BSC slips by Minutemen

THE Heights, January 27, 1978

By Ed Kellermann

Firing and settling in head on each other, as they continued to work together in the weeks of being in the Bobcats, they have never been better. Last Saturday night, the Bobcats defeated the Minutemen, 73-63, in a game that was not as close as the final score would suggest. The Bobcats' defense held the Minutemen to just 38% shooting from the field, while the Bobcats themselves shot a respectable 42%.

The Bobcats were led by senior forward John Smith, who scored 22 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. Freshman guard Mike Johnson also had a solid performance, scoring 15 points and dishing out 7 assists.

The victory moves the Bobcats up to 8-5 on the season and 3-1 in conference play. They will look to continue their winning ways when they face off against their next opponent on February 10th.
Letters to the Editor

"I should like to respond to the book review of "1980's: New Conservatism," in the April 12th issue of The Comment.

The review was a polemic, and I believe that it was disrespectful of the students who read it. The reviewer chose to attack the book instead of addressing the arguments presented in it. This is a disservice to the students of Bridgewater State College, who are the intended audience for this book.

I must also point out that the reviewer's personal views are not relevant to the discussion of the book. The book is a serious academic work, and it deserves to be read and evaluated on its own merits.

I believe that the reviewer should take more time to understand the book before writing a review. This would have resulted in a more objective and constructive review, which would have benefited both the students and the author of the book.

Thank you for the opportunity to respond to the review.

Sincerely,

Our last week of regular room assignments on campus. Roommates had signed up one person to two different classes, so it was confusing to people who had intentions of being with us but wanted to help us out. Well, needless to say, we went to the wrong classes, so the time frame for roommates changed.

As for room assignments, the new apartments will be new and clean. Apartment-Dorm officers will be elected right away and although the new building has no pedestrian has been designated yet, there will be a Resident Assistant! A. A. is a person who will be responsible for the cleanliness of the dormitory. He/she will be expected to clean their own rooms, while the A. A. will be responsible for the lounge area.

There will be a lounge facility for the students and a nearby area with a recreation area. There will be no lounge area.

The apartments have a single bedroom, a private bathroom, a kitchen area, and a living room area. The kitchen area will be placed in every bedroom as well as the living room. So that the students have their own desks, they will set up their own personal desks, but there will not be any personal desks in the room.

Also, the students will meet outside the apartments, and the president of the Student Government Association will make sure the students have the freedom of whatever they want to do with their personal desks or any other furniture.

I think the students will meet my expectations, while I will be responsible for cleaning up the house and arranging for them to be installed.

Landscaping will also be done around the apartments, and the president and others will be placed outside duties for the students.

Now, the cost of the rooms will be $100.00 per month for two people. The cost for rooms will be $100.00 per month.

For more information, you can contact Mr. Brown of Student Affairs. He will be able to arrange for you to meet with the president and another student who will be able to arrange for you to meet with the president.

This picture is an aerial view of the new apartments during the building process. There will be 10 apartments for guys and 25 for girls.

The Sixties Revisited

by Gil Benson

Political activist Amy Rubin appeared on campus last week, drawing 250 listeners. It was a far cry from the college crowds he drew during his ten years of activism, but Rubin offered three reasons for a change in American society. He feels that the political activism of the Sixties infiltrated every college organization and proceeded to wreak havoc on the campuses. He states that in dealing overtly as well as subtly, by the "awakening of Americans". He feels that the result of this awareness has been a decline in activism.

"Women have opened up and the beautiful movement going on now" is Rubin's first contention. He feels that this causes over-reaction. "Men have a need to be superior in every way. His view is that the sexual anxiety of 60'5 activism to 70's apathy is the result of people looking at the problems of society and realizing that they can change them. When you turn away frustrated the last time you argued with your bank, feel when your bank installs a mechanical replacement. Automated bank tellers may be more convenient, but with them people feel that they have lost the right to argue with their bank. Rubin feels that this gives the bank the upper hand and that people are losing control over their own lives.

We've Got Rythym

Do you have rythym? Do you ask for more music? Then the answer is yes! Ensemble Theatre is running into an unexpected problem: Soviet audiences are booing the "Corny" Goldeski and the "Corny" Sherlock in Arizona sporting big red star for a badge smugglers valiantly to keep capitalism at bay. A "Corny" Shirley is being drawn to keep Bright's attention off the audience from Seattle audiences. "I have rid the world of capitalism, and I am in the forefront of the fight. I have a beard, and I am in the forefront of the fight. I have a beard, and I am in the forefront of the fight." The movie may be adapted into a stage play, directed by Dr. Stephen Lev. The show contains no sex, sex, sex, dancing, or nudity in a world of gloom and foreboding. Special secret police agents and informants are on the hunt for any evidence of the right wing. "Our police have never been stronger," is the saying. There are ten square tables in the world, but these ten tables have only been used in the background. Tickets are on sale now at the box office. METHODOLOGY

Mountaineering, as all the chronically manifested know, is the skill of climbing and the art of climbing Beech Mountain. It begins by heading for the Mountain (i.e., a quick haunt to your favorite prehistoric emporium). You then select a route, and it is then that your first blunder begins. You must not choose the easy way. The path is long and winding, and it will lead you to the summit, but only after you have overcome many obstacles. There is no shortcut. You must be prepared to face the elements, to climb over rocks, and to descend into the unknown. But if you are determined, if you have the strength and perseverance, you will reach the top. And when you do, the view will be worth the effort. You will see the world from a new perspective, you will have achieved something great. You will have climbed Beech Mountain.
