Political Awareness

By KATIE MASON

Tuesday's Political Awareness Day proved to be worthwhile and very interesting to those who attended the meeting held in various areas throughout the campus. The purpose of the day was to encourage the students to speak out for or against the President and let their representatives know or even the President himself know.

The day began from a motion made by a GTA Senate member, Peter By, who proposed a special GTA Senate meeting to discuss the Watergate issue. At about 10:30 a.m., the Senate met in a special session to discuss the Watergate question. The main topic was the Senate's role in the Watergate scandal, which included discussing the impeachment of President Nixon and the implications of the scandal on the political system.

Senator Robert Hall, the chairman of the meeting, expressed his concern about the severity of the Watergate scandal and the need for immediate action.

His speech was followed by a discussion on the Watergate scandal and the future of the political system. The senators discussed the implications of the Watergate scandal on the political system and the need for immediate action to prevent a similar situation from occurring in the future.

Finally, the following is the attendance record of the current meeting. It speaks for itself. Hopefully publication of the following record will urge at least more people to attend future meetings.

SGA REPORTS

By NANCY DOHERTY

Tuesday, November 6, the SGA Senate meeting was held at 9 p.m. in the Student Union. The meeting began with a reading of the letter of resignation of Senator Susan McNierney, who was not able to attend the next meeting.

On the national level, Common Sense has released its annual report on the state of the political system. The report states that there is a lack of political interest and that it will not affect places of political activity. As a result of this, the House of Representatives has passed a bill to make bank records open to the public.

In the past, the political system has been criticized for its lack of responsiveness to the needs of the people. However, recent events have shown that the political system is capable of responding to the needs of the people.

Political Awareness: a Socialistic Analysis of Watergate

As a member of the U.S. Labor Party, Mr. Wagner was one of the most active and was a central figure in the movement.

The main topic of his speech was "Why Is It Important to Understand Political Awareness?"

"It is important to understand political awareness because it is the key to understanding the political system. Without understanding political awareness, we cannot understand how the political system works," said Mr. Wagner.

Mr. Wagner then answered questions from the floor and discussed the implications of political awareness on the political system. He emphasized the importance of understanding political awareness in order to make informed decisions and to participate effectively in the political process.

Homecoming Weekend

By FRANCIS CREMATIS

The Homecoming Weekend began on Friday, October 21, with the Homecoming football game against Bridgewater College. The game was well attended, with over 2,000 fans in attendance. The Homecoming court was announced, and the Homecoming king was crowned.

On Saturday, the Student Government Association hosted a variety of events, including a homecoming parade, a homecoming dance, and a homecoming bonfire.

On Sunday, the Homecoming football game was held, and the crowd cheered on the home team to victory. The weekend ended with a closing ceremony and awards ceremony.

Dr. Roberts to Speak

EASTON, MASS. - The Pulitzer Prize-winning author, Robert Coen, who TIME MAGAZINE called "the most influential living psychiatrist in the United States," will speak at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday (Nov. 5), at Assumption College.

Coen will talk about the lives of America's40s as he has come to know them through a decade of studying and living with blacks, whites, Jews, Chinese, Japanese, Hispanics, Muslims, peasants, social workers, and working-class women.

The evening's program is the last of a five-day seminar sponsored by the Boston Institute of Justice and Peace. A psychiatrist on the staffs of Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School, Coen has published books, including The World of Jimmy Breslin, and has been compared to Hemingway, and a touch of Runyon, a touch of Colombo. He hides his intelligence as though it were bad, but he is smart enough to be with im-feedback from the college community. Not all students are satisfied with the program. "The program is supposed to be..." was a common reaction among students, who were less than enthusiastic about the seminar and meetings.

BSC ART EXHIBIT

By GEORGE C. SMALLEY

The Institute of Justice and Peace has established a semi-final network with the Bruce Space Center Museum, which is an art exhibit that is semi-final to the Bruce Space Center Museum.

The exhibit includes works by Goya, Picasso, Matisse, and other contemporary artists. It is open to the public and runs through next week.

Happy Birthday, Dean Shea

a Man For All Seasons"

By rights, I should not be writing about "A Man For All Seasons" because I do not consider myself a critic of any kind, but perhaps I should instead be writing about theBBC Drama Club's production of it. However, the hard work, time, and effort that went into presenting this show made it so accessible through the college campus or this newspaper. If you decided to see the BBC Drama Club's production of "A Man For All Seasons" consider yourself unfortunate. The "Universal Theme" of the 16th century was one which relates to the human desire to remain true to his or her personal goal, regardless of the present day. In the production of the BBC Drama Club, directed by Robert Hartnett, Chairman of the Student and Theatre Department, and Student Director Donna Milton, the cast and crew presented an impression show.

