is need for state and female volunteers. The volunteers are to act as counselors and will reside at the center for five days and nights each week. That is, the center will be their residence while the volunteers conduct their normal activities (e.g., go to school, work, etc.).

This arrangement is to continue through June 30 (and perhaps during the summer as well, if additional funding comes through). The volunteers will receive excellent counseling, will handle no narcotics, and will engage in various activities. Notices and duties for those with previous counseling experience are preferred.

If you are interested, call 338-2606. (You are free to mention Dr. Greenwald's name, if you desire.)

HELP WANTED:

Youth

Offender Survey

A need assessment will shortly be conducted whose purpose will be to aid the treatment of youth offenders in the Brockton area. The project is being conducted on behalf of the Youthful Offender Project and Brockton Community Agencies.

Volunteers are needed to develop and administer a survey. This survey offers an opportunity to work with socialization, psychosocial, and social workers on the problem. If you are interested, please write Mr. Henry Weisberg at 338-6232, ext. Shadrack M. Walker. Not be there, your address and phone number will be exchanged.

You are free to mention Dr. Greenwald's name, if you desire.

The Catholic Center Daily Liturgy During Lent at 7:30 a.m.

Lent is a time of penance for all Christians. The purpose behind it is to make us more aware of our relationship with God. We are preparing to celebrate the greatest event in Christian History: The Resurrection.

Prayer concerns us as individuals and as members of a community. In reaching out to others during this time, we learn about each other and can find God.

Edet Etieh is from Uyo, Nigeria, South Eastern State of Nigeria, West Africa. He is also a student at Bridgewater State College. Edet has a happy circle and a very friendly personality. Before coming to America, Edet lived with his mother and two brothers and sister.

Education in Nigeria

The quality of Nigeria was British English from 1890 to 1960. When the school system was set up, it was just like the school system in England. There are six years of elementary school, and four years of high school. As a student, Edet says that he is always in the process of studying for his final high school exam. He has a good grade in English in his entire high school career except for one year where the student received credits after the final exam at the end of his grade 11. He says that the subject was English. Edet studies for his education entirely. In order to attend the university, a student must go to a technical school - which is a three-year entry into the university. The university is attended for three years. If a student decides to skip high school, he may take an entrance exam and go for an interview. He gets in by attending the university for four years.

Edet's Life

Edet and his family lived in the capital city of Nigeria. Edet was often on high school - when Nigeria gained its independence from Britain through a civil war. During the civil war, everybody was drastically affected. Edet said that people may think that what he went through was terrible, but he believes that he has lived through a terrible experience. He never really understood the seriousness of war.

The lessons which Edet gained at last length with Edet. He likes his attitude. He is a gregarious and smart student, and he has a healthy appetite for life. Maybe that is why he has such a nice, genuine smile.

Edet likes to live in the dark because he says that it allows a person to be a man or wear the glasses in college. It lets him be a bit of a rebel in life. When going from high school to the community - where you are just under the protection of the administration and then out into the world - to be fully independent.

What about the changing of American Society?

It seems that we have drug problems, people from all walks of life are dissatisfied with "something", and a rich society is getting more materialistic than ever.

Edet says that "people have definite problems - they are so enveloped in their own problems that they don't see the whole picture. It allows a person to be really a man or woman in college. It lets him be a bit of a rebel in life when going from high school to the community - where you are just under the protection of the administration and then out into the world - to be fully independent.

and off-campus life!

This semester I am living about two streets away from the main campus at the home of an elderly lady who kindly rents her rooms to any interested Ike-wale girls. The reasons why I chose to live there instead of an on-campus residence are many.
First, and most important, it is less expensive, that is a justifiable enough reason for any prepa-rents. Besides, cooking much less that dorms, I can cook my own meals instead of having to engage in eating those starry starched foods or starving until, at last, the dorm, you stuff yourself full of other caloric goodies.
Every Saturday I purchase a variety of libations, in the same time learning the valuable lesson of budgeting (Believe me,
I’m learning the hard way).
Sometimes I do make culinary mistakes. "McCabe & Mrs. Miller" proves again that Robert Altman is a filmmaker of extraordinary talents.

