Money Ends Career

Steve Money and John Doane from John Gracie represented the SSGC men's swim team at the 36th Annual Head of the Charles. The men finished ninth in the nation.

On the men's side, the Boston College Swim and Dive teams took down the university's record for the 200 Yard Freestyle Relay with a time of 1:32.53. The team consisted of Alex Loiseau, Michael Meehan, Andrew Smith, and Brian O'Brien.

For Money, the meet closed out his brilliant four-year swimming career here at BC. His career at BC has been marked by consistent improvement and a strong work ethic, leading to his current status as a rising star in the sport.

On the women's side, the team had a solid performance, finishing in the top ten. The women's 200 Yard Freestyle Relay was led by Elizabeth O'Connell, Sarah Shaw, and Katie O'Connor, with a time of 1:40.79.

The weekend was filled with exciting races and competitive action. Money's time of 3:20.83 in the Individual medley established a new BC record, and the team's overall performance was impressive, marking a successful end to the season.

In addition, BC head coach and former record holder Bob O'Connor, who retired this season, was honored with a special recognition. His contributions to the program have been invaluable, and his legacy will continue to inspire future swimmers.

Students Rally in Protest

On the afternoon of March 28th, a small group of students gathered on the steps of Boyden Hall to protest the recent increase in room and board fees. The protest was organized by the Student Association for Change (SAC) and attended by Dr. Adrian Rondileau, the President of the college.

Dr. Rondileau began by explaining that these increases were necessary in order to meet the costs of maintaining and upgrading the dormitories. He also mentioned the challenges faced by the Dorm Council in managing the budget and maintaining the facilities.

One young lady questioned the rationale of the Dorm Authority in their action of increasing Wood Hall by $150 per year. She claimed that the increases were unfair and unjustified.

"Good question." He went on to explain that these increases were needed in order to meet the costs of maintaining and upgrading the dormitories. He also mentioned the challenges faced by the Dorm Council in managing the budget and maintaining the facilities.

"Why are the fees increasing so drastically? Where and when is it going to stop?" No one knows. His aid there are two things that he would cause. Rondileau answered that student costs low and faculty costs high.

He also mentioned the challenges faced by the Dorm Council in managing the budget and maintaining the facilities. "We have to live in a Dormitory Complex?" (below right).

Letters to the Editor

Class of ’79

To the Editor:

I would like to take the opportunity to support the current candidate for re-election to president of the student body. She is a student post-1975. I can only remember seeing her in the residence halls as a freshman and sophomore. She is a student engaged in extracurricular activities and concerned about the needs of the student body.

Sincerely,

A Concerned Student

Airmen Action Advisory Committee

The officers of the Student Advisory Commission have called for an Airmen Action Advisory Committee. This committee was formed to address the concerns of the students with regards to the Air Force ROTC program. The committee will meet regularly to discuss the issues and to make recommendations to the administration.

Class Elections

The students in the Class of ’79 have chosen to hold the first meeting of the newly formed Class Elections Committee. The purpose of the committee is to organize a fair election process for the student body. The committee will meet weekly to discuss the issues and to make recommendations to the administration.

Health Fee Referendum

The Student Senate has approved the Health Fee Referendum. The referendum will be held on March 22nd. The purpose of the referendum is to raise money for the health center. The fee will be collected from all students and will be used to fund the health center.

Are You Safe?

The Staff and Teachers of the Elementary School Community, Inc. are concerned about the safety of the students. They have called for an investigation into the safety measures in place. The investigation will be conducted by a committee of parents, teachers, and students.

ISA Presents...

The ISA presents a series of events to promote diversity and inclusion on campus. The events include guest speakers, panel discussions, and workshops. The purpose of the events is to promote understanding and acceptance of different cultures and ideas. The events will be held in the Student Union and are open to all students.

Special Olympics

Students are invited to participate in the Special Olympics. The games will be held on the campus and will include events such as track and field, swimming, and tennis. The purpose of the event is to promote inclusivity and to provide a platform for students with disabilities to compete.

