Health Service Loan Passes

Health Service Center to Receive $10,000

A two thousand dollar loan from the SGA to Bridgewater State's Health Service Center to pass the health service loan proposal to the Governor's desk for the necessary action will be received in December 1978 and December 1979 to pay for the cost of the Health Service Loan.

Mr. Egan said that the Health Service Loan was passed by the SGA last semester and that it is a loan that is necessary for the Health Service Center to continue with its operations.

Mr. Egan also pointed out that the Health Service Center has been operating at a deficit for the past several years and that the loan will help to cover this deficit.

Egan Speaks at BSC

by James Dinklik

On Wednesday, November 30, Patrick Egan, Director of the Graduate School of Public Administration, addressed the students of the BSC on the topic of "Public Administration: An Overview." Mr. Egan discussed the importance of public administration in society, the role of government in public administration, and the challenges facing the field in the future.

The program was well received by the students, who were actively engaged in the discussion. Mr. Egan's insights and examples provided a valuable perspective on the subject.

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome everyone back to another exciting season at B.U.C. I would also like to congratulate the students who have survived through the long winter months. This past winter, it has been an eventful one.

As of this writing, I want to say a few words about THE COMMENT. As the new Editor-in-Chief, I want to point out that there will be little, if any, major changes in Editorial policy, layout, etc. THE COMMENT will be the same excellent newspaper you can expect to see.

Lastly, THE COMMENT would like to start a series of articles pertaining to the history of B.U.C. My suggestion is that we take a look at the past and see what we can learn from it.

I am writing this letter to THE COMMENT to express my gratitude for the help I received in completing my research on Native American artifacts. I have seen an arrow head and a spear point that I believe are from the same period. I would like to share my findings with the students of the school.

If you have an announcement, article, or photograph that you would like to see in THE COMMENT, please let us know.

W.H. Labaseter, Editor-in-Chief

Huber Clinic to Continue

For those of you new here at Bridgewater State College, you may have heard about the Huber Clinic. The Huber Clinic at Bridgewater State College is a center for the study of the design, construction, contents, and use of the clinical environment.

The clinic was opened in 1965 by the Boston University School of Public Health, and is still in operation today. It is open to the public and serves students and faculty of Bridgewater State College.

Anthony Byington to Speak

Anthony Byington, chairman of the nation's Consumer Product Safety Commission, will speak on Tuesday, January 26, at 3:00 p.m., in the George Sherman Union, Room 206.

Byington's presentation will cover topics such as the history of product liability, the role of government agencies in enforcing safety standards, and the impact of corporate greed on consumer safety.

Byington's lecture is open to the public and is free to attend. No registration is required.

Byington is the author of numerous books and articles on product liability and consumer safety. He earned his law degree from Harvard Law School and his undergraduate degree from Yale University.

Byington's presentation is sponsored by the Department of Graphic Arts and the Department of Advertising.

Letters to the Editor

Second semester starts, so no more holidays. For example, the spring semester is from the beginning of March to the end of June.

Buying books, oh, what a pleasure! As with all bookstores, there is a selection of books and games that are available. We are sure that there is something for everyone in this selection.

We also encourage you to come in and see our selection of books and games. We are always happy to help you find the right book or game for you.

If you have any questions about our selection of books and games, please feel free to ask an employee.

Comment Policy

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome everyone back to that other exciting arena: S.B.G. I would like to reiterate the four main principles that we strive to uphold in our editorial policies:
- Accuracy: Ensuring all statements and figures are factually correct.
- Transparency: openly acknowledging and discussing sources and origins of information.
- Respect: Treating all individuals with dignity and acknowledging their rights to be heard.
- Inclusivity: Making sure our content reflects and includes a diverse range of perspectives.

As the new Editor-in-Chief, I would like to point out that there will be no major changes in our approach. We will continue to write in a way that is accessible and engaging, even if it means breaking from tradition or常规.

Bookstore

As the semester starts, so do our bookshelves. For example, the university confirms to students a list of books for the fall 2018 semester. Among the books, there are a variety of titles to choose from, including works of fiction, non-fiction, and textbooks.

Snow! How can you have snow in March when we were decked the classroom in our spring apparel only a week ago?