REAL TEXT:

Happiness and Misery

by F. Botta

You have all seen the cartoons in the GLOBE that start off "Lov..." Well we figured that some of our readers do not know what true "Happiness" and "Misery" are. Here then are our definitions of happiness and misery:

Happiness

...is finding a parking space in the Sr. Parking lot.
...is finding a worthwhile article in the college newspapers.
...is a happy fellow hamburger from the Club.

Misery

...is a legal at 11 a.m.
...is finding Eskil, your Presidn- Hambly's ca.

...writing Donn Depp look for a parking space.
...moving a recent of the S.G.A. election at last year.
...rap up coffee after a night a Ralph's
...in a teaching job comes September.
...is being departed from Ill. Row.
...is finding a course offered that you actually want.
...is a good wear.
...is an effort snail in the her's college in the Cab Misery.
...is finding that the school you suppose to touch at near clean is lack poor and sadness at same time.
...is finding out that the cute girl's name is Ti.
...a season pass the SGA meetings.
...my class schedule.
...trying on your wet suit and having the rain go to work.
...is a bike to Paradise Hambly's graduating class.
...is getting accepted to Great school at RBC.
...is not having a dive for the pay talk.
...is getting free tickets.
...is happening in 1100 of our you final after all night keep your you date and fallling all be into a pool.
...is finding out there was a word of how on your seat after class.

From the mists of time, the memories of our youth:

Happiness

...is finding a parking space in the Sr. Parking lot.
...is finding a worthwhile article in the college newspapers.

Misery

...is a legal at 11 a.m.
...is finding Eskil, your President Hambly's ca.

Response -----

Round 2

by Mike Viara

Dear Ms. Bennett, Dylan, Keghan, Kerby Wylie,

First of all let me thank you for your letter in the third edition of the GLOBE. I found it quite flattering. It isn't everyday I receive mail from women at sex. You see I can only candidly write about you because by the way, whoever derogatory or not, as home. The reason is that I have found they feel no strongly about me I do when they agree with you or not.

In response to your response I must first clarify a few things. I consider doing a written response in which a group of students attack a "Professor" is a bluffed evaluation "The Bitch". But I figured you wouldn't have gotten my response unless it was spelled out. Let me first say that my article and that of Erika's contain the same title. There is no joy in being said. The King has just stuck out. was a minute and most of the College Community took it as a "feminist-revolution" reaction to an event on campus, not an attack. I have nothing against your group. I think it is necessary at the Newman Club, for example. Such discriminate, derogatory groups which provide a necessary function for its members.

The reason is that I have found they feel no strongly about me I do when they agree with you or not.

In response to your response I must first clarify a few things. I consider doing a written response in which a group of students attack a "Professor" is a bluffed evaluation "The Bitch". But I figured you wouldn't have gotten my response unless it was spelled out. Let me first say that my article and that of Erika's contain the same title. There is no joy in being said. The King has just stuck out. was a minute and most of the College Community took it as a "feminist-revolution" reaction to an event on campus, not an attack. I have nothing against your group. I think it is necessary at the Newman Club, for example. Such discriminate, derogatory groups which provide a necessary function for its members.

To University sen.

I read your reply to my Bitch and agree that it should be longer than one-right. How about a worked with at the Shifty Bent. Signature: Harney, again.

Why do my English Prof. continue to correct my grammar spelling and punctuation. They let you guys miss spell all the time.

The Tamarack Project

The Tamarack project was held in early June, you've always been in the good for you.

With Tamarack tampers: you're not condemned by plane and post, not held back by fear of "something" showing.

And they go to a more accessibility sens.-Regular, Super and regular -on you can be the one that best for you. We you Tamarack tampers to early end, you're always heading in the good for you.

I am a member of the class of 77 and I am having a problem preparing for our 77 reunion. In Frank Botta's article "Science III" you stated that in your bast form we would need a "little clock, a college LLD, a recent picture, a birth certificate, a photostatic copy of our diploma and a recent set of fingerprints, for it's necessary for this article, I am having difficulty finding a "recent set of fingerprints" and would be willing to do it if I can. I am finding out that there are a large number of men on campus unaware of the availability of free Prelglogia. But we don't have a "bitch". Why? Perhaps, if we are inter-

I don't believe it. How can a group of supposedly intelligent females not got past it? Yr. favor for a recent of two works ago. Don't they have any sense of humor at all? Or are they too lazy to read dirty old men call them sex objects. They are not upset. Not that they are, but I heard someone call to them the other day "How was your date?". Signed: Yr.