Through the superb acting of Slip Maloney, the common man, the audience was able to feel a sense of reality. Almost like he was present in the days of old enough to reveal the secret of the play. His ability to step into his role with ease and confidence was an outstanding performance. "A Man For All Seasons" is about the toil and struggle of Henry the eighth, Richard Duch, and Richard, the Duke of Norfolk. Geoffrey Rush was also finely cast as the Duke of Norfolk. Geoffrey Rush was also finely cast as the Duke of Norfolk. Geoffrey Rush was also finely cast as the Duke of Norfolk. Geoffrey Rush was also finely cast as the Duke of Norfolk. Geoffrey Rush was also finely cast as the Duke of Norfolk. Geoffrey Rush was also finely cast as the Duke of Norfolk.

The performance of Mr. Henry was outstanding. The plot of the play is as complex as the characters. The scene of the execution of Anne Boleyn is a clear example of the play's complexity. The scene is filled with tension, the audience was able to feel the importance of this event.

Creative Movement at BSC
By Peggy Carroll
Norma Career teaches people to explore the relationship between movement and self-awareness through free movement in her course. An unconventional view of creative dancing by Barbara Hayball, which was so well received, was the culmination of the series. The group was divided into twelve subgroups of six students each. The groups were instructed to make partners, find a partner, and participate in self-discovery of the other. The group then went on to do free movement in their future dance classes. The lesson was sponsored by the Modern Dance Club and the Child Development Center on Tuesday, November 10 from 6:30-8:30 P.M. in the gym. This is to be followed by a discussion in the Child Development Center at 7:30 P.M. on Saturday, and an interview with the director of the Child Development Center at 8:30 A.M. on Sunday. The group will be led by several comfortable childrens' clothes available.

When Ms. Career appears at the beginning of the class, the students are to be in the studio and are to be instructed to describe their own experiences in movement, to be interested in sharing their experiences with others. Project People

Project People is a primarily student-operated community agency offering services of a halfway and drug-dispense center to the community of Waymouth and Braintree. Our mode of operation is based upon the concept of self-help. We are interested in giving people, especially adolescents, the kind of knowledge, insight, and support they might not otherwise get as clients. We must overcome the problems we all have problems. We wish to have been lucky enough to have been afforded the means and support to deal with them. Some of us have not been so lucky. Our job is to give people an alternative they might choose when dealing with their various problems.

For this we are in need of concerned individuals having certain knowledges, attitudes, skills, and sensibilities to offer to these people making the services of Project People.

Our primary concern is in each training course is identifying and observing the sensitivity and awareness which must be present within any potential staff member. To supplement this training, we believe it is important to provide participants with more specific knowledge and skills which we feel are essential for all staff members to have. In order to present the experiences and activities, you are asked to help us in further developing these skills and strengthening these knowledges.

Student Lawyer

The S.C.A. Student Lawyer, B.S.C. Opportunities, is available to interested individuals. You must be a full-time student at B.S.C. and have a 2.0 grade average. The position is paid. You will be given an opportunity to represent you, not your advisor. If you want this to represent you, you must arrange it with B.S.C. The position pays by either writing to the editor or setting up interviews. The hope is that this will be a useful service.

What About Them?

Bears vs. Curry

The difference between a winning and losing season could be decided for the Bears of Bridgewater State College this weekend, says Coach Pete McCarron. The Colonels of Curry college at home as an important contest. The game is Saturday, at 1:30 p.m., Legion Field.

Currently 4-4, after last weekend's loss to previously winless Plymouth State College, the B.S.C. team will be facing a tough challenge. The pressure will be even greater because this Saturday is Bridgewater's "Homecoming," and many old gruds will be on hand to cheer the Bears as they try to gain revenge.

"At the beginning of the year Coach Pete McCarron is not taking the Colonels lightly. In fact, Gilbert says that Curry has had some problems this year."

"They aren't having the season everyone expected them to, but on paper they have a good squad, and if they get going they can be very dangerous." Commenting on the B.S.C. squad, Coach Gilbert says there are several areas that need improvement.

"Our defense on kickoff returns needs work, we don't doubt that," he admitted, reflecting on the run by Plymouth's Tim Cunningham who returned a punt of yards for the only score of the game. He also said the team must show more offensive consistency.

"We have to maintain our offensive attacks, rather than move the ball in spurts," he said. "Coach Mathews singled out several players who have been outstanding this year." Our quarterback, Charlie Fernandez, has a lot at potential and every game he seems to play better. Against Plymouth, Charlie was far from 38 in pass completions, but several passes he threw were dropped, and, if they had been caught, he would have had over 200 yards in that department alone." the coach explained.

Also coming in for praise were Red Allison and Bill Snow for their efforts, as well as Rich Florencio, defensive half back, who successfully says has been an "unsung" hero.

If the Bears win this weekend, they could be 5-4 for second place in the New England Conference with Plymouth (NEW Hampshire State) College. If the B.S.C. team does win against Curry, the team will also be assured of at least a break even season. Their final game of the year is on November 27 with Franklin, Mass.

"I thought we had improved since last season when we finished sixth in this meet. In discussing the reason for our improvement we all come up with one common denominator," says coach Chris Brady. "It is all to do with Chris Brady. He threw were dropped, and, if he had been caught, he would have had over 200 yards in that department alone," the coach explained.