The American Motif

By Peter Taylor

And being cloud much of the American people ever since the war, and the
All manufacturers of this country, and we have been so used to finance the canals that we have forgotten that we did it a few

First, the evidence concerning Panama and its relations to the United States has been before the courts of the United States for many years. Secondly, there is the question of how the United States acquired rights to the Panamanian Canal zone. The Panama Canal is not a part of the United States, and yet the United States has had control over the Canal since 1904. Therefore, it is important to understand how the United States acquired rights to the Canal zone.

In 1901, the United States purchased the Colombian Republic for $2.5 million. This purchase included a strip of land along the coast of Panama, known as the Panama Canal Zone. The United States had an agreement with Colombia to build and operate the Panama Canal, but it did not acquire any inherent title to the Canal. The United States later declared that it had acquired inherent title to the Canal because it had spent a great deal of money and time on the construction and operation of the Canal.

In 1913, the United States formally declared that it had acquired inherent title to the Canal. However, Colombia disputed this claim and asserted that it still had the right to use and operate the Canal. The dispute continued until 1921, when the United States and Colombia signed the Hay-Bunau-Varilla Treaty, which recognized the United States' inherent title to the Canal and ended the dispute.

Since then, the United States has had control over the Panama Canal and the Canal Zone. The United States has used the Canal for its own purposes, and it has also granted permission to other countries to use the Canal for their own purposes. However, the United States has always been careful to keep the Canal open to all nations and to allow other countries to use it as they see fit.

This is important because the Canal is a vital economic resource for the United States and other nations. The Canal provides a direct link to the Pacific Ocean and allows goods to be transported from one part of the world to another. The United States has always been careful to maintain the Canal as a neutral and open resource for all nations.

In conclusion, the United States acquired inherent title to the Panama Canal and the Canal Zone through a series of treaties and agreements. The United States has always tried to maintain the Canal as a neutral and open resource for all nations, and it has always been careful to keep the Canal open to all nations.

Space Visitors Expected

Roundabout

By Gil Bliss

Looking for a jolt? There's a new space opportunely underway in the southern reaches of the nation's capital. Dubbed "Dreamland," a brand new theme park is due to open its gates at the end of the month.

The park is designed to provide visitors with a unique experience, allowing them to live out their fantasies in a space-themed environment.

Meanwhile, the New Hampshire National Council of Churches has denounced the sale of skeletons on religious grounds. And though temporarily lifted as it were, to grave robbers:-and any of you out there who wish to sell them comfortable in 120 degree Fahrenheit temperatures. A relatively realistic scenario.

"Zoo Story" Review

On March 2-8, 1978, the Horseshoe Theatre presented "Zoo Story," a play written by Edward Albee. The production was directed by Steven Healy, with Communications Major, John Richards, as the lead actor.

Healy's character of Peter made a memorable impression on the audience. His performance was powerful and poignant, leaving a lasting impression.

THE ARTS

Space Visitors Expected

by Bill Blue

Looking for a job? There is a new species of free-lance undergroud artist in the area known as the space visitor. These visitors, who are not the usual space invaders, have begun to appear around the area, causing quite a stir. Some citizens are concerned about their presence in the area.

The space visitors are known to be quite strange, often carrying strange objects with them. They are said to have a strong interest in the arts and culture of the area. Some have even been seen carrying large paintings or sculptures.

Scientists have been studying the space visitors for several weeks, trying to understand their behavior and motives. They have been unable to determine the reason for their visit to the area.

The space visitors are often seen in groups, moving from place to place, observing the local art scene. They are known to be quite curious about the art and culture of the area, often stopping to talk to artists and cultural figures.

Some citizens are concerned about the space visitors, fearing that they may cause harm or disturbance. Others are more open-minded, and view their presence as an opportunity to learn more about the strange visitors from space.

We are excited to announce that the space visitors will be arriving in the area next week. They are expected to conduct a series of lectures and workshops, sharing their knowledge and insights with the local art community.