Second semester is in full swing, and so is the snow, making the classroom feel like a winter wonderland. We are still waiting for the spring semester to start, and we hope to see some snow before the semester ends.

I am sure you all have heard of the recent snowstorm that took over Boston. The snowfall has caused some major disruptions, including school closings and traffic delays. However, it has also brought some joy to those who love the winter season.

It has been a cold winter, but we are looking forward to warmer weather in the future. Until then, let's bundle up and enjoy the snow!
Pucksters Hit Academic Problems

The Bridgewater Icemen have slowed down since the start of the season, and it seems that the team is suffering from injuries and illness. The Bears have not been able to win a game in the past three weeks, dropping their record to 2-8-1. This is the worst start to a season in the history of the team, and it is causing concern among coaches and players.

The Bears have been plagued by injuries, illness, and bad luck. In the past three games, the team has lost to three teams that it has beaten before. The Bears have also been unable to score in the third period of games, which has led to some losses. Despite this, the team is still confident in its ability to turn things around.

The Bears are playing against a tough team in their next game, and they will need to be at their best to have a chance of winning. The Bears are currently in fourth place in the league, but they have a chance to move up with a strong performance.

Despite the struggles, the Bears are not giving up. They are working hard to improve their play and get back on the right track. The team is relying on the leadership of its veterans, such as Jack Erikson and Ed Kiberd, to help turn things around.

Pucksters Hit Academic Problems

The Bridgewater hockey team has faced some challenges in recent years, with notable losses to rival teams like Framingham State. However, the team showed resilience in their most recent game against Bridgewater State, coming out with a thrilling victory. The game was held at the Bridgewater State ice rink, and the results can be attributed to the team's strong defense and aggressive play at both ends of the rink.

The Bears' victory was a testament to their hard work and dedication, as they have been working hard to improve their performance. The team's coach, Dr. Tom Knudson, has been overseeing the team's development, and the success can also be attributed to his guidance and leadership. The Bears have been working on their teamwork and strategy, and this has paid off in their recent wins.

The team's recent success can also be attributed to the addition of new players, who have brought fresh energy and talent to the team. The Bears' performance in their last game was a reflection of their improved chemistry and coordination.

Women's Track Achieves Varsity Status

The Bridgewater Women's Track team began their season on February 26, after a two-year sabbatical. The team's preparation for the upcoming season was intense, and the players were determined to achieve varsity status. This goal was achieved when the team qualified for varsity status by finishing in the top ten at a recent meet.

The team's dedication and hard work paid off, and they are now eligible to compete in national meets and tournaments. This is a significant achievement for the team, and it is a testament to their resilience and determination.

The team's first meet was held at East Stroudsburg State College, and the girls' team finished in the top ten, qualifying for varsity status. The meet was a great opportunity for the team to showcase their talent and prepare for the challenges ahead.

The team's coach, Dr. Tom Knudson, has been instrumental in their success, and his guidance and leadership have been key to their achievement. The team's hard work and dedication have been rewarded, and they are now ready to take on the challenges of varsity competition.
The Arts

Stone Funk Jazz Band Performance

The Stone Funk Jazz Band, in collaboration with the University's Residence Services, presented a dynamic performance at the Student Union. The producers of Assassin conducted interviews, and the audience was captivated by the vibrant and engaging atmosphere. The producers conveyed themes of love and warmth, full of strong women's voices, creating an emotionally rich and memorable experience.

TO THE RIVER RAT

In order to assess the varying standards, we conducted surveys at the University's Campus Center. We distributed questionnaires to the students, and the results are as follows:

- Excellence in Music:
  - Artists rated excellent on a scale of 1 to 5.
  - Musicians rated excellent on a scale of 1 to 5.

- Excellence in Dance:
  - Artists rated excellent on a scale of 1 to 5.
  - Dancers rated excellent on a scale of 1 to 5.

Arts Magazine: Issue Forthcoming

The second issue of the arts magazine, TV Guide, is now being published. The magazine features a variety of content, including interviews with local and national artists, reviews of upcoming events, and exclusive previews of new productions. The focus is on providing a comprehensive guide to the arts community, ensuring that everyone has access to the latest and greatest offerings in the arts world.