If my English Prof. brain was a building that would have a sign on his "condemned". It was a vehicle for the women's group is being brought to the police? Your "written". Great! But you think that you what you printed was your sex, you're only kidding yourselves. Every other "relevant" Newspaper, Magazine and T.V. Program has experienced the same idea and problems as did your publication and has done it a long time before you did. In other words, with the campaign of the health service listings, (Which could have been distributed on an mimeographed sheet) the entire paper could have been eliminated because the "crime" mentioned are either already known or in information easily gained if desired.

I think that "the world of this college are wrong". I have been "relevant". Bitch, F. Botta, as "women", what about the one third males who had (Yes, some women are still living in) of the building it would have a sign on his "condemned"

I would like to thank you for your letter in the March first edition of the GLOBE. I found it quite flattering. It isn't everyday I receive mail from women at sex. As I was casually strolling down the street, I felt drawn to the duty of righting a wrong. Upon closer examination, I realized that the duty was to replace the unkindness I had witnessed. Without hesitation, I approached the individual, and through a combination of empathy and logic, I was able to change their perspective. The individual thanked me for my intervention, and we shared a warm embrace. This experience has taught me the power of kindness and the importance of standing up for what is right.

Bits of Wit

On Wednesday April 3, the Verdi Choir of Bridgewater State College will present a spring program, entitled "Rites of Wit." The Verdi Choir which is sponsored by the Department of Speech and Theatre, will present its program at 8 o'clock in the morning, the regular assembly hour, in the Lecture Hall of the New Library. It will be directed by Dr. Karin V.L. Dublin, Professor of Speech and Theatre. Associate Professor, Vincent Gannone, of the Music Department, will train several of his students to perceive some of the chores which this nutty mixture of instrumental music created by their director.

The program will comprise all sorts of wit and humor and silly, there will be poems and songs and stories. Perhaps, if you want to be "in the know" number that the Verdi Choir presents can be classified as "wit," but one thing is certain: it will be humorous. James Thayer will be there, and Mark Twain, with one of his inimitable journeys into the world of the orderly and happier "absurd"; and Annette Storer, with his "fantastic" fables and his all-too-true definition from THE DESK DICTIONARY: and any number of unknown but important people who wrote a delightful piece called "gold is in the air" -- a selection that was published in the CAMPUS COMMENTARY, will be there, too. A. A. Milne will be there with a collection from WINNIE THE POOH, and who knows who else will be there? It is known that the audience will enjoy material such as Dorothy Parker and Ogden Nash. Right! We must not forget humorists of this quality! Dean: Good, Good, I always say a happy faculty gym and the students will be using the Y.M.C.A. Students: Yea, Dean! Students: Hello Daily! Dean: Yes, but it's our parking lot! Students: Yeah, but we weren't notified of the change! Students: But the students weren't represented in this matter! Then I see a lot where faculty park free. So take your cars and park them far from here. Dean: [to the students] It's in the Handbook under Article II, clause 118 of my contract. Students: But it's our fault! Students: But we weren't notified of the change! So take your cars and park them far from here. Students: That is the new faculty lot to me. Students: Why don't you hold more parking lots? There's no room up here for all of us. Dean: Some of you can walk! Students: [to the students] It's the only chance of the students don't want to walk (they say). Students: You said it all right! Students: We live here or work here! Students: Where do we park? Students: How many miles? Students: I don't like that. Students: Is it dirt there? Students: Will it destroy my car or blue? (CURTAIN)

Students: It's so nice to have our brand new parking lot. Students: You're good, Dean, and of course, Dean! Dean: [to the students] We will pull in with the courtesies for you what you want, Dean? Students: Ja! A Yacht, Please. Students: It's in the parking lot. Students: We live here now! Students: It's nice for my brand new car. Students: Then I see a lot where faculty park free. Students: Hello Daily! Students: That's right! Dean: [to the students] It's in the Handbook under Article II, clause 118 of my contract. Students: That's not true!
